Millbrook Girls Hold Softball Talk

MILLBROOK, April 8—(ENS).—A public meeting for all girls interested in forming a softball team for the current season was held in the waiting room on Thursday evening with only a fair number in attendance. Apparently it is a bit too early yet to arouse the usual interest in this popular sport.

While no actual organization was effected, William Sayles was elected coach, and G. F. McPherson manager. At a later date another gathering will be called to list members, and complete necessary organization; also to find out what softball league the local club may enter. As far as possible, membership will be confined to local girls.

A pleasant social gathering was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Peers, King street east, in honor of Miss Laureen Handley, before her departure, the following morning, to take a position in Hamilton.

The Misses Ada and Emma Peers were hostesses with their mother for the entertainment of the guests, all girl friends of Laureen's, cards and music filling the hours happily until, at a prearranged time, an appreciative address was read by Ada Peers, and, on behalf of the others present, Helen Ellsworth presented the guest of honor with a handsome dress, set in blue iridescent pearl. Taken by surprise, Laureen made suitable reply, and after singing of "For she's a jolly good fellow," a dainty lunch was served.

Those present included: Leitha Edworthy, Maud Smith, Ruth Richards, Mary and Betty Smith, Laureen and Mary Handley, and Helen Ellsworth. Betty Smith won the prize for high score in the card games, and many personal good wishes for success in her new home were extended to the guest of honor as the enjoyable occasion was brought to a close.

Among the many from Millbrook who have motored to Peterborough this week to see "Gone With the Wind" are: Mr. and Mrs. G. McPherson, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs. T. G. Harkness, Miss Crystal Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kerr, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gray, Mrs. R. H. and Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Reeve W. E. and Mrs. Ball; Councillor J. R. and Mrs. Eakins, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eakins and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. and Mr Gordon Might, Mrs. John Dawson, Miss Flora E. Morgan, Miss Shirley Buckingham, Mrs. Kathleen Ball, Mrs. William Williamson, Misses Jean Burnham, Gladys Williamson, Laureen and Mary Handley, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. P. Stinson, Miss Jean Stinson, Mr. Henry Gray, and several others.

Dr. H. A. Turner and Mr. P. I. Bentley motored to Buffalo this week on a business trip.

LEAFS STAY IN STANLEY CUP RUNNING WITH WIN OVER RANGERS

Goldup Scores Leaf Winner In 2-1 Fracas

TORONTO, April 8. — (CP) — Rookie Henry (Hank) Goldup has more than justified the confidence Toronto Maple Leafs placed when they summoned him, despite criticism, to jump from amateur ranks to the National Hockey League in a single season.

The 21-year-old left wingman from Kingston, Ont., scored the winning goal with less than seven minutes to play Saturday night when the Maple Leafs defeated New York Rangers 2-1 in the third game of their Stanley Cup finals. The youngster's spectacular achievement before a near-record throng of 15,309 customers in the world series topped a succession of fine performances, including his feat of scoring twice when the Leafs whipped Detroit 3-1 in the last game of their semi-finals.

G. Drillon

The goal, on a play with Nick Metz while each team was a man short through penalties, gave the Leafs their first victory of the best-of-seven series and made their chances bright, particularly since the rest of the round is to be played here. The Rangers took the first two games at home, 2-1 in overtime and 6-2.

The Broadway Blues climaxed a close-checking first period with their goal, while the teams were playing four a side because of penalties. Phil Watson took the puck at centre ice, sped around young Wally Stanowski and shot only after Goalie Turk Broda had made his move.

Rangers Protest

Through all the second period and half the third the Leafs fought relentlessly against a stubborn barrier, the stoutest part of which was Dave Kerr's brilliant goal-tending. Then Gordon Drillon knocked in a relay from Captain Red Horner and Syl Apps to tie the score, despite the Ranger protests that the puck had been kicked into the net.

A fight between Bryan Hextall of the Rangers and Bob Davidson of the Leafs, which brought each a major penalty, opened the way to a winning goal. While they were off the New Yorkers attacked strongly and Goldup broke from the offensive with Nick Metz. Goldup gave the puck to his teammate and then took it back again on a pass through the defence. The youngster closed right in before shooting high to a corner of the cage.

To anyone who heard Toronto fans booing Goldup earlier in the season, his play was a revelation. Perhaps the improvement in the loose-limbed forward, while customers have called "take him out," has been the biggest thing Coach Dick Irvin has achieved this season.

Windsor Retains Cage Title For 5th Season

OTTAWA, April 8.—(CP)—For the fifth consecutive year a Windsor team has captured the Ontario Secondary Schools Association championship. Windsor Walkerville Vocational School retained the crown by defeating Ottawa Lisgar Collegiate Institute 33-30 here Saturday night.

Bob Scott opened the scoring after 3½ minutes to give Windsor an early lead. The first half was an exhibition of passing and fast play and with the Windsor combination working smoothly they led at half-time, 24-18.

In the second half play changed to a close checking style with Lisgar trying desperately to overcome the six-point lead. Lisgar gained the led twice in the last half only to lose it to the fast passing Windsor team. With two minutes to play and the score tied a Lisgar foul gave Bruno Barbesin the opportunity to scored a point. Barbesin scored on the foul shot, and with 40 seconds to play, Bob Scott scored a field goal to clinch the game.

Star of the game was Bob Scott, Windsor guard and captain who scored five field goals and one foul shot to lead the scorers with 11 points. High scorer for Ottawa was Gordon Mackey who collected eight points.

Crests were presented to the champions by A. E. Lyon, Eastern representative of the Ontario Athletic Commission.

Products received in Japan from the United States last year were valued at $231,405,000.

Bear Cats Hold Calgary To 5-5 Tie

SASKATOON, April 8.—(CP)—Port Arthur Bear Cats still have the knack of getting a goal when they need one and as a result remain one game up today on Calgary Stampeders in the Western Senior hockey final.

The little spark of reserve power that the Lakehead champions called on time and again in winning the Allan Cup last season saved them from defeat here Saturday night.

Bert Laprade, rangy Port Arthur defenceman, whacked in a goal with 51 seconds of overtime remaining to give Bear Cats a 5-5 tie with Calgary in the second game of the best-of-five series. Port Arthur won the first game 3-1. The third will be played at Calgary tomorrow.

Bear Cats, after leading from the first few minutes of the game, were tied late in the third period and Calgary went ahead with a quick goal at the start of the extra period.

Ed Laprade Shines

Sharing honors with Bert Laprade before the capacity crowd of 5,500 fans was his younger brother, Edgar, who scored three goals in the first period. The 20-year-old elusive centre was cut over the nose when cross-checked in the second period and over the eye when clipped accidentally in the third period but he will play in Calgary.

Bob Coombs, 20-year-old rookie centre, fired the other Port Arthur goal.

Scorers for Calgary were Joe Shannon, Dave Duchak, Tony Desmarais, Les Thiriwell and Jimmy Jempson.

Stampeders, who controlled the play most of the game as they sent five-men on the attack in the second and third periods in an effort to reduce the Port Arthur lead, lacked the ability to finish off their plays and failed to take advantage of many scoring opportunities.

Reds Win Crown In 3 Straight

PITTSBURG, April 8 — (AP). — Providence Reds are the first to win an International-American hockey league championship series in three straight games but in doing so they didn't keep Pittsburg Hornets from enjoying their best season in the annals of the sport here.

The grand finale of the round-robin series was scheduled for the best of five but the winners of the eastern division cut it to the minimum with consecutive triumphs by the identical scores of 4-3.

Experts described the tussles as the most thrilling and bitterly fought of the season. The courageous wasps led 3-2 late in the final period of each game only to have the Reds dash their hopes with belated scoring flurries. Two ties were the best Pittsburg could do against Providence in the nine games of the regular season and playoff.

Ramping Devils Oust Sydney 7-0 In 4th Tilt

TORONTO, April 8 — (CP). — Tough as the opposition has been to date, Kirkland Lake Blue Devils will meet about the toughest of them all when they take on Montreal Royals here to-night. The best-of-five series will determine the Eastern Canada senior hockey champions and the East's representatives in the Allan Cup playoffs.

Kirkland Lake need have no fears, however. The Blue Devils blanked Sydney Millionaires 7-0 before 6,135 here on Saturday afternoon and ended a series that went four games.

Sydney came up from the Maritimes with only 12 men. They lost two of them through injuries before the game was half over on Saturday and the others couldn't carry the load against the superior speed and greater number of the Blue Devils.

Ray Powell went out in the first period with a deep gash in his leg and Jack Fritz followed him midway in the second with a bad shoulder.

Stu Smith and Johnny McCreedy each scored a pair of tallies, Dick Kowcinak, Bobby Walton and Blink Bellinger getting the other three. Jack Atchison and Buddy McEachren hit the post which was the closest Sydney came to scoring, aside from one goal by Tony Graboski that was disallowed. The burly Millionaire defenceman lifted his stick above his shoulder in knocking the puck into the net.

Kirkland Lake also had a goal rubbed out when officials ruled Bellinger was in the crease when he sank the rubber in first minute of the third period.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 8 — (AP). — Chicago Cubs called on Dizzy Dean to make his belated debut to-day against the St. Louis Browns. Manager Gabby Hartnett doesn't say how far he expects the great one to go, but Dean announces "I'll go as far as I can."

Chiefs' Big Year Says Porter Of 1940 Squad

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 8 — (CP). — Dick Porter, manager of the Syracuse Chiefs, kept his 1939 club in the first division of the International League practically all of the season, finally finishing only a few percentage points back of the fourth-place Newark Bears.

To-day, Porter is convinced he will start the current season with a faster-fielding and better-hitting infield, as well as an outfield that will have far greater punch and more defensive skill than the one he put in the field last year.

His catchers, John Bottarini and Del Warren, are holdovers and good enough to put the Chiefs on a par with any team in the league in that department.

Despite the loss of Johnny Gee, a 30-game winner, and J. Mooty, the league's most willing worker among the hurlers for the last two years, Porter is optimistic over his chances of having better pitching this year.

"We will be good enough to win, and win easily, if the league is no faster than last year," said Porter.

Fight for All Posts.

Eddie Longacre is likely to be the only member of last year's outfield to land a regular job and the fight may prove to be too much even for him. The club has picked up two fine young outfielders from Pittsburg Pirates in Floyd Yount, who hit .350 for Portsmouth last year, and Maury Jungman, who pounded the ball for .359 with Jackson. Bill Norman, who has been around Class AA baseball nine years hitting at, or near, .300 for American Association and Pacific Coast League clubs, is hitting well and may force Longacre out of the lineup.

Iggy Walters, sensational fielding first sacker who hit .279 last year, is the only infield holdover sure of a job. Johnny Kroner is a holdout. Butch Meyers has quit baseball and Len Kahny appears to be beaten out of a job.

Irv Hall, up from the Eastern Shore circuit late last season, appears to be fixed at second base with Ace Parker, former Duke football star, at shortstop and Jack Juelich at third. Tie latter hit .300 for Rochester in 1937 and 1938 and was with Pittsburg last season.

Edmonton Grabs 7-1 Win From Kenora

EDMONTON, April 8.—(CP). — Edmonton Athletic Club apparently has found that a smashing, spirited offence and tight back-checking is all they need to defeat Kenora Thistles to win their second straight western junior hockey title.

Edmonton shook off the last traces of play-off jitters here Saturday night when a second period shot that appeared to hit the net behind Goalie Charlie Rayner of Kenora was not called a goal.

They swarmed all over Thistles from then on to win the second game of the best-of-five series 7-1. The first game ended in a 2-2 tie.

As Edmonton rushed on to their triumph before about 5,300 fans, the Manitoba-Thunder Bay champions dropped their sticks, threw off their gloves and started three free-for-alls.

Thirteen minor penalties and four majors were called against Kenora in addition to three penalty shots against Rayner. Edmonton players served eight minors and four majors.

Reardon Starts Pair.

Jack McGill counted the first Edmonton goal just after the two-minute mark in the second period and half-way through the session Ken (Beans) Reardon engineered two more, passing from behind the Kenora net to Bruce MacKay for one, then beating the Thistle defence and goalkeeper alone for the second.

One fight was staged in the second period and another after McGill scored his second goal and Elmer Kreller counted two of his three to give Edmonton a 6-0 edge. Ten policemen rushed on the ice to end the scrap.

Joey Johns of Kenora, scored the final count at 16:40 in the third period just before Walter Melnyk piled into Plug Young to start the third fight. The fight lasted only a minute or two.

The series resumes in Winnipeg on Wednesday.

Soviet And Finns Resume Dealings

MOSCOW, April 8 — (AP). — Placing the final seal on her newly concluded peace with Finland, Soviet Russia has resumed normal diplomatic relations with her small neighbor.

Tass, Russian news agency, announced last night that the government had designated Ivan S. Zotoff, Minister to Helsinki, and had approved appointment of Dr. Juho K. Paasikivi as Finnish Minister to Moscow.

Zotoff has been Russia's minister to Latvia since November, 1937. His post there will be taken over by Vladimir Derevianski, minister to Helsinki before the Russian-Finnish War.

Paasikivi headed a Finnish delegation which negotiated unsuccessfully with Russia before the war and participated in the subsequent peace conferences.

Announcement of the appointment of the new ministers coincided with reports that a Japanese trade delegation, which has been in Moscow since January 10 discussing a Japanese-Russian commercial treaty, had decided to leave the city.

(In Tokyo a Foreign Office spokesman denied that any members of the Japanese commission save Shikao Matshushima, the leader, were leaving Moscow, and said the trade talks would continue.)

note was handed the Norwegian government jointly by Britain and France declaring they had decided to close Norwegian waters to German shipping.

This note closely followed another to Norway and Sweden last Friday night in which the Allies were understood to have outlined their conception of Scandinavian neutrality.

As justification for the mines, which they acknowledged were "not lawful in ordinary circumstances," the Allies declared that "illegal" German practices gave them the right to take counter-measures.

They cited German submarine and airplane attacks on neutral and British shipping, calling them "pure terrorism" and "defiance of recognized rules of war."

"World opinion," the statement declared, will recognize the "necessity" of action.

It said "the number of neutral ships destroyed by German action is now well over 150, and the number of neutral lives lost is nearly 1,000."

These attacks, the Allies charged, frequently were "without the slightest justification" against vessels on voyages between neutral ports and were marked by "the greatest barbarity."

Forced by Nazi Tactics.

The statement elaborated on what it said obviously was the German government's "indiscriminate campaign of destruction throughout waters in which their unnotified mines are laid, or in which their submarines are in a position to operate" and served this notice:

"Whatever may be the actual policy which the Norwegian government, by German threats and pressure, are compelled to follow, the Allied Governments can no longer afford to acquiesce in the present state of affairs by which Germany obtains resources vital to her prosecution of the war and obtains from Norway facilities which place the Allies at a dangerous disadvantage.

"They have, therefore, already given notice to the Norwegian government that they reserve the right to take such measures as they may think necessary to hinder or prevent Germany from obtaining in Norway resources or facilities which, for the purpose of war, would be to her advantage or to the disadvantage of the Allies.

"If the successful prosecution of the war now requires them to take such measures, world opinion will not be slow to realize both the necessity under which they are constrained to act and the purpose of their action.

"Their purpose in this war is to establish principles which the smaller states of Europe would themselves wish to see prevail and upon which the very existence of those states ultimately depends. The Allies, of course, will never follow the German example of brutal violence and any action they decide to take will always be carried out in accordance with the dictates of humanity.

A Blow To Germany

"His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom and the French government have, accordingly, resolved to deny continued use by the enemy of stretches of territorial waters which are clearly of particular value to him and they have, therefore, decided to prevent the unhindered passage of vessels carrying contraband of war through Norwegian territorial waters."

Against a list of violations charged to the Germans, the Allies declared they had "never destroyed nor injured a single neutral ship or taken a single neutral life."

"The innocent character of fishing boats has hitherto been universally recognized," the statement said, "but this has not prevented Germany from committing nearly 200 attacks on fishing vessels aimed at sinking them and murdering their crews."

Another Sea "Brutality"

Britain added to its record of alleged German "brutality," the sinking of the 2,118-ton Norwegian collier Navarra off northern Scotland Saturday.

It charged that the Germans had promised to refrain from attacking ships with coal from Britain to Norway—as the Navarra was doing—and that the German submarine whose torpedo sent her to the bottom stayed in the vicinity 30 minutes without helping when one lifeboat capsized.

The Navarra sank within a few minutes. Three officers and nine members of her crew were killed. The Finnish vessel Atlas picked up 14 survivors.

Coincident with her widening efforts at sea, Britain called Vice-Admiral Sir Geoffrey Blake out of retirement to become Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty and Assistant Chief of the Naval Staff. Sir Geoffrey was gunnery commander of the Battleship Iron Duke in the first Great War and has filled varied important naval positions.

Copies of a "secret map" purporting to show a 10-year Nazi plan to conquer Europe have been issued by the British Ministry of Information.

The Ministry said the original was found by the Czech police in a 1938 raid on the Prague headquarters of Konrad Henlein, Fuehrer of the Sudeten Germans who were united with Germany through the Munich pact.

The Ministry declared the map showed that German leaders in 1937 planned to take Austria and Czecho-Slovakia the next year and to add progressively to their conquests until "before 1948 Hitler's hordes of bragging gangsters would have seized Scandinavia and Portugal" and also Great Britain.

heavily guarded by British naval units. The apparent purpose of the mine fields was to force German merchant ships to move out of Norwegian territorial waters into international waters, where the British navy waited to intercept them.

The ultimate objective of the Allies is obviously to halt shipments of Swedish ore to the Reich to feed the Nazi war machine.

The Norwegian public first heard of the laying of the mines through radio broadcasts, and a wave of excitement swept the country.

The action was generally regarded here as abruptly terminating "the total neutrality" which Norway has tried to maintain just as she preserved her neutral status in the first great war.

Whether Norway will take any action beyond a formal protest now is the vital issue.

The newspaper Dagbladet pointed out that the mine fields were so heavily guarded by British naval units that any attempt to remove the mines by force would be impossible.

In Copenhagen the newspaper Ekstrabladet commented editorially:

"Here is such a blow to the right of free decision of small nations that it is difficult to believe that it comes from a country which carries that right of free decision as one of its basic principles of government."

Close To Coast

All three Allied mine fields extend very close to the Norwegian coast, it was learned.

At Vestfjorden harbor, authorities issued an order forbidding all Norwegian ships to leave northern Norwegian harbors, thereby temporarily breaking communications between north and south Norway by sea.

Reports from Vest Fjord said that "numerous" British warships had been sighted off the coast patrolling the fields.

Announcement of the Allied action came amid growing agitation in Norway and Sweden for a defence alliance backed by arms and bombing planes.

The Swedish defence staff announced last night that "a certain stiffening of defence preparations has been made because of present conditions," but gave no indication of what measures had been taken.

A Stockholm newspaper, however, reported that Sweden and Norway had ordered 600 warplanes in the United States for immediate delivery. It predicted that the two countries would purchase at least 1,000 United States pursuit and bombing planes within the next few weeks.

The ore shipments to Germany which the Allies are seeking to halt have been going through the northern Norwegian port of Narvik and thence along Norway's coast into the Baltic.

Baltic Only Route Now

With the coming of spring, most of this traffic will be transferred to the Baltic and the Gulf of Bothnia—which has been icebound. Shipments will then go direct from the Swedish gulf of port of Lulea.

There was wide speculation in Scandinavian political circles as to how far Germany might go in answer to the new Allied move.

It was generally doubted that Germany would let the laying of the mines go unchallenged, merely to uphold her prestige if nothing else and there was keen anxiety lest she make a counter blow violating Scandinavian neutrality.

Most observers doubted, however, that the Nazis would risk a direct naval encounter, since the well-protected Gulf of Bothnia route soon will be open and few if any German ships are believed trapped in Norwegian harbors.

On the other hand the possibility of an extensive air attack on British mine fields patrols remained open.

Observers pointed out as important the fact that the new mine fields block German contact with the Arctic Russian port of Murmansk through Norwegian territorial waters, thereby cutting another line of supplies.

British warships are believed to be in the Adriatic but the German freighter Ankara, which sailed secretly from Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia with 5,000 tons of bauxite yesterday, was reported approaching Trieste without having been stopped.

The Ankara traced Yugoslav and Italian shorelines within territorial waters en route to Trieste, whence her cargo could be transhipped to Germany.

Naval experts have said that German freighters, which have been carrying on coastal service between the two ports since early in the war, probably would be able to use the territorial waters without hindrance as in the past.

Diplomatic sources here said they expected Italy, pictured by Premier Mussolini yesterday as ready for whatever "this late spring brings," to contest any effort to blockade Adriatic shipping.

They said they doubted, however, that the Italian navy would attempt to close the entrance to the Adriatic at the Strait sof Otranto.

The expectation in these quarters that the Italians would avoid any incident in the Adriatic, which they consider an Italian sea, was based on belief that both Italy and Yugoslavia want to stay out of the war.

German shipping in the Adriatic, consisting mostly of bauxite cargoes from Yugoslavia for the Reich aluminum industries, they said, are considered of relatively small importance.

not got far when they heard a woman scream, and looking back down the creek saw that one of the lads had fallen into the water. They were too far away to give any assistance.

The scream attracted the attention of Ralph Loucks, 282 Aylmer Street, who was on Hunter Street and he ran toward the stream in time to see young Meehan being carried down.

Tried to Save Him.

"I ran along the west bank south of Hunter Street, and got hold of a long stick," Loucks told the Examiner. "I leaned over the wall and tried to reach the boy in the water but the current carried him over toward the east side and he disappeared beneath the bridge. He seemed to be holding his nose with one hand to to be making swimming motions when I last saw him."

George Kearney, an employee of the Magee Garage heard the alarm and ran across Hunter street in time to see the boy disappear in the covered part of the stream below Hunter street. "I could see he was wearing one of those leather aviation caps and apparently a sand-colored sweater," Kearney said.

From the south window of his apartment in the Bell Apartments, Joseph Bell also caught a glimpse of young Meehan before he was swept under the bridge. "I saw some people running past my side windows," Bell stated, "and I looked out of the rear window just in time to see the little fellow before he disappeared."

M. McDonald and Dod Holland were two others who saw the boy swept away to his death but had no time to try to effect a rescue.

Search for Body

The alarm was sent into the police station and to the fire hall and both city services responded. Sergt. Puffer, who took the message at the police station, broadcast it over the police radio and a cruiser car with Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Constables Archie Menzies and Leo Murphy picked up the message at Charlotte and George street and immediately sped south to place guards on the bridges at Dalhousie and Townsend streets to watch out for the boy. The firemen were also quickly on the job and the whole route of the creek from Hunter street to the mouth of the stream was checked over and watched. A boat was obtained from the city yards and covered portion of the creek above Charlotte street explored without any results.

The watch along the creek was maintained until darkness made it impossible to continue operations.

The only trace found of the boy was his cap which came floating down the stream about 3.30 o'clock and was taken from the water near Dalhousie street by Vincent Whittington. The cap was afterward identified by Earl Meehan as that of his brother.

The search, which included the use of a motor boat in the bay at the mouth of the creek was as thorough as was possible under the circumstances but the water was dark in color, several feet deep and moving rapidly and there was considerable chance the the boys' body escaped the observation of the watchers as it was carried down to the bay.

The young victim of the accident is survived by his parents, four sisters, Mrs. T. Vass, Hunter street, Thelma, Phyllis and Ruby, and one brother, Earl.

Veterans March To St. James' On Vimy Day

Commemorating the anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge, a national service was observed in St. James' United Church when about 150 members of the Canadian Legion Branch 52, joined with the congregation in worship.

Led by the Prince of Wales Ranger's Band, the ex-service men marched from the Legion Hall to the church under Parade Marshal D. M. Douglas, 2nd vice president.

The Legion president, Chief Geo. Gimblett accompanied the men, as well as District Commander M. Sloan, while members of the city council included Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Cotton, Wilson, Ovens, Dutton and Stocker. These visitors, who occupied the centre front pews, were cordially welcomed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Fred Craik, whose fitting theme for this morning service, was "Our National Honor Still Stands", and the hymns chosen were all popular overseas favorites during the first Great War, including "I Need Thee Every Hour", "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "Beneath the Cross of Jesus".

A fine choir program arranged by the organist and choir leader Cecil Lapp also added to the spirit of the service. The anthem by the choir was a new rendering of the beautiful old hymn "O God Our Help In Ages Past". While the male voices sang "Dear Land of Mine" from Finlandia (Sibelius).

Fev. F. W. Craik Speaks

In addressing the men of the Canadian Legion as well as his congregation, Rev. Mr. Craik quoted from the words of Isaiah the great prophet who for 50 years, led his nation spiritually, "Arise, Shine for Thy Light Is Come". As spokesman for national life of his day, Isaiah was never discouraging, even when the life of the nation was at its lowest ebb. In these eventful days we need just such encouragement—not a false optimism, but a new-found sense of the appreciation of the good things of life, he said.

God preserve nations by the good men in them. The destinies of England and the British Empire are in the hands of good men and so, will be eminently successful, he maintained. We must respect the rights of others if we demand them for ourselves. There is more strength in religious life than we sometimes realize and we must care for the ark of God or mankind will soon lose its nobility.

There is still time to save the world for democracy and God. It may be in this 20th century that we will bring about a religion for all men, and lift virtue to its proper place. In these days there is nothing to save the nation but the grace of God. Without it all armaments are futile.

The last words of King George V come to us often "How is it with the Empire?" It is only what we make it as individuals. So, in our national life we believe in honor, truth, justice, devotion, unity, and respect for law.

First Role Not Complete

The pastor recalled to his hearers, the peace tower at Ottawa where the honour roll for the last Great War is not yet completed with its list of 68,000 men attesting to the great cost of war and urging the men to face the fact that the new honour roll will begin before the other is finished. In spite of this, we must heed the call of Isaiah to "Arise" with a new national dignity.

There is only one day to be really ready for the combat: to have a religion pure and undefiled that never fades away. War never settles anything permanently, declared the speaker who referred to the words of King George VI, November 1939, in his declaration that we had been compelled to take up arms to preserve the fundamental right of nations for free existence. "We are at war against those who would infringe on the freedom of the soul". Again recalling the Vimy Ridge of 1918 when Sir Arthur Currie addressed the Canadian troops upon their responsibility for the fate of the British Empire, then, as now, there can be no giving way. "Let us show the world again that with united forces, we shall be victorious for righteousness, justice and peace for all nations."

The National Anthem and the benediction brought this patriotic service to a conclusion.

An entire cricket team recently joined the British Army.

R. J. Breyfogle Advances In Barcelona

Robert J. Breyfogle, manager of the International Banking Corporation in Barcelona, Spain, son of W. R. Breyfogle, general manager of the De Laval Company, was recently elected vice-president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Barcelona, according to information received by his family here a few days ago.

The International Banking Corporation in Barcelona is an affiliate of the National City Bank of New York with which Mr. Breyfogle has been engaged for ten years, nine of them in Spain, including the entire period of the Spanish civil war. During that period Mr. Breyfogle's family lived in England, and he used to visit them every two or three months, usually by plane to London.

His promotion to the position of manager of the International Banking Corporation was a recognition by the company's headquarters in New York of his loyalty to the bank during the prolonged strife and dangers of Spain's domestic fighting. Recently he was proposed for the presidency of the American Chamber of Commerce, but had to decline the honor and responsibility of that position on account of his business duties.

Mr. Breyfogle's friends in Peterborough will be interested in the rapid success he has attained in foreign banking, especially as he is still only thirty-six years old.

Two Veterans Die Saturday

Two war veterans, one of whom was captured by Germans and spent more than two and a half years a prisoner of war, and the other of whom was severely wounded and gassed, died here over the week-end. The first was George B. Hutchinson of 227 Perry Street, who died in Christie Street Hospital on Saturday; and the second was Thomas Francis Guerin, 110 Sophia Street, who died on the same day in St. Joseph's Hospital.

George Hutchinson enlisted with the 8th C.M.R.'s, and was later transferred to the 4th C.M.R.'s. He was made a prisoner of war on June 2, 1915, during the Battle of Zillebecks, remaining in Germany for two years and eight months. He was a former member of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion.

He was born in London, England, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchinson, and came to Peterborough 37 years ago. He was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church and of Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O.F.

Surviving, besides his wife, formerly Clara Hatch, are three daughters: Mrs. F. Davey of Oshawa, Mrs. George Stevens of Peterborough, and Mrs. Elwood Montgomery of Peterborough, and one son, George E. Hutchinson of Peterborough; also one sister, Mrs. C. Joyes, of Peterborough.

The funeral will be on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from All Saints' Church, Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Gassed, Wounded.

Thomas Francis Guerin enlisted with the 93rd Battalion and served in France with that unit. He was badly wounded and gassed, and never regained his health to the time of his death.

He was a member of the Holy Name Society and of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Surviving are his wife and four children: Hazel, Catherine, Paul and Ann, all at home; and his mother, Mrs. Mary Guerin; and three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Dalton and Miss Hazel Guerin, both of Peterborough, and Mrs. K. McDonald of Pittsburgh; also one brother, John Guerin of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place at 8.45 a.m. on Tuesday morning from the family residence at 110 Sophia Street, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m., and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

Debate Closing Wednesdays At Hastings

HASTINGS, April 8 (ENS) — Hastings merchants are again at loggerheads over the Wednesday afternoon half holiday closing by-law which takes effect during the months of June, July, August and September. Walter M. Fowlds, as chairman of the Business Men's division of the Hasting's Booster Club, presented a petition to the council Friday night at the monthly session requesting that the half-holiday by-law be repealed. The document contained names of about one dozen shopkeepers. Mr. Fowlds pointed out to council that tourist trade meant much to Hastings merchants who were forced to close on Wednesday afternoons at a time of year when the tourists were here.

He said he expected to see more tourists here this summer than ever before and if such was the case, local merchants would be passing up the opportunity of taking advantage of it.

Councillor Stanley Stevenson alleged it was an old grudge between certain merchants that could never be settled unless merchants learned to trust one another. Reeve Lewis Kelley said it was unfortunate the Business Men's Association had brought up the subject at this time so soon after their organization and that he would suggest they pass no decision at this meeting and refer the petition back to the Business Men for further consideration. "It is a touchy subject to deal with at any time and I believe it was as bad a move as the business men could have made if they wish to keep the organization intact," he said.

Councillor William McEachnie charged the business men were placing the council on the spot and Councillor Iden Bonds alleged the struggle between two factions had been going on since he moved to Hastings several years ago. It was pointed out to Mr. Fowlds that the petition did not represent a majority of the merchants in the various classifications of business and that about half the merchants were represented. "I could go out tomorrow and have just as many sign a petition to stay closed Wednesday afternoons," Stanley Stevenson said. "How can we ever hope to get harmony among the merchants if this is the case," Mr. Fowlds, querried.

Following the lengthy discussion on the matter which took more than half an hour, it was suggested that a letter be drafted and given to Mr. Fowlds to report to the business men. In short, the letter will say that the council feels it is not a good policy to bring the matter up for decision and it has been referred back to them for further consideration and that they feel there is not sufficient representation all classes of business to act upon the petition.

Town Hall Repairs

James Calberry, Hastings contractor, presented an account for repairs to the town hall for $360, with extras to the value of $30.49. He pointed out that through an error in figuring the flooring, he would be out his wages and $9, in laying the floor. Council granted him an additional $25 to bring the total to $415.49. A. J. McKenty's account for alterations to the furnace exceeded $50.

Robert Simpson was leased lots adjoining his property for pasture purposes this summer for $25. Carl Oliver was granted $2 extra for an extra truck for hauling the fire engine the day the inspector was in the village. The auditors report for 1939 on the town and relief books was accepted. Council decided not to contract for printing this year and to secure the same as required with the preference given to J. C. Wilson, local printer.

J. M. Baker, clerk, read a report from the Canadian Underwriters' Association with reference to the recent inspection of local fire fighting apparatus. It is recommended the brigade of 14 men be increased to 21 and that arrangements be made for at least a few of them to sleep in the fire hall all night, including the engineer. It was also recommended that a suitable alarm system be installed at the fire hall and that a gong be connected electrically to this alarm to sound at the tannery where most of the volunteer brigade are employed.

Although the pumper is rated at 500 gallons per minute, the report said that during inspection the discharge was 240 gallons per minute. Sleighs should be provided for the appliances for winter use and a wheeled appliance should be provided for carrying the extinguishers now in the fire hall. A regular night patrol from sunset to sunrise should be instituted, more hose should be purchased and the ladder wagon should respond to all calls.

Copp of the Normal staff started out to pay visits to the schools to check up on progress. One trip took them to Prince Edward County. "It was not too bad along the highways," remarked Dr. Madill, "but there were places where one look at some of the sideroads was sufficient to make it known that a trip would be next to impossible. Some roads were cut open to the width of a car, but what would happen if two cars met I do not know. Then there was one school where it looked to be hopeless in trying to approach, but school was going on just the same." The Examiner inquired how the teacher managed to get there, and the answer was "Oh, she went in on snowshoes."

Mrs. K. A. Mackenzie Buried At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, April 8—(ENS) — The funeral of Mrs. Kenneth Mackenzie, wife of Kenneth Mackenzie, principal of The Grove Preparatory School, Lakefield, was held in the chapel at The Grove on Saturday at 2 p.m.

Costly Fire Sweeps Incubator At Millbrook Sunday Night

MILLBROOK, April 8.—(ENS)—Around 500 or 600 small chicks, and 31,000 eggs were destroyed in a costly fire which swept through the incubator house of the commercial poultry farm of Milburn McDowell, at the south end of Main street here Sunday night. Three expensive incubators, one only recently installed were also ruined by the blaze. The newest machine, of the humidaire type, held 8,000 eggs and the two older incubators took care of 15,000 and 8,000 respectively.

All were filled to capacity as this is the peak of the season. The small chickens destroyed were in four or five brooders in the incubator house.

The fire is thought to have originated in a stove in the office.

At 10 o'clock Sunday night Mr. McDowell discovered the floor and wall of the office blazing and turned in the alarm. However the fire spread rapidly through the incubator house and although the fire brigade responded quickly they could not save the building or its contents. They were successful, however, in preventing the flames from reaching the nearby colony houses and barns.

Mr. McDowell's loss will be very heavy and will only partially be taken care of by insurance.

Liquor Charge Dismissed In Police Court

A charge against Chris McGrath, 189 Reid Stret, of having permitted drunkenness on his premises on the morning of March 23 was dismissed by Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court today after a session that lasted nearly all morning.

The charge followed a raid by police on McGrath's place which was searched for liquor on that occasion.

"The officers went there with a search warrant and found nothing, and they were determined by hook or crook to get some charge against this man," charged T. J. Carley, K.C., defence counsel, in his arguments to the court.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted the case.

Sergt. W. E. Wigg, the first Crown witness, swore that armed with a search warrant, he and Constable Archie Menzies had gone to McGrath's place at 3.10 o'clock on the morning of March 23 and had found four or five men and a woman sitting around a table in the living room. There were beer glasses, cards and money on the table, Sergt. Wigg stated. A search disclosed no liquor except a quart bottle of beer, the neck of which had been broken, and several cases of empty beer bottles. Sergt. Wigg said that two men in the part were "staggering drunk."

He said that McGrath had taken some of the beer glasses from the table and washed them at the sink.

Constable Menzies corroborated the story of the raid. He said there were beer glasses on the table and beer bottles on the floor near the persons at the table. Two of the men in the party were drunk, Constable Menzies maintained.

For the defence four of the men found in the house, including the two alleged to have been drunk, were called and all four swore that the two were not drunk. They admitted that some beer had been consumed at McGrath's place and that euchre had been played for money, but that neither man accused by the police of having been drunk was in that condition. One of the two who said he had had three fingers of Scotch at his own home before going to McGrath's. "I had a drink of Scotch this morning before coming to court," he said. "I used to get brandy four times a day while I was in hospital."

In his judgment Magistrate Gee said that he believed that the men might have been under the influence of liquor but that they were not drunk and that therefore there would be a dismissal of the case.

Transient Jailed For Eight Days

Five transients, Robert Johnston, Frank Curry, Frank Christopher, George Kelly and William McDuff arrested on Bethune street, were charged before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning with having created a disturbance. Three of them pleaded guilty and Johnston and Kelly not guilty to the charge and the five were remanded until Saturday at the request of the police.

A minute or two later all five filed back into the police court room and Kelly and Johnston announced that they wished to change their plea to guilty.

Magistrate Gee sentenced the quintette to eight days in jail.

Wants New Uniform But Had Old One Only Fourteen Years

Hastings, April 8 (ENS)

IT'S A GOOD JOB Constable Wellman of Hastings hasn't changed much in physique during the past 14 years. And it's equally a good job that the town council buys good clothes for its employees on the rare occasions when the spirit moves its members.

the spirit moves its members.

Town Constable Wellman appeared before the council at its meeting Friday night and asked that a new uniform be purchased for him. He was wearing the old uniform, and showed a label on the coat to prove that it had been purchased in 1925. The uniform, he argued, was beginning to show the effects of fourteen years of wear and tear.

But fourteen years is not enough service for a good suit, it would appear. Reeve Kelly said the council has been at great expense this year and that he did not think the municipality could afford a new suit this year. However, it was finally decided to purchase Constable Wellman a new pair of blue trousers to go with the coat—which must complete a decade and a half of service in 1940.

Maple Syrup At 60 Cents To Open Season

First run maple syrup opened at 65 cents a quart on the market, with some asking $2.50 a gallon, and registered to 60 cents at which the bulk of the day's offering sold.

William White of Ida said the sap had been flowing about two hours a day. Alf Elmhirst of Indian River reported 300 trees tapped on his farm, and deep snow in the woods has been making the work heavier.

Butter sold at 28 to 30 cents, eggs were 20 to 25 cents, most of them selling around 22 and 23 cents; one woman very frankly asked 18 cents a dozen. The supply was plentiful.

Roaster chickens were 22 and 23 cents, broilers 30 cents. Fresh pork was 13 and 15 cents, beef 12 and 14 cents, veal 16 and 18 cents. Northern Spy apples were strong at 60 and 65 cents, with cooking varieties at 35 cents a peck. Norman Moncrief said the stock of select Spies is almost gone.

White Star potatoes sold up to $1.25 a bag. E. M. Beer of Campbellcroft quoted Dooleys at $1.10 with smaller sized ones at 75 cents. For certified Cobblers and Chipewas Erie Tully asked $2, and $1.75 for Katahdins.

Extols "Y" Work In Last War For New Appeal

Recommending a generous and cordial response to the Y.M.C.A. war fund canvas which will be made in Peterborough next week, H. L. Garner, general manager of the Examiner, reminded the members of Rotary Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel today of the highly important contribution the "Y" made in the last war.

In the construction of military huts and estaminets and their equipment the Y.M.C.A. spent $1,250,000; free entertainment, including the organization of the famous Dumbells, together with accomodation cost $691,000; free gifts of cigarettes and other comforts to wounded men amounted to $335,000. These lump figures represented only part of the "Y" enterprise in behalf of Canada's soldiers, Mr. Garner said. There had been some mistakes made in a new undertaking that was inspired by a desire to be helpful to the men and their cause, but there had also been mistakes even by the high command of the armies. It was from that experience that the "Y" was launching its new work, and already more than 700,000 young men have passed through the estaminets of the "Y" since the present war broke out.

"Would the soldiers have been better off if the 'Y' had stayed out of France?" Mr. Garner asked, declaring that there was only one answer, and it was "no," and from the lessons of that war the "Y" was better equipped than ever to render valuable help to the new armies.

Mr. Garner referred to the many members of Rotary who are officers and directors of the Y.M.C.A. affirmed his own enthusiasm for all phases of its work, especially the Friday Night Supper Club of which he is president, and explained that the "Y" could easily become self-sustaining if it excluded from membership the boys and young men who were unable to pay the fee charged to seniors.

"I am always impressed by the wonderful crowd of the youth of the city who make the 'Y' their headquarters," Mr. Garner said, in a passing reference to its local and civilian work. "It is helping to build a better manhood. We have 125 young men in our Friday Night Club, and I feel certain that they are going places in the future."

Mr. Garner urged Rotarians to "say a good word" about the "Y" canvas next week, and to extend both a cordial and generous response to the men who are undertaking the drive.

South Africa's 1940 corn crop filled 29,000,000 bags.

"Y" Club Dance Is Gayest In Its History

The "Spring Dance" of the Y.M.C.A. Saturday Night Club was the most successful dance in the club's short history, and one of the gayest parties of the year. The excitement and high spirits created during the Peterborough St. Paul's - Toronto College United basketball game preceding the dance seemed to linger with the dancing crowd during the entire evening, and was enhanced by the sparkling rythm of the music of Jimmie Duffus and his orchestra and the novelty of the program.

Decorations were carried out in springtime shades of green and yellow, with silhouettes on colored plaques depicting Y.M.C.A. activities, designed by Mr. Sam Rogow, adorning the walls. Colored streamers and flowers covered the basketball standards at each end, and a large centrepiece of streamers and colored lights was suspended from the ceiling. New modernistic effects on the music stand were designed by Rollie Rennie, and contributed greatly to the orchestra setting.

Mrs. A. B. Clark was ably assisted by a number of charming young ladies in the serving of eleven o'clock refreshments.

During the dance the spot prize was won by Miss Darell Heffernan and Mr. R. Roy. A shower of balloons provided lots of excitement, and five young ladies who had unbroken balloons at the end of the number participated in a balloon blowing contest. The prize, a handsome purse donated by Knox Jewellers was won by Mrs. Henderson, and the four other young ladies received novelty consolation prizes. The door prize, drawn for by Gordon McIntyre of St. Paul's team, was won by Miss Margaret Laplante.

Members of the Toronto basketball team and their supporters, together with the St. Paul's team, were entertained at the dance, and the latter team was congratulated on their remarkable win, and drew a long round of applause from the dancers.

Among the 275 in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ash, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wolstenholme, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Do You Know?

Do not be tempted to open the oven door during the early stages of cooking to see if the cake is rising, or you may be sure it won't. If there is need to open the oven later, close it softly or the rush of cold air will lower the heat.

Collect all your odd scraps of soap and put them in a piece of flannel. Place in very hot water until the bag of soap begins to melt, now plunge into cold water and leave until it hardens. When flannel is removed there will be a perfectly good ball of soap for household use.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 9

A moderately active and successful day is presaged from the rule of lunar and mutual aspects of the planets. New projects may be launched with confidence, although it is probable that there may be determined opposition from elders or others maliciously and selfishly disposed. Beware of intrigues and doubtful propositions. The personal, emotional and social relations are also under fine impetus for progress and the pursuit of pleasure. Watch the family health.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a fairly active and successful year, with new rather than old matters enjoying an impetus to progress and achievement. Initiative and creative faculties are well-stimulated, and may be called on to circumvent opposition from elders or others of selfish or malevolent purpose. The intimate life responds to pleasureable excitements, with comradeship and sociability attractive. In all be alert to suspicious entanglements or intrigues.

A child born on this day may be active, practical and industrious, with much determination and constructiveness. It also may be fond of social activities and indulgence in pleasure, being genial, gracious and kind-hearted.

FOR WOMEN ONLY!

If fidgety nerves, restless nights and distress from female functional "irregularities" keep you from having fun in life—take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—famous for over 60 years in helping weak, run-down nervous women during "difficult" days. WORTH TRYING!

SAFE DRY CLEANING ERVICE

This is one place where we "think before we act." Each item to be dry cleaned is carefully examined as to spots, their location, and as to the fabric from which the item was made. Then we proceed to clean it properly. This "safety" method means longer wear for you.

PRETTY PRINTS POPULAR

By ALICE ALDEN

PRINTS are on everyone's calendar from now on. The fabric may be the same for the entire ensemble, as is the case in the print pictured, or it may be combined with silk jersey. Black crinkled silk crepe makes this costume, patterned with flowers in yellow, green, white and fuchsia — which means perfect freedom in accessory colors. The bodice of the frock has narrow horizontal bands of the silk mounted on black silk marquisette, making it especially pretty as an "above the table" dress for bridge, cocktails or informal summer dining. Change the straw hat for a turban of the print when it's a dinner date.

Former Famous Actor Passes

BAY SHORE, N.Y., April 8—(AP)—William Faversham, 72, one of the greatest of the old-school matinee idols, died Sunday in a rooming-house not far from the great mansion he owned in the heyday of his heart-fluttering strides across the American stage.

Born in England, his roles ranged from a magnificent Romeo to the tattered old "Jeeter Lester" of perennial "Tobacco Road"—in a road company—and those roles ironically encompassed his rise and decline, with age, on the State.

Death was due to coronary embolism.

Always Immaculate.

Until a week ago, the old actor lived at near-by East Islip, as a guest of the Percy G. Williams estate, maintained as a retreat for aged actors by the will of the late theatre magnate.

Discouraged with stage bits after his experience as the leading character actor in the Tobacco Road Company, he turned up at the Williams estate three years ago and asked permission to work a garden plot for his keep.

He always went about the Williams' estate in immaculate dress, reminiful of his greater days.

Faversham left there a week ago for the "quiet" of the rooming house, undoubtedly feeling that his course was run.

His last public appearance was a month ago, on the "We, the People" radio program.

He is survived by two sons, Philip, an actor, of New York, and William Jr., of Boston.

Friends said the actor had expressed a wish to be buried near his second wife, Julie Opp, at Huntington, Long Island. He was married three times.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday.

Over 200 Attend Board's Spring Bridge and Tea

With over 200 attending, the spring bridge and tea of the Y.W.C.A. Board, held in the Green Room, Library and Recreation room of the Y.W.C.A., was an interesting and successful affair of Saturday afternoon. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. H. R. H Kenner, president, and Miss A. Wood. Bridge conveners were Mrs. N. D. Buchanan and Mrs. J. H. Vernor, refreshment convener, Mrs. S. L. Smoke, and treasurer for afternoon tea, Miss Laura Davidson.

A springtime atmosphere was lent to the Recreation Room by a graceful arrangement of daffodils and red tulips, green covered card tables, and gay yellow tallies. Green-handed white cups filled with candy were at each of the fifty bridge tables, at which tea was served after the games.

Many guests dropped in during the tea hour. Mrs. W. H. Hill poured tea in the Club Room adjoining the Recreation Room, assisted by Mrs. B. Shortly and Miss Lahring Parsons. The same delightful springtime colors of green and yellow were strikingly effective on the tea table, with its embroidered yellow cloth, and centre of daffodils nodding a friendly welcome from a low brown bowl.

Four chime alarms for high scores were won by Mrs. W. G. Harris (1st group); Mrs. W. Belleghem (2nd group); Mrs. E. L. Sackville (3rd group); Miss Betsy Scott (4th group). Prizes for second high scores were won by Mrs. H. Leslie, Miss Buller, Mrs. W. G. Fitzgerald, and Mrs. Wm. J. Gordon. The lucky draw for each group was won by Mrs. D. J. McClelland, Mrs. J. Graham, Mrs. D. Clark and Miss Marion Armstrong.

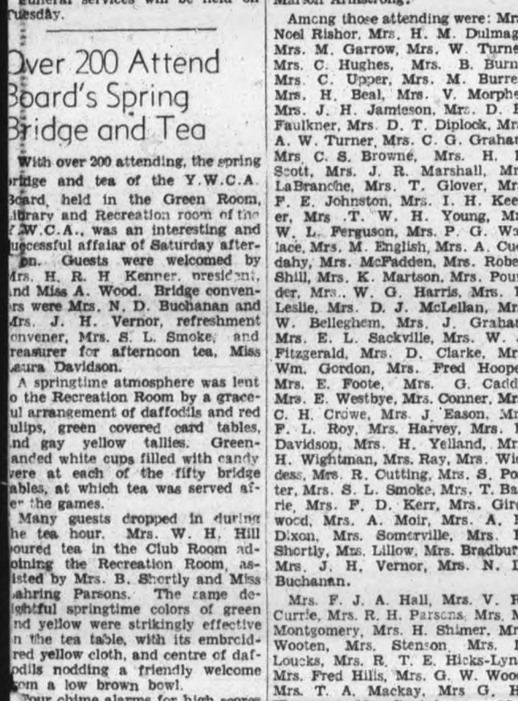
Britain Convoys a Convoy

There are really two convoys in this picture and the merchant ship below can feel that it is well protected. Partially visible in the UPPER LEFT is a British warship on the lookout for lurking German submarines, while overhead fly some of the formidable Anson reconnaissance planes of the Royal Air Force. They are looking for submarines and for enemy planes as well.

Motors Checked For Murder Clues



Two policemen are shown checking numbers of motors which were found in a Brooklyn, N.Y., junk yard by detectives and members of a police emergency squad who were searching for motors of stolen cars used by the Brooklyn murder syndicate, which is now under investigation by District-Attorney William O'Dwyer. O'Dwyer announced the recovery of motors of 20 stolen cars used by the syndicate. Police also picked up a suspect known as "Oscar, the Poet," later identified as Oscar Friedman, a junk dealer. District-Attorney O'Dwyer charged "Oscar, the Poet," was the man who disposed of "hot" cars used by members of the murder ring.

DOROTHY DIX

When You Enter Marriage Do So With Idea of Permanency. Seldom Do Those Who Change Mates Find Real Happiness in Second or Third Ventures.

It is announced that in Hollywood, where heretofore the matrimonial slogan has been "One Husband More," and where the collecting of wedding rings has been a popular fad, that the innovation of the one-man system of marriage is to be tried out. A club called "One Husband, Inc.," has been formed, the members of which are pledged to restrict themselves to a single husband and to revive the old-fashioned theory, prevalent in Grandmother's day, that the first marriage is as likely to take as the last one and that there is no profit in swapping husbands. These are tidings of great joy. If this organization succeeds in making it fashionable to have one wedding instead of a succesion of them it will work a great social reformation. It is idle to deny that the cinema stars set the styles in morals, as well as hair bobs and clothes for the great majority of women. These copycats will follow the movie stars back into the domestic fold just as they followed them out of it and into the divorce courts.

If there is one thing that human experience has proved more than another, it is that a sense of permanence is at the bottom of all happiness and success. When we know that the die is cast and our fate is sealed we accept it, adapt ourselves to it and try to make the best of it. As the old colored preacher said:

"We co-operate wth the inevitable." We put our backs into the work we have to do. We quit worrying over the things that we cannot change.

This is just as true of marriage as it is of everything else. Perhaps when we get our matrimonial bargains home and look them over we feel that we have been gypped. We see flaws in them that we did not perceive in our courting days. They are not all wool and a yard wide as we thought they were when they were trying to sell themselves to us. They are not our taste. Probably there is hardly a marriage in the world in which the participants don't go through that experience of disillusion and disappointment in their mates.

But if they feel that they have made a contract that they cannot break; if their sportsmanship will not permit them to let down the little children they have brought into the world and deprive them of a peaceful home to grow up in and both a father and a mother to guide them, they put their dreams of what might have been into cold storage. They make the best of the mates they have. They keep their eyes on their duty instead of on fascinating strangers and achieve a friendship with their husbands and wives that is in reality the best thing that marriage has to give.

It is the men and women who go into marriage with no intention of staying married if they don't like it who make failures of it, as they would of any other undertaking that they entered into with the same spirit. They are like the people who are always shifting from one occupation to another and who are unsuccessful at everything.

They are like the people who never strike root down anywhere and never have a permanent home because they never expect to stay in one house long. They are always on the lookout for some woman more beautiful than their wives, some man more fascinating than their husbands; always experimenting with their emotions to see if they still thrill as much as they used to. They never find satisfaction and in the end they lose out as gamblers always do.

Of course, the continual marrying and divorcing that is so common nowadays is a perpetual search for something that doesn't exist, and that is the ideal mate. No man was ever born who possessed the antagonistic qualities that every wife would like to have in her husband. No man's dream woman ever lived anywhere outside of his imagination.

Mary divorces John because he is a prosaic business man and marries James because he is a poet. She is no better satisfied with James when she finds poetry is a thin diet. Thomas forsakes Maria, who is fat and middle-aged, for Gladys, who is young and glamorous, and then berates Gladys because she doesn't know how to cook the way Maria did.

And so it goes. All of the trading of old wives for new was just swapping one set of faults for another. One is as hard to endure as the other, and they had just as well have stuck to the first one in the beginning and saved heartaches and scandal and alimony.

So here's wishing the One Husband, Inc. Club success. May its membership increase!

A pleasant session was held in the home of Scouter Ford; speaker for the evening being Bert Graham. The subject of his talk was "Assessment." Many interesting items were brought forward.

Parents Banquet

The St. John's Annual parents' banquet will be held on Friday, April 28, at 6.45 p.m. Any who would like to attend can secure tickets from Scouters Ford, Pammett or Groombridge.

At 2nd Armour

Owing to other arrangements the cubs met Wednesday instead of Tuesday. A full attendance being on hand as Ron Beavis led the opening Grand Howl. The cubs enjoyed a pleasant surprise when their two new Akelas presented the pack with a new totem pole pointed in true cub colors, decorated with ribbons recording all tests passed and surmounted with a real wolf head. The two leaders completed all work on the pole.

The pack welcomed back Russell Andrews, who has been absent from the jungle for some time.

Street Naming and Relay were the games. Four boys passed the tenderpad tests and will be invested shortly.

The Troop.—Morse and semaphore signalling were the main instructions of the evening. The buzzer set holding the interest of most boys. Doug Miller and Harold Willshaw have completed their tenderfoot tests and will be invested next Friday.

Sacred Heart

Cubs.—Rann Mat Sargent of St. John's was special visitor to the pack; a quiet evening being spent.

The Troop.—The Sacred Heart troop will meet on Tuesday as usual. All members are specially requested to attend.

St. James'

Cubs.—The pack gave a special welcome to Bagheera Miss M. Henthorne, who has been absent from the jungle through illness. Akela also introduced Ken Moffat as another leader in the pack.

Three chums were accepted into the pack when Elwin Curtis, Alastair Kerr and Arthur Wells made their promise to Akela before the council rock. They are attached to the White, Red and Grey sixes in order named. The Bean Game Relay was the only game enjoyed.

The Troop.—With the patrol leaders and senior patrol absent on business, the troop had a successful meeting.

All Saints.

The Pack.—Plans have been made to hold a parents' night in the pack on Tuesday, April 16. A lively program has been arranged and it is hoped that all cubs' parents will do their utmost to attend the meeting and see just what their sons can do.

Every cub is asked to wear shorts from now on, as it is the real cub uniform. This should be done especially for parents' night.

Scouter Siddall was on hand to continue his first aid instruction: Assistant Commissioner L. A. Grant with Baloo Earl McNabb of Murray Street were visitors at the meeting. Bert Weale was introduced to the pack.

The Troop.—The troop is still collecting papers.

Down Murray Street.

The Pack.—Games of Three-Cornered Tug of War and Dizzy Walking were enjoyed.

Knotting tests were passed and the Dance of There Khan's Death was learned.

Still another boy became a member of the great brotherhood of scouts when Ken Saunders made his cub promise before the totem in an investiture ceremony.

There will be a general rehearsal of the whole pack on Tuesday evening at 6.30 (at the Sunday school) for the coming concert.

The Troops.—R. Gynane and T. Littlefair were visitors at the last meeting. During the meeting Ray Sutcliffe became a full tenderfoot scout. The paper collections is still going on.

The association is glad to welcome and congratulate those eight new scouts and cubs who have been invested this week and trust we will have the pleasure of their cubbing and scouting for many years to come.

British Mechanized Cavalry Units "Charge" In France

All the glamor and romance has been stripped from modern warfare, and of necessity the cavalry charge of old, which all old cavalrymen remember with a thrill of pride, has given away to the mechanical rumblings of the modern cavalry horse—the tank. Here we see modern light tanks of the B.E.F. during a "charge" of Britain's mechanized cavalry in France.

Pretty Lacy Lampshade You Can Quickly Weave

Use Taffeta Tape and Lace

Charming for your dressing table is this dainty lampshade—of white lace insertion and taffeta ribbon binding tape in white or a pretty pastel color.

Weave it easily yourself on an inexpensive frame. Around the wires (except those that grip the light bulb) wind strips of white crepe paper, cut ½-inch wide across the grain. Paste down ends. Then attach strips of lace as Diagram 1 shows, pasting the ends at inside bottom and top of frame.

Now thread a strip of taffeta tape through a bobby pin and, starting at top, weave over and under lace as Diagram 2 shows. At finish of each row paste ends of tape together inside frame. As a final touch add a taffeta bow.

You can quickly make a matching boudoir set, too, using a breadboard for a loom. And weaving's such fun you'll want to make other lovely things. Amazing what you can do with inexpensive materials — on homemade looms!

Besides giving detailed directions for the lampshade and boudoir set, our 32-page booklet tells how to weave doilies, rag rugs, pillow tops, belts, purses—many other pretty items for home and personal use.

IN MEMORIAM

PANTER. — In loving memory of our son, Gerald Panter, who died four years ago to-day, April 8.

Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.

—Ever lovingly remembered by Father, Mother and Sister.

PANTER.—In loving memory of my dear little grandson, Gerald, who was drowned four years ago to-day.

A tribute of love and remembrance
To one I will never forget,
His absence to me is a sorrow,
His loss I shall never forget.
—Sadly missed by Gramma and Grampa Panter.

BURGESS.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Annie Burgess, who passed away April 8, 1935.

Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

WATKINS.—In loving memory of a dear father and husband, Joe Watkins, who died April 8, 1935.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

TYPES OF STRONG HANDS

WHEN YOU hold a powerful hand at the left of the opening bidder, your job is twofold—to proclaim it to your partner and also indicate just what kind of strong hand you possess. Otherwise, your side may land in the wrong declaration. Your chief weapons in such cases are: (1) An informative or takeout double, (2) a No-Trump bid, (3) a jump bid in one of your suits, and (4) a bid of the opponent's suit.

1. ♠ A K Q 7 4 2 ♥ 6 3 ♦ A Q J ♣ Q 2
2. ♠ A K Q 7 ♥ 6 3 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ Q J 4 2
3. ♠ A Q 7 2 ♥ K J 6 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ Q 4 3
4. ♠ A Q J 2 ♥ K J 6 ♦ 5 4 2 ♣ A K 3
5. ♠ A K Q 7 4 ♥ 6 ♦ A J 9 7 2 ♣ Q 4
6. ♠ A K Q J ♥ 6 ♦ A Q J 10 ♣ A K J 10

With neither side vulnerable, and the dealer having bid 1-Heart, if you held the above hands, your best action, in line with the practice used by the finest players, would be to double with 1, 2 or 3, bid 1-No Trump with 4, 2-Spades with 5 and 2-Hearts with 6.

With 1, a double followed by a spade bid on the next round, regardless of what might be the intervening action, would give a perfect picture of your hand, powerful and with a fine suit. With 2, if your partner bids No Trump to show heart stoppers, raise it; if he bids diamonds or clubs, bid spades; if he bids spades or No Trump, raise; if the next opponent bids and so shuts out your partner, double again, asking a response.

With 3, if your partner responds with spades, raise; if anything else, bid No Trump. The purpose of the No Trump with 4, instead of a double, is that, if the opponents find a fit with diamonds and your partner has them stopped, he knows about your heart stops and so can go on with No Trump.

With 5 you show one suit first, instead of doubling, to make sure you can show the other on your next turn. With 6, you proclaim game strength at once, making sure the side doesn't stop below it except for a very profitable business doubling chance.

Couple Stranded 18 Hours In Pigeon Swamp

JANETVILLE, April 8—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett of Oshawa had a most uncomfortable experience on Thursday night. While returning to their home around 11 p.m. the Bennett car became stranded in the flooded Pigeon Creek swamp on the Lindsay-Newcastle Provincial Highway a mile east of Janetville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett had crossed the bridge earlier in the day but the water was not too deep to cause concern and returning in the darkness they didn't realize the serious increase in depth until it was too late.

Local residents aware of the situation avoid that locality and as a result no one arrived to rescue Mr. and Mrs. Bennett until 5 o'clock on Friday evening when, Mr. Aldred a road foreman came along to light lanterns. Help was secured and the stranded car pushed up the road until it dried off and was able to run on its own power.

The victims were taken to the home of friends in the village where they are apparently throwing off all ill effects.

Little Donald Crawford, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Crawford escaped death by inches on Thursday afternoon while playing on the cement bridge on the Main street. Despite repeated warnings Don ventured to walk the cement railing of the bridge which spans the flooded creek in the village and in some way fell headlong 20 feet. Fortunately he landed face downward in the mud directly between the swirling waters on one side and a ragged wire-wrapped fence post on the other and as a result was more scared than injured.

Allied Commander-In-Chief Inspects Canadian Troops

Paying his first visit to the Canadian troops now stationed in England, General Maurice Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the entire Allied armies, in addressing them declared: "I cannot express my profound joy at renewing contact with Canadian troops." General Gamelin is shown here as he inspected Canada's soldiers.

Germans Order Viennese Purify "Lingo"

VIENNA, April 8—(AP)—In the soft old days—when there was whipped cream, Kurt Schuschnigg was Chancellor and the town was full of Englishmen buying funny hats—Vienna was so international it spoke many languages.

It spoke German in a Viennese sort of way. But it also spoke Serbo-Croat, Hungarian, French, a little bad English and Polish.

Its vernacular was a curious mixture, particularly on the menu cards where one might find listed "ham and eggs," "roasted beefs," "filets of mignon" and "sweet peas with chops lamb."

There even was one restaurant proprietor who advertised "ham and eggs," and added in parentheses (mit eier), that is, here, forsooth, were ham and eggs, made with eggs.

"Lingo" Now Nazified

But now the Nazi reform is gaining momentum, the language of Vienna is being purified. Sloppiness of diction, defiling of German by corrupt and inferior foreign phrases, is no longer tolerated by the innkeepers' division of the Nazi economic group.

An order has been issued stating that purification of the language of menus must be accelerated.

Thus, a cafe may no longer call itself a cafe. It is a kaffeehaus. A restaurant becomes a gastsaette. A lift (elevator) must be called a fahrstuhl. There is no more roast beef. It is rindersrippenstueck. Jelly becomes gallerete.

You can't get a serviette in a Vienna restaurant. It is a mundtuch. It would be useless to ask for a napkin.

In the old days, when you wanted hamburger steak you asked for deutsches beefsteak. Now it is hackstuek, and you have to have a ration card to get it. Then you'll complain that it is too small and you'll mumble about the price.

Hard On Night Spots

This reform in terminology is bothering the night spots. The problem: What to call Scotch and soda. The Germans have no pure, age old, unadulterated word for it. There isn't very much Scotch left, however, so it may not be necessary to create a Nazi word for it.

And then ,too, the sternness with which emergency measures are enforced in the Greater Reich is demonstrated by the severity of recent penalties imposed for violation of rationing and other regulations.

An Inzerdorf merchant bought pork without authorization, and outside the usual marketing organization. He retailed it without collecting rationing tickets. Police caught him ,and the penalty was padlocking of his business for two years.

The sales department of a factory at Alzgersdorf, noting there was a lively demand for its products, raised its prices a little. Official reaction was prompt and devastating. The company was fined 50,000 marks (about $20,000).

Burglars Loot Thurlow Home During Morning

TWEED, April 8 — (ENS). — Boldly walking into the farm house of J. B. Stickle, 2nd Concession of the Township of Thurlow, burglars stole $50 in cash in broad daylight on Saturday morning. The intruders were later frightened off by Mrs. Stickle, Jr., who was lying in bed ill in an upstairs bedroom. The other members of the family were absent at the time.

Shortly after the Stickle family had left for town Mrs. Stickle heard some person epter the home through an unlocked door. Thinking it to be neighbors, Mrs. Stickle remained in her bed awaiting the visitors. When she later head disturbances of the draws being ransacked, Mrs. Stickle, Jr., shouted and succeeded in frightening off the burglars. No light could be thrown on the identity of the burglars, when Mrs. Stickle was later questioned by investigating police.

Fred Radford, Third Concession of Sidney Township, had the misfortune to have two first fingers on his left hand badly cut while engaged in sawing wood at the farm house of Fred Aikens.

Maybe the feathered friends on the farm of William Fraser, Point Petre, in the County of Prince Edward, aim to materially assist the Canadian war effort, However, the fact remains that one of Mr. Fraser's White Leghorn hens recently laid two eggs in one day. Mr. Fraser stated he cleared the nest and can vouch for this unique occurrence as he was present in his henhouse when both eggs were laid. The hen is a yarling; while one of the eggs was of medium variety and the other a large egg.

Sold To French Dragoons Mourn Chargers

TORONTO, April 8. — There are nineteen empty stalls in the old stables at historic Stanley Barracks and there is sorrow in the hearts of men who never again will throw a leg across the chargers they have grown to love.

These nineteen horses passed out of the hands of the Royal Canadian Dragoons yesterday. They will have new masters and new quarters in far-off France. The French Remount Purchasing Commission will ship them across the sea and Canada is not likely to see them again.

The sun shone brightly, but there was deep shadows inside the riding school building as cavalrymen bade farewell to their mounts. To the Dragoons, the sale of the horses meant only one thing—the impending mechanization of Canada's crack cavalry unit. It was a parting that brought tears to many eyes. To these riders it meant losing something that had become part of their very life, not just a piece of horseflesh.

Inspection a Formality.

Eighteen cavalry mounts and one light draught horse were led out on the sawduct-covered floor of the riding school for the last time. Commandant Pierre de la Croix, head of the purchasing commission, and two veterinary officers of the French Army, made brief inspection of the animals. It was a mere formality. Curried and combed with all the care that true horsemen give their charges, the horses' flanks glistened as they stood patiently while the French visitors gave them a rapid once-over.

There were no rejections. The French delegation was quite willing to accept the word of the R.C.D. officers that the horses were in fine shape. The inspection was over quickly, and it was a case of a final caress, a last quick pat.

During the afternoon Miss Eggleston was invited in the living-room to take a seat among a prettily-decorated shower of gifts, and Mrs. Blake expressed the sentiment on behalf of the girls, Mrs. Lowe and herself.

After a shower of confetti Miss Eggleston replied very graciously, thanking the girls, and invited them all to visit her in her new home. When "For she's a jolly good fellow" was sung, a contest was enjoyed after which Mrs. Lowe invited the guests to partake of afternoon tea. Germany Forced To Set Up 'Peace' Boards To Iron Housewife-Merchant Tangles

BERLIN, April 8—(AP).—Germany has set up mediation boards to iron out war-time shopping quarrels between storekeepers and customers.

Bad tempers are common in German stores these days and scenes involving angry housewives unable to buy wha they want are part of the everyday picture.

Restrictions on shopping, changed marketing habits, difficulties of the card rationing system, long waits in line, limited food selection, poor quality at the old prices —all are wartime symptoms.

Storekeepers ask why customers do not show more understanding of a storekeeper's problems and of the times. Customers think the storekeepers should be more considerate of the problem involved in keeping larders supplied.

For example an inocent request for waxed wrapping paper, the price of two pounds of potatoes or the refusal to sell a pound of apples because the housewife is not a regular customer may start the ball rolling. One word leads to another and soon open enmity exists across the counter.

The fact that housewives must register their food cards at a particular store and buy all rationed foods at that store makes quarrels between customer and storekeeper all the more serious.

To straighten out the difficulties, the Nazi women's organization and the Retailers' Association decided to form mediation boards.

If a housewife needs advice in clearing up an argument with her grocer she can turn to the district leader of the political economy and household management department of the women's organization. Storekeepers similarly may turn to the district office of their association.

Nazi propaganda lately has been working toward the same goal of goodwill between customer and storekeeper.

A movie short depicting the shotcomings of both clerk and customer, with a lecture on how both should conduct themselves, recently was featured in theatres throughout Germany.

Couple Stranded 18 Hours In Pigeon Swamp

JANETVILLE, April 8—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett of Oshawa had a most uncomfortable experience on Thursday night. While returning to their home around 11 p.m. the Bennett car became stranded in the flooded Pigeon Creek swamp on the Lindsay-Newcastle Provincial Highway a mile east of Janetville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett had crossed the bridge earlier in the day but the water was not too deep to cause concern and returning in the darkness they didn't realize the serious increase in depth until it was too late.

Local residents aware of the situation avoid that locality and as a result no one arrived to rescue Mr. and Mrs. Bennett until 5 o'clock on Friday evening when, Mr. Aldred a road foreman came along to light lanterns. Help was secured and the stranded car pushed up the road until it dried off and was able to run on its own power.

The victims were taken to the home of friends in the village where they are apparently throwing off all ill effects.

Little Donald Crawford, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Crawford escaped death by inches on Thursday afternoon while playing on the cement bridge on the Main street. Despite repeated warnings Don ventured to walk the cement railing of the bridge which spans the flooded creek in the village and in some way fell headlong 20 feet. Fortunately he landed face downward in the mud directly between the swirling waters on one side and a ragged wire-wrapped fence post on the other and as a result was more scared than injured.

Preneveau Ladies Start War Work

HAVELOCK, April 8 — (ENS).—Thirty-five ladies of the Preneveau district assembled on Thursday at the Belmont Township Hall to participate in the initial Red Cross meeting sponsored by the Belmont branch Women's Institute.

Five quilts were completed in a day-long session, interspersed by a pot-luck dinner and afternoon tea. Miss Iva Smith, president of the Institute, opened the meeting with the National Anthem and war prayer. Another such meeting is expected to be held in about two weeks.

Plans were made during the day to sponsor an amateur program on the night of Friday, April 26, in the Township Hall.

Allied Commander-In-Chief Inspects Canadian Troops

Paying his first visit to the Canadian troops now stationed in England, General Maurice Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the entire Allied armies, in addressing them declared: "I cannot express my profound joy at renewing contact with Canadian troops." General Gamelin is shown here as he inspected Canada's soldiers.

Burglars Loot Thurlow Home During Morning

TWEED, April 8 — (ENS). — Boldly walking into the farm house of J. B. Stickle, 2nd Concession of the Township of Thurlow, burglars stole $50 in cash in broad daylight on Saturday morning. The intruders were later frightened off by Mrs. Stickle, Jr., who was lying in bed ill in an upstairs bedroom. The other members of the family were absent at the time.

Shortly after the Stickle family had left for town Mrs. Stickle heard some person enter the home through an unlocked door. Thinking it to be neighbors, Mrs. Stickle remained in her bed awaiting the visitors. When she later head disturbances of the draws being ransacked, Mrs. Stickle, Jr., shouted and succeeded in frightening off the burglars. No light could be thrown on the identity of the burglars, when Mrs. Stickle was later questioned by investigating police.

Fred Radford, Third Concession of Sidney Township, had the misfortune to have two first fingers on his left hand badly cut while engaged in sawing wood at the farm house of Fred Alkens.

Maybe the feathered friends on the farm of William Fraser, Point Petre, in the County of Prince Edward, aim to materially assist the Canadian war effort. However, the fact remains that one of Mr. Fraser's White Leghorn hens recently laid two eggs in one day. Mr. Fraser stated he cleared the nest and can vouch for this unique occurrence as he was present in his henhouse when both eggs were laid. The hen is a yarling; while one of the eggs was of medium variety and the other a large egg.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville McWilliams returned Monday evening after spending several days with her sister, Mrs Holland, in Toronto. Miss Blanche McWilliams who had been visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Touchburn, Toronto, returned with them.

Miss Mary McManus, who has been with Mrs Arthur Murray for several weeks, is now with Mrs. Earl Mills.

Mr. Edward Harran underwent another operation last week in Christie Street Hospital, Toronto.

Sold To French Dragoons Mourn Chargers

TORONTO, April 8. — There are nineteen empty stalls in the old stables at historic Stanley Barracks and there is sorrow in the hearts of men who never again will throw a leg across the chargers they have grown to love.

These nineteen horses passed out of the hands of the Royal Canadian Dragoons yesterday. They will have new masters and new quarters in far-off France. The French Remount Purchasing Commission will ship them across the sea and Canada is not likely to see them again.

The sun shone brightly, but there was deep shadows inside the riding school building as cavalrymen bade farewell to their mounts. To the Dragoons, the sale of the horses meant only one thing—the impending mechanization of Canada's crack cavalry unit. It was a parting that brought tears to many eyes. To these riders it meant losing something that had become part of their very life, not just a piece of horseflesh.

Inspection a Formality.

Eighteen cavalry mounts and one light draught horse were led out on the sawduct-covered floor of the riding school for the last time. Commandant Pierre de la Croix, head of the purchasing commission, and two veterinary officers of the French Army, made brief inspection of the animals. It was a mere formality. Curried and combed with all the care that true horsemen give their charges, the horses' flanks glistened as they stood patiently while the French visitors gave them a rapid once-over.

There were no rejections. The French delegation was quite willing to accept the word of the R.C.D. officers that the horses were in fine shape. The inspection was over quickly, and it was a case of a final caress, a last quick pat.

Euchre At Bonarlaw Successful Affair

BONARLAW, April 8—(ENS). — The most successful euchre of the season was held in the club rooms of St. Mark's Church on Wednesday of last week under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary, when 22 tables were played. Both the ladies and gentlemen's prizes were won by rsidents of Marmora, Mrs. Robert Nayler and Charles Cronkright. Marmora supplied players for over seven tables. A bountiful lunch was supplied by the ladies and a pleasant half-hour was spent in social intercourse.

Germans Order Viennese Purify "Lingo"

VIENNA, April 8—(AP)—In the soft old days—when there was whipped cream, Kurt Schuschnigg was Chancellor and the town was full of Englishmen buying funny hats—Vienna was so international it spoke many languages.

It spoke German in a Viennese sort of way. But it also spoke Serbo-Croat, Hungarian, French, a little bad English and Polish.

Its vernacular was a curious mixture, particularly on the menu cards where one might find listed "ham and eggs," "roasted beefs," "filets of mignon" and "sweet peas with chops lamb."

There even was one restaurant proprietor who advertised "ham and eggs," and added in parentheses (mit eier), that is, here, forsooth, were ham and eggs, made with eggs.

"Lingo" Now Nazified

But now the Nazi reform is gaining momentum, the language of Vienna is being purified. Sloppiness of diction, defiling of German by corrupt and inferior foreign phrases, is no longer tolerated by the innkeepers' division of the Nazi economic group.

An order has been issued stating that purification of the language of menus must be accelerated.

Thus, a cafe may no longer call itself a cafe. It is a kaffeehaus. A restaurant becomes a gastsaette. A lift (elevator) must be called a fahrstuhl. There is no more roast beef. It is rindersrippenstueck. Jelly becomes gallerete.

You can't get a serviette in a Vienna restaurant. It is a mundtuch. It would be useless to ask for a napkin.

In the old days, when you wanted hamburger steak you asked for deutsches beefsteak. Now it is hackstuek, and you have to have a ration card to get it. Then you'll complain that it is too small and you'll mumble about the price.

Hard On Night Spots

This reform in terminology is bothering the night spots. The problem: What to call Scotch and soda. The Germans have no pure, age old, unadulterated word for it. There isn't very much Scotch left, however, so it may not be necessary to create a Nazi word for it.

And then ,too, the sternness with which emergency measures are enforced in the Greater Reich is demonstrated by the severity of recent penalties imposed for violation of rationing and other regulations.

An Inzerdorf merchant bought pork without authorization, and outside the usual marketing organization. He retailed it without collecting rationing tickets. Police caught him ,and the penalty was padlocking of his business for two years.

The sales department of a factory at Alzgersdorf, noting there was a lively demand for its products, raised its prices a little. Official reaction was prompt and devastating. The company was fined 50,000 marks (about $20,000).

Mrs. Price Is Hostess To Bethany W.A.

BETHANY, April 8.—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican Church held its monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. W. Price. There were twelve members present.

The meeting was opened by the president, who requested the rector to read the scripture lesson; followed by the Members' Prayer repeated in unison. The president gave a brief summary of the monthly bulletin.

Mrs. Mason was chosen to attend as delegate to the W.A. convention to be held in Toronto.

Mrs. William Martin invited the ladies to meet at her home for the May meeting.

The meetings was closed with prayer by the rector, after which the time was spent quilting the bale quilt, which had been prepared at a former meeting.

This work was finished before the serving of a dainty luncheon by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mason and Miss Nesbitt.

Germany Forced To Set Up 'Peace' Boards To Iron Housewife-Merchant Tangles

BERLIN, April 8—(AP).—Germany has set up mediation boards to iron out war-time shopping quarrels between storekeepers and customers.

Bad tempers are common in German stores these days and scenes involving angry housewives unable to buy wha they want are part of the everyday picture.

Restrictions on shopping, changed marketing habits, difficulties of the card rationing system, long waits in line, limited food selection, poor quality at the old prices —all are wartime symptoms.

Storekeepers ask why customers do not show more understanding of a storekeeper's problems and of the times. Customers think the storekeepers should be more considerate of the problem involved in keeping larders supplied.

For example an inocent request for waxed wrapping paper, the price of two pounds of potatoes or the refusal to sell a pound of apples because the housewife is not a regular customer may start the ball rolling. One word leads to another and soon open enmity exists across the counter.

The fact that housewives must register their food cards at a particular store and buy all rationed foods at that store makes quarrels between customer and storekeeper all the more serious.

To straighten out the difficulties, the Nazi women's organization and the Retailers' Association decided to form mediation boards.

If a housewife needs advice in clearing up an argument with her grocer she can turn to the district leader of the political economy and household management department of the women's organization. Storekeepers similarly may turn to the district office of their association.

Nazi propaganda lately has been working toward the same goal of goodwill between customer and storekeeper.

A movie short depicting the shotcomings of both clerk and customer, with a lecture on how both should conduct themselves, recently was featured in theatres throughout Germany.

Hockaday, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hockaday of Young's Point.

During the afternoon Miss Eggleston was invited in the living-room to take a seat among a prettily-decorated shower of gifts, and Mrs. Blake expressed the sentiment on behalf of the girls, Mrs. Lowe and herself.

After a shower of confetti Miss Eggleston replied very graciously, thanking the girls, and invited them all to visit her in her new home. When "For she's a jolly good fellow" was sung, a contest was enjoyed after which Mrs. Lowe invited the guests to partake of afternoon tea. The table looked pretty with lace cloth, centered with a large bouquet of daffodils on the reflector, with tall pink tapers, and silver service, Mrs. S. Tully poured tea.

Those present included: Misses Mabel Eggleston, Mildred Jones, Pearl Dundas, Annie Graham, Blanche Langton, Margaret Best, Gwen Fee, Beth McConkey, Mary Handley, Helen Perritt, Muriel Bryans, June Shield, and Mesdames Fred Hooton, A. Bryans, S. Tully, G. Ruth, H. Best, S. Blake, and I. Lowe.

Women's Association.

The president, Mrs. Thomas Graham, entertained the members of Women's Association of the United Church for their meeting in her new home on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Lowes was appointed secretary fo rthe meeting in the absence of Mrs. Fee. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Garnet Shield taken from St. Mark, verses 17-26. Mrs. L. McConkey gave the devotional, "The Sacrifice and Triumph during Resurrection," and a chapter on Easter was read by Mrs. G. Shield. Seven members answered the roll with a verse of Scripture containing the word "Martha." Mrs. Graham reported that the quilt had been finished and sent away to a family in need. Mrs. McConkey and Mrs. H. Jamieson were named a committee to make inquiries about a play . An impromptu program followed; Readings, Mrs. Lawson "Sanctuary," Mrs. Shield "Let's Behave," Mrs. H. H. Lowes "Appreciation," Mrs. H. Gardiner "Hanging On." Mrs. H. Jamieson and Mrs. W. H. Lowes each contributed expressions in poem. Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. Shield were made a committee appointed for program for the next meeting. A social converse was enjoyed around the table, when the hostess served afternoon tea.

Germans Occupy Denmark - Seize Five Norwegian Ports

SET UP NEW NAZI RULE IN OSLO

Norwegians Declare War Upon Germany; Government, Citizens Flee Oslo; Army Mobilized—Berlin Orders Defied

LONDON, April 9—(CP).—Germany invaded neutral Norway and Denmark today in a lightning stroke which she said was for their "protection" against the Allies.

Denmark apparently yielded without resistance but Norway elected to fight. The Norwegian Government moved from Oslo, ordered full mobilization and got an immediate Allied guarantee of full aid.

Swedish iron ore, moving down the Norwegian coastal waters to Germany, was the smouldering fuse which set off the bombshell and gave the Allies at last their long-sought flanking position against Germany.

The German onslaught against the two Scandinavian nations early today probably came while British patrol ships were fighting a heavy fleet action with German navy units.

The Admiralty refused to comment on renewed reports that such a big engagement had taken place or was still in progress, but responsible quarters felt the German occupation would have been impossible unless the British fleet was being kept busy elsewhere.

British warships were known to have been patrolling the Norwegian coast, and 125 German naval vessels, ranging from small boats to heavy cruisers, were sighted in the Skagerrak yesterday.

Reports from a variety of sources pieced together this stirring list of events:

German troops simultaneously moved northward across the Danish border and landed at Copenhagen, taking over that city's citadel and radio station. There were no reports of opposition as all Denmark fell into German hands.

Four German warships tried to force the Oslo Fjord, water entrance to the Norwegian capital and were at first repelled by shore batteries. Another attempt was made by a single ship which ran aground.

Norwegian planes battled German air raiders overhead while Oslo was under an air raid alarm throughout the morning.

German troops landed on the southern coast while German military and naval units seized the strategic ports of Vallo, Bergen, Trondheim and Narvik. Kristiansand was bombarded by German warships and planes. Prosgrunn was bombed from the air about noon.

The Norwegian government called all citizens to the colors, ordered removal of civilians from Oslo within two days, and itself moved to Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo.

Germany announced she had mined all the coastal waters, including ports of Sweden.

Although official British circles were astir at daybreak, there was no early official statement of policy. The cabinet met for two hours.

Diplomatic quarters, however, indicated that Allied strategists, following their surprise mining of Norwegian territorial waters Monday morning, were prepared for any eventuality.

Just before the outbreak of war with Germany last September, the British foreign office stated formally that "so long as Danish neutrality is respected by Germany it will, of course, be respected by the British government, who have no desire that Denmark should be involved."

Allied statesmen since have indi-

Germans Demanding Patrol Rights Of Whole Danube

BELGRADE, April 9 (AP)—The German government, it was learned on high authority today, has demanded that Yugoslavia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania accept German river police along the entire length of the Danube river to secure this vital supply route for Germany.

The demand was made after the German press accused Great Britain of plotting to dynamite the narrow Danube channel through the "iron gate" to cripple Germany's transportation of oil, foodstuffs and raw materials from southeastern Europe.

Rumanian police seized British barges loaded with dynamite, and British authorities said the explosives were to have been used to blow up British and French Danube vessels in the event Germany invaded Rumania.

Three Nations Refuse

It was learned that Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania previously had "tentatively" rejected the German demands. Then they were made a second time.

Bulgaria was understood reliably to have agreed and it was reported that German river police already were patrolling the Bulgarian Danube borders.

Diplomatic quarters here freely expressed the belief that the German news agency here as well as the Berlin foreign office had seized upon the reports of seizure of the British explosives as the basis for the renewed demands for a German police patrol of the Danube.

These sources also believed the demand was a possible forerunner of a German move into southeastern Europe to obtain Rumania's oil and Yugoslavia's copper as well as vast raw materials available in Bulgaria and Hungary.

Balkans In Panic

The nations of southeastern Europe were thrown into near panic by news of the German occupation of Norway and Denmark, which was interpreted in Balkan quarters to mean that the war will soon be extended throughout the continent.

Official quarters in Turkey, which is allied with Great Britain and France, frankly speculated whether the Allies might be forced to make a counter move against the Reich in southeastern Europe with the Allied forces under command of General Maxime Weygand.

All quarters in Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey were unanimous today in declaring that the Allies must carry the war on all fronts to Germany and therefore they must soon force Italy to come out definitely for or against them.

BERLIN, April 9.— (9.45 p.m. (2.45 p.m. EST). — (AP).—The German official News Agency announced from Oslo to-night that "a new Norwegian government" had been formed.

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).—Rome radio reports intercepted in London to-day said communications between Germany and Hungary had been severed.

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).—The Press Association to-day said there is no official confirmation that a British Expeditionary Force is en route to Norway other than the Government's expression of determination to aid Norway.

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).—It was stated authoritatively to-day that "it is understood a naval action is in progress in a heavy storm, somewhere near coast of Norway between German and British forces."

The Press Association said "there is reason to believe that good news may be forthcoming" within 12 to 24 hours, but later asked its subscribers to delete this sentence.

It was emphasized it is essential for warships to keep their wireless silent during battle.

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).— Unconfirmed reports from Stockholm, reaching London to-day via Amsterdam, said the 26,000-ton German battleship Gneusenau had been sunk.

The dispatch, which said other German warships also had been possibly sunk, gave no details concerning the Gneusenau, which carries a complement of some 1,500 men and is armed with nine 11-inch guns and smaller weapons.

Previously an unidentified German warship had been reported driven ashore in the approaches to Oslo by Norwegian coastal batteries.

PARIS, April 9.—(CP).—Reports that the Allied and German war fleets are in combat off the Norwegian coast were received here to-day while urgent conferences were continued in London and Paris. Defences Crumpling Fast In Norway Says Reich Command

BERLIN, April 9—(AP).—Germany invaded Norway and Denmark by land, sea and air today.

Germany announced she had extended "armed protection" to these states "to counteract British aggression" against their neutrality.

By afternoon Nazi armed forces had occupied Copenhagen, capital of Denmark, which did not resist, and it was claimed that Oslo, the capital of Norway also was occupied after Norwegian troops put up what the Germans called "slight local resistance."

(The Allies announced they would extend Norway "full aid" and intimated they would "fight the war in full association with Norway.")

Quick Occupation.

This afternoon the German High command claimed that "occupation of the most important objectives in all Norway by German troops is proceeding rapidly."

Infantry troops, naval forces and air squadrons took part in the Norwegian occupation.

A dispatch from Copenhagen by the German news agency said the Danish Government had accepted the German "protection" with a "protest" in view of the circumstances.

Germany gave the signal to march northward less than 24 hours after British warships steamed into Norway's territorial waters to sow three minefields to cut off German iron ore shipments from Sweden through Norwegian costal lanes.

As the troops marched, Germany laid mine fields of her own "for the protection" of the German operations. (London reported Germans mines were laid at the entrance to the most important Norwegian and Swedish harbors).

Motorized Units Advance

In a statement, delivered personally to assembled press representatives, Foreign Minister Ribbentrop charged the Western Powers with plotting to extend the war to the north and declared that the Reich had "assumed responsibility" for protecting Scandinavian neutrality.

The German news agency said that motorized units had crossed the Danish border near Flensburg and Tondern early this morning, and were proceeding in the direction of Esbjerg and Appenrade on the west and east coast respectively.

The net effect of the northward advance, it said, was to give Germany a sea base on the Baltic side of Denmark and blockade the North Sea approach to south Danish ports.

Chamberlain Assures House Full Assistance Will Be Given Norway To Crush Nazis, But Remains Mum Upon Allied Strategy

LONDON, April 9—(CP Cable)—.Britain will extend "full aid" to Norway to repel the German invasion of Scandinavia, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today.

"Powerful units" of the British Navy are at sea, the Prime Minister declared, adding it is impossible to divulge what steps Britain and France are taking to assist Norway.

Mr. Chamberlian charged Germany with not only planning the invasion of Norway and Denmark but of putting the plan into operation before Britain and France laid mine-fields in Norwegian territorial waters yesterday at dawn.

It would have been impossible for German landing forces to be at selected points as far as 700 miles or more up the Norwegian coastline unless they had left German bases before the mines were laid, he declared.

Britain's pledge of armed assistance for Norway received the support of Clement Attlee, leader of the Opposition, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader.

Commons Cheerful

The House met in an atmosphere of apparent cheerfulness after a morning of intense Downing Street activity, including an early Cabinet meeting. Diplomats entered the Foreign Office in a steady stream for conferences with Viscount Halifax, the Secretary of State, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary.

Recalling that at the end of the Finnish war he had said that the danger "had been brought closer than ever" to Norway and Sweden, the prime minister said:—

"Nothing will or can save them but a determination to defend themselves and join with others who are ready to aid them in their defence."

The House cheered.

Germany, Mr. Chamberlain continued has claimed and exercised the right to destroy neutral and particularly Scandinavian shi around this country by all means their power.

Two Edged Neutrality

"But at the same time," he continued, "they have insisted on the strictest observation of the laws of neutrality where this would provide some advantage to them, as they did in Norwegian waters.

"The Allies therefore decided that they could not acquiesce indefinitely in this state of affairs and laid minefields in Norwegian waters so as to prevent unhindered passage of German traffic through them while in no way interfering with normal Norwegian trade."

Mr. Chamberlain asserted emphatically that "at no time did the Allies contemplate any occupation of Scandinavian territory so long as it was not attacked by Germany."

"Any allegations by Germany to the contrary are pure invention and have no foundation in fact," he said.

The House laughed as Mr. Chamberlain said "The German government have now issued a statement to the effect that they have decided to take over the protection of Denmark and Norway."

Suicide Forces Seen Holding Northern Ports

LONDON, April 9—(CP).—Reliable confirmation was lacking here today concerning the reported German landings on the west coast of Norway.

Naval circles said landings appeared to have been effected at Bergen and Stavanger, but that those at Trondheim and Narvik remained to be verified.

In any event, the ships that could have slipped through the Anglo-French patrols under cover of darkness could only have carried small forces whose position could quickly be rendered most precarious.

The reported German landing at Narvik, in the Far North, was regarded as particularly singular. The Norwegians have in that port two gunboats and two of their largest submarines, which could have offered resistance to any small landing party.

In some quarters the hypothesis was advanced that the Narvik land-

Norse Newscasts May Be Nazi France Warned

PARIS, April 9 (CP-Havas) — French military quarters today advised utmost prudence in assaying the confused reports of events in Norway.

A French military spokesman suggested special caution with regard to radio reports because it is probable that German stations are broadcasting on Norwegian wave lengths.

It appears to be a military operation conducted along two lines:—

Landing forces have taken hold on the west coast, seizing the principal ports, Ekersund, Bergen, Throndheim, Stavanger and Narvik, in such a manner as to prevent any arrival of opposing forces by sea.

At the same time, large forces of occupation, having assured the security of their communications by the Danish capitulation and the occupation of the Jutland Peninsula and the islands commanding entry to the Baltic, will try to occupy the central portion of the country.

Norse Capital Surrenders, Leaders Rally Army For Stand Farther Inland

STOCKHOLM, April 9—(AP)—The City of Osolo, capital of Norway, surrendered to German forces at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. E.S.T.) today.

Dispatches reaching Stockholm said the Norwegian police chief had resigned and that he was replaced by German officials.

North of Oslo Norweigian aircraft were reported to have shot down two German planes.

The Norwegian government moved to the lake village of Hamar, north of Osolo.

The Norwegian army was reported to be guarding a defence line between Oslo and Hamar to protect the new capital and to cover mobilization of inland towns.

Half People Flee City

Fully half of the population was reported to have left Oslo before the city surrendered to German troops.

The Germans were landed from warships along the city's harbor.

The Swedish Parliament was called into session for 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EST) tonight.

Stockholm received reports from Norway and Denmark with a serious calm. It was recognized as a black day.

Norwegians here returned home as quickly as they could.

Ferry traffic between Denmark and Sweden was stopped, while traffic between Norway and Sweden continued

From Northern Sweden it was reported that the German invasion of Norway met opposition, and that at least two German ships were sunk at Narvik, the northern port from which Germany has been shipping Swedish ore.

Nazis Mount Guns

The Germans mounted machine guns at all places they occupied.

The Danish warship Freja arrived in the Swedish harbor of Helsinborg at 1.30 (7.30 a.m. EST). Earlier in the morning 150 Danish soldiers who arrived by ferry were interned.

BRUSSELS, April 9.—(CP-Havas)—All leaves for troops assigned to Belgium's coastal and frontier zones were cancelled today by order of the high command.

Dutch Uneasy

THE HAGUE, April 9 (AP)—The Netherlands government cancelled virtually all army, navy and air force leaves today, calling men back to the colors immediately "as a precautionary measure."

This ruling was in a second order issued today. Earlier it had been announced that no new periodic leaves for border and coast troops would be granted in the immediate future.

The announcement followed a special session of the cabinet. Presumably the ministers had been summoned to consider the new situation created by the German invasion of Norway and Denmark.

The order to the troops will not affect business leaves nor cancel the leaves of those now on their fortnightly two days of rest.

U.S. Uneasy Over 3,000 Citizens In Scandinavia

WASHINGTON, April 9 — (AP). The explosive spread of the war to Scandinavia confronted the United States Government with three urgent problems to-day:

1. The safety of some 3,000 Americans caught in the new theatre of hostilities.

2. The question of a new presidential proclamation formally designating Norway — and perhaps Denmark—as a belligerent under the Neutrality Act.

3. The matter of protecting United States shipping interests in the invaded countries, and possible action on extending the proscribed combat zone to include the waters around the North Capes.

Decision on the steps the government would take awaited the return of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull to the Capital.

The President, awakened in the middle of the night at Hyde Park, N.Y., made preparations to return quickly. Hull, taking a rest at At-

Hint Canadian Troops To Be In Van Of Allied Aid Sent To Scandinavia

LONDON, April 9.—(CP Cable).—The tense drama of the early days of last September was re-enacted in London to-day as Germany's double blitzkrieg on Scandinavia was followed by the British government's declaration that the allies have decided to extend full aid to Norway.

The British people heard the fateful foreign office announcement in the British Broadcasting Corporation's noon-tide broadcast. It was generally regarded as presaging the "read" war after months of hit-and-run activity.

Early afternoon papers sold in fairy-tale quantities. Lunch-hour crowds queued up, as they did in August and September, to buy editions containing the first full reports of the invasion of Denmark and Norway.

Again many people, astounded by the swiftness of developments, gathered in murmuring little groups to scan huge headlines and tell each other that "this is it."

In Canadian circles in London there was immediate speculation about the position of the First Division, Canadian Active Service Force, in training at Aldershot. It was thought possible that when Britain sends troops to Norway, the Canadians will be included, if only because of their experience in the northern climate. But it was emphasized that there was no official backing of any kind for this belief.

Crowds in Downing street and around the foreign office thickened as the day wore on—they were the first since since the early days of the war. Many city workers did not learn of the spectacular march of events until the lunch hour.

Invasion Breaks Nordic Peace Era Enjoyed Since Napoleonic Wars

LONDON, April 9.—(CP Cable)—When Germany invaded Norway early today she shattered the era of peace the northern kingdom had enjoyed since the Napoleonic wars.

In the first great war, as hitherto in the present conflict, Norway preserved her neutrality and managed to stand aside from the general struggle. Norway's interpretation of neutrality, however, often placed her in an awkward position.

The most notable instance of this was the recent Allied complain that iron ore from Swedish mines was being transported from Narvik, in Northern Norway, by German ships sailing within the shelter of Norwegian territorial waters.

It was this practice which led the Allies to lay minefields at strategic points in Norwegian territorial waters at dawn Monday after taking precautions to ensure that neutral shipping should not be endangered.

Norway herself has already suffered heavily from the war despite her desire to remain neutral. She has lost 54 ships totalling more than 120,000 tons, and 392 lives. Only last Saturday Foreign Minister Koht declared it was known in 12 instances that ships were sunk by U-boats without regard for the safety of the crews.

On March 8 the Scandinavian countries made joint application to the German govenment urging the question of sea warfare should be discussed officially but no reply was received.

Norway's defence budget approaching £20,000,000 ($80,000,000) was presented in January. It provided £8,000,000 for extraordinary military measures to safeguard neutrality. With a population of less

Toronto Danes Place Hope In Allies Win

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP).—Representatives here of Denmark and Norway, stunned by swift European developments which saw German troops invade their countries, said to-day "it is terrible news."

"Well, it couldn't be worse," said Carl J. Prinz, Norwegian Vice-Consul, who said he was surprised at the speed with which his Government had declared war against the Reich.

Mr. Prinz stated he felt war inevitable the moment Germany invaded Denmark. "I was afraid when they went into Denmark they would go north. Perhaps we could have remained neutral for a while but it is much better to take a stand. And we know that the minute German troops touch Norway, Britain will be there to help us."

D. V. Glein, Danish consul, believed his country would not yield without a struggle. "It is terrible news. For months Scandinavia has been trying to maintain neutrality ing might have been effected not from the south, but from the north, possibly from Murmansk. It was generally regarded as unlikely that the Russians will intervene at this stage, but rather will wait to see how things turn out.

In any event, the Allied high command has long had its plans ready to deal with any threat to the west coast of Norway and naval and aerial action in accordance with these plans may be regarded as imminent. Some reports state that naval units have already engaged part of the rearguard of the units of the enemy.

It may be regarded as certain that the Allied reply to the German attack will be comprehensive, both geographically and militarily.

forces crossed the Danish frontier at daybreak and a considerable area of Danish territory is in German occupation, he said.

Demand Surrender

Britain, he added, was informed that the German minister at Oslo had made "a formal demand for the surrender of Norway to Germany and said that in the event of refusal all resistance would be crushed."

The House cheered as the prime minister added "This demand was refused by the Norwegian government."

"German troops have landed on Norwegian territory at various places," he said.

Mr. Chamberlain asserted that Britain was "facing this new menace to the independence of free peoples in the closest collaboration with the French government."

Replying to a supplementary question, Mr. Chamberlain said that no suggestion had been made to Britain for a meeting of the League of Nations. First things must come first, he asserted.

Asks Quick Aid

Mr. Atlee, on behalf of the opposition expressed sympathy for Denmark and told the cheering members that he hoped that the aid given to Norway would be given fully, speedily and effectively.

Sir Archibald Sinclair added that the government deserved the support of the whole country in the action being taken to air Norway.

Mr. Atlee, suggestion that the House would want an early "full discussion" of the latest war developments, added;

"We must be in time and do all we can to prevent another free nation from being brought under the Nazi heel."

Geoffrey Mander, opposition Liberal, asked Mr. Chamberlain for information on the reported German occupation of Bergen and Narvik, western Norwegian ports. Narvik, far to the north, is the port from which Germany has been shipping Swedish iron ore through Norwegian territorial waters.

An Explanation?

"It is a very tragic and remarkable thing that the expedition has taken place while the British fleet held the seas," said Mr. Mander. "No doubt some explanation will be forthcoming."

Members shouted him down with cries of "order!"

Mr. Chamberlain said the Germans had landed at Bergen but that it was doubtful whether they had landed at Narvik.

"I am sure," said the Prime Minister, "that the House will wish to reserve its judgment without further information and will not wish to make criticism of the Navy."

Mr. Chamberlain said he had no information regarding the fate of the Danish government and the Danish royal family.

As Mr. Chamberlain rose to make his statement the Swedish and Yugoslav ministers arrived in the diplomatic gallery.

The House shouted down its only Communist member, William Gallacher, who suggested the government should be changed to get a cabinet which would "save the young men and bring the war to a speedy end instead of concerning itself with the spread of war."

For Wednesday, April 10.

A progressive and adventurous day is the augury based on several benefic aspects of leading planets. Some rather surprising change, possible on unexpected promotion or a sudden change in plans or processes in employment or avocation, may call for a reorientation of the environs and objectives. In this, superiors, those in high standing financially and strangers may play a conspicuous part. These may be influential in large corporations, political, diplomatic, or fraternal bodies, and should be cultivated since they are indispensable to major achievements.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of surprises in store for them, with change of environment, associates, employment, and objectives. In this employers, superiors, strangers or those of prestige and high standing seem to hold key stations and may be beneficially cultivated. Corporations, clubs, fraternities and perhaps diplomatic or political organizations figure, being indispensable in putting over major ambitions.

A child born on this day may have much talent, originality, progressive ideas and ingenuity, but it may best flourish through the stability and organizing efficiency of superiors or influential persons because of its own inherent restiveness and changeability.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 9 — (CP). — Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway reflected fair gains in Winnipeg Wheat Market today. Buying orders flooded the pit but were met with heavy offerings and Winnipeg did not gain as much as other North American markets.

At the close wheat futures prices were 1¾ to 2 higher with May at 90¾, July 91¾ to ⅞, and October 93¼ to ¾ cents.

The Chicago pit prices were five cents above yesterday's levels at times and were 3¾ to 4 cents better in the final hour.

October flax shot up the 10-cent limit in the coarse grain futures pit, while May and July positions were more than eight cents up just before the close. The new price levels were the highest since the 260-cent levels of April, 1930.

Pupils of Dorothy Allan Park Present Delightful Recital

An appreciative audience filled both the Recreation and Club Rooms of the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening for the delightful recital presented by singers from the studio of Dorothy Allan Park, with Gwen Craw at the piano.

Making their first appearance at these recitals, and creating a very favorable impression that promises well for the future, were Mary Robson, Edith Boddy, Eleanor Scott and Margaret Brethen. Miss Brethen was heard in the Welsh Air, "All Thro' the Night" and Barry's "I Hear a Whisper"; Miss Scott sang Horn's "I've Been Roaming" and "Love is Meant to Make us Glad" (German); Miss Boddy's group was the old English air, "Early One Morning" and Leslie Smith's "Canterbury Fair", and Miss Robson sang Lully's "Sombre Woods" and "O No, John" (Old English).

Singing with remarkable blending of voices, Olga and Margaret Westbye were heard in four duets, Furcell's "Sound the Trumpet" and "My Dearest, My Fairest", Offenback's Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman" and "Sing, Sing, Bird on the Wing."

Margaret Westbye's clear and lovely lyric soprano voice was heard to advantage in Handel's "As When the Dove" (Acis and Galatea), and Cyril Scott's "Lullaby." Gwen Bond sang with much rhythmic vitality and excellent quality of tone the old Irish "At the Mid-hour of Night" and Veracini's "Mecco Verrai su quella".

June Shield, whose pure soprano possesses a fine legato style, was heard in "Pur Diceati" (Lotti) and "The Lass with the Delicate Air" (Arne). Grieg's "The Princess", sung by Miss Olga Westbye, who has a flexible and charming voice, was quite outstanding. She also sang Oliver's "Down Vauxhall Way."

A group of Elizabethan Airs arranged by Frederick Keel was sung with fine understanding of the period by Miss Mary Medd, who has a voice of beautiful quality. Miss Cora Charlton sang the difficult French Song "La Procession" (Cesar Franck), with authoritative intensity, and showed equal comprehension of the brilliant second song, Mallinson's "The Message and the Song." Well known for her delightful rendering of French songs is Miss Isabel Weddell, who sang "Viens Aurore" (Old French), and "La Premiere Danse" (Massenet).

Olive Searles sang exceptionally well, displaying unusual technical resources in Bishop's "Tell Me, My Heart" and Gounod's "The Message of Love."

The well-known soloist of Trinity Church, Miss Isabel Duthie, sang with her customary beauty of tone and musical understanding. She was heard in Grieg's "The First Violet," "My Thoughts are as the Mighty Hills" and Besly's "Time, You Old Gipsy Man."

Gwen Craw provided very sympathetic accompaniments, showing the fine restraint so invaluable to any singer.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL.

Miss Mary Hepworth, English exchange teacher of Queen Mary kindergarten class, spoke at the Home and School Association meeting on Monday evening on Infant Schools in England, where the children begin as young as two and a half years. They were originally organized as nursery schools to take care of children in the absence of working mothers.

The school of 200 pupils in which she had previously taught, had 5 teachers and a head mistress or principal, Miss Hepworth said. Plans of work in different schools were not identical, but were left to the discretion of the head mistress, always subject to Board of Education approval. Unlike the Canadian system, where the principal must teach a class, the head mistress does no actual teaching. No examinations were tried, but a certain standard must be reached before children leave for junior schools, usually at the age of 7. Each school has a nurse and doctor in attendance. Children were given baths if necessary, and supplied at a very small cost with milk. Collapsible cots were set up for the rest period. The school uniforms consisted of varied colored overalls, each group wearing a single color so that the teacher could always distinguish her charges from the others.

Since evacuation has taken place, children are not being billeted in private homes any longer, but in large buildings where an average of 20 are placed with a teacher and a matron in charge. This was found to be a more satisfactory method, as children respond better to teachers.

Mrs. L. H. Ingram welcomed the parents and teachers present, and expressed the sympathy of the Association for Miss Cairns in the loss of her brother. It was announced that an open school and spring tea will take place on Friday, April 19.

The school orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. J. Telford, gave a fine performance, and tiny Mavis Alexander entertained with two piano solos. Mrs. T. J. Carley, in her talk on the European situation, expressed gratitude that we were living under a state where such comments, criticisms and conjectures were part and parcel of our normal course of life.

Reports on the Home and School Convention in Toronto were read by Mrs. L. Vass, who gave a general synopsis, and Mrs. J. Turnbull, whose report covered the talk by Dr. Harvey Zorbaugh on "The Gifted Child."

Mr. O. M. Steer, principal, announced that permission had been granted by the Board of Education that undenominational religious instruction would be given by Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's Church to Grades 6, 7, and 8 for a half-hour every Tuesday morning. Mrs. E. R. Shirley moved a vote of thanks to those giving time and talent to the success of the evening. The junior banner was won by the Kindergarten Class and the senior by Mr. Telford's class. Tea was served after the meeting by the refreshment convener.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The April meeting of Central Home and School Association was held at the school on Monday evening. The program included, besides the business, a splendid concert given by some of the pupils of the school, assisted by a group of six girls from Prince of Wales School and the orchestra which is taught by Mr. Roy Rome, and which represents the five public schools.

Mrs. B. Fowler, president, presided for the business session. The roll call showed Miss Donley's room as having the largest number of parents present.

Mrs. K. Leeming, who was the delegate to the Educational Convention held in Toronto during Easter week, gave a most comprehensive report of the proceedings at the meetings which she attended on Friday.

A spring tea and open school will be sponsored by the Association on Friday, April 26.

Principal R. Bolton took the chair for the concert, which was greatly enjoyed by interested parents who filled the room to capacity. The first item was the presentation of St. John Ambulance certificates to a group of Central School boys. A trophy won by Central School boys last Saturday for swimming at the Y.M.C.A. was also displayed.

Mrs. C. Poulson proposed a vote of thanks to all those taking part in the program. This was heartily responded to in the usual manner.

The children taking part were entertained to ice cream and cake by the social committee.

The program which was directed by Mr. Munro of Central School and Mr. Noftall of Prince of Wales School included the groups from this city who took part in the concert at Massey Hall, Toronto, which was held during the Easter Educational Convention. Miss Rannie and Miss Rome assisted at the piano as accompanists. The following was the program:

"Rule Britannia" (with Descant) (Arne).

"Canada From Sea to Sea" (with Descant) (Branscombe).

"Rising of the Lark" (Welsh Folk).

"The Lark in the Morn."

"Wooden Shoes" (French Folk).

"At the Clear Running Fountain" (Descant) (French).

"Pledge the Canadian Maiden" (French Canadian).

"O God Our Help in Ages Past" (Descant) (Croft).

Orchestra: Five public schools represented under the direction of Mr. Rome.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" with Descant) (English 18th Century).

"There Were Three Merry Travellers" (Truhn).

"Fairies," in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn).

"The Shepherd Song" (Blake's "Songs of Innocence") (John West).

"Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" (J. S. Bach).

(Violin and piano accompaniment by Roy Rome and Miss M. Rome).

"Cradle Song" (Schubert).

"Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star."

"Sleepy Time" (Swabian Folk).

"For God and King and Right" (unison) (Bridge).

"Land of Hope and Glory" (unison) (Elgar).

God Save the King.

Nuts that are what the folks on Rich Man's Avenue call a "refined delicacy" and the kids who don't care what you call them are constantly demanding, are the nuts you see in the windows of Dutton's Tea, Coffee and Nut Store at 406½ George Street. Big, meaty, tender and always piquantly fresh, nuts like these are great for parties, luncheons, bridges and other social occasions. They are a delicious "topper-off" to the supercream ice cream that is one of this store's specialities at 18 cents a brick or 2 bricks for 25 cents. Their soda fountain offers a flavorful variety of sodas, sundaes, malted and double rich milk shakes, and fruit salads—their store is a helpful haven for the busy housewife who has exhausted her ideas for family desserts.

I've got a real honest - to - goodness "scoop" for you this week, folks, uncovered during a casual visit to Cherney Brothers' Furniture Store, 178 Hunter, West. The most modern and comfortable living room imaginable is awaiting your inspection here—with up-to-the-minute styles in furniture, rugs, wall fixtures and floor lamps. No longer need you pause in confusion while your mind attempts to picture a piece of furniture as it would look in your home while it still stands among its fellows at the furniture store. The furniture, lamp or rug of your choice will be placed in the living room, and it will come to you in a flash whether it "fits" or whether it doesn't. You will glean original ideas that will help you plan touches for ushering your rooms gracefully into a new season, since furnishings here reflect the latest style trend. Always changing, the room will picture at various times a modern bedroom, living-room, play-room or kitchen—and I'll wager you'll find genuine pleasure in merely looking around.

Norway is at war with Germany. Denmark has been invaded by the Germans.

Less than a year ago Denmark and Germany signed a non-attack agreement, but that was but another piece of paper. For the moment Denmark has accepted what is known as German protection, but actually German invasion. With what information is at hand it would appear there was nothing else the Danes could have done. Denmark is actually a continuation of Germany as far as land is concerned, and the little nation of mainland and islands juts up between the North Sea and the Baltic. It has a population of 3,600,000, and in land area is less in size than the section of Finland which was taken away by the Russians.

Norway was attacked, but Norway will fight, and the Allies have given assurance they will move to the aid of that country. At first glance it would appear that Germany desires Denmark as the base from which to launch air attacks upon Britain.

The other suggestion is that Germany made her new move in order to bid for more direct control of the sea routes which bring iron ore from Sweden.

Whatever the cause the effect is the same. Denmark is occupied and it has paid the price of being a small nation. Norway, with its tremendous sea coast—1,700 miles of it—will fight against invasion. Norway has a population of less than 3,000,000, but in the present war its position is strategic.

Farmers Need More Money

In 1936 the net value of agricultural production in Canada was $690,000,000, and that represented the efforts of 45 per cent. of our population.

In the same year the value of manufactured articles reached the total of $1,290,000,000, not far removed from being twice as great as agricultural production, and that in a general way represented the productive capacity of the other 55 per cent. of our population.

The ability to produce and to sell profitably that which has been produced is closely tied with the ability to purchase. The figures given were used by J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and he was satisfied we would not be on safe ground until the purchasing power of the 45 per cent. of our people on farms was brought up to parity with those who lived in urban centres.

The first census taken in Canada was in 1871, and at that time rural population was 80 per cent. of the total, and urban was but 20 per cent. The last figures show that 45 per cent. are on the land and 55 per cent. in urban centres. The income of those on the land, based on their total production, is not much more than one-half that of the people in towns and cities.

The people who live in cities can purchase a certain amount of their own production, but they cannot buy it all. Looking at it in a selfish way they need the buying support of that 45 per cent. of the people on the land, but their purchasing power is little better than one-half what it ought to be.

Possibly you say that farmers are always complaining about their lack of income, but there are the figures showing that the value of 45 per cent. of our people engaged in agriculture is scarcely more than one-half that of the 55 per cent. of the people engaged in manufacturing centres. We kick at times when we find we are paying a little more for goods which come from the farm, but the plain truth—hard to realize—is that if we were paying sufficient to put some buying power in the pockets of the farmers we would all find the going better.

Things To Put In The Paper

There's always something to print in the papers. People used to say that when the election was over there wouldn't be much to put in print. There has been plenty.

Others say it's war news that fills the papers. Correct, but if the war were to stop tomorrow there would be no scarcity of something to put in the paper.

The speech and criticism business is coming to the front nicely. Instead of just one story from an address we now get three or four. Hon. Gordon Conant made an address in Cannington the other evening in which he said it was Canada's business to try and get United States to enter the war.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Washington joined others in becoming critical of that address, and he referred to it as a "nondescript utterance of a minor official." There were twin stings in that bit of wordage. "Nondescript" means something which has not yet been properly described, something abnormal, and is always used in a disparaging sense. Of course being described as a "minor official" is supposed to carry its own more apparent sting.

But it does not end there. The New York Sun started editorially to take Mr. Hull to pieces for the manner in which he criticized a Canadian official remarking: "No secretary of state should be unmannerly to an official of another country."

So there you have the solution to what to put in the papers. Mr. Conant made a speech; Mr. Hull turned on his verbal roaster, and the New York Sun smacks Mr. Hull on the wrist. So instead of a report of one address there are three stories following close one upon the heels of the other. Sure—we'll always have something to print in the paper.

The Correct Way

It is never difficult to start or continue a little argument regarding the proper use of words. It was recorded in the papers the other day that a condemned individual had lost an appeal for his life, and the report concluded this way: "He will hang April 25."

And the discussion started right there, the advocate of proper speech urging it should have read: "He will be hanged April 25." The hanging is something which will be done to or inflicted upon the individual, and therefore it comes in the passive mood, and not the active.

When a judge delivers sentence on a condemned person he directs that the prisoner shall be taken from his place of confinement on a certain date..."and you will be hanged by the neck until you are dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

To the unfortunate individual most concerned the manner of speech may mean little, but it is correct to state "He will be hanged."

It Can Be Done

Strange. But we always had the notion a man flying a plane had to have his wits working and his eyes open—wide. He'd have to look ahead and at the sides and see all there was to see to keep out of trouble. And particularly would he have to do a great deal of looking and seeing when making a landing.

But things have changed. Flying one of the world's largest bombing machines, powered by four motors, Major McDaniel took off from New York and landed at Langley Field, Va., a distance of 300 miles and he was there right on the minute as scheduled.

He flew the entire distance, including the landing, and did it blind. He was encased in a tiny cubicle and before him was nothing but the instrument board. But that board told him everything he needed to know; told him by a red bulb when he was 800 feet from the airport; told him again when he was right above the field. The report of a writer on board the plane concludes: "Then the wheels touched. The flight was over."

Major McDaniel has been flying for 21 years, and the trip was made blind to show that fog, poor flying conditions and all such conditions did not stand in the way of a necessary flight. So now we are ready to believe that almost anything can be done.

Death Rate Doubled

Fatal automobile accidents in Toronto increased 110 per cent. during the first three months of 1940 when compared with the same period in 1939. There were 1,951 traffic accidents in which 21 were killed and 786 injured.

Chief Constable D. C. Draper has been going over the record. He would have before him all the details—the age of those killed, the age of the drivers, the location of the accident—and with such an array of facts it ought to be possible to arrive at some reliable conclusion.

The Chief comes to the conclusion that cars are being driven too fast. With the stepping up of the speed limit some time ago faster driving became a habit; the change was from 20 miles to 30 in incorporated municipalities, and that change was something which the Examiner said at the time was a mistake. The Draper view is that the increased speed does not make it possible for drivers to have such complete control of their cars and to stop as quickly as they might otherwise.

More than 60 per cent. of the persons fatally injured were over 62 years of age, and 18 per cent. were children under 14 years, so these two age brackets include 78 per cent. of all fatal accidents. Those of advanced years, the Toronto officer believes, are not shown much consideration by drivers of cars. They cannot move as quickly as younger people and apparently on that ground they are greater accident hazards.

Children will always do the unexpected thing. Only today we saw a driver do a wise thing. A rubber ball rolled out on the road a few feet ahead of him and he stopped at once. He knew a child would come after the ball, and that is exactly what took place. That is what drivers have to do; they must think for the children as well as for themselves. And that is one of the reasons why the 30-mile limit is a mistake in cities. The thoughtless child—and that includes nearly all of them—is increasingly exposed to danger by that 10 mile added margin in the speed limit.

The hours between 6.30 in the evening and midnight are productive of most accidents. Possibly the same people are driving then as in the daytime, but it appears that the younger generation are more in evidence in the evening and Chief Draper considers that young drivers are inclined to take unnecessary chances and to take advantage always of the maximum speed limit.

The survey is interesting, but can anything else be said of it? Appealing to car drivers for greater care produces poor results as a rule, and Toronto has at all times its full quota of drivers who have poor manners when behind the wheel. It might be an informative experiment if Toronto were to secure permission to have a 20-mile limit for three months and see what happened to the accident score.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Sumner Welles at least has the distinction of having been the one 1940 tourist who could go where he wanted and see whom he desired, war or no war.

When Hon. Norman Rogers visits England he may find time to get around and find out why more of the Canadian troops didn't vote Grit.

We notice where a German freighter stayed in port because of a rumor that British warships were not far distant. And as a rule a British warship is more than a rumor.

Louris Buchalter, New York racket chief, was sentenced to 30 years in prison, but before he starts that he has to complete a term of 14 years previously imposed. So he can look forward to getting out in 1984.

Hon. Gordon Conant refused to comment on criticism of his speech being made at Washington, which leads the St. Thomas Times-Journal to conclude that his spell of silence arrived about 48 hours too late.

It is now known that the Graf Spee was sent out as a raider ten days before the war started, and at that time Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, was pressing for a peaceful solution of the difficulties.

The editor of the Washington Post has resigned to become president of a Quaker college. We can understand a college president resigning to step up to the editorship of a paper, but an editor stepping down is puzzling.

Archduke Otto von Hapsburg paid a visit to Toronto. He is the pretender to the Austrian throne. And that means he has to pretend there is an Austria and an Austrian throne and then pretend that he is likely to get it.

Stratford Beacon-Herald says when Dr. Manion secured most of the soldier votes he could claim he had won a "moral victory." From that are we to infer that morals are the determining factor in governing this young country?

Manitoba Legislature defeated a resolution which urged the Dominion Government to cease borrowing from private sources. Truth is when a government borrows from life insurance companies or banks it is actually making use of the money of the people.

¶ My hobo man was in today, upon his boots were bits of clay, he craved a chance to eat; he started telling of his woe, how hard it was to make things go, with blisters on his feet.

¶ He'd found the going mighty tough, of victuals never got enough, his appetite was keen; he'd slept in hay mows now and then, been chased by farm dogs and hired men, and found them rather mean.

¶ The cops had often run him in, when trying to raise bit of tin, some nights he slept on boards; he had tough luck once in a while, of wood he had to slew a pile, and stack up nigh two cords.

¶ He wished the sunny days would come, he liked to feel the noon-day sun, he longed to see it shine; then he would pick a pleasant place, and feel the warmth upon his face, and also on his spine.

¶ The hobo man ate slabs of beef, his tankage seemed beyond belief, he cleaned me out of pie; a half a loaf of bread went in, before I saw the last of him, he said a sad good-by.

¶ Why do I bid the hobo come, instead of giving him the run, he wears such shabby clothes; I like to hear him spin his yarn, his nights at sleeping in a barn—and everywhere he goes.

Open Letter Addressed To Adolf Hitler

THE attached open letter to Adolf Hitler was written by an American barrister, Robert A. Morton, 433 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California. It was published a few days ago in a Hollywood paper.

Only a few weeks to wait, and the first warm glow of Spring will touch the devastated lands and people of Europe. From the beginning of time, Herr Hitler, Spring has been nature's promise to mankind—a promise of new beauty, new life, and renewed inspiration for trust and fellowship among men.

But in this year of 1940, Spring may bring the fulfillment of another promise, Herr Hitler, your promise of mutilation and death for countless thousands of men, women and children. That is to be your Spring-time contribution to the progress of the human race—your gift to the world as the leader of a national group engaged in spreading German culture in Europe.

For the so-called national interests and honor of Germany, you have pledged a Spring harvest of Blood and Iron. Already, after many promises as easily broken as given, your Nazi war machine has violated three nations that were at fault only in possessing civilized instincts of a higher order than your own, and material resources ripe for plunder.

As one who has known and loved the German people, marveled at their genius for the arts and sciences of civilization, revered the great names of their poets and musicians, I, an American citizen, have watched with sorrow your rise to power, and the crippling and enslavement of the mind, spirit and goodwill of the nation. And, yet I have some understanding of the process by which a people can be pushed into the bottomless pit of fanatical egoism, avarice and barbarity.

HERR HITLER, many years ago a shrunken little German professor named Nietzsche, who was to die insane, wrote a book. In it he exalted the German "superman," hailed the warrior as nature's supreme achievement, glorified war and the conquest of the weak, and preached the Will to Power as Germany's highest destiny. Other writers invented the myth of the "superior Aryan race," of which Germans were represented to be the purest representatives, and by that strange fiction entitled to rule the world.

You, Herr Hitler, soared high on the wings of such grim fairy tales and promises. Day and night the propaganda of your cult of war assailed the national conscience of your people with the savage doctrines of Nietzsche, and the call-to-the-race-to-conquer of Wilhelm Wirth. "God" it was proclaimed, "a Nazi God, has ordained a world dominated by Germans; has given Germany a sacred mission to rule or destroy "inferior" peoples."

By that revival of the law of the jungle, your cult gained followers, seized powers, killed, imprisoned or exiled all who resisted its inhuman theories and practices, and thus, Herr Hitler, by means of concentration camps, firing squads and the headsman's axe, and by unceasing deadly propaganda, the collective mind of many Germans was poisoned, deluded and paralyzed. The others have been silenced.

Under your inspired guidance Germany has abolished the forms of civilized justice, and has set up the supremacy of force and war as the legal principle of a German world order, in which man is doomed to live and die under a God-created Nazi dictator, and a regime of hate, greed and banditry.

HERR HITLER, upon this planet called The Earth, man during his brief stay is beset with the perils of natural forces that he must combat to remain even a short space of time. Then, too, selfishness and vanity have incited man against man in warfare. But slowly and surely through the ages, there has evolved a sense of interdependence among groups of men, an understanding and practice of mutual responsibility and altruism, of friendship and generosity, and a realization of spiritual values that came to a flowering in the life of the Nazarene.

All of these precious growths, the fruit of the wisdom of many generations of men—these have been denied and suppressed by your command.

German children young and old have been taught to hate with a psychopathic hatred, to see only through blood-shot eyes, to think only in terms of a single warped mind. The stream of energy of the German people has been turned aside from the building of civilization to the sabotage of the structure they helped to create. Your cult has imposed upon its own and other peoples stark cruelties that have shocked and united against Germany the public opinion of all free nations.

Would you have the world believe, Herr Hitler, that you and your group are the idols of the German people, a people bereft of all right to act or think for themselves, living under ruthless military law, hounded by a secret police, with the shadow of the executioner reaching over every home? A people led to economic ruin, and to slaughter in a senseless war? Do you exult in the enforced acclamations of a stricken multitude?

Think you, Herr Hitler, that one man in his moment on Earth can blow out the torch of reason, or nullify the divine attributes of mind and soul? If so, I disagree with you, for after a fleeting interval the physical self returns to its separate elements, and hate, frenzy and cruelty become only a shunned memory.

Herr Hitler, the purpose of this message to you is not solely to condemn. For you I hold the same sympathy as for an unfortunate whose offences against humanity are the products of a clouded vision. Plainly is it written in the records of medical science that an abnormal ego, when charged with an over-powering urge to inflict suffering and death upon others, and bordering on a reveraion to primitive brutality, is a mental illness. Its causes and treatment are well known.

Herr Hitler, let an armistice be declared. Withdraw from the government of your people. Let the most learned physicians of Germany and America gather in a neutral country. Courageously submit yourself to them for study and care. The roadway to that rendezvous will be paved with the pennies of American children, and covered with the Spring blossoms of all the world.

In the name of the youth now living, whom you have promised to destroy this Springtime, and of the children who will never be born if your promise of Death in the Spring shall come to pass, will you not grant that boon to mankind?

Unemployment Costs Equal War

SEEMINGLY reliable word comes that a law establishing national unemployment insurance will be passed by Parliament at the coming session. The report of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations will, it is said, recommend a constitutional amendment enabling such a law. Or, failing that, the Government will follow the procedure under the Old Age Pensions Act, which was subject to enabling provincial legislation before becoming operative in any province.

This, it may seem to many, comments Ottawa Journal, is a strange time to be launching an unemployment insurance scheme, having regard to its cost. The answer is that the Government will not start immediately to pay out unemployment insurance. The Government will merely start contributing to a fund, with employers and employes contributing their share, and payments from that fund are bound to be light in the scheme's initial stages.

Actually, unemployment insurance will be the beginning of a policy of national thrift, with workers compelled to save something to tide them over cycles of unemployment. It is the opposite, in principle, of the policy of the "dole".

Also, considering the present position, plus the uncertainties of the future, a contributory unemployment insurance plan perhaps cannot come too quickly. Today, according to official statistics, Canada is getting to what is called the "hard core" of unemployment; to a class of unemployables. That "hard core" would be less hard, less hard to deal with in the matter of cost, if, twenty or even ten years ago, Canada had gone in for unemployment insurance. More that that, unemployment during the last decade would have cost us much less.

It is not generally realized that between 1930 and 1940 unemployment cost Canada—in moneys actually paid out—practically as much as the Great War of 1914-18. In both cases the bills went over one billion dollars.

That condition, obviously, calls for attempt at remedy. Unemployment insurance cannot stop unemployment itself; is not designed to top it. What it can do, though, is to make its burden less heavy; spreading out its weight; acting as a shock-absorber. It is surely something worth trial.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful.—Rev. xxi, 1-5.

A Bit of Nonsense

Boy Petitioner

The small boy evacuee had been unruly, and was sent to his room as a punishment.

He was so quiet that his foster-parents went up to see what he was doing. They found him writing a letter.

"Is that a letter of apology?" they asked.

"If you want to know," he replied, "I'm writing to the Archbishop of Canterbury to get a divorce from both of you."

Bathing Suits

Old lady: Can you tell me why you wear such loose-fitting clothes?

Sailor: Certainly, mum. It's to allow for shrinkage when we fall overboard.

The Deliverer

A Pole was passing through Berlin with his small son. The boy saw a statue of Hitler and inquired who he was.

"Why, he's the man who freed us from our chains," the father said. "You know, mother's nice gold chain and my watch chain."

JUST THE HEEL

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

A Nazi cheer leader introduced Hitler as "the soul of Germany." Many good Germans, we suspect, regard Adolf rather as the sole—or perhaps merely the heel.

USING ROSS RIFLES

AN ECHO of the old familiar controversy concerning the Ross Rifle is heard in the subjoined observation by the Kingston Whig-Standard: "After all these years the old Ross rifle is trying to vindicate itself in the new war on the strength of one good quality it really had, superb accuracy as a target rifle. Hundreds of them that have lain in storage in England during the past quarter of a century are being distributed to British merchant and naval vessels to be used in the difficult job of exploding mines by rifle fire." The accuracy of the Ross rifle made it a prime favorite with "snipers" in the last war.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Flower-Growing Venture Nets Red Cross $18.54

HAVELOCK, April 9—(ENS). — Confuscius say, "If you have two loaves . . . sell one and buy a lily." If he had mentioned hyacinths and tulips this saying would have been most applicable to a story told to The Examiner by Mrs. A. McLauchlin, president of the Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society.

Last November, related Mrs. McLauchlin, my neighbor called across my garden, "Come over, I have something tor show you." There by his garden wall were rows and rows of pots with bulbs tucked into their winter bed. My neighbor explained that they were to be placed in his cellar till March. "Then," said he, "I will sell them and the proceeds to the Red Cross."

"February came," she continued, 'and the tiny green shoots of hyacinths and tulips were beginning to spring up. March saw the flowers appear and again I received a call to view the gorgeous blooms of rose, pink, white, yellow and red."

True to his word, said Mrs. McLauchlin, the flowers were sold and shortly before Easter I was handed an envelope containing the sum of $18.54, the net proceeds from his venture.

Thus another instance in which the Red Cross Society has received an unsolicited helping hand. In this particular case the honor was Dr. Joseph Holdcroft of Havelock, whose hobby of growing flowers and interest in Red Cross work ran hand in hand. Dr. Holdcroft, said Mrs. McLauchlin, and his family have rendered invaluable assistance to our Havelock-Belmont branch. Mrs. Holdcroft, who is honorary president of the group, was president of the local Red Cross organization during the last war. Their son, Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, local M.O.H., served overseas in the war of 1914-18, as did two other sons, William and Clarence.

The weekly work meeting of the Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society was held Monday afternoon in the council chamber, with a good attendance. Along with their regular work, the members decided in favor of doing some sewing for refugee work.

It was planned to hold an afternoon tea in conjunction with their meeting of Monday, April 29, for which a fee of ten cents will be charged. The proceeds from this will be devoted to the purchase of gifts for each soldier who has already departed from here, with the C.A.S.F.

Another work meeting will be held next Monday afternoon in the council chamber.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:

ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.

CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.

BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.

MYRA NOYES, famous radio star, engaged to Brent.

TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.

BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.

YESTERDAY: Cholly has a fight with Terry and Romany does her best to explain why he isn't good enough for her.

CHAPTER TEN

"THAT WAS Brent on the phone." Romany grabbed Cholly and pulled her into the bedroom. "And maybe you don't know it, Toots, but you've got a date. And you're going on a yacht."

"Oh, no," Cholly began uncertainly.

But Romany said firmly:

"You'll go if I have to tie you. Don't be a sap! Are you going to sit here all evening twiddling your thumbs waiting for Terry O'Rourke to call you? You ARE not. Get into that cute little green linen sports suit before I slay you in cold blood."

Cholly stood in the middle of the floor debating. Then she smiled:

"Okay. I'll go."

Romany sighed with relief.

"And without a struggle! Well, now you're talking sense, my dear little red-headed nit-wit. You take a shower first, while I make another raid on Aunt Cissie's clothes closet. Get your hair wet and let it curl up in those silly little baby curls."

"Oh, no!" wailed Cholly. "My hair looks terrible that way.'

"You heard me!" Romany pushed her into the shower. "You're not going to wear a hat, and you know perfectly well the boys love you with that halo of itsy bitsy ringlets around your baby face."

"Shut up!" yelled Cholly, "or I won't go."

She was vehement on the subject of her red hair, and Romany couldn't resist teasing her. She thought Cholly had the most beautiful hair she'd ever seen in her life. Romany was filled with a great resolution. If it was the last thing she ever did, she was determined, by hook or crook, to break up the engagement between Cholly and Terry.

And she would do it without the slightest twinge of conscience. Cholly had been tied down all through her years in college by her love for Terry. She was so devoted to him none of the other boys would even try to date her. Cholly had no idea how good looking she was, nor how attractive to other men because she had been so completely absorbed in her job of mothering Terry.

Romany was certain it was nothing but the maternal instinct in her friend that kept her tied to the handsome, weak Terry. And her love for music had something to do with it. He did have the voice of an angel. Nothing could stop him from a great career if he would just work and use his intelligence.

Cholly was a doll-like figure in green, contrasting charmingly with her red hair, when Romany came out of the shower. Her blue eyes, picking up the color of the material of her suit, were a blue green that sparkled brilliantly. Romany sighed enviously:

"Oh, Lord! If I could just be little and cute like you, Cholly, instead of long and lanky and dark and mysterious. I'd go right out and find myself a millionaire and never have a worry again as long as I lived. Nobody would ever suspect you of malice aforethought."

"Oh, yeah!" Cholly looked at her reflection in the mirror in dismay. "I suppose you're pining for freckles, too."

The door bell rang and Romany jumped.

"That must be Brent now. You go out and entertain him till I'm ready."

Cholly paled:

"You—don't suppost it's Terry."

Romany hid her sudden alarm, saying evenly:

"And suppose it is. Don't let him come up. Make him tell you who it is through the speaking tube."

Romany breathed a sigh of relief when Cholly called that it was Brent. That young man's eyes lit with admiration as the sparkling little red-head opened the door.

"You must be Cholly." He shook hands, smiling broadly. "Old Dove's going to feel like kissing me when he sees what I've brought him to play with."

"And who, may I ask, is Old Dove?" Cholly motioned the announcer to a hair.

"Dover Hayworth the Third," Brent informed her a little proudly. "When I called him to ask if it was all right to bring along another girl I found he'd forgotten to invite someone for himself. He was most grateful to me."

"It looks," Cholly grinned, "as though we're stepping out in high society tonight. He's the Little Boy Blue of the corn syrup clan, isn't he?"

"The syrup kid himself. And a swell guy! Just as natural and friendly as if he were one of his father's employees.

"That sounds nice," Cholly sighed with relief. "Now I can breathe more freely. I don't fit in with the blue bloods so well myself. They take one look at my mug and know I'm Shanty Irish."

Brent laughed heartily.

"I'm still looking for hayseeds when I comb my hair. When I remember that less than five years ago I was walking around Chicago in my only pair of shoes wondering if I was ever going to eat again! I'm telling you, I ran to an insurance company and took out an annuity five minutes after I signed my first radio contract."

Cholly liked Brent Nelson instantly. Perhaps it was because what he confided so ingenicusly placed him in such direct contrast with her irresponsible Terry.

Romany stood framed in the doorway in Aunt Cissie's white jersey sports dress, trimmed with gold. She smiled sweetly.

"I see you two are telling your life stories."

Brent jumped up, standing back, for a better look at her.

"So help me," he whistled, "the girl is magic! Every time I see her I tell myself she can't be as beautiful as I thought she was. And then, when I see her again—"

"Isn't he marvellous!" Romany said to Cholly. "What's he been dishing up to you"

"Hayseeds and annuities," Cholly offered enigmatically.

Brent was driving an open roadster and it was early twilight when they speeded down South Shore drive, and darted through numerous side streets to the pier. Brent kept up his cheerful banter until they arrived at their destination.

Cholly blinked when she saw the Hayworth yacht bobbing on the lake. Romany squeezed her hand excitedly.

"Is it a ferry boat?" Cholly whispered to Brent. He laughed.

"Oh, just one of the Hayworths' smaller craft. You should see the one they have on Long Island."

Dover Hayworth, himself, helped his guests on to the yacht. A quick look told Cholly that, besides money, he had about everything else. He was medium sized, light haired and bronzed to a rich brown. When he smiled he showed large, even white teeth. There was no mistaking the warm friendliness of his brown eyes.

To Romany he said, grinning:

"I'm prepared to dislike you, lady. I've grown awfully tired of hearing about you from this bird here."

He took Cholly by the hand.

"And this must be little Cholly. "Where's the rest of the gang?" Nelson asked, as they followed their host down the deck.

"They just phoned the boathouse," Dover grinned. "They can't come. Ain't it tough?"

"Marvellous!" Brent sighed happily. "I could do with a little peace and quiet. We four and no more."

"Suits me." Dover looked at Cholly with admiration. "I'll just sit and look at my girl's nice red hair and cute little freckled nose. Brent, this is the first time you've ever done right by me. Darned if that guy can't drag around more homely women!"

"It's the philanthropist in me."

They were to be served on the deck. A servant brought cocktails. From the door a uniformed mate asked Hayworth:

"Shall we sail, sir?"

"Yes, Steve, north." Dover sat down beside Cholly.

There was a piano in the lounge. Brent was curious to hear Cholly play. If she were talented, with her adorable face and figure, television might mean a chance for her to break into radio. After dinner he would ask her to play.

Sighing contentedly, Brent reached over and turned on the radio. It was playing soft dinner music. Outside the setting sun sparkled on the water. Romany, watching Cholly, felt a lump in her throat. Oh, if only she could help her to find happiness! Suddenly Cholly sighed, smiling:

"Oh, don't let me wake up! This is—heavenly."

Mine-Sowers Lay 720 "Eggs" In 60 Minutes

NEW YORK, April 9 (CP)—Development of a speedy mine-sower by whch Allied war vessels can plant a which Allied war vessels can plant a sible the laying yesterday of three extensive mine fields off Norway's coast in an hour, Major Neville Hopkins, civil research engineer, said here yesterday.

Major Hopkins did not disclose how he learned of the new mine-sower, saying only: "I have reason to be informed of the British invention."

He said in an interview that British experts have developed a mine-sower, based upon a high-speed conveyor belt adapted to a rolling boat, which enables a single mine-layer to sow 720 mines an hour. He said a fleet of three mine-layers could in 30 minutes plant a mine field sufficient to bottle up a large harbor.

"As a pressure-force on any country, this quick-mining menace will probably prove more effective than anything short of invasion," said the engineer. "Consider the effect on a Government of the reflection that in a relatively few minutes all of its harbors can be made useless.

"What they (the British) have achieved is merely the successful climax of experiments that have long been carried out in the attempt to adapt the conveyor-belt to the dangers and instability of a floating mine-layer. But in this case, practical success is equivalent to a new naval weapon."

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

Germany's Scandinavian blitzkreig strikes as the greatest military surprise of the war and places German forces in a closer geographic position for a direct attack on the United Kingdom. But it also disperses German troops over a wider area and gives the Allies a broader front on which to operate.

The Reich invaded Denmark and Norway at many points to climax a long campaign of intimidation. This arrogant campaign of Nazi invasion might well have the effect of definitely swinging remaining neutrals in active co-operation with the Allies.

Germany evidently manoeuvred her troops to their Norway landings through a successful ruse, but the Royal Navy still retains a stranglehold over most of the North Sea and could deliver a decisive blow at sea if Nazi naval units try to come to grips with it.

With Norway a potential battleground, the Allies by a lightning attack might smash the German divisions and establish an effective flank against Germany proper.

The Royal Air Force now is in a position to operate against the Reich by flying directly over Norway without violating her neutrality. It is improbably that Nazi fighting planes could establish bases very rapidly in Norway and Denmark with the threat of being continually harassed by Allied bombers.

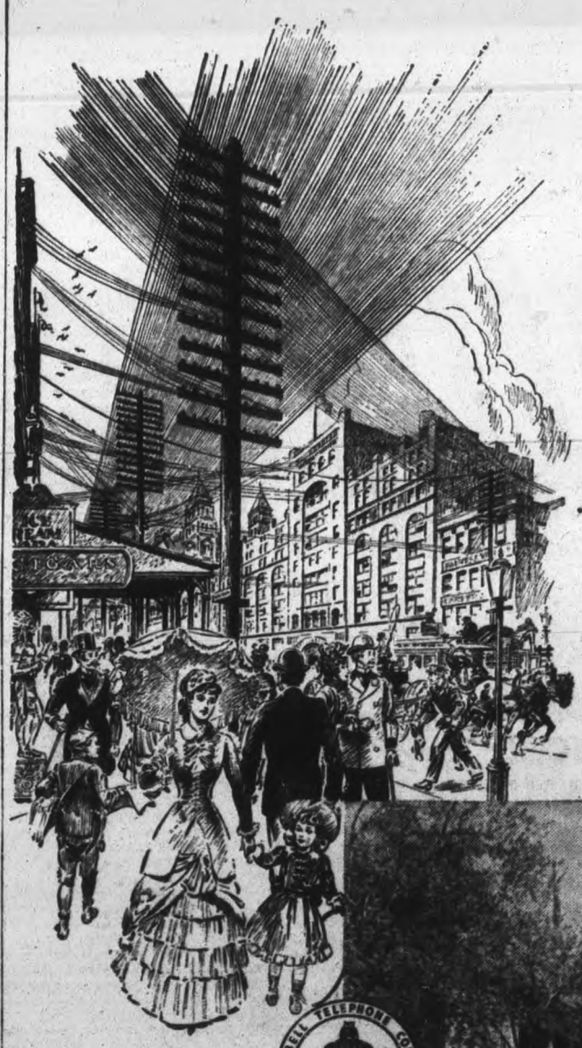
HIGHWAYS OF THE VOICE



YEARS ago, downtown in our larger cities, telephone wires almost shut out the sky. A network of wires on towering poles crowded with a score or more of cross-arms, became an increasing problem and hazard year by year.

From the Telephone Laboratories came the solution — telephone cable. Improved by years of research, these cables now contain as many as 1818 pairs of wires, each tiny wire insulated from the others and all tightly enclosed in a sheath of lead. Through these hair-like wires beneath the pavements flows the tide of downtown telephone traffic.

This development of telephone cable is one of the great triumphs of telephone research. Congested business areas in cities could be served in no other way. Today in larger centres, upwards of 80 per cent of telephone wire is underground.

Science has had its way with the telephone — with all phases of it. Day by day the service grows more far-reaching, more human, more helpful.

cated that they would aid neutrals attacked by Germany.

The astonished British public its first news of the Scandinavian invasions in a breakfast broadcast on reports from United States sources.

All Lines Cut

Telephone communication with the Scandinavian countries had been cut off. British postoffice operators said their telephonic efforts brought no response. Service from London is routed through Copenhagen.

Military observers here were not surprised at the sudden widening of war.

Prior to the swift German action, informed quarters said that the Allied mine-laying operations, designed to cut off Germany's imports of rich Swedish iron ore through Norwegian waters, was one of the first steps of a continuing strategy against Germany to shorten the war. A course of action has been mapped, they said.

Prime Minister Chamberlain has an opportunity to acquaint the House of Commons with the fast-breaking war news today. The house is scheduled to convene at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EST) to hear his statement defending the Allied entry into Norwegian waters.

Meanwhile, British envoys continued consultations aimed at tightening the blockade at Germany's back door—Southeastern Europe.

The Time Fuse

The immediate sequence of graphic devlopments was touched off in the chill dawn of Norway's rugged coastline Monday when British minelayers moved into territorial waters and sowed three mine fields to block the path of German freighters carrying Scandinavian ore to Germany's iron smelters.

Germany bristled and hinted darkly at "tremendous" and "far-reaching" consequences which ensued swiftly. Norway protested against the minelaying as a breach of her neutrality.

Within a few hours of the Allied minelaying, and while British naval forces hovered in strength along nearly the entire length of Norways coast, there came this sequence of events and reported events, piling one on the other in sensational style:

1. Reports that a German naval forced of 125 armed ships, including pocket battleships, heavy cruisers and destroyers, had moved out of the Baltic Sea into the Great Belt, a passageway to the Kattegat and Skagerrak, channels which link the Baltic with the North Sea.

2. Reports of French intelligence agents that German troops for some time had engaged in embarkation and debarkation drills at Baltic ports.

3. The torpedoing and sinking by a British submarine of a German "mystery" transport ship the 5,261-ton Rio de Janerio—four miles off the southeast coast of Norway with the loss of 300 to 500 German infantrymen, cavalrymen and airmen who were aboard.

British Ship Lost?

4. Unconfirmed reports that two German submarines had attacked an armed British vessel in the same general region, and that one submarine and the British vessel had been sent to the bottom.

5. A Reuters dispatch that possibly 200 men were lost and 88 saved in a violent explosion which sank an unidentified ship off the south coast of Norway.

6. All Norwegian lighthouses blacked out and radio stations shut down.

7. Four German warships supported by planes attempted to force their way through Oslo fjord, entrance to the Norwegian capital, but were repelled by shore batteries early today.

8. Oslo was under an air raid alarm throughout the early hours of today and communication was cut off except for "state calls."

9. Copenhagen, Denmark's capital, was occupied by German troops. The attack on enmark was reported to be a combined move by warships in Copenhagen harbor and troops marching northward from Germany.

10. Norway declared war on Germany. Mrs. Harriman who made the report to Washington, took over the duties of the British and French ministers to Norway, indicating that they apparently had left Oslo because of the German advance.

The unfolding of the Scandinavian drama brought a girding of British air defences at home.

Lively Air Scraps

A spectacular air battle developed last night over the Orkney Islands off the northern coast of Scotland as German warplanes, roaring across the North Sea under cover of darkness, struck at Britain's Scapa Flow naval base for the third time in a week.

Although the Nazi raiders loosed a rai no! incendiary and high explosive bombs, the air ministry announced today that they had caused no damage to naval vessels or merchant shipping.

Royal Air Force fighters were officially reported to have downed two of the German planes. A third was seen to dive toward the sea and was believed to have crashed, the air ministry said.

(In Berlin DNB characterized the raid as successful and said that hits had been scored on several heavy naval units.)

The air ministry said there was only one casualty—a civilian who was buried under debris caused by a high explosive bomb and suffered no injury beyond shock.

Eye witnesses described the battle between the British pursuit ships and the German bombers as "the grandest and most impressive" spectacle they had ever seen.

As searchlights stabbed the skies, the speedy British pursuit ships, each equipped with eight machine guns, tore into the bombing squadron like angry hornets.

Residents in the Orkneys, who have seen German planes overhead on numerous occasions, apparently took the raid calmly. At Stromness, the town council watched the distant fighting briefly and then held its regular meeting behind shuttered windows.

"We had a heavy agenda and decided to get on with it," explained Provost Marwick.

Senior Chaplain

Rev. John McNab has been appointed senior chaplain to the headquarters of the Toronto Air Training command with the rank of sqadron leader. His duties will cover the activities of the chaplains throughout the various air training centres in Trenton, St. Thomas, Manning Depot, Camp Borden and other centres to be opened in the future.

"All three arms of the defence force are cooperating effectively," a communique said.

"At most points," it added, "a slight local resistance by Norwegian troops has ceased."

The communique stated also that German troops were advancing in Denmark without friction because Danish troops had been ordered by the Danish government not to resist.

A second communique claimed that German bombers last night had damaged a British battleship and other vessels in a raid on Scapa Flow.

The German Demand

BERLIN, April 9 (AP)—Text of the German memoranda to Norway and Denmark, identical except for the names of the countries, follows:

Contrary to the upright desire of the German people and its government to live in peace and friendship with the English and French peoples, and despite the absence of any reasonable grounds for conflict, those in control in London and Paris declared war on the German people.

With the unleashing of this long-prepared war aimed at the existence of the German Reich nad the German people, England and France also opened sea warfare against the neutral world.

As they attempted at first, in complete disregard of the most elementary rules of International Law, to establish a hunger blockade against German women, children and aged, they also subdued neutral states under their reckless blockade measures.

The immediate consequence of these methods of warfare introduced by England and France contrary to international law was the most severe damage to neutral shipping and neutral trade. Germany had to meet these with her own defensive measures.

Beyond this, however, the English measures constitute a destructive blow at the conception of neutrality.

Respected Neutral Rights

Germany, on her part, has during the same time aimed at respecting neutral rights to the extent that she has sought to limit sea warfare to the seas lying between Germany and her opponent, England, however, while intending to ward off danger from her own isles and at the same time trying to interrupt Germany's trade with the neutral world, has more and more aimed at carrying sea warfare into neutral waters.

In the course of this typically British warfare, England, in constantly increasingly measure and in flagrant breach of international law, has committed belligerent acts on the sea and in the air, in the territorial waters and regions of Denmark and Norway.

Germany from the beginning of war anticipated this development. Through her domestic and external economic policy she knew how to prevent the British attempt of a hunger blockade against the German people and the cutting off of German trade with neutral states.

Blockade Collapsed

These measures during past months have showed in ever brighter clarity the complete collapse of the British blockade policy. This development as well as the hopelessness of direct attack on the German western fortifications and steadily growing anxiety in France and England of successful German counter attacks on the sea and in the air recently led both countries in increasing measure to attempt with all means the changing of battlefields to the neutral mainlands in and outside of Europe.

That England and France in this connection and in the first place cast eyes toward the territories of small European states is self-evident and corresponds with English tradition.

English and French statesmen during past months quite openly proclaimed the extension of war to these territories as basic concepts of strategy of their warfare.

The Russian-Finnish conflict offered the first opportunity in this direction. The English and French Governments have said quite publicly that they were willing to take part with military forces in the conflict between the Soviet Union and Finland and to use the territory of northern states as the base of their operations.

Peace Foiled Allied Plot.

The quick conclusion of peace in the north alone, which came contrary to their desires and expectations, hindered them at that time in carrying through their decisions.

It was a gross falsehood of English and French statesmen to declare afterward that they wanted to make the execution of action dependent on approval of the northern states involved.

The Reich's government has documentary proof in its hands that England and France had mutually agreed to carry out action through the territory of northern states if necessary, even against their will.

The deciding factor, however, is the following: From the point of view adopted by the French and English Governments before and after the Russian-Finnish peace conclusion and from documents in the hands of the Reich's government it is clearly discernable that the decision to aid Finland against Russia was to serve still further their purposes.

What The Allies Wanted

The aim pursued in Scandinavia by England and France did and still does involve much more:

First, to cut Germany off from her northern ore imports through occupation of Narvik (northern Norwegian port), secondly, to establish a new front in Scandinavia through the landing of English and French armed forces and thus attack Germany on the flank from the north.

Thus the countries of the north were to serve English and French troops as a battlefield while the Scandinavian people, true to old English tradition, were intended to assume the role of auxiliary and mercenary troops.

When, for the time being, this plan was shattered by the Russian-Finnish peace, the German government received even clearer information that England and France were undertaking definite steps to realize their intentions at the soonest in another form.

In the constant effort to prepare intervention in the north, the English and French governments during past weeks openly proclaimed the thesis that there must be no neutrality in this war and it was the duty of the little countries to participate actively in the fight against Germany.

This thesis was disseminated through the propaganda of the western powers and was supported by steadily increasing attempts of political pressure on neutral states. Concrete reports of impending attempts of landing of the western powers in Scandinavia lately have grown by leaps and bounds.

If there ever existed the slightest doubt if the final decision of the Western Powers to intervene in the north, it has been definitely removed during recent days. The Reich's government is in possession of unchallengeable documents that England and France intended to make a surprise occupation of certain regions of the northern states in coming days.

No Nordic Resistance.

The Nordic states on their part not only failed to resist earlier transgressions of England and France, but even permitted the most serious interferences with their sovereignty without corresponding counter-measures.

The Reich's government must therefore assume that the Royal Norwegian government will adopt that attitude also towards the action of England and France now planned and about to be executed. But even if the Royal Norwegian government were willing to take counter-measures, nevertheless, the Reich's government realizes clearly that Norwegian military forces would not suffice to oppose the English and French actions effectively.

In this decisive phase of war for existence, forced upon the German people by England and France, the Rich's government can under no circumstances tolerate that Scandinavia be converted by the Western Powers into a theatre of war against Germany and that the Norwegian people be directly or indirectly misused for war against Germany.

Germany is unwilling to stand idly or take lying down such a realization of enemies' plans. The Reich's government therefore has, beginning to-day, set in motion certain military operations which will lead to the occupation of strategic points on Norwegian soil.

Assumes Protection of Norway.

The Reich's government thereby assumes protection of the kingdom of Norway for the duration of the war. It is determined from now on, with its instruments of force, to protect peace in the north against every English-French attack and definitely to render it secure.

The Reichs government has not desired this development. The responsibility, therefore, lies solely with England and France. To be sure, both states hypocritcally proclaim the protection of small states, but in reality they violate these in the hope hereby to be able to translate into reality their will to destroy Germany, as proclaimed openly each day.

German troops, therefore, enter Norwegian soil not in hostile spirit The German Supreme Command does not intend to use the points occupied by German troops as operating bases for fighting England as long as not forced to do so through acts of England and France.

German military operations are aimed at the exclusive goal of safeguarding the Norse against the intended occupation of Norweigian strategic points by English and French forces.

In Norway's Interests

The Reich's Government is convinced that it serves Norway's interests also by this action. For this act of rendering them secure through Germany's armed forces gives the sole guarantee to the Scandinavian peoples that their countries will not after all become a battlefield, and perhaps the scene of the most terrible acts of force during this war.

The Reich's Government, therefore, expects the Royal Norwegian Government and the Norwegian people to have full understanding for Germany's procedure and not to resist in any way.

All resistance would have to be and would be broken by every available means by the German armed forces deployed here, and therefore lead only to utterly useless bloodshed. The Royal Norwegian Government is therefore requested to take all measures with the greatest speed which are necessary to render certain that the advance of German troops can progress without friction and difficulties.

In the spirit, long existing, of good German-Norweigian relations, the Reich's Government declares that German has no intention through her measure now or in the future of touching upon the territorial integrity and political independence of the Kingdom of Norway.

Word at Midnight.

The first official word of the Scandinavian flank reached Wash- Reich's swift hammer blows on the ing ton shortly after midnight from Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, United States Minister to Norway.

High State Department officials, headed by Assistant Secretary Berle, were quickly summoned to the old-fashioned building near the White House and lights burned on toward dawn

Announcing the receipt of advices from Mrs. Harriman, the State Department said:

"The American Minister at Oslo, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, telegraphed to the Department of State to-night that the Foreign Minister has informed her that the Norwegians fired on four German warships coming up Oslo Fjord and that Norway is at war with Germany."

Despite the almost complete disruption of communications with the North Capes countries, Mrs. Harriman managed to get her message out by telephoning it to Fred Sterling, United States Minister to Stockholm.

Leave U.S. Legation in Charge

She reported that the British and French ministers at Oslo had requested the United States Legation there to take over the interests of their nations in Norway whenever evacuation was necessary.

The Norwegian minister to the United States, Wilhzke Morgenstierne, spent some time at the State Department during the night.

Henrik de Kauffman, the Danish minister, was on vacation in Charleston, S.C., when the Germans entered Denmark. He started hurriedly back to Washington.

The sudden plight of two Scandinavian neighbors shocked the Swedish minister, W. Bostrom, whose own country has been thrust into a position of grave peril by the developments.

"How terrible, how terrible," he exclaimed.

To requests for formal comment, he answered sadly: "What is there to say?"

The problem of evacuating American nationals from the war-engulfed Scandinavian countries assumed considerable proportions. Bonarlaw Party Honors Newlywed Pair

BONARLAW, April 9—(ENS). — On Friday evening a pleasant event took place at the Orange Hall, Springbrook, where over three hundred friends gathered in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Broadworth.

The Rev. Mr. Harding acted as master of ceremonies and after a short program the young couple was asked to come to the platform, where an address was read by Miss Flemming and numerous gifts presented. The bride and groom thanked their friends for the lovely gifts and invited all to visit them in their new home. After several speeches were made all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Dancing was then enjoyed to the music of Kouri and Reynolds. Lunch was served at midnight and the party broke up at 3.30.

On Tuesday evening, April 2, about forty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bateman and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Broadworth with a rousing chivaree, the noise of which almost awakened the entire neighborhood. The young folks were invited in and were served a delicious lunch. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Boyd's Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. —(Adv.)

Denmark Feared Nazi Attack For Past Months

Occupation of tiny Denmark by the ruthless forces of Hitlerism has come as the accomplishment of a long-feared assault, according to P. G. Dinesen, who came to this country from Denmark many years ago.

Fear had existed in Denmark ever since the outbreak of war between Britain and Germany, that the Nazis would march in, Mr. Dinesen told the Examiner today. He saw Denmark's chance of opposing Germany as being totally impossible—worse, even, than Finland's chance of opposing Soviet Russia proved to be. For he doubted in Denmark has a standing army of more than 40,000 to put in the field against Germany's millions. Submission was the only road left to his country, he believed.

Mr. Dinesen, an inspector at the Western Clock company, served in the Danish army during the World War I (during which the Danes successfully managed to remain neutral). He was born only a short distance from the capital, Copenhagen, and has two sisters still living in Denmark, as well as one in Sweden, whose husband is the world-famed marine artist, Oscar Huligren. Mr. Dinesen has been ill at home for the past five months.

Block Shipments

Denmark's only seaport of any importance, Esbjerg, lies on the country's west coast and the Germans want control of it in order to block shipments of bacon and butter to Great Britain and France, he said, claiming that objective was as important as was the fact that control of Denmark will give German planes and troops a good jumping-off place to Norway.

The only other Danes in Peterborough, so far as Mr. Dinesen knew, are Alfred Birkoff, Carlos Jensen, and Pete Henrickson, all of whom work at the Quaker Oats company.

That splendid SEP picture of the little boy with the toy plane looking up at the four-engined monoplane roaring above him is fading from main street spots. There was an idea of social challenge in the artist's concept, that small boys' thoughts should soar, because eventually they will be th producers and fliers and passengers in the planes of to-morrow. And on that level they should be free from the brutal Dead End atmosphere and the exotic hoodlum gangster sequences that are foreign to the ordinary playgrounds of this country, but are provided for gain under the cloak of entertainment.

HASTINGS

Village Council Given Grant By Booster Club

HASTINGS, April 9 — (ENS). — Acting on a proposal of the council that the Boosters' Club and the council spend $25 this year on an advertisement in the Vacation Edition of the Peterborough Examiner, the Boosters' Club last night passed a resolution to co-operate with the council on a third of a page advertisement and each body will pay $12.50. Walter Fowlds, speaking on behalf of the Examiner, pointed out to the club that the tourist industry was the largest by far than any other industry in Canada today and that it should exceed last year's figures due for the most part to the difference in exchange between Canadian and American money.

Arthur J. McKenty, Hastings hardware merchant, voiced strong disapproval at the action of the Dominion Government in compelling merchants to pay the difference in exchange between Canadian and American money. "What do we get when we go into the States and attempt to spend our money?" he asked. "They refuse to accept it."

Mr. Fowlds told of the huge amount of money spent annually by tourists. It was roughly estimated by the meeting that between $10,000 and $15,000 was spent here annually by tourists. The motion to advertise in the Examiner was made by Mr. Fowlds and seconded by Mr. McKenty.

Aid Repairing Town Hall.

J. V. Findly, treasurer, revealed the Boosters' Club took in $71.50 at their dance recently and that 80 per cent. of the net proceeds representing $22.50 will be presented to the council as an assistance in paying for alterations to the Town Hall.

Mr. Fowlds reported to the club on his activities with regard to the petition placed before the council requesting the half-holiday by-law be rescinded. No definite action was taken but the matter of whether or not the council had to act on the petition providing it was 100 per cent. representative was in for a brief discussion. Reeve Lewis Kelley told the meeting that, according to the town solicitor, the council did not have to act on any petition with regard to the half-holiday by-law unless they so chose regardless of whether it represented all the merchants or not. Arthur McKenty challenged this statement and assured Reeve Kelley they would have to act for a three-fifths majority and they would have no other course to follow.

Warden In 1939 James Milby Dies In 50th Year

Warden of Peterborough County in 1939, James Milby died at his home, 200 Park street, early this morning in his 56th year.

The death of Mr. Milby followed an illness which came upon him some time last year, becoming acute during the last two months. His friends in the city and county, especially those who were associated with him in municipal affairs, had known for some time that the shadow was approaching him, and from that intimation the news of his death will not be a surprise to them.

Mr. Milby was born in Ayrshire, Scotland, son of Samuel Milby and Isabella Shaw, lived for years in Glasgow and came to Peterborough twenty-six years ago.

When the Great War broke out he enlisted with the 21st Battalion in 1914, was severely wounded in action, and remained in the service until 1918.

Mr. Milby was an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company in its costs department. Living on Park street south of the Exhibition Park and in North Monaghan township, Mr. Milby took an interest in the municipality, and was finally elected a member of the council of 1933. In the next year he was promoted to the position of deputy-reeve, and in 1935 was returned when the council was given an acclamation.

Probably the sharpest contest in Mr. Milby's council experience was in 1936 when he was elected reeve of the township in a contest with George Patton. It is recalled that Mr. Milby had been associated with H. Wood as the representative of North Monaghan in the county council, and it was often remarked that the township was never more capably, perhaps at time more forcibly and aggressively, represented than it was during those years when Hy Wood was reeve and "Jim" Milby was deputy.

Retired Last Year

Mr. Milby was retained in the position of reeve until his voluntary retirement at the conclusion of his term as Warden. He was a sincere and energetic public servant and municipal administrator, and when with a heavy heart he laid aside that work he left both his township and the county in sound condition.

The members of 1939 county council will always remember his warm hospitality when he entertained them at dinner in his home in the evening of the day he was elected to preside over the council for that year. It was an evidence of his sentiment and his friendliness, and also of his appreciation of the personal relations which he had developed during the four years with the men who were administering the county's business.

Then there was his prompt action and thoughtfulness in making sure that the children of Peterborough county were given an opportunity of seeing King George and Queen Elizabeth on their visit to Toronto. Mr. Milby assumed the leadership in arranging for railway transportation, an enterprise in which he was aided by other members of the council.

Last Day of 1939 Session

Another glimpse of him was the noon hour adjournment on the last day of the December sessions in 1939. Warden Milby waited until all the other members had left the chamber, and usually there is nothing hurried about their going. It was another reflection of the warm sentiment of the man, not only in an awareness and understanding of the finality of temporary associations and the end of a pleasant public work that exerts a potent attraction upon so many men, but also in a deeper and sadder realization that his days were to be fewer than he had thought. And so he was left all alone in the council chamber, remaining for nearly five minutes in the room which had signified the most pleasant aspect of service given to the county and his own municipality. It may be said of James Milby that his wardenship was an outstanding success, and that he earned a place in the front ranks of those who had shared before him in the same public honor.

Mr. Milby is survived by his wife and one daughter Mrs. L. A. Monk of Peterborough, by one sister and three brothers in Scotland. He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will take place Thursday at 3 p.m. from the family residence 200 Park street south to Little Lake Cemetery, and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

Muskrat Hunter Gets Dip In Trent River

HASTINGS, April 9 (ENS)—Albert Scriver, Hastings poet and man of many occupations, took his first dip in the icy cool Trent River. According to Mr. Scriver, the dip may have been timely but it came so unexpectedly it took his breath for a moment.

He was surveying likely spots to place his traps for the muskrat season when the canoe, in which he was travelling, overturned and left Mr. Scriver "with a lot of river around him." Fortunately, it was with little difficulty he reached shore with the canoe and managed to warm himself with a fire before proceeding down the river to Hastings.

Old Clothes Floating In Trent Canal Is Basis Of First-Class Drowning Story

The action of a local man in using the canal as a place in which to get rid of some old clothing has been responsible for a week-end scare and a lot of exciting rumors.

Changing boarding houses, he found himself with a bundle of used garments that he no longer required and as he was driving over the Warsaw road bridge over the Trent waterway he solved the problem by tossing the clothing over the rail on to the shell ice beneath.

Shortly after the trousers, overalls and other garments were spotted by some one crossing the bridge, and a first-class drowning story was at once created. Provincial Constable David Silvester was notified that some one had apparently taken off his clothing and gone through the ice on the canal. Residents in the neighborhood started in with pike polls in an endeavor to locate the "body" and there was general excitement.

In the pocket of one of the garments, however, Constable Silvester found an envelope with a name on it and a hasty check-up solved the mystery. The owner told of how he had disposed of his superfluous wearing apparel and the hunt for the drowned man was quickly terminated.

Work Among Crippled Children Is Outlined To Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9 — (ENS). — In a talk on crippled children's work as done by the various service clubs in Ontario, Rotarian Reg. Hopper, executive secretary of the Crippled Children's Association, Toronto, commended the work done by the local Rotary Club.

Touching on the claim made by the club here that all cases where help was needed had been exhausted the speaker said the biggest difficulty in the whole job was in discovering the cases. "Once the child is brought to attention the services of doctors, surgeons, and nurses in the finest hospitals in Ontario are at your disposal." In an effort to stress the importance of early diagnosis and treatment the speaker related several cases which had come to his attention and of the difficulty sometimes caused because children or even parents were reluctant to have treatment.

Can Be Helped.

Mr. Hopper declared that eighty per cent. of the children suffering from various physical handicaps could be either cured or materially benefitted by treatment of some kind. The greatest amount of crippling is done to-day by poliomyelitis which accounts for forty per cent. of the total, and though good progress has been made in eliminating other diseases such as rickets, little of consequence has been done for the victim of infantile paralysis. During the last serious outbreak of the disease thet Department of Health for Ontario issued a bulletin announcing the nasal spray tried out on some 5,000 children was not a practical treatment. "Only thing definitely known about the disease and its treatment is that those who have had early and consistent medical care get over the disease better than those who do not."

5,000 Children Treated.

The 135 service clubs in Ontario treated approximately 5,000 children last year, and this not only included cases of those actually crippled, but many who were also treated and given surgical care for infected tonsils, cross eyes, and other such ailments.

In conclusion the speaker suggested that the club make a complete survey of this district by checking with all doctors, teachers, ministers, women's institutes, and other organizations throughout the country.

Dr. Longmore, chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee of the club, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker at the same time offering to make a bet of $5.00 that there wasn't one crippled child in either Campbellford or Seymour whose case had not been investigated by the club.

GIVE UP SEARCH.

Firemen stopped searching yesterday for the body of Norman Meehan, 12, who was drowned in Jackson Park Creek on Sunday. All day Sunday and part of Monday firemen attempted to locate his body, but Fire Chief Gimblett called his men from the task. He believes the body will not rise to the surface for several days and that the area to be searched is too great to hope for success in the meantime.

"LOST" ON STREET BUS

The little girl who left her younger sister on one of the city buses the other day, arriving home without her, created an unusual problem for the driver and also for the office staff. Meanwhile the driver didn't know what to do about the younger child who kept riding around with him until the bus was overtaken by one of the men from the office.

The sire of the expected foal was 'Stand Pat," former stakes winner in the United States, now of the Parkwood Stable owned by R. J. McLaughlin at Oshawa, who bought him from Harry Hatch.

"UNREALITY"

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for First Church of Christ Science in Peterborough on Sunday. The Golden Text was, "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel." (Jeremiah 3:23.) Selections from the Bible included the following: "They that make a graven image are all of them vanity; and their delectable things shall not profit; and they are their own witnesses; they see they see not, nor know; that they may be ashamed. Correlative citation from Christian Science textbook included the following: "Divine Science deals its chief blow at the supposed material foundations of life and intelligence. It dooms idolatory. A belief in other gods, other creators, and other creations must go down before Christian Science."

ROSENEATH, April 9 — (ENS). —Ten tables were in play at the crokinole party on Friday night in the Town Hall sponsored by the United Church W.M.S. The prizes were won by Miss Gwendolyn Varcoe and W. Halstead. Preceding the games a short program was presented. Vernon Sabastion read "My Twin"; a four-part song, "Let me call you Sweetheart" was sung by Misses Audrey, Mouncey, Shirley Brisbin, Geraldine Hugh and Gwendolyn Varcoe; Mrs. E. Beech sang a solo "Caller Herrin'," introducing her number with a story of the fisher folk on the New England coast, and the dangers attending their work; Miss Gwendolyn Varcoe sang "Mother o' Mine," and Renslow Jolee, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen." A contest arranged by Miss Olive Sherwin concluded this part of the entertainment. At the conclusion of the game period refreshments were served.

Boys Catching Spring Fever, Running Away

Peterborough has had an epidemic of run-away children in the last day or two.

Monday two local boys caused grief in their homes by staging a disappearance. A ten-year-old Simcoe Street lad started off for school in the morning and failed either to reach the seat of learning or return home. Monday night his mother notified the police that he was missing. Later word was received from Hastings that the boy had turned up there.

A King Street thirteen-year-old boy, after having been scolded at home for some misdemeanor, left the house shortly after the noon meal, after first leaving a note that he was going some place where he would be more appreciated. His disappearance was also reported to the police. Monday night word was received from the boy's grandmother in Toronto that the lad was with her and would be sent home today.

Saturday two Bensfort Bridge boys hiked into town to see a show and were picked up by the police and taken home. Afraid to face their parents they slept in a barn Sunday night and Monday managed to hitch-hike back to Peterborough. Once more they landed in the hands of the police, and this time were held until their father arrived to personally escort them home — and likely to the woodshed.

Dr. Harry Ebbs To Give Lecture

Dr. Harry Ebbs, of the staff of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, a Peterborough boy who has gone far in the field of medicine, will deliver an important address in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday night on the subject of "Food for Health in Peace and War." Dr. Ebbs comes back to his home town on this occasion through the efforts of the Local Council of Women and the co-operation of the Canadian Medical Association's committee on nutrition.

He has spent considerable time and energy in postgraduate work at home and abroad since graduating from the University of Toronto, and has become greatly interested in the field of nutrition. His illustrated address on the subject should prove highly interesting as well as instructive.

Rangers Plan To Start Spring Training

With war threatening to break wide open, and with the probable need for more soldiers pushed to the fore, officers and men of the Prince of Wales Rangers entered their spring training season to-day, confident that when Canada calls they will be already prepared to serve her.

To start off the spring training program, with its emphasis on outdoor work, the Rangers are holding their first march-out since last fall, to-night. They will parade down George Street behind their band, proof to Peterborough people that here is a unit whose men are ready and eager to serve their country when called upon, and a unit whose members have been of such calibre that they have, in their own leisure time and without pay, made themselves skilled in the art of warfare. When they march to-night it will be not as raw, untrained recruits, but as men seasoned to their task.

Outside Training.

Spring will bring a great deal of outside training to officers and men of the Rangers. Already field schemes are being planned and will take place as soon as dry weather arrives. No longer will the lecture room and the cement-floored drill hall hold sway, but operations will be carried on in the outdoors, and not a man in the regiment but is looking forward to the change.

Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, M.C., commanding officer, paid tribute yesterday, however, to the spirit which the men of his unit have shown during winter months. They have attended lectures and drills faithfully through the entire season and have shown keen interest in their progress as soldiers. Examinations in the past season have been eminently successful. All non-commissioned officers have passed their three oral and written tests, and all officers have passed their first two exams, although results of the third are not yet known.

Select Own Company.

Men of the Rangers are looking forward to seeing their number increased with the arrival of spring training. Some half-dozen recruits have joined up during the past week and a half and more are expected to-night. Each man who enlists may choose the company to which he prefers to belong and so can be with previous friends. In such fashion, no man ever joins the Rangers and feels he is with strangers; there never is an occasion on which a new recruit does not know at least one member of one of the companies. He picks the company in which he finds the largest number of acquaintances. All recruits report to the orderly room on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

MAXVILLE MILLIONAIRES MAKE EASTERN INTERMEDIATE FINALS

Beat Glace Bay Two Straight To Meet O.H.A.

GLACE BAY, N.S., April 9—(CP)—Maxville Millionaires, Ottawa and District Intermediate hockey champions, advanced into the Eastern Canada final Monday, defeating Glace Bay Xidos 3-2 to take the semi-final round with the Maritime titlists in two straight games.

The fast Maxville squad, which won 3-0 Saturday in the opener of a best-in-three series, now meets the Ontario Hockey Association champions for the Eastern crown. It is not expected there will be an East-West playoff.

Showing to better advantage than in the opening game, the Maritime champions tied the score twice, but were unable to get ahead as Maxville combined a brilliant defence with dangerous power plays throughout the game.

L'Heureux Stars

Fast, hard-shooting Bill L'Heureux, Maxville defenceman, was outstanding for the visitors, scoring two of their goals and assisting on the third. Centre Ken Jamieson had a goal and an assist. A crowd of 500 saw the game.

L'Heureux opened the scoring at the half-way mark of the first period, helped by Grant. Millionaires held their lead until within 15 seconds of the middle point in the second period, when McClennan tied it up for the home team.

In less than two minutes, L'Heureux came through with his second tally, only to have Provoe even matters again in 45 seconds. The period had less than three minutes to go when L'Heureux set up the winning goal for Jamieson.

In the third period, the teams remained scoreless as Maxville beat back one Glace Bay rush after another with the Martime champions fighting hard to send the series into a third game.

Maxville.—Goal, Dupuis; defence, Munroe, Gamble; centre, McCallum; wings, Pilon, Lalonde; alternates: Coleman, Grant, Villeneuve, L'Heureux Jamieson, Hamilton.

Glace Bay.—Goal, McFayden; defence, Clarke, Provoe; centre, Morrison; wings, H. Peach, B. Peach; alternates: Sullivan, I. Peach, McClennan C. McGillivray, Groves, T. McGillivray.

Officials.—Hector Grimley, Amherst, N.S.; Tom Doran, Windsor, N.S.

No Walker Cup Team This Year

NEW YORK, April 9 — (AP). — British golfing officials notified the United States Golf Association yesterday that because of "the present emergency" Great Britain would not send a team to oppose the Americans for the Walker Cup matches this year.

"With profound regret," a cable from Henry Gullen, secretary of St. Andrew's Royal and Ancient Club, said, "have to inform you that owing to present emergency the Royal and Ancient Club cannot send team to compete for Walker Cup this year."

This year's international matches between the amateur teams tentatively had been scheduled for the Town and Country Club, St. Paul, August 30 and 31.

The Walker Cup was last competed for in June, 1938, at St. Andrews. The British team defeated the Americans on that occasion seven matches to four.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

A couple of former Petes' puckists will soon be through with their long hockey grind, and likewise a former local coach—through at anyrate for this season. We mean Coach Pick Hines and Bill Calladine and Ned Vitarelli of Baltimore Orioles. The club is now playing off with Detroit Holsbaughs for the U.S. amachoor title. In a recent copy of the Ice Hockey Herald, final league scoring standings were published with Collings of Rovers first with 42 goals and 59 assists for 101 points. Calladine was next with 94 points, but he led in goals scored with 53. Among the Orioles, Vitarelli was third with 59 points, trailing only Calladine and Hunt. Both boys had a fine season all around.

* * * * * *

Another U.S. puck magazine gives Hines quite a writeup and says: "From the sphinx-like countenance, you'd probably guess he was a funeral director, but Silent Pick has done something no other man has been able to do—he has given Baltimore's rabid hockey-goers their first Eastern League championship. Pick's first Oriole club in 1938-39 started slowly but soon improved as he experimented. He brought a couple of fellows named Calladine and Vitarelli from Peterborough, Ontario, with him when he took the Baltimore job and the Maryland hockey populace went wild about them. Norm Calladine quickly developed into one of the point-making wizards of the circuit, and Ned Vitarelli, 138 pounds of concentrated T.N.T., was giving opposing players a fit. He was so fast they couldn't hit him." The issue had pictures of the trio, too.

* * * * * *

Men Of Maxville

Listed on the lineup of the Maxville Millionaires — who might be playing the Petes maybe in Eastern Canada intermediate "A" puck finals next week in Ottawa—are these players: Art Dupuis, Walt Hamilton, Bill L'Heureux, Don Gamble, Doc Munroe, Sam MacCallum, Ken Jamieson, Fern Pilion, Roger Lalonde, Howard Coleman, Vern Villeneuve and Don Grant. The Millionaires won their series with Glace Bay, knocking them off in two straight contests.

* * * * * *

At noon today, the Petes were slated to pull out by taxi for Kitchener and what they expect will be the final O.H.A. joust for 'em this year. They hope. All the gang are in good shape, with the possible exception of Jim Ellis—who had his shoulder banged up a bit in the Oshawa game. If Jim doesn't play, Les Burton will fill in on defence. If there should be a fifth and deciding tussle—and we certainly hope to the high heavens that one won't be needed!—it is likely to be staged at the Maple Leaf Gardens later this week.

* * * * * *

Expecting To Win

From Coach Buckland down to the bat boy—he is Doug Lomax, assistant to the trainer, Shockey Mein—the Petes are confident they'll step into high gear tonight and sweep through the checking and scrappy Greenshirts before a big Kitchener crowd. "No more fooling around," seems to be the local attitude, and we expect to view a Peterborough pennant-winning squad along about 11 this p.m. Period scores will be wired back to The Examiner, and also to Dick Raine—who will look after surplus 'phone calls. Jingle him at 8901. The Petes aren't worrying about local fans being out with shotguns to greet 'em on their return if they lose, nor a band to welcome 'em home if they win; there won't likely be anyone abroad about sunup when they roll back to town but the milkmen and a few stray alley cats.

* * * * * *

Anticipating a big crowd and a scrumptious scrap there this gloaming, the Kitchener columnist remarks: "Manager Walter Molson of the Greenshirts announced today that the same team which posted such a brilliant victory over the Petes in Oshawa on Friday will be used in the game here against the Easterners. That means 'Shirts will have Bob Bindernagel in goal, with Tommy Hause and Bill Simon on defence. The forward lines will look like this: (1) Gene Bauer, Pete Grau and Jackie Vrooman; (2) Alex Fehrenbach, Doug Smith and Vic Lang; (3) Carlo Kuntz, Ringle Lorentz and Buddy Huber." Evidently they'll try the same checking tactics they used successfully 'gainst our gang last Friday.

Ye Big Four Again

From Montreal comes rather disquieting word regarding the senior O.R.F.U. team here. At a sports banquet the other eve, Prexy J. M. Pritchard of Westmounts announced that Montreal's two senior grid clubs had agreed to amalgamate this year and operate as one in the Big Four circuit. There is a move underway, he stated, to interest 20 Mo'real sportsmen to put up one grand—$1,000—each to wipe out past debts of both clubs and start anew as one team, picking the best players off each of last year's Royals and Westmounts. Secretary Bailey of the O.R.F.U. recently assured us here the local club would operate in a senior four-team O.R.F.U. setup, intimating Montreal would be one of the teams. It is still up in the air, but Montreal apparently is going Big Four. However, Peterborough will likely still be in a senior four-team loop.

There were 10 teams in this thriving independent league last year, Cogs, Orphans, Brintons, Maple Leafs, Hawks, Quakers, Nationals, Wallace Point, Keene and Bridgenorth, with Cogs winning out. It's an open session, so help yourselves to it.

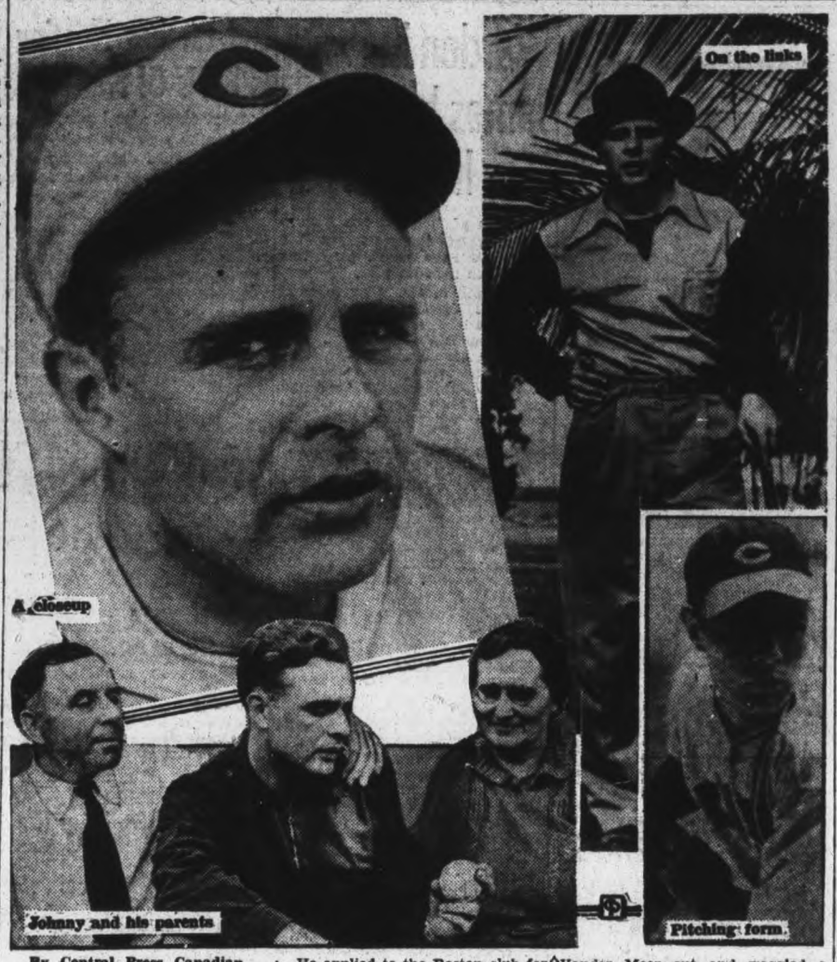
Diamond Meteors!

VANDER MEER JUST ANOTHER HURLER UNTIL HE PITCHED NO-HIT GAME



By Central Press Canadian

Johnny Vander Meer skyrocketed to baseball fame in a single dazzling week.

The success story of the boy wonder from Midland Park, N.J., is the latest classic saga of this series.

Vander Meer's break came in 1933 when a big league publicity man went a-hunting for a "Typical American Boy" to add lustre to a major league training camp in Florida. The man picked Johnny.

Scouts Like Him

Vander Meer's expenses were paid. He went south as an onlooker. But a couple of days after he reached Sunny Florida, Johnny got his hands on a baseball.

"Whew!" said a scout. "The boy has stuff." Over the protests of his unemployed father back at Midland Park, Johnny got a real tryout. Even as he started his baseball career, Johnny's father raised objections. "Baseball is not a business," he said.

He does not say so today. Johnny's talented left arm, his sweeping curve ball and the stardust of fame have changed Father Vander Meer's mind completely.

With Dayton

The year 1933 found him pitching for the Dayton club of the Middle Atlantic league. There he won 11 and lost 10 in the class C circuit, but the scouts who watched him, and the manager of the team said the fellow didn't have a chance ever to become a major leaguer. That's how he managed to shift his allegiance to the Scranton team of the then New York-Pennsylvania league.

At Scranton in 1934, Vander Meer showed great indication of promise. He won 11 and lost eight, increasing his percentage against tougher opposition. He remained with the Miners in 1935 and slipped considerably.

He won seven and lost 10, and then, after his contract was selected by the Boston Bees through the medium of a working agreement, he received what looked like a tough break.

He applied to the Boston club for treatment for a sore arm, and the Bees, mindful of his poor 1935 record, and the possibilities of his having a sore arm, included him in a deal with the Nashville club, in which the Bees obtained Tiny Chaplin. Of course, the Nashville club was advised of his condition, but Jimmy Hamilton had seen the boy before, and was willing to gamble on him, sore arm or no sore arm.

Goes To Durham

He didn't last long there, being shifted optionally to Durham, a Cincinnati farm, about the first of June. Johnny became an immediate sensation at Durham, winning 19 and losing six, and fanning 295 men in the 214 innings he worked. This caused the Cincinnati club to purchase his contract from Nashville, which recalled him from Durham, of course. The purchase price was $7,500 down and $17,500 more if retained. The deal was consummated during 1937.

With the Reds in 1937, Johnny won three and lost five. He then was optioned to Syracuse, where his record was even worse, five wins against 11 setbacks.

Baseball fans got a hint of Vander Meer's powers when he shut out the New York Giants on May 20, 1938, with five hits. Three weeks later he stunned them with a feat unduplicated in the history of baseball.

Two No-Hit Games

"No hits, no runs!" yelled the crowd. Vander Meer had set down the Boston Bees at Cincinnati without a single bingle or a solitary run. Twenty-eight men faced him. Three reached first, on walks. This was the afternoon of June 10.

Five nights later, under the floodlights in Brooklyn, Johnny Vander Meer pitched another no-hit, no-run game and marched into the ranks of baseball's all-time heroes. The Cincinnati Reds' boy wonder gave up eight walks to the Dodgers. Not another man reached first base.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's high commissioner, sought Vander Meer out and waggled a stern finger.

"Remember, young man," said Judge Landis, "two games don't make a ball player!" John Vander Meer nodded, promised to remember.

Johnny McCreedy Scores 3 Goals In Blue Devils' Win Over Highly-Rated Montreal Team

By DICK SHERIDAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 9.— (CP)—A habit born from playing with championship teams, no doubt, makes Johnny McCreedy the hockey player he is today. For Johnny was easily the standout when Kirkland Lake Blue Devils beat Montreal Royals 3-1 here last night and upset the Eastern Canada senior finals right at the start.

Few figured the Blue Devils would lick the highly-rated Royals, losers to Port Arthur in the Allan Cup finals a year ago. Even fewer figured that McCreedy would get three goals.

Johnny, however, is no stranger to championship hockey. He played with Winnipeg Monarch juniors when they won the Memorial Cup three years ago. He graduated to the senior Smoke Eaters the next year and that Trail B.C., club promptly won its first Allan Cup.

McCreedy remained with the Smoke Eaters as they toured Europe last year, beating everything in sight and winding up with the world's amateur title. And at this early date it appears as if Johnny might still catch himself another championship.

Royals Are Outplayed

While McCreedy got the goals and glory his teammates did a great chore in outplaying the Royals by a wide margin. Bling Bellinger, Dick Kowcinak, Hal Cooper, Stu Smith and Bobby Walton, to name a few, were denied goals by the sensational work of Andy Goldie in the Royals' net.

Kirkland Lake's victory was all the more notable considering the fact Royals got a goal in the first half minute of play. Score by Buddy O'Connor, it followed some neat passing by Gerry Hefferman and Pete Morin.

Blue Devils hit back and the big edge they held in play yielded a goal late in the period, McCreedy netting a passout from behind the net.

Only feature of a scoreless second period was the work of the Montreal defence when the Royals were shorthanded due to three penalties to Herman Murray.

Kirkland Lake moved in on the Royals to start the third and for the first two minutes Goldie turned aside dozens of shots. He even stopped the shot McCreedy flung at him before the second goal came. But there was no one to stop Johnny circling the net to pick up his own rebound and convert it into a tally with a waist-high drive.

Blue Devils were shorthanded due to a penalty to Doug Boston when McCreedy topped off his great work by stealing the puck on a Royal rush and beating Goldie from close-in.

DON CROWE

Recovering from tonsilitis, and getting his voice back, Don Crowe (above) should be in fine shape to aid the Petes tonight in their big playoff tilt in Kitchener.

Montreal Out Of O.R.F.U. Next Season

MONTREAL, April 9. — (CP)—Montreal's two senior football clubs have agreed to amalgamate and will operate one team next season, John M. Pritchard, president of Westmounts in the Ontario Rugby Football Union last year, announced last night during an address.

The team will be operated in the Interprovincial Union, where Montreal Royals operated last season, Pritchard said in a speech at a banquet given by Ernie Svard, former president of Montreal Canadiens Hockey Club, on his retirement from professional hockey.

Pritchard said a meeting of interested parties will be held within a few weeks, when plans will be completed. He added a move is under way to interest twenty Montreal sportsmen in a plan where each will post $1,000 so that past debts of the two clubs can be wiped clean.

Best players from the two teams will be picked for the new entry, Pritchard said, while several out-of-town players possibly might be imported.

Dizzy Dean Goes Five Innings Against Browns

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 9.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, making his 1940 mound debut just fifty miles from the Arkansas town where he was born, hit the comeback trail Monday in sparkling fashion in an exhibition game.

The eccentric Chicago right-hander, whose pitching career has been on the wane, went five innings against St. Louis Browns, limiting them to two hits and no runs.

While Dizzy was pitching shutout ball his teammates built up a 10-0 lead and went on to give the Browns a 15-2 beating.

Dean walked two men in the first inning, but neither advanced further than second base. Sam Harshany gleaned a single off Dizzy in the second frame, but died on first base. The Brown threatened in the third when George McQuinn walked with two out. Joe Gallagher singled, sending McQuinn to third, but Harland Clift struck out to end the inning.

The Browns went out in order in the fourth. Dean issued a walk to Joe Grace to start the fifth, then retired the next three batters on two infield pop-ups and an outfield fly.

Jake Mooty took over in the sixth and gave up three hits and two runs the rest of the way. Meanwhile the Cubs were slaughtering all offerings.

Hank Leiber accounted for three run in the first inning with a home run. Dominic Dallessandro homered in the fourth, scoring Leiber ahead of him, and Dean followed later with a double to score Bob Sturgeon, who had singled. Al Todd drove in four more runs in the fifth with a circuit smash with the bases full.

Hank Remembered

KINGSTON, April 9. — Hank Goldup, Kingston's contribution to the Maple Leaf hocky team, who starred on Saturday evening in Toronto when he scored the winning goal against the New York Rangers, certainly did not forget his father and sister in his hour of victory.

The father of the young star, as well as the sister and brother Fred, attended the game.

At the conclusion of the contest, Hank, as he is known to his local friends, presented his father with a handsome sum of money as well as a gift to his sister. The young man told his father that if he made good in the "big game" he would not forget him, and he took Saturday night as the time to express his gratitude to his parent.

Stan Smith Will Replace Alex Shibicky

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 9 (CP)—Stop before going out on a limb for Toronto Maple Leafs in the Stanley Cup finals, even though Alex Shibicky will be missing from New York Rangers' lineup tonight when the teams enter the fourth game of hockey's world series.

Manager Lester Patrick calls Stan Smith, who will replace Shibicky in the lineup, "distinctly a minor-league player." He says the loss of Shibicky, because of a sprained ankle, is a "terrific blow."

But they don't call Patrick the Silver Fox for nothing. He always has had the answer to these "terrific blows." There was that night in New York in the Stanley Cup finals of 1928 with Montreal Maroons when Lorne Chabot was injured and Patrick himself turned goaltender for the night. He blocked the best of the mighty Maroons' shots and the Rangers won the cup.

Recall Last Year

Patrick's team was supposed to be reeling out of the playoffs last year after three straight losses to Boston Bruins. Goalie Dave Kerr and Captain Art Coulter were out with injuries. Yet the wily Lester called reserves from the Philadelphia farm and the Rangers forced the round to seven games scoring three straight victories.

Smith, an amateur until this season and a farmhand with Philadelphia in the past campaign, may be a minor-leaguer but he won't be a flop. Patrick's minor leaguers don't come that way. Then, too, Smith will be used only as utility forward and Kilby MacDonald, voted the No. 1 rookie of the year, probably will work in Shibicky's spot.

The Leafs will make a change in their lineup, too, because of the hip and groin wound that has bothered defenceman Jack Church since the preliminary playoff round with Chicago. Reg. Hamilton will replace him beside Wally Stanowski, unless Church shakes off some of the soreness that still handicapped him in practice yesterday.

Play To Start In Cup Soccer Next Saturday

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).—It will be "cup-tie day" in Old England on Saturday, April 13, but for Third Division teams only. The winners of the preliminary struggles which will be "sudden-death" affairs, will go into the first round, a home-and-home series, to be played April 20 and 27, along with First and Second Division squads. The second round will also be conducted on the home and-home plan, May 4 and 11, but in subsequent stages of the competition the surviving teams will revert to single games. Never befeore has English Cup games been played on the home-and-home principle. Among the notable absentees from cup competition are Derby County and Aston Villa, and of course, Sunderland, which team was dibanded at the outbreak of hostilities. As a result of the Cup Series, English League football will be considerably curtailed this week-end but all Scottish League and Irish teams will be in action, as usual. Saturday's schedule follows:

HUNT FOR SURE ENTRIES

ENTRIES into the dummy or your own hand are the vital factors in determining the fate of a great percentage of all contracts. A brief glance will sometimes reveal a probable way of getting from one hand to the other. A bit longer study, however, may show an absolutely certain means which was not apparent at first sight.

	♠ 10 9 ♥ A K Q J 6 ♦ Q 10 5 ♣ 7 5 3
♠ J 7 3 ♥ 10 7 4 3 ♦ 8 4 ♣ J 10 8 6	W. N. E. S.	♠ 8 6 5 ♥ 9 8 5 2 ♦ K J 9 7 ♣ 4 2
	♠ A K Q 4 2 ♥ None ♦ A 6 3 2 ♣ A K Q 9

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 NT

Without even a singleton in his partner's suit, South was taking a high, wide and handsome chance in using the Blackwood convention and then jumping to the small slam in No Trump. As it happens, the grand slam is a laydown at hearts, though North surely cannot be blamed for not bidding it. He had every right to presume, from the bidding, that South had a singleton heart, which would have made No Trump safe, in view of his own solid-looking suit.

If West had led a diamond, the contract would have been doomed, but he picked the club J. South won, then led to the diamond Q, trying to get into dummy to run the hearts. He won the club return after East took the second trick with the K, then led to the diamond 10, losing to the J. He never did get into the dummy, and finished losing a third diamond.

Just a moment of greater study would have shown that spades offered a sure entry. A small spade lead to the second trick was the key to the hand. If West took this, six-odd would be made. If he ducked, the declarer could run all of the tricks.

With North and South using short-suit Club bids and "negative No Trumps," if North bids 1-Club here, South 1-No Trump, West doubles and North redoubles, what should East do?

Britain Cuts Butter, Bacon Imports 30 p.c. From Scandinavia As Reserves Mount

LONDON, April 9 — (CP). — Mounting reserves of butter and bacon, together with heavy orders from Empire countries, have resulted in a reduction in imports of these commodities from the Scandinavian states.

The reduction is reported to be approximately 30 per cent. of recent shipments. Denmark alone is cutting down her bacon exports to the United Kingdom by 20,000 hundredweight weekly, and what she does ship is coming at the pre-war price of slightly under 100 shillings ($22) a hundredweight.

There is little danger of surplus butter and bacon from Scandinavia finding its way to Germany as Britain has trade agreements stipulating that exports to the Reich must not exceed pre-war levels.

These trade agreements with the Scandinavian countries are effective for three months, although there is provision for termination on two weeks' notice.

Had Sick Stomach, Headaches Backache—Praises Syntona

Says It Brought Relief After Everything Else He Tried Had Failed, Nerves Are Better; Appetite Improved; Bowels Regular and Sleep Is More Restful.

MR. PERCY CONNOR.

"After the results I have had from Syntona, I will surely recommend it to any person who suffers like I did," said Mr. Percy H. Connor, 53 Market Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

"My stomach was so upset that often I would vomit up everything I had eaten. I would feel nauseated and have awful cramps. For two years I had suffered with frequent headaches and pains in my back. The only thing that gave me any relief from the pains were codeine tablets. I often had dizzy, bilious spells and my bowels were irregular. Although I slept very soundly, I would arise in the mornings feeling fatigued right from the beginning of the day.

"I had used every medicine I knew of without any real relief when a friend told me about how Syntona had helped him and I decided to try it. Right from the first bottle, my stomach felt better and I could eat regular meals and enjoy them. Now, after a few weeks on this medicine, the pains have gone out of my back and I am free of headaches and dizzy spells. My bowels are regular and my sleep is more restful."

Syntona produces these results without the aid of opiates or depressors. It is made only from the pure juices of 12 herbs, roots and barks. It promotes proper assimilation of foods for energy and resistance and it rids the system of excess acids and irritating waste matter.

Come to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and find out for yourself all about this grand new medicine that is helping so many people. —(Advt.)

MARINES STORM NARVIK

BATTLE RAGES IN SKAGERRAK

Naval Units Attack Iron Ore Port 2nd Time In Day

LONDON, April 10—(CP).—A reliable neutral source today said it had learned that units of the Royal Navy had forced an entrance to Narvik Fjord in Northern Norway and that Marines are now being landed.

It was indicated that the British destroyer flotilla, which earlier had engaged a German naval force in the Fjord and withdrawn, had returned.

However, naval men said such an action could be regarded as highly feasible. They explained that the heavy damage inflicted earlier on German destroyers—one was sunk and three set afire—would make the port extremely vulnerable to a renewed attack by a fresh British force.

In the dawn encounter, described to the House of Commons by Prime Minister Chamberlain, five British destroyers attacked a larger force of German craft which was supported by land artillery. The Royal Navy lost two destroyers, one sunk and one driven aground.

Battles At Several Points.

BERLIN, April 10—(AP).—German air squadrons are engaging in battles with the British navy "at several points" in the northern part of the North Sea, the German news agency reported today.

The agency said German scouting planes first encountered the British units, then warned fighting plane squadrons which went to the attack.

DIRECTS NAVAL BATTLE.

LONDON, April 10 (CP)—From the famous map room of the Admiralty the chief naval strategist of the second great war, Winston Churchill, deployed his forces today as what was believed to be the greatest sea battle since Jutland raged off Norway's stormy coast.

The first lord of the admiralty, in full charge of Britain's defence forces, maintained a ceaseless vigil throughout the night in the room where the Empire's naval strategy is decided. No word came from the dark-gray building, officially, the battle, which a flow of unofficial reports said developed yesterday after Germany's invasion of Norway, was not in progress.

Mr. Churchill yesterday did not appear in the House of Commons where Prime Minister Chamberlain announced the extension of "full aid" to invaded Norway. He remained at the admiralty, in full charge of an engagement that may decide the course of the war.

German Reinforcements Pour Into Norway, Berlin Admits 2 Warships Lost Boasts Allies Can Never Get Into Scandinavia

BERLIN, April 10—(AP).—Germany announced today she had lost two cruisers under the fire of Norwegian coastal batteries in landing troops in Norway yesterday, but claimed that despite this resistance a "mutually satisfactory" agreement with Norway would be reached within a few hours.

A high command communique showed that the Norwegians fought bitterly before the Germans effected occupation of Narvik, Trondheim, Bergen, Stavanger, Egersund, Kristiansand, Arendal and Oslo.

The German Minister to Norway had an audience with King Haakon at noon (6 a.m., EST) to determine who is responsible for governing Norway, an official announcement said.

It is clear the Germans do not regard the government proclaimed yesterday by the Norwegian Nazi leader, Major Vikdun Quisling, as necessarily the new government. They suggest he proclaimed it without authorization and that Germany may come to terms with the government of Premier Johan Nygaardsvold.

Germany disclaimed interest in both Iceland and Greenland, which are under the Danish Crown, despite the occupation of Denmark.

The German cruisers acknowledged lost under Norwegian coastal fire were the 10,000-ton Bluecher, a vessel completed only last August, sunk in Oslofjord, and the 13-year-old 6,000-ton Karlsruhe, sunk similarly at Kristiansand after safeguarding the landing of troops.

Within a few hours after Adolf Hitler's troops occupied the ancient capitals of Oslo and Copenhagen in a lightning move, Nazi warplanes took off from Scandinavian airdromes yesterday afternoon, attacked Allied warships west of Bergen, and inflicted what the German high command described as "heavy losses."

All threat of resistance apparently was ended in Denmark. The German news agency, D.N.B., said the only show of resistance had occurred about six miles from the frontier, where Danish soldiers barricaded themselves in a building.

Norwegian Troops Make Stand At Elverum Refuge Site Of Royalty And Cabinet; 3 Nazi Ships Sunk In Scrap South Of Narvik

LONDON, April 10.—(CP).—The Royal Navy was reported to-night to have penetrated the strategic Skagerrak, the entrance to the Baltic Sea, and to have sunk two German transports and a German destroyer in a battle just outside Swedish territorial waters.

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(AP).—Norwegian troops defending their government and its new capital fought a fierce battle with invading German troops and planes to-day at the town of Elverum, 75 miles north of Oslo on the Swedish frontier, according to advices reaching here.

About 200 Norwegians were reported killed and wounded, while German losses were not immediately known.

The Germans were reported sending reinforcements to Elverum speedily, but the town still had not been occupied by 4.30 p.m. (10.30 a.m. EST).

Volunteers joined the regular Norwegian troops to defend the new capital from the invaders. The Royal Family and the Government of Premier Johan Nygaardsvold had moved to Elverum from Hamar, whither it had gone yesterday just ahead of the German occupation of Oslo.

LONDON, April 10.—(CP).—The Stockholm radio announced to-night that a great sea battle is raging outside Swedish territorial waters near Marstrand, on the strategic Skagerrak.

A large fleet of German transport ships was reported to have been dispersed by the British navy.

Marstrand is in the mouth of the Kattegat, dividing Denmark from Sweden.

British units to reach this area must have broken through the Skaggerak from the North Sea. The Germans yesterday were reported to have mined the entrance to the Skaggerak.

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(AP).— Distress signals from the German steamship Curityba far up in Oslo Fjord to-day indicated that Germany might not be in complete control of the deep Fjord leading to Norway's

Swedes Promise Neutrality At Hitler's Threats; Writer Reveals Oslo Surrendered To Force Of But 400 Nazis Landed By Plane

STOCKHOLM, April 10—(AP).—Norway, in the middle of a fight between two would-be protectors—Germany and the Allies—and with her own ranks divided, today faced the likelihood that her terrain would become the northern front of the European war.

Almost helpless, shorn of the chance of active aid from Sweden, Norway's only real hope of fighting German invasion lay in Allied promises which were in turn contingent upon a struggle for control of the approaches to her shores.

Under pressure of a demarche from Germany, Sweden promised Adolf Hitler strict neutrality but reserved full freedom to take measures deemed necessary for maintenance of that neutrality. Sweden is Norway's next door neighbor, linked to her by 1,000 miles of land frontier and long collaboration in foreign policy.

Foreign Minister Per Albin Hansson announced last night that Germany had asked Sweden to pursue a neutral course and that Sweden had agreed.

The refugee Norwegian Government at Hamar, 60 miles north of German-occupied Oslo, denied it had resigned in favor of the German-controlled regime set up at Oslo under 53-year-old Major Vikdun Quisling, one-time Defence Minister and father of Norway's Nazi party.

Premier Johan Nygaardsvold, at Hamar, ordered a flat denial yesterday that it had stepped out and he sought to rally Norwegians not already under Nazi domination to oppose the German encroachment.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Stockholm early today said the Norwegian parliament had named a committee of three to negotiate "an agreement with German authorities"—this apparently based on a Norwegian news agency report which said that the parliament had met at a small town, near Hamar, to take this action.)

(The dispatch went on to detail the ceremonies in which the action was said to have been taken, quoting Nygaardsvold as saying, in part

2 British Destroyers Lost, 2 Damaged In Narvik Action

LONDON, April 10.—(CP Cable)—Scant reports of a big sea battle, fought since yesterday along the storm-tossed Norwegian coast, gave evidence of the Allied fleets' success today—success in a least the early stages of an engagement whose extent is unknown to the man ashore.

This much is known: Two German cruisers, the Bluecher and the Karlsruhe, are at the bottom of the sea. British destroyers withdrew from the fjord leading to the northern port of Narvik leaving one German destroyed believed sunk, three others hit and burning, and seven auxiliary vessels on the bottom.

In the Narvik action, described brief to a cheering House of Commons by Prime Minister Chamberlain, Britain lost two destroyers, the Hunter and the Hardy, and two others, the Hotspur and the Hostile were hit.

But Germany lost seven merchant vessels loaded with stores vital to her land forces occupying the port. That meant that at least 10 German ships—naval or merchantment—have been destroyed against the loss of two British destroyers. Counting the three destroyers mentioned by Mr. Chamberlain as left hit and burning in Narvik harbor, the German casualty list becomes 13.

Battle Continues

There was every indication that the battle—or series of engagements—was still going on, a battle possible to conceive as taking rank in decisive effect with that of Jutland in 1916, which ended German naval power—except for submarine piracy—in the first Great War.

But its nature and extent were not known today and may not be revealed until Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, makes a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow on the naval activity of today and yesterday as a whole.

The Narvik action and the sinking of the 10,00-ton Bluecher and the 6,000-ton Karlsruhe—acknowledged by the German high command—and the Royal Air Force attack on German warships in Bergen harbor, were three definite matters of known fact from a long and storm-shrouded battle front.

Premier Paul Reynaud of France told the senate in parts today that "a great battle is going on in the North Sea" and that more than half the German navy "has exposed itself to the British home fleet and

General Odlum Distrusted Peace Of 1918

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP)—For 20 years the commander of the Second Division of the Canadian Active Service Force, Brigadier-General Victor W. Odlum, has seen the present war coming, and for 20 years he has been schooling himself mentally and keeping his sturdy frame in condition for a part in it.

In an exclusive interview with The Canadian Press General Odlum revealed his thought on the war, his conviction that the Allied cause will triumph in the end and his ideas about the big task ahead in fitting for combat and leading a division of Canadian troops.

A vigorous, grey-haired man of 60 years, the general has a prominent jaw, a firm mouth and a keen eye. He is about medium neight, like Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the First Division, but a little heavier.

Suspect Hitler Feinting In Norse Coup

LONDON, April 10—(CP).—Britain's press said today that Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway put the case of "brute versus civilization" clearly before the world.

"This is a supreme testing time for the British government," said the Daily Herald.

"This will not be a Czecho-Slovakia or Poland for Hitler," said the Daily Mail.

The Daily Express said:

"Once again we see the brutality of Hitler. Once again we have a warning of the German capacity for swift, ruthless and well-organized action. But this time Britain can strike back. An expeditionary force of 100,000 men was ready to go to Finland—those men, and more, could be made available for the defence of Norway.

"Hitler's invasions are a gamble. They may turn out to be his biggest blunders.

"Is Norway his real objective? It may be that Hitler has no intention of establishing a large force in that country. The invasion may be a

All Dutch Lights Burn Night, Day

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, April 10 — (AP). — Netherlands defence measures were stepped up to-day and her street lights kept blazing night and day to show the warring Powers that the lowland nation is not a blacked-out belligerent.

Military defence measures, inspired by the sudden German invasion of two other neutrals, Norway and Denmark, seemed to be as great as those taken last November when the Netherlands prepared to open her dikes if necessary to repell an invasion.

Narvik Invaded By Whalers, 2 Norse Warships Surprised and Torpedoed

STOCKHOLM, April 10—(AP).—Streams of refugees from Denmark crossed Oresunk Strait to Sweden today, many of them mothers with small children.

They fled the German occupation in any kind of boat since regular ferry traffic was at a standstill. Fishermen were asking 200 Swedish crowns ($46) for the trip which ordinarily costs half a crown (12 cents).

The fugitives reported four large German warships were in Copenhagen harbor.

Norway lost her two largest warships, the antiquated 4,166-ton coast defence ships Norge and Eidsvold, and 500 men in the short-lived resistance which preceded the German capture of Narvik yesterday morning, according to the refugees.

The Northern Norwegian ore port itself, they said, was occupied without a fight by German troops who had previously been brought secretly into the harbor in whaling vessels. The refugees gave this account of the capture:

A Norwegian Customs officer boarded a German whale oil boiler ship for the usual inspection, but was prevented by the Germans from returning to shore to give the alarm that the vessel was actually a troop transport.

Just One Shot.

The Narvik populace was awakened at dawn by a warning shot fired from the 40-year-old Norge when two German destroyers loomed out of the dense snow and fog in the outer harbor.

The Germans replied by torpedoing the Norge. Her sister ship, the

Norse and Danes To Go On U.S. Cash, Carry Plan

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt and his chief advisers on foreign affairs formulated executive decrees today to adapt United States neutrality to Nazi Germany's "Protectorate" over Denmark and Norway.

State secretary Cordell Hull and his undersecretary Sumner Welles, virtually finished work on a series of orders, some of them designed to invoke the neutrality act's "cash and carry" and no-credits restrictions against the two Scandinavian nations.

Government attorney's meanwhile, studied the complicated question of whether the full force of the neutrality act should be applied with a proclamation designating the two erstwhile neutrals as belligerents. Technicalities beset the problem.

In Denmark's case, for instance, there had been actually no war.

Nazi Blitzkrieg Threatens Norse Oil Fleet

TULSA, April 10 (AP) — Germany's thrust into Scandinavia has brought her within striking distance of control of the third largest fleet of oil tankers in the world.

Oil, the fuel power behind air and sea attack, is considered by some sources here as one motive for the Nazi's Blitzkrieg against Denmark and Norway.

Norway, with North Sea routes to Central America's Oil supplies, has 262 tankers in her registry, with a total tonnage of 2,957,000. This is exceeded only by Great Britain and the United States.

It is possible, however, that Scandinavian ships may transfer to Panama registry.

Britain has been obtaining much of its oil imports from Venezuela, via the Dutch West Indies, and it is doubtful if such a source would be open to the Nazis.

At the same time, oil sources suggest that Germany's position with Scandinavian Sea bases for oil importation would be much

Danes Carry On Normal Life

COPENHAGEN (via Berlin) April 10 (CP)—Denmark awoke this morning to her second day under German military control and, except for soldiers in the streets and newspapers devoted to Nazi proclamations and German news agency reports, gave such a show of normal life that recollection of flights of bombers over the city yesterday seemed almost like a dream.

In an address to the Danish parliament last night Premier Thovald Stauning declared that Denmark had accepted the situation in order "to save the land and the people from the consequences of war."

Allies To Hold Any Norse-Nazi Deal As Forced–Will Continue All Aid

LONDON, April 10.—(CP)—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax declared today that the Allies will fight for "defenceless Norway" regardless of any Norwegian negotiations with Germany, which would be regarded as taken "under duress."

He said he did not know whether the report that Norway is ready to negotiate with Germany was well founded, but he added that in any event the Allies would continue to fight for Norway. "You can take it from me," he said, "that the British navy is not idle."

He said Germany's motive for driving into Scandinavia might "well be the result of some internal weakness in Germany," and added that "it is not likely to be an unmixed advantage to Germany."

"The mighty war machine of Britain and France," said Lord Halifax, "in my humble judgment must in the end prove irresistible."

Lord Halifax turned to the question of Russia, saying: "The future of our relations with Russia must depend more than anything else upon the degree of effective help that she may for whatever reason wish to give to Germany."

"The fact that the more defenceless of Germany's neighbors has been chosen for this aggression is quite in keeping with the conventional behavior of a bully who prefers to choose as objects of his attacks those who are not sufficiently powerful to defend themselves," he continued.

He said Britain or France "at any moment in the last six month" could have occupied any port in Norway.

"This kind of thing is liable to happen if neutral states are not prepared to ask in time for help. They

Iceland Parliament Takes Full Control As Huns Shackle Danish King's Power

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, April 10 (AP)—The parliament of Iceland, oldest in the world, today took full control of this northern nation's foreign affairs in view of the German occupation of Denmark, to which Iceland is linked by the Danish crown.

A resolution adopted unanimously said that the situation created by the German invasion of Denmark made it impossible for King Christian X, monarch of both Iceland and Denmark, to exercise his royal powers.

"The Icelandic parliament declares that the ministry of Iceland until further notice is entrusted with the conduct of said powers," the resolution declared.

Denmark's principal part in administering Icelandic affairs was in foreign relations and fisheries inspection within territorial waters under the Danish-Icelandic union.

Political parties supporting the coalition government held several meetings yesterday in advance of the meeting of parliament.

LONDON, April 10 (CP)—The British-French Allies stated authoritatively today that they had every intention of preventing any German landing on Iceland, Greenland or the Faroe Islands, all under Danish rule.

(Germans today disclaimed any intention to occupy them.)

MOSCOW.—(AP)—Soviet newspapers carried long accounts of the German-Allied struggle over Norway today but refrained from editorial comment.

R.A.F. Busy Scouting German Setup In Norse Ports, Damage 3 Heinkels

LONDON, April 10.—(CP)—An air ministry announcement said units of the Royal Air Force were busy all afternoon along the Norwegian coast and "several aircraft were engaged by enemy machines.

Most of the air activity was reconnaissance, the announcement said.

"One British flier reported that he skimmed over Stavanger airdrome just after dawn at a height of only 50 feet, also over the town," it went on.

"It is asserted that the pilot counted every one of a number of German craft at the field. The town appeared asleep, and only as he returned was the alarm given. Anti-aircraft guns fired and a Heinkel gave chase.

"Several aircraft were engaged by enemy machines as they carried out tasks over towns, fjords, harbors and sea routes of the invaded country.

"One British crew, having finished their reconnaissance, gave their whole attention to an enemy Heinkel and pursued it for half an hour. They put two good bursts of machine-gun fire into the centre of the Heinkel and when they next attacked there was no return fire from the German air gunner.

"He appeared to have fallen forward over his gun, either wounded or killed. After a further persistent attack a stream of vapor trailed from the rear of the Heinkel and its pilot gained shelter of a cloud just in time to avoid further damage."

Two other Heinkels were damaged in fights with R.A.F. planes.

Price Of Cheese Is Said Too Low For Producers

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told a delegation from the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association at a conference yesterday that negotiations at present were taking place between British and Canadian authorities regarding sale of Canadian cheese in Great Britain. "I am confident that the results will be favorable," he said.

Headed by S. L. Joss, secretary, the delegation protested the price of cheese reported fixed by the British Ministry of foods at a maximum of 80 shillings per long hundredweight. This would amount in Canada to 13¾ cents a pound at the factory, it was claimed.

The price fixed by the British Ministry would be unprofitable due to the price of feeds, supplies and other factors entering into cost of production which have gone up since start of the war, delegates said.

Lord Halifax said Denmark had accepted a non-agression pact Germany to be "valid for 10 years and it was made not quite 10 months ago." He said Norway had been careful to give Germany no cause for offence.

"It is therefore clear that neither non-agression pacts nor the absence of provocation is of the least avail against German policy," he continued.

"I find it difficult to believe that even Dr. Goebbels (German propaganda minister) with his vast experience of room for manoeuvre in the field of credulity can suppose that world opinion will recognize as reasonable reprisals against this country (Britain) action of which the immediate object is the destruction of two other countries' independence."

Lord Halifax asserted the Norwegian foreign minister was right in saying that the Allies had no intention of taking any such measures as the Germans had taken in Norway.

"The truth is," he continued, "that in face of this kind of action nobody who is not in a position to defend themselves is safe. The behavior of Germany is really that of a homicidal maniac or of a mad dog that runs about biting where it may."

Lord Halifax said that the German invasion of Norway and Denmark—if anything had been needed to stiffen British and French resolution—would have done so.

"Plainly this war is not merely a struggle between the belligerents nor will the issue affect them alone," he said. "More and more it is plain, that on this issue of war hangs the fate not only of those now at war but of all peoples who love liberty and wish to preserve their independence."

the French fleet." Viscount Halifax assured an audience that "the British navy is not idle." Mr. Chamberlain said that he hoped the First Lord of the Admiralty would make "a general statement on the naval aspect of the war" tomorrow. Until then, for those out of the sound of gunfire, the exploits of the silent service may be unknown in any detail.

Information reaching here through Sweden concerning Germany's first attack on Narvik said Norway's two largest warships, the 4,166-ton Norge and Eidsvold, were sunk with a loss of 500 lives. The ships were old and of little value against modern warships.

Direct Hit on Cruiser.

The Royal Air Force attack on the Germans at Bergen was announced in a statement which said a direct hit had been scored on a cruiser of the 6,000-ton Koln class and that others were probably damaged.

One of the seven auxiliaries caught in Narvik by the Royal Navy's destroyers was an ammunition-carrier.

The German destroyer force at Narvik, which Mr. Chamberlain said included six of the "latest and largest type," was left 'in no position to attempt pursuit."

The British destroyers steamed into Narvik Fjord to engage the German craft. They came into fire from German guns newly mounted ashore.

The British destroyer Hunter was sunk and the Hardy was damaged so severely that she had to be run ashore and became a wreck," Mr. Chamberlain said, the Hotspur received serious damage and the Hostile slight damage, while the Havoc was untouched.

The German destroyer "torpedoed and believed sunk" was a 1,600-ton vessel. It was believed the others left burning were of the same type.

An Admiralty communique issued before Mr. Chamberlain's statement in the House—which contained later information on the Narvik battle—reported the torpedoing of an enemy cruiser off southern Norway last night, and the belief she was sunk.

Another Admiralty communique said there was an unconfirmed report from Stockholm that a German cruiser had been sunk, apparently in the Narvik fight.

Ten minutes after the Eidsvold went down with her colors flying, German troops landed and ran up the Swastika on all official buildings and once in the town of Narvik they met no opposition.

Refugees, who continued to arrive in Stockholm by every train, said one unidentified British steamship had been sunk in Narvik harbor.

They estimated German troops strength in the Narvik area to be about 2,000 and said the Germans had told them they had been on their way to Norway four days.

Germany's occupation was "peaceful." In view of this, does a state of war exist to justify a "belligerent" proclamation under the neutrality act?

The situation in Norway was not so clear. The initial resistance to the Nazi invasion, however, produced a state akin to war.

Under Nazi Rule Now.

One thing appeared certain. A sizeable portion of Norway and all of Denmark have passed under German control and for administrative purposes constitute a part of Hitler's Third Reich, at least for the present.

As a consequence, it was considered unlikely that the government would permit further American exports to Denmark or Norway on any but a cash and carry basis or that credits to the two countries would be continued.

Germany's assumption of a "protectorate" over Denmark and Norway may have the unexpected effect of facilitating settlement of some outstanding questions between the United States and Great Britain.

British and French experts have been discussing with officials here a rationing system for imports of Germany's neighboring neutrals, such as Denmark and Norway.

With both these nations incorporated in Germany's administrative system, exports to them may be considered contraband by the allies, thus making United States acceptance of the rationing system easier.

Oslo Yields to 400 Germans

A Swedish journalist who witnessed occupation of Oslo said it was carried out by 400 Germans after a four-hour miniature Blitzkrieg.

He said that on his way to Oslo yesterday morning he saw several trains filled with civilians fleeing the capital. He said he found only surprise and indignation that "the Englishmen have provoked a German attack evidently without being able to take the consequences."

There were two air alarms the night before and when the second was ended Oslo was in German hands. German warships steamed up Oslo Fjord, passing Oskarsborg fortress. The newspaperman said one cruiser was so damaged by fire from the fort that it had to be driven aground.

At Fornebo airport two German and several Norwegian planes were shot down. At one time 180 German planes were in the air.

The newspaperman said it was reported that 120 Norwegain soldiers had been killed while fighting the Germans, but that the reports could not be verified.

They declared that German transport planes had landed about 400 troops at airports near Oslo and that the force, well armed with machine-guns and hand-grenades, had then marched on the capital.

The troop column was preceded, the journalist reported, by several automobiles occupied by both German and Norwegian officers—a sign of capitulation which he said was forced by Nazi threats to fire upon civilians in the city streets.

Later the police chief of Oslo called upon the people to continue with their regular operations.

The only Norwegian authorities remaining in the capital when the Germans took over were the central police copps, the journalist said.

Two-Hour Military Coup Sees Denmark Stunned But Resigned To Nazi Rule

COPENHAGEN, 7:50 a.m., April 9 (via Berlin) (Delayed)—Germany today took control of the affairs of the entire kingdom of Denmark after a swift, relentless two-hour military coup which left the nation stunned but apparently resigned to German rule.

By land, sea and air the Reich's green-clad legions swept into the little kingdom, crushing slight opposition in Jutland and at an airport just outside Copenhagen.

A sleepy-eyed German machine-gunner—his head sticking out of a shallow hole in the lawn near the east railroad station — gave many Copenhagen east siders the first news of the German occupation this morning.

Installed In Copenhagen

Danes who had gone to bed with alarming news from Oslo and the Skagerrak pouring from their radios awoke today to find German troopers installed at strategic points of Copenhagen. Barricades were set up at the free port where many Germans landed. Machine-guns guarded approaches to those places.

On east side streets tired-looking German sentries stood on corners near the railway station, re-routing traffic. One of the soldiers, asked how many Germans had entered Denmark replied, "200,000," but he smiled when he said it.

So swift was the Nazi thrust that the everyday life was virtually undisturbed—for Danes, that is. Scores of British and French were trapped when the advancing Germans cut all means of communication and transportation.

Americans flooded into the United States consulate, seeking passports and visas.

Refrain From Resistance

A proclamation by King Christian and Premier Stauning declared that Reich troops would "take up a connection with the Danish army" and that it is the duty of the Danish population to "refrain from every resistance" to the Nazis.

RAF Pounds Nazi Warships In Norse Ports

LONDON, April 10 — (CP). — One British destroyer was sunk and another ran aground with undetermined loss of life to-day in an attack on German forces holding the Arctic Norwegian port of Narvik as a series of naval and air battles raged up and down the Norwegian coast.

The remainder of the British forces withdrew from Narvik, the Admiralty said, adding German losses there were not known.

The Admiralty reported, however, that a German cruiser was torpedoed and believed sunk by a British submarine off the southern Norwegian coast last night, and bombing planes scored hits on another German cruiser off Bergen, southwestern Norway.

The Admiralty communique follows:

'British destroyers attacked enemy forces in Narvik at dawn today and encountered strong opposition. H.M.S. Hunter was sunk and H.M.S. Hardy ran ashore. The remainder withdrew.

"No details of casualties on these ships are yet available, but complete lists will be published as soon as possible and the next of kin may be assured that they will be informd by tlgram without dlay.

Cruiser Sent Down.

"Enemy losses are not yet known for certain, but there is an unconfirmed report from Stockholm that a German cruiser was sunk. One of our submarines torpedoed an enemy cruiser off south Norway last night and it is thought that the cruiser was sunk.

"Bombers of the Air Force attacked an enemy cruiser off Bergen last night and attained one hit. Bombers of the Fleet air arm also attacked an enemy cruiser in Bergen this morning and attained three hits."

The Hunter, a destroyer of 1,335-tons displacement with a normal complement of 175 men, was launched in 1936. Her armaments included four 4.7 inch guns, six smaller guns, an eight 21-inch torpedoes.

The Hardy, also built in 1936, is of 1,505 tons displacement, and is armed and manned similarly to the Hunter.

The Hunter was damaged by an insurgent plane May 13, 1937, while on neutrality patrol during the Spanish war.

Upon the outcome of the British fleet action depended the possibility the British-French Allies getting an expeditionaly force immediately into Norway, which with Denmark was invaded yesterday in a German coup.

LONDON, April 10.—(CP).—A British communique said to-day that British warships had attacked German warships in Bergen harbor, on Norway's west coast, and registered a direct hit on a cruiser of the Koln class (6,000 tons), and probably damaged others. The communique said:

"German warships lying off Bergen were attacked and bombed yesterday evening by the Royal Air Force bombing command.

"One large cruiser was hit by a heavy bomb and other warships were believed damaged.

"The attack was made by relays of aircraft in quick succession and was delivered by a strong force of long range bombers in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire from the warships."

"A series of level bombing attacks were made by aircraft flying in sections in line astern, the principal targets being two large cruisers and two destroyers lying at anchor in Bergen Roadstead.

"In the failing light accurate observation of results was difficult, but one heavy bomb was seen to register a direct hit on the after part of a large cruiser of the Koln class. Other warships are believed to have been damaged.

"Despite the intense fire to which they were subjected all our aircraft returned safely, making a night landing at their bases after a flight of approximately eight hours' duration."

Supply Ministry Is Headed By C. D. Howe

OTTAWA, April 10 — (CP). — Transport Minister Howe will head a new Department of Munitions and Supply in addition to carrying on as Transport Minister, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night following a cabient meeting.

The new department of Government, authorized by Parliament at the emergency war session last September, will supersede the War Supply Board, which so far has spent some $142,000,000 on wartime construction and supplies.

The official statement declared that the new department "will assume the contracts and work of the War Supply Board, including the responsibility of acting as purchasing agents in Canada for the British and French Governments. It has been provided that the practice to be followed by the new department will be similar to that established during the initial period by the War Supply Board, including

Old Pupils Hold Fathers' Night

Three veteran Peterborough residents who were pupils in the first Ashburnham School in the year 1863 were guests of honor at a Home and School Association meeting at King George School on Tuesday evening.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the Association, but was Fathers' Night, and the men arranged to have all former pupils of the school attend and enjoy an interesting program. Actually it was a reunion for old school girls and boys, and the affair was a distinct success. Max Swanston, with a committee composed of Hurrell Dodds, Jack Barrie, Morgan Cullen, Bill Thompson and Charles English, had charge of the program, and had Alex Kay, well-known baseball umpire of this city, give an address on birds, their habits, peculiarities and contribution to man. His talk was both interesting and educational, and added much to the well-balanced program... The speaker was introduced by H. Dodds, and a vote of thanks was voiced by James Burgess.

Max Swanston was chairman and called the roll with each of the former pupils rising as their names were called. Frank Adams, former city treasurer, Harry Evans, and John Paulette all attended the first school in Ashburnham which was located on the east side of Mark Street, just south of Hunter, where M. Mulcahy's house now stands. Each of the three spoke briefly and expressed their pleasure at meeting so many old friends. Ed. Wand, another veteran, who attended the second school which is now part of the Immaculate Conception school, also spoke for a few minutes.

The second school was used from 1663, when the first was abandoned, until 1913 when the present King George School was completed.

Miss Annie Wood, who taught the Third Book in the old school, was called on to speak for a few minutes, and she assisted in the draw for prizes which were won by Mrs. Ben McNeeley (Westclox clock) and Mrs. Sam McCauley (Quaker Oats).

R. M. Glover suggested that the former pupils should hold a reunion and the audience gave full suport to this proposal.

George Nicholls led the group in community singing and a quartette composed of L. Cunningham, Max Pomeroy, Victor Boorman, and G. Nicholls, sang.

F. E. Kerr, principal of the King George School, extended a warm welcome to the gathering, and Mrs. T. L. Ashton, president of the Home and School Association, presided at the business portion of the meeting and congratulated the men on the success of the evening.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting by a committee headed by Mrs. M. Cullen and Mrs. M. Seymour, assisted by Mrs. F. Storey, Mrs. Fraser Watson, Mrs. G. Lathangue, Mrs. J. Payne, and Mrs. H. Lang.

The former pupils who answered the roll-call were:

Frank Adams, Hurrell Dodds, Vic Hamilton, Mrs. E. Lillico, Max Swanston, John Paulette, Mrs. F. Barry, Jim Burgess, Mrs. Alexander Long, Mrs. B. Morrison, Mrs. J. Burgess, Bill Thompson, E. PARADISE IS HERE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

SYNOPSIS:

THE CHARACTERS:

ROMANY HAILE, who want to be a radio star.

CHOLLY O'NEILL, her pal, who plays in a music store.

BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.

MYRA NOYES, famous radio star, engaged to Brent.

TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.

BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.

YESTERDAY: Brent introduces Cholly and Romany to Dover Hayworth, blueblooded son of a wealthy manufacturer, and all four go for a cruise on the Hayworth yacht.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

ROMANY HAD enjoyed a few holidays with Aunt Cissie, so that she was not entirely unprepared for the luxury of the Hayworth yacht. But to Cholly it was fairyland.

Dinner, served on a table for four on deck, was a rite. Dover was a perfect host, and Brent was in his gayest mood. After Cholly's first self-consciousness wore off, she ate with relish, enjoying herself immensely.

Romany she envied, sitting opposite her, looking like a princess who had stepped out of her castle for a little sail on Lake Michigan. No one would ever have suspected that she had grown up without a thin dime, and was even then garbed in hand-me-downs from a rich relative.

Nice things always happened to Romany, Cholly thought, but entirely without envy. She was so generous in wanting to share everything with her less fortunate friends. Cholly firmly believed Romany had launched on an entirely new life that was to bring her success and fortune. Nothing could stop Romey, with her great talent and beauty. Terry, Cholly pushed firmly in the back of her mind, determined to take a vacation from her worries at least for one evening.

By the time they had finished dinner, it had grown chilly on deck and Dover suggested they go into the lounge. It was the opportunity Brent had been hoping for. He wanted to hear Cholly play.

"How about a little music?" he said inside. "I always feel like singing when I get on the water."

"Heaven forbid!" Dover grinned. "He sings like a trumpheting elephant. My sense of harmony, now, that's what you ought to get a load of."

"If you air that bar room tenor," Nelson predicted darkly, "the girls will both jump overboard. And I'll probably join them."

"Play, Cholly," Romany threw herself gracefully into a chair by the piano. "I haven't heard you since we were in school."

Cholly sat down without hesitation, running her little hands over the keyboard, getting the tone of the instrument. It was perfect. She sighed happily, breaking into a medley of old songs. "Sweet and Low" "Sailing, Sailing, Over the Bounding Main," "By the Sea," and ending up with "Barnacle Bill the Sailor."

The lovely tones filled the lounge and the bright moonlight night. Cholly, improvising happily because it was seldom she got her hands on a really good piano, played on for several minutes without stopping.

Brent, catching Romany's eye, nodded. She was a fine pianist, no doubt of it. In a little while, Dover moved to the piano bench beside Cholly, watching her, fascinated. He loved music, and it was amazing that two such small white hands could bring so much beauty from a piano. They looked so fragile, yet were strong and sure on the keyboard.

"Marvelous!" Dover looked at the pretty red-head with a new interest when she stopped playing. "Do you do concert work?"

"Mercy, no!" Cholly shook her curly head swiftly, laughing. I play the piano part time in Leo Dane's music store.

Romany was a little sorry she had said it. But if Dover's illusions were shattered, he gave no sign.

"Well, blow me down!" he said wonderingly. "You certainly pound out a powerful lot of melody with those little pinkies. You've got a great future ahead of you, Cholly."

Cholly sighed:

"Oh, no. Nothing like that. Piano players are a nickel a carload, aren't they, Brent?"

Brent pursed his lips.

"Well, I would have said so when you sat down to the piano, Cholly, but I'm not so sure now. You've one thing in your favor, especially in radio. There isn't a pianist at Interstate who would add anything to a television broadcast. You'd certainly meet all requirements on that score."

"No doubt about that," Dover agreed with him. "Television is going to mean quite a shakeup in Chicago radio circles. Don't you think so, Brent?"

"I'm afraid so," Brent sighed. "The big wave is about to sweep over us. The World's Fair broadcasts have clinched that."

"That'll be tough for you," Dover grinned.

"Yes, I'll probably be out peddling sody pop in a few weeks," Brent smiled. He was the handsomest announcer in the Middle West.

"Do you sing?" Dover turned to Romany then.

"Like a frog," Romany nodded.

"You can't expect a great tragedienne to be a concert singer, too," Nelson chided. 'But she might give us a couple of scenes from Shakespeare."

"It's against the rules of my contract," Romany did a perfect imitation of Myra Noyes and her grandest manner."

When she realized what she had done, she flushed, and Brent and Dover laughed with relish.

A little later the foursome just naturally drifted into a singing fest, although Dover's tenor, Brent's baritone and Romany's contralto would have drawn the gong in an amateur broadcast. Cholly's soprano was at least on key and her playing, was a great help.

"This," Dover decided as they walked along the dock at 11 o'clock, "gets my vote as the swellest evening we've ever had on the old tub, Brent. What do you say?"

"Indeed yes," the announcer said heartily. "I can have a large evening just sitting looking at this green-eyed damsel." He referred, of course, to Romany.

"You'll come often, won't you?" Dover urged. "We'll ditch the gang and have another foursome very soon."

"Of course," Romany assured him. "Won't we, Cholly?"

"I've had a grand time," Cholly evaded.

"I'm taking Cholly in my car," Dover said when they were on the street.

"That isn't necessary," Cholly began, but Romany gave her a swift poke in the ribs, silencing her.

Romany knew Dover had been much taken with Cholly, and she meant to do everything possible to flare the spark into a flame. Dover was driving his car also, and the two couples parted at the pier.

There was no trouble with Brent and his love making on the way home, which was a relief to Romany. He was tenderly solicitous and amazingly silent. They rode along in the moonlight swiftly, meeting Dover and Cholly a half hour later in front of the apartment, where they said goodnight with promises to go yachting again soon.

Upstairs, Cholly sat down in the living room thoughtfully.

"I'm afraid—" She looked up and smiled suddenly "I had a good time. Funny, isn't it?"

"Why funny?" Romany asked.

"Oh," Cholly shrugged, "I just thought I couldn't have a good time out with anyone but Terry."

Romany sniffed.

"You've never given yourself a chance to find out."

'Well," Cholly sighed again, "it was fun while it lasted."

"Meaning what?"

"That I'm not going to make a habit of it, of course."

"Will you please draw a diagram. Maybe I'm dense?"

"Oh!" Cholly turned impatiently in her chair. "What's the use of going out and enjoying all tha luxury and stuff and getting used to it. It would just spoil you for all the things you can't have."

"And what," Romany said impatiently, "makes you think you can't have them? You could marry Dover Hayworth as easily as falling off a log if you made up your mind. In two weeks he'd be mad about you, if you handled him right."

"Romey!" Cholly exploded. "You're crazy! What would a millionaire blue blood see in a nobody like me? You know perfectly well what happens when people marry so far out of their class."

Romany said with fire:

"Do you mean to sit there and

A New War Zone

The trouble is we want to know all that's going on, and know it at once. There are unusual facilities for hearing news and reading it, so when something breaks like the German invasion of Denmark and part of Norway, and when the Allies move to begin operations in that zone we expect we will know at once what is taking place.

The truth is we do not know all. There is no report coming from a navy when it is in battle. Their radio equipment is not operating, and as a rule a naval vessel will have sufficient for all hands to attend to.

One gathers more from finding that the British House of Commons met in an atmosphere of apparent cheerfulness after a morning of intense activity in Downing Street. The House was prepared to accept Mr. Chamberlain's statement that the steps to be taken by the Allies could not be announced, and that seems reasonable.

But there are some things which are known. Germany's sudden attack on Denmark and Norway was not something which was touched into action by the laying of mines by the Allies along the neutral waters of Norway. Before those mines were laid landing parties of Germans had already been carried in German vessels to a point 600 miles beyond where the mines were placed. So the German move for occupation was actually well under way before the Allies began their mining.

Norway probably desired to remain neutral as she did in the previous war. She had everything to gain by neutrality and everything to lose through war. That country has been at peace since the conclusion of the Napoleonic wars.

This time she was in trouble from the start. The Allies claimed that shipments of iron ore on their way from Sweden were being brought down the coast in German vessels which made use of the neutral waters of Norway. Germany is evidently bent on retaining use of those waters as she must have iron ore. It may be some time before the world gets a full and adequate picture of what has actually been taking place in that new war zone.

Generous Giving

The Indian community at Hiawatha, Rice Lake, have drawn on their funds, held in trust by Ottawa, to the extent of $200, half of it going to the Red Cross and half to the Salvation Army. The members of the community desired to do something to assist in war efforts.

There are 70 Indian members at Hiawatha and they gave $200, which we regard as generous to the point of being magnificent. Not at any time do these people have much money; the amount they receive from their funds at any time is small. Like Indians elsewhere they depend on the trapping season for much of their income. The muskrat catch bulks large in their yearly earnings, while in the summer time they depend on what they can earn as guides for tourists.

When it comes to giving adequately according to their means the Indian community at Hiawatha have set a high standard.

72 Years In One House

We read about the new telephone directory being ready for distribution in Toronto. There are 228,000 of these books and it will take 160 men and 15 trucks a week or more to attend to the delivery. It is explained that the new directory contains 77,400 new or changed listings, and that in turn must mean that many people have moved because they have not added anything like that number of new users during the year.

There was also something in a Montreal paper about the number of people who would be moving on the first day of May. Montreal is a city of some 1,200,000 and thoroughly swallowed up with the custom of living in apartments. The number of movings on the first of May mounts in the thousands.

It is much the same in many cities. People move of their own accord or they are moved by their firms. That is what made it so marked by contrast to read of Mrs. George Easterbrook who died recently in Exeter, Ont., and was referred to as a lifelong resident of 72 years. Her maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Sweet; when she was married her husband moved into the family home, and it was there she died. Born, married and died in the same house. Never lived elsewhere in her 72 years. Widely different from the manner in which many families move hither and thither and do it frequently.

Not Propaganda

The March of Time film, "Canada at War," has been shown at Peterborough and elsewhere, and that was the film which Premier Hepburn decided should not be exhibited in Ontario until after the election.

Looking at the picture one does not find it propaganda. Watching it with that in mind one can readily enough come to the conclusion that it does not bring the Canadian Government unduly toward the front, but it does give a general idea of all that has been done from coast to coast.

We take it that a film of that kind would of necessity have to include an appearance of the Prime Minister, whoever he might be, and Mr. King in the few short and well-pointed remarks he makes, does not have the appearance or the sound of seeking for votes.

The country needs a film like that to make a good many people believe we are actually at war. We need to see more of what is being done. Had the film been shown prior to the election we do not believe it would have caused any individual to feel that he or she should go forth on election day, change political affiliation of the past and vote for the King Government.

Did It 26 Times

Gerald Cluff of Kirkton was in court at London, Ont., and it was found he had 26 charges against him, to all of which he pleaded guilty. He had already been sentenced to two and a-half years in Portsmouth and his sentence in London runs concurrently with the others.

Passing worthless cheques was his business, and it is claimed if he had received the maximum term of three years on each count he could have been sent down for 78 years. Cluff has been working at this for three years, sometimes taking cash and at other times securing goods. In his last attempt he secured $71 from a bank in Strathroy, $35 in goods and a $500 car.

The wonder is how any individual could repeat on the same style of offense for 26 times and retain his liberty. Going into a bank and cashing a cheque which will bounce is not easily done, but Cluff did it. As a rule a merchant will want to know all about it before accepting a cheque from a stranger, and he applies the same ruling before he supplies credit to people in his own community. A record like that is not only a black one for Cluff but makes the business habits of 26 other individuals look rather drowsy.

He Played a Manly Part

North Monaghan has lost another good citizen in the death of James Milby. He was Warden of the county last year, and one of the finest tributes that can be paid to his memory is the recollection of the enviable position he had won in the esteem and affection of the members of the county and township councils with whom he had been closely associated for years.

Mr. Milby left as a remembrance of his personality a bright record of having played a manly part in life. Coming from Scotland twenty-six years ago to earn a place for himself, he almost immediately in 1914 enlisted in the Great War, was seriously wounded in France, and served four years in the Canadian army. Early in the period of the depression he became interested in the municipal affairs of North Monaghan, and was a member of the township council for seven years, the last four years as reeve.

A resourceful administrator, Mr. Milby was a man of ideas who when convinced that they were sound and practicable was not satisfied until they were hitched to action. He was elected by a suburban vote, and won rural approval by extending to the farmers of the township the benefits of the work of the councils he directed.

Loyalty was one of the outstanding elements of Mr. Milby's character, an intense loyalty to his King and the British tradition, and fidelity to the ratepayers who placed him in positions of trust and responsibility. He was a staunch friend, and none regarded him more highly than the men who were engaged with him in the township and county councils. To them it was pathetic that in the year of his wardenship, the climax of his career, and only in middle life, the shadow of the illness that proved fatal appeared as a cloud upon a spirit that had served this community in making it better and happier.

Please Pass The Grass

There is a great deal of grass in the world, and any farmer will tell you it is the cheapest way to feed horses, cows, sheep and so on. A good many people are paying more attention to the improvement of their pasture lots and there is much wisdom in so doing.

Now come members of the American Chemical Society, gathered together for their annual meeting in Cincinnati, and declare that human beings—that's us—can with great advantage to themselves and a general uplift to their systems eat grass.

But first of all it has to be prepared. They tell us grass is exceedingly rich in vitamins. Twelve pounds of the stuff which pops out when the lawn mower is in operation has a greater vitamin content than 340 pounds of fruits and vegetables. It has vitamins A, B, C and E, but vitamin D has been overlooked in putting the grass together and about that the scientists can do nothing.

The process is not as simple as might be anticipated. Nothing ever is when you enter the world of vitamins. It's more complicated than using a table fork to spear a piece of bread when the arm will not reach quite far enough. One cannot rush out like Nebuchadnezzar of old and eat grass in the field. The grass must be cut and dried in a flash so the vitamins have no chance to jump out and escape. We learn they have been experimenting with it for two years and have now found how to dry and powder grass and put it into pancakes, breakfast foods and bread.

We became rather enthused when reading of the process. Vitamin B we find is good for nerves and people need such fodder in times like these through which we are passing. It is also claimed that B has the effect of helping to darken greying hair, and there is a large and expectant portion of our population which will greet this news with a whoop. Vitamin C keeps one from having scurvy, and never yet have we encountered the individual who wanted to have anything to do with that stuff.

So in days to come we may be eating grass in our pancakes, in our breakfast foods and in our bread. Cows eat grass and they have always appeared to us as healthy animals. Likewise they are supposed to be contented things and contentment is one virtue which most of us are lacking. Thus in the bright future we shall go forth filled with grass and fortified with a vitamin content, and tasks which baffle us now shall worry us no more.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Now that the radio fees are again due we can't help wishing we had elected a government that was going to do away with them.

Finland and Russia are going to resume diplomatic relations this month, so the fate of Finland appears to be a closed book.

The Toronto Telegram in guessing about the next leader of the Conservatives says Col. Drew is being mentioned. That name seems familiar. Let's see — didn't he make a couple of addresses in the recent campaign?

Ab Jenkins is mayor of Salt Lake City, and there was need of $3,000 being spent for a new engine for the pumper truck. The mayor used to drive a racing car and presented to the fire department an engine which went 176 miles an hour. So what chance has a fire—or a pedestrian—in that city now.

VANITY

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My Uncle Eben owns some stock, it's good stuff, grounded like a rock, and he's director too; they're getting out a book I hear, to tell just what they did last year, and what they plan to do.

¶ They wrote to Eben yesterday, to send his picture right away, they'd print it in the book; and if it happened he had none, they asked him if he'd get it done, and have another took.

¶ My uncle has a picture though, they took it back twelve years ago, he was much younger then; it made him look right in his prime, and there was steel within his spine, he walked with rugged men.

¶ And there was fire within his eye, that look which said he'd up and try, a fighting sort of glance; a mark which singles out a man, who looks with care throughout a plan, and says he'll take a chance.

¶ His jaw full budged with teeth back there, and he could boast a crop of hair, that covered half his dome; and there was beef upon his face, like one who craved a goodly pace, nor would he whine or groan.

¶ And that's the picture Eben sent, he tied it up and off it went, nor were his movements slow; he likes to think he looks today, like what he did when strong and gay—a dozen years ago.

Britain Needs More Changes In War Cabinet

(By H. B. Elliston in Christian Science Monitor)

THE REORGANIZATION of the British Cabinet does not meet the general demand for reorganization which I recently encountered in London. And I mean London, not the provinces. In the provinces the people seem quite content with the setup which has just been changed a little, and also with Mr. Chamberlain's leadership. In London, however, there was a murmuring against what was felt to be an inefficient method of managing the war effort.

Of the Prime Minister himself there is no personal criticism. Mr. Chamberlain symbolizes the grim determination with which the British intend to prosecute this war. Those who talk about the "phoniness" of the war ought to come in contact with this iron resolve and they would expunge the word out of their vocabularies. Trevelyan says of the British that they are war-like but not militarist. Certainly they are war-like today, and Mr. Chamberlain typifies his fellow countrymen as much as did any Premier in history in being wholly war-like in the present emergency. He and the British people feel that no early peace is possible that would not be a Nazi peace.

From those who are in close contact with the Premier I discovered that Mr. Chamberlain feels himself charged with a responsibility to see the war to a victorious end. There is almost a mystical quality in his sense of responsibility. And it has made the heavy burden of his duties rest lightly on his shoulders. He is doing the work of many men, but neither in appearance nor in the way he carries out his duties does he show the slightest strain. This is the conclusion one may draw from his handling of the House of Commons. But in the Cabinet, I am told, he is just as efficient. There his colleagues are constantly impressed with his mastery of detail, and cabinet meetings from which he is absent feel his loss as the loss of a guiding hand, cautious but sure and informed.

NEVERTHELESS the time may come sooner or later when the war effort will require a coalition cabinet. And then it is doubtful whether Labor will work under Mr. Chamberlain. None of the "Munichers," indeed, is likely to obtain Labor's confidence except Viscount Halifax. The Foreign Secretary isn't the genius which this war effort demands, but, if Mr. Chamberlain symbolizes the grim determination of the British to get on with the job in hand, so Lord Halifax gives a moral tone to what they feel to be their high endeavor. And Napoleon said that the moral is to the physical as three to one. That in itself might be the reason eventually for Lord Halifax to be chosen for the highest office when the time comes to bring every party within the war government.

A coalition isn't the immediate need, however. What is more urgently required, according to the Britons with whom I talked, is a less unwieldy system of government control. It is topheavy. The Premier has his finger in every pie, and won't delegate too much authority. Still he can't do everything, so that, instead of absolutely responsible ministers, a congeries of committees have settled upon British government which stultifies action with bottlenecks. I know this from the way that the reports on Allied intervent in Finland were handled. Whenever a recommendation came from a man on the spot, it was sent on a laborious round of committees, each of which minuted the recommendation with all manner of objections, some of which betrayed concerns altogether extraneous to the subject matter of the memorandum.

EVEN Winston Churchill isn't a real Minister of Defense in this latest reorganization. He will head up a committee of three service departments, but that is one remove from being Minister of Defense, since he must take all his policy problems to the war cabinet. The time will no doubt come when all three departments of War, Navy, and Air will come under Mr. Churchill. The British don't seem to think of him, as do so many Americans, as a future Prime Minister ,but they do know that he is the only man in Britain who understands the problems of all three services, and consequently they feel he ought to be "super-warlord." Mr. Chamebrlain has only half-satisfied the demand. But it takes time even in this war of survival for organizational traditions to be buried.

Much the same concentration appears to be required for the economic side of war-making. A Minister of Economics, in other words, appears to be a possible appointment for the future along with a Minister of Defense. Within this department would come finance, supply and trade, as in Germany. The need for it comes out in conversation with most of the younger officials in London. They feel that this reshuffle is such a demonstrated need that they are uneasy about working to the limit in any other kind of setup.

There's still a lot of deadwood among the Ministries left in this latest reshuffle, but the organization itself is deadwood, and must give place to more concentration and then to intraparty coalition before Britain can be said to have an adequate instrument for running the war. A modern war pattern certainly does not seem to be made by the new peripheral changes in London.

• "Get Out Of My Bedroom!"

THERE is an old newspaper tradition that prima donnas are ruthless seekers of publicity; but during a recent visit to Toronto the great Wagnerian singer Kirsten Flagstad came out rather strongly for the opposite book of "privacity." Some years ago a book was published by a Canadian writer in which it was predicted that the day would come when celebrated persons would find it necessary to employ privacity agents as distinguished from publicity agents. For Madame Flagstad that day seems to have arrived.

In the recent episode at Toronto, says Toronto Saturday Night, our sympathies lie entirely with the prima donna. As is customary with most singers obliged to make a public appearance at night, she lay abed until mid-afternoon, in escrow, so to speak so far as interviewers were concerned. But the press was not to be foiled; its emissaries, including photographers, lurked in the corridor, and when a maid emerged with a tea-tray, leaving the door unlocked, they crashed the singer's bedroom. They found her in a kimono with her hair hanging around her neck, and the room in disarray.

On stating their mission they were treated to a stream of language, unquestionably emphatic. Since the singer is a very large woman who could probably "lick her weight in wild cats" the verbal battle was one-sided. It is hoped that the reporters are now sadder and wiser; but it seems fatuous to ascribe the lady's anger merely to "temperament." It seems to us a timely assertion of womanhood. We fancy that any woman in private life, however gentle by nature, would be similarly outraged if their bedroom were thus invaded by reporters and photographers.

Nobody seems to have tried to take a "candid" picture. If he had, he would probably have found himself in possession of a badly damaged camera. The honors of the affray were all with Madame Flagstad, and we accord her a pat on her fine broad back for this assertion of her rights to privacy. After all a woman's bedroom, even if it be in a hotel, is her castle.

• He Tried To Persuade Hitler

AT LEAST one elementary truth about the war is re-established with the first complete publication in this country of the French Yellow Book, the official selection of the diplomatic reports that poured into Paris, and into French Embassies, during the pre-war period. The documents do not, of course cover all the ground, and it is a pity from the historians' standpoint, that the French Government has chosen to omit from its public record the story of the Munich crisis and of the Allied-Soviet negotiations of last year. Nevertheless the Yellow Book tells unanswerably how the war came when it did, how hard the French and British strove to avert it, how hopeless were their efforts. It shows that the Allies failed because they were dealing with a man who was bent on conquest, by intimidation or by war.

For forty anguished minutes (the French Ambassador in Berlin reported on Aug. 27, 1939), "I said everything that my heart as a man and a Frenchman could prompt to induce the Chancellor to agree to a supreme effort for a pacific settlement of the question of Danzig." The Ambassador's report must have sounded to Paris like a death-knell:

I conjured him, in the name of history and for the sake of humanity, not to thrust aside this last chance. For the peace of his conscience, I begged him, who had built an empire without shedding blood, not to shed it now, not to shed the blood of soldiers nor that of women and children, without being absolutely certain that this could not be avoided. I confronted him with the terrible responsibilities that he would assume toward Western civilization. ....Perhaps I moved him; but I did not prevail. His mind was made up.

Repeatedly the Ambassador appealed for a word or a sign that would enable the Polish-German negotiations to begin. Repeatedly his pleas were rejected. He told Paris sadly of Hitler's own words. "'It is useless,' Herr Hitler replied to me. 'Poland would not give up Danzig and it is my will that Danzig, as one of the ports of the Reich, should return to Germany.'"

It was not right or wrong, but "my will." Because one man and his fanatic advisers willed it, the darkness descended upon Europe. Because "my mind was made up," death snapped the lives of thousands of young men, untold miseries overwhelmed millions of civilians, and the threat of doom now overhangs an entire generation. Whoever reads these documents will understand the grim resolve of the Allied peoples that one man's will, one man's obsession shall no longer play havoc with the lives and fortunes of mankind.—New York Times.

• General Grant Never Loved War

SEVENTY-FIVE years ago today Grant and Lee met in the McLean farmhouse at Appomattox courthouse in Virginia and by the surrender of Lee's army ended the American Civil War. Four years before, lacking three days, the first shot had been fired at Fort Sumter and the cry "on to Richmond" had been raised in the north. On to Richmond the northern forces went, but the way was long and the delays are a matter of history. Only 115 miles from Washington, the Confederate capital seemed, says the London Free Press, at times during those weary years as far away as the equator. The war between the states will always have its interest for students and lovers of history ,but in all that struggle there is no more interesting incident than the meeting of the two rival leaders on that April Sunday morning of 1865.

Grant in his memoirs has left us a simple narrative of his feelings as he met Lee in the little parlor of the farmhouse on the battlefield. Lee was the calmer of the two and talked of days when they had both been participants in the Mexican War of the forties. Grant says that Lee had to recall him to the real business for which they had met. It was soon over; the terms were brief and quickly accepted by Lee—the surrender of his army and an engagement that they would not again be in arms. Lee suggested that as most of his men were farmers, a horse for each would aid them in getting back to civil life again. To this Grant agreed and they soon after parted.

Grant went back to his headquarters and seated himself on a pile of rails before the fire. He talked of everything but the surrender. Of that he said not one word. That afternoon he left his army and went to Washington. The army never saw him again save on the occasion when months later it marched before him down Pennsylvania avenue. Then the veterans saw once again the silent man who had sent them so often to battle.

Grant and Lee are figures deservedly revered by the American people. Grant is a less attractive figure than Lee, but his story is that of a man who found himself when others had given up for lost. On his tomb on Riverside Drive in New York City are graven the words: "Let us have peace." When he was the guest of the German emperor in later years he could not be persuaded to witness a military review. Lee, the war at an end, gave his remaining days to the education of southern youth, seeking in this way to repair some of the damage that fate had brought to his region in the war years.

COMMUNIST VOTE

OUT of a final estimate of 3,726,000 civilian votes polled in the federal election, less than 14,000 were cast for Communist candidates running in 10 constituencies. All 10 lost their deposits. Even Tim Buck got only 695 votes out of 29,225 polled by Hamilton electors.

Four Communists ran in Saskatchewan and, after looking at the slim vote they got, should be running yet. Former Canadians who looked on Communism with a favorable eye have learned a lasting lesson from the attack on Finland. Communism is a "busted creed" in Canada.—Edmonton Journal.

Swedish King Orders Mobilization

Complete mobilization of Sweden's armed forces was ordered by King Gustaf following the German invasion of Denmark and Norway. Unconfirmed reports stated that German troops had also entered Swedish soil as the long awaited Nazi "blitzkrieg" appeared to have come. Legion Members Urged To Supply Leadership In Drive To Make Canada War Conscious

"Outside of the headlines in the newspapers this present generation of Canadians scarcely knows there is a war on," declared Lieut.-Col. Charles Ackerman, guest speaker at the annual Vimy banquet of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion in the Legion Hall on Tuesday night.

Col. Ackerman devoted his speech to an appeal to the Legion to supply leadership in a drive to make young Canadians war conscious. Toward that end he suggested that the officers of the Legion should arrange a patriotic meeting here in the near future, one that would shake this old town to pieces."

The annual function was a very enjoyable affair, although the attendance was not as large as usual. Col. Ackerman expressed the opinion that the "old sweats" instead of attending the banquet were home around their radios anxious to get the latest developments from the rapidly-changing situation in Europe.

Fire Chief George Gimblett, president of the branch, was chairman, and at the head table in addition to the guest speaker were His Worship Mayor James Hamilton Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and Mel. Morrow of the Red Patch Club. Messages of regret at their inability to be present were voiced from Senator J. J. Duffus, Alex. L. Elliott, M.L.A., and His Honor Judge Smoke.

The enjoyable repast was served by members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion and toward the close of the program a vote of thanks was passed to them on motion of Bob Hotrum.

The usual period of silence in respect to the memory of fallen comrades, broken by the Last Post and Reveille, opened the meeting, followed by the toast to the King.

Should Be Commemorated.

In his brief introductory speech Chairman Gimblett declared that the anniversary of Vimy was an occasion that should always be commemorated, inasmuch as no single engagement of the war stood out as had the capture of Vimy Ridge by the Canadian Corps.

Mayor James Hamilton said that it was a privilege and honor to be invited to attend such a function to pay tribute to the Canadians who took part in the capture of Vimy, and to the memory of those who gave up their lives at that time.

Mel. Morrow expressed the deep appreciation of the Red Patch Club for the splendid co-operation that organization had had from the Canadian Legion during the past two years.

"I deem it an honor and a privilege to be here to-night," said Gordon K. Fraser in a brief speech. The member-elect for West Peterborough expressed a desire to secure the names of all Peterborough men serving in the Canadian Active Service Force and asked the assistance of the Legion members in obtaining the list.

The Testing Period.

"We to-day, as a very important part of the good old British Empire, have reached a phase of the war that I think history will reveal as the testing period," said Lieut.-Col. Ackerman in beginning his address. "The Allies," he continued, "will not be found wanting in this test of strength. I feel that the news to-day should afford us some relief in the fact that the enemy at long last has seen fit to come out into the open. It will not be very long, I feel, before the Royal Navy will have an opportunity for a crack at them, and, believe me, it will be some crack.

"Ex-servicemen," said Col. Ackerman, "should be the vanguard of a regeneration of patriotism in Peterborough. I say to the Canadian Legion that we must show leadership in some practical way to demonstrate that we are still British."

The speaker said that the Allies were coming very near to the danger point and he urged that action be taken to arouse young men in Peterborough to the seriousness of the situation, suggesting a patriotic meeting in the near future. It was not enough, he said, to dwell upon the achievements of the last war; it was necessary also to give heart to Canadians generally in the present struggle.

Col. Ackerman said that he was sure the Peterborough Rangers, the Mayor and City Council, and the service clubs of Peterborough would all lend their support and co-operation to the Legion in ensuring the success of a meeting such as he suggested.

An enjoyable musical program was given during the banquet. Wag Hotston and Herb Strickland combined in two new war songs, 'Here We Go Again" and "I've Seen Marie," and each of them added several comic songs to the entertainment menu. Eric May was heard to advantage in two vocal solos 'South of the Border" and 'That Old Mother of Mine." A medley of song hits of the last Great War was effectively played on the piano by C. Austin, and community singing with Johnny King at the piano was enjoyed by the gathering.

Skunk Blockade

Lindsay, April 10 (CP)

A BLOCKADE of motor cars occurred on highway No. 12 Saturday, a few miles from Beaverton. A lone skunk was the cause.

The animal, forgaging among a pile of tin cans, got its head in one can and couldn't get it out. It wandered on the highway and motorists were afraid to proceed.

Soon a line-up of cars waited while occupants got out and attempted unsuccessfully to chase the animal away. Finally it moved off itself to a maple grove.

STAMPEDERS SEW UP WESTERN PUCK SERIES WITH A 3 TO 1 WIN

Calgary Hands Bear Cats First Defeat

CALGARY, April 10 —(CP). — Beaten for the first time since they started down the play-off trail a month ago, Port Arthur Bear Cats are assured of a chance to finish the Western senior hockey final on their home ice..

Calgary Stampeders deadlocked the best-of-five championship series here last night when they outplayed Bear Cats, 1939 Allan Cup champions, for a 3-1 victory, the same score by which Port Arthur won the first game at Saskatoon where previous games were played.

The second was tied 5-5 and the key contest will be here to-morrow night. A win for either club would send it to Port Arthur for the fifth game on Monday needing only a tie to take the Western title.

The Allan Cup holders had won 11 straight in the play-offs before the tie with Calgary in Saskatoon, and they are rated as strong as when they beat Montreal Royals three games to one in the national final last year. To the crowd of 5,911 paid customers here last night, however, it seemed Calgary had a clear edge.

Dave Duchak, brainy little centre man, scored twice for the Alberta champions, and Cam Burke, a speedy left winger, counted the other Calgary goal. Don Gordon shot the lone Port Arthur goal.

Bear Cats appeared rather tired in contrast to the hard-driving Calgarians and in the face of Stampeders' close checking were unable to finish off their plays. Several times the Cats had a one-man advantage when a Stampeder was penalized, but they never were able to get their power play organized.

Remember When—

One of the least exciting championship boxing matches on record was fought a year ago tonight in Los Angeles when Joe Louis knocked out Jack Roper of Hollywood. The outcome of the west coast city's first heavyweight title fight was a surprise to few of the 25,000 fans, and Louis left almost immediately to train for his meeting with Tony Galento in June.

Royals Patch Up Weaknesses, Look For Wins

MONTREAL, April 10 — (CP).— The glaring defensive weakness at shortstop and first base, which ruined the team in 1939, now mended, Montreal Royals look forward to the coming International League campaign with confidence.

As the Royals enter their first season as a full-fledged farm of Brooklyn Dodgers, they can thank the National League club for plugging the gap at short by sending them Boze Berger, former American Leaguer. When Ben Sankey was disposed of early in 1939, no adequate replacement was found for him. And shortstop was a headache all season.

The same held true of first base after Gene Masson was beaned in Buffalo last Memorial Day. He returned late in the campaign to finish up in a blaze of hitting glory. He is back at first again.

Veteran Sammy Bell at second and Don Ross at third complete a strong defensive infield, with Ross's added 40 pounds this year appearing to have been transmitted into slugging strength.

Staller Shining.

Sensation of the camp this spring has been George Staller, line-drive hitting Dodger farmhand up from Elmira, where he clouted .336 last year and knocked out 40 doubles and 10 triples. In eight games this spring Staller has belted the ball at a .463 clip, his 18 blows including three triples and a pair of doubles.

Pete Reiser, another Dodger farmhand from Elmira, shows signs of latent power, too. Converted from infielder to outfielder due to a bad arm last year, his arm has improved after an operation and he is a deer on bases..

Tuck Stainback, ex-Chicago Cub St. Louis Card and Dodger, is a brilliant defensive centrefielder who can drive in runs. Arnold Moser, holdover from last year, and Cal Chapman, from Nashville by way of Brooklyn ,round out the outfield.

The pitching is a question-mark, but Manager Clyde Sukeforth has the nucleus of a competent staff in Bill Crouch, Ira Hutchinson, Kemp Wicker, Bob Porter, and Lee Rogers.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Hello, mom, it was a hard fight but we won—we'll be right home! And that's definitely that. We trust the cynics who said: "When they lost Friday in Oshawa, the Petes hit the skids" or "Peterborough teams win for awhile but they never capture a provincial title"—we trust these birds are suitably answered in that 5-2 win for the locals last eve in Kitchener. And we trust the many loyal local puck fans who followed the Buckland bunch faithfully all winter now feel suitably rewarded. The Petes are O.H.A. intermerdiate "A" champs now, and also Eastern Canada intermediate finalists. And it's a swell feeling for the squad and the rest of us who strung along with 'em all these months.

* * * * * *

Hearty congrats to Coach Frank Buckland and his battling puck-chasers. And to the hard-working executive. And our sympathy to the gallant Kitchener Greenshirts, who made it a fine fight. This title climaxes a hectic hockey season which lasted better than five months—the Petes being on ice earlier than usual and finishing a lot later than usual. A record late finish in this city. And it concludes successfully a puck whirl of some five and a half thousand miles, believe it or don't! Not counting the heavy mileage up and down ice cushions on skates. Why, even as just a passenger with the gang, we have our share of carbuncles—and would just as soon eat standing up as not!

* * * * * *

Hail, The Champs!

It seemed quite fitting that the first phone call the squad received in Kitchener at the end last night was from R. M. Glover. He called to congratulate the gang. Rollie Glover was on the last local intermediate championship club here—the one that won in 1906—and he is now prexy of the club. And the first (and only) wire the Petes got last night was one wishing 'em the best of luck; it came from Frank Collins who was on the last local championship crew, the senior Petes of 1926. In future years, sports followers here will be referring to the good Petes' puck machine of 1940—so there's fame for ya, boys.

* * * * * *

Of last night's game, viewed by 2,000 noisy Kitchener fans (too bad the locals didn't win in Oshawa Friday when they had their own following on hand), all we can say is that it was a sizzler from start to finish. With the teams looking very even the first two periods, it being 1-1 and then 2-2, and the Petes showing more punch in the third to earn the win. A clean, exciting battle—with Ray Harding and Gene Bauer mixing briefly once, but no one being penalized—and the better team winning out. They came from behind twice to prove they're not front-runners and dominated play in the third.

* * * * * *

Tired But Happy

Gardner got our first goal, aided by Kingdon and Starr, after the 'Shirts tallied in the first. In the second, the homesters again went ahead but Tompinks sewed it up once more. Then Joe Blewett — quiet but efficient forward from up Lakefield way—busted loose to notch a pair of million-dollar goals, Jack Jopling aiding on both and Coughlin helping on one. Crowe finished it up quite nicely, thank you. We're not trying to pick stars, as the whole squad shone in a swelegant piffawmance, and they had to be rolling like a fire-truck falling over a precipice to cop the duke. They were and they did. The boys did a right handsome jig on the ice at the last gong, cut some large capers in the Walper Hotel right afterward and were still singing drowsily but happily as they arrived home coming on toward five this a.m.

* * * * * *

Which about covers the situation for today—at this ungodly hour, anyway. We understand that the proposed Eastern Canada hockey intermediate finals may now be decided on a three-out-of-five basis, the Petes going to Ottawa to play this Saturday and Monday, and remaining game or games being next week in Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. That's what Secretary Bill Hewitt of the O.H.A. intimated yesterday in a phone call with Manager Bill Jackson of the Petes. The local players are willing to tackle such a series, if they can obtain enough dough to cover expenses. However more on this again.

Orioles A-Moultin'

Down Baltimore way, things do not look so rosy for Pick Hines, Bill Calladine, Ned Vitarelli and the rest of the Orioles. Not since a husky gang of Holzbaughs from Detroit — Mich.-Ont. loop winners — moved in for a U.S. amachoor final series with the Eastern League victors. The Detroits last gloaming polished off the Birdmen in the second straight with a 5-3 swish, the previous count being 5-1. The teams now adjourn to the Olympia in Henryfordsville to resume the three-in-five story tomorrow. So it sort of looks like the Mich.-Ont. brand of hockey is somewhat higher than that played down in the Eastern States.

And some basketball info. .The big joust tonight is the second of the two-in-three men's senior City Cage Loop final playoff at eight in the Y.M., the Zephyrs and Bees flinging into hectic action. The Bees copped the initial encounter and can really reap a crop of honey with a victory tonight. Zephyrs swear by Zephyrus that the Bees will think they were hit by one of Jupiter's hand-carved thunderbolts in this tilt. Should be right interesting. St. Paul's classy church cagers hit into provincial finals tomorrow e'en in Hamilton, return go being here at eight Saturday in the twilight, winner to meet Montreal in Eastern Canada finals. No further word yet on Orfuns' next playoff.

Pot o' Goulash: Yes, sir, (and madam) the Petes are in like little Jack Horner's thumb!....Gord (Doc) Nichol, who played for the locals last winter, journeyed over from Hamilton to root the Petes in last eve ....Wouldn't be surprised if the Westclox gal softballers lose a couple of good players this semester....Southend Softball League has its annual open meeting at 8.15 tonight in Barrack's....Toronto Leafs must have a good club, too, the way they're upsetting the Patrickers....The Petes, suffering the shock of many cold showers ere game time on the order of the coach, evened things up after last night's tilt; they pushed Frank Buckland under an icy shower in their hotel room!....Art Heal got a cut on the eye lid and Jim Ellis got his shoulder banged up a bit again but the squad is in pretty fair condish after the series....Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt, of Boston's famed Kraut Line, viewed the tilt in Kitchener ....We've had provincial grid, lacrosse and hockey wins now in the past few years, but what about the ballsters?....POME: Sweet as a juicy cheque from home, or a pip strolling down the pike; sweet as a gallon of maple syrup—that's what this win was like!

Pete Scalzo Wins A Mitt Decision

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Petey Scalzo of New York, a leading figure in the muddled featherweight title picture and ranked as the No. 1 challenger by the National Boxing Association, slammed out an eight-round decision over rugged Primo Flores of Puerto Rico in a boxing bout here last night.

Scalzo floored Flores four times in the second round, but the Puerto Rican refused to stay down and came back to win the last round. After being down for counts of five, two, one and nine, Flores was tied up by Scalzo's better boxing and couldn't land an effective blow until the last heat.

Scalzo weighed 128¾, Flores 134¾.

Diamond Meteors!

WALSH ROSE TO FAME BEHIND DIZZY SPEED OF HIS "SPITTER"

By Central Canadian Press

The spitball king of the diamond was the son of a poor coal miner.

"Big Ed" Walsh came out of the Pennsylvania coal country to rise to riches and baseball fame behind the dizzy speed of his "spitter."

"Big Ed" was born in the little mining town of Plains, Pa., in 1881. Soon as he was big enough, he went into the coal mines Sundays and holidays he played baseball. Walsh was already pitching regularly. He had developed extraordinary speed and control. "Big Ed" simply told people how good he was, and offered to show them. He convinced more than a few of them.

First Contrast

Baseball has a way of seeking out potential stars, wherever they may be. There is always a chance of rewards in the big leagues and "Big Ed" Walsh had his eyes on the stars. He kept smoking the ball across the plate, taking up h's own game, refining and improving his form.

One day a mining company at Miner's Mills, Pa., took Walsh out of the coal pits and hired him to pitch for its commercial team.

Walsh scrawled his signature on a contract with Wilkesbarre's team in 1901. He spent that winter at Wyoming seminary, paying his way with free lance jobs on Saturdays and Sundays. When the coal strike developed in 1902, Walsh served notice.

With Sox

He would not report to the club. The owners threatened to have him expelled from the seminary. Walsh gave in. Luck was with him, however. The Pennsylvania State league ceased operating a month later and Walsh as swiftly kicked upstairs to the Meriden, Conn., club, then to Newark and on to the Chicago White Sox.

Walsh drew $1,800 a year in 1904, '05 and '06. His salary was boosted to $3,500 in 1906 and he collected $3,500 more at the end of the season.

The famous "spitter" and his unfailing confidence lifted "Big Ed" Walsh from obscurity in the coal fields to the realms of baseball fame.

Over seven years Walsh had a great record. He pitched in 66 games in 1908 and 62 in 1912. He won an average of 24 games a year. He won 40 in 1908.

Today Walsh is 58 and out of baseball.

Mixup In Boxing Over the Champs

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 10.—(AP)—James Lacava, 25-year-old New Orleans Italian known to fight fans as Jimmy Perrin, last night was featherweight boxing champion of the world—in the eyes of the Louisiana Athletic Commission.

Lenny J. Elmer, chairman of the Commission, pronounced Perrin champion after Retey Scalbo had failed to accept an offer to fight Perrin for the crown here.

Scalzo Tuesday fought in New York, outpointing Primo Flores of Puerto Rico in eight rounds.

Perrin signed for the fight the day after the National Boxing Association had stripped Joey Archibald of the championship and ordered Scalzo and Perrin to decide the issue. The Louisiana Commission gave Scalzo until midnight to accept the offer, but Scalzo meanwhile had signed for a match in Washington and the N.B.A. had indicated it might force Perrin to box him there—or forfeit his claim to the crown.

PETES WIN THE ONTARIO HOCKEY ASSOCIATION CHAMPIONSHIP

Local Puckists Defeat Kitchener In Final Playoff, 5-2 To Bring Title To Peterborough

Climaxing well over 5,000 miles of hockey travel the past five months, the Petes rolled home this morning from Kitchener as O.H.A. intermediate "A" champions for 1940. They trimmed the Greenshirts 5-2 last night in th fourth game of their three-in-five series, after dropping one, to bring the provincial title to Peterborough.

It was the first time since 1926—when the senior club won—that the Petes had captured an O.H.A. championship, and the first time since 1906 that the locals won the intermediate crown. The Buckland bunch are now ready to meet the Maxville Millionaires in the best two-in-three series for the Eastern Canada intermediate title.

Goals by Joe Blewett, the Lakefield star, put the game in the bag for the visitors last night in Kitchener. For two sizzling periods, the well-matched outfits battled on even terms before 2,000 roaring rooters, but the Petes swept ahead to a well-deserved victory in the third. Blewett scord twice and Crowe got another to break the 2-2 deadlock which opened the final frame. The score had been 1-1 to end the fast first stanza.

One Mixup

In a redhot playoff battle, with play clean throughout—barring one flareup in the first between Gene Bauer and Ray Harding—the clubs fought it out evenly in the first and second with neither side showing the slightest edge. But the break came halfway through the third—a period which saw the Petes playing superior hockey from the faceoff—and it developed almost into a rout before the last gong. The 'Shirts were a badly beaten bunch at the finish.

All the Petes starred in this showing, not a weak sister appearing in the lineup from faceoff to finish. Harding was in top form in the net to climax a grand season of goal-saving. The four defencemen fought their heads off at the blue line in a gallant performance and aided considerably too on the attack. Both forward lines sparked going both ways over the route, the game being a close-checking affair the best part of two periods. There was no individual star, though Blewett clicked in the third for the big goal and then added another.

Goalie Is Good

Once again Goalie Bindernagel turned in an excellent game in the 'Shirts cage, kicking them out from all angles—none of those that beat him being easy. They again used but two regular defencemen and three forward lines, but the forwards could not keep pace with the flying Petes as the game wore on—the winners pulling away in the third. The Bauer-Grau-Vrooman trio were the pick of the losers last evening.

Play was but a minute old in the initial inning when the homesters tallied to the applause of an enthusiastic crowd. Bauer's angle shot slipped over Harding's shoulder high into the twine after Bauer had circled the net and skated halfway out to the blue line. Tompkins was gated for an accidental trip and the K's ganged up but nice forechecking by Coughlin and J. Jopling held them off till Honey returned. It was fast and even for a time with the Petes, after Blewett went in for a try, evening it up at the seven-minute mark on a three-way play. Starr slipped a pass in centre ice to Kingdon and Bun skirted the defence to go right in and test Bindernagel. His shot was blocked but Gardner tore in fast to bat it home. Bauer went off for tripping but the Petes could not sank in on it, though Tompkins was close. Harding and Bauer tangled when the latter slashed Ray but there was no penalty. A bit later, Huber crashed Harding and Crowe, who then charged into Huber, drew a penalty, but the 'Shirts were checked up neatly.

Even In Second

An Ellis-Kingdon drive nearly clicked in the second, and the Petes' first line made Bindy jump. It was a close-checking heat but fast and exciting, with neither side showing a margin. Grau scored early for the home crew, taking a pass from Vrooman and rounding defence fast to whistle a hard angle drive into the twine. J. Jopling and Blewett almost got it back and, when Fehrenbach got the finger for tripping, five of the locals peppered Bindy but could not beat him. With all back, the visiting crew again came from behind to tie the score, Tompkins pulling a neat solo rush. He faked a pass at defence to Kingdon and then swept in and slammed a hot thrust into the corner of the cage. A Coughlin-Starr try was close but, with F. Jopling off for boarding, the locals had to hustle to hold out the 'Shirts. Kingdon nearly notched on a breakaway and Harding booted out two savage thrusts by the K's first line. Heal went off with a bang on the ankle as the penalty was up. Huber got the air for hooking but Coughlin followed for tripping and Crowe came close on a nice rush. All were back with no damage done at the bell.

And The Blowoff

Both sides were careful to start the third but soon opened up. The Petes began to show an edge, tearing in and keeping the puck in the K's end of the rink, the local second line especially looking good. Heal made a nice rush and both teams were changing players often with tension high. A Bauer-Vrooman rush made Harding hop and it speeded up. Kingdon and Tompkins got through but missed the net, and then Blewett tallied the big one, aided by J. Jopling and Coughlin at close range. The trio had batted around in there for a minute and finally took the rubber away from Vrooman, Joe taking a slap at the rolling disc from an angle and golfing it home. Five of the 'Shirts tore up to press and then Blewett put the game on ice with another on J. Jopling's assist. The latter broke away but was caught up and circled the net to pass it out to Joe who stickhandled a bit to work up close to the cage and then pop it in. With the homesters still pressing, but losing some of their ginger, Crowe made it 5-2 near the end on a fast breakaway and nifty shot.

The teams:

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Ellis and Gardner; centre, Kingdon; wings, Starr and Tompkins; alternates, F. Jopling, Crowe, J. Jopling, Heal, Coughlin and Blewett.

Kitchener: Goal, Bindernagel; defence, Simon and Hause; centre, Bauer; wings, Grau and Vrooman; alternates, Fehrenbach, Kreuger, Smith, Kuntz, Lorentz and Huber.

Referee—Bert McCaffery of Toronto.

Leafs Tie Series Blanking Rangers 3-0

TORONTO, April 10. — (CP)—Three goals still separated August (Gus) Marker from a $1,000 bonus today but the veteran right winger man said he didn't care so long as Toronto Maple Leafs were a good deal nearer the Stanley Cup.

Marker scored the goal that started the Leafs on the way to a 3-0 victory over New York Rangers last night in the fourth game of the cup finals before 13,966 customers. Toronto tied the best of seven round at 2 victories apiece.

Gus Marker

It was only the 11th goal of the season for Marker and he remained three goals short of the total he must attain to win the $1,000 bonus he was promised if she should score 14 times this winter. But Gus said he didn't care if he really could be sure the Leafs were on the way to the world championhip.

"I think we're in now," he enthused. "This is the game that did it. We're loaded up with confidence now and the Rangers look like any other team in the National league."

The Opener

If this game "did it" then Marker's goal had a lot to do with "doing it." Late in the first period, while Captain Red Horner of Toronto and Alf Pike of the Rangers were serving penalties, Gus took a play from Hank Goldup and Pete Langelle and sank his goal while Goldup shielded the 20-foot shot.

Thereafter the Rangers struck often, steam-rolling to the Leaf blue-line and working their patterned plays from there. But always the Marker goal hung over their heads and the Leafs broke from the offensive often.

None of the Toronto counter-charges clicked until 16 minutes had passed in the third period, when Wally Stanowski took a pass from Jack Church and scored the second counter with a skidding shot as he swooped down on Goalie Dave Kerr. In the final minute Gordon Drillon made good on another dash, taking the puck from Sylvanus Apps and Nick Metz and finding an upper corner of the net.

Wally Stanowski

Markers goal, which forced the Rangers to gamble, changed the entire complexion of the series. It showed that the Broadway Blues lacked their usual cohesion without Alex Shibicky, whose sprained ankle may keep him out of Thursday's fifth game.

Rangers Experiment

In Shibicky's absence, the Rangers tried both Kilby MacDonald and Alf Pike on the forward line with Neil and Mac Colville. Neither fitted in and, as a result, too much strain was placed on the roughneck line of Phil Watson, Bryan Hextall and Wilf Hiller.

The defencemen, with Captain Art Coulter and Ott Heller in the van, actually led the New York attack. When they broke through Toronto's stiff backchecking, Walter (Turk) Broda was ready with his best goaltending of the entire camaign. He registered his first shutout since Dec. 9 and the first shutout anyone had scored against the Rangers in 10 playoff games.

R.A.F. Bombers

Planes Play Great Part

Reports of the naval engagements portrayed them as the greatest since the famous first Great War Battle of Jutland, May 31, 1916 and said both sides were supported for the first time in history by great swarms of bombing and combat planes.

The Admiralty, traditionally silent, neither confirmed nor denied vague but persistent reports that the 26,000-ton German battleship Gneisenau and four other German warships already had been sunk.

The air ministry announced that Royal Air Force bombers "drove home" a series of attacks against German cruisers in Bergenfjord on Norway's southwestern coast, and said "one cruiser was hit and seriously damaged."

Scandinavian reports, however, were more sanguinary. A Swedish traveller returning to Stockholm related that British ships had sunk a German cruiser at Svolvar, on the Vestfjord, opposite the far northern port of Narvik, Norway.

Farther south, at Trondheim, the Swedish press reported that British warships were believed ready to force a passaged into that port, where four German cruisers were said to be moored.

Other reports concerning that German-occupied city said British and German naval forces were manoeuvring offshore in the wind-lashed Norwegian sea.

2 British Cruisers Hit

The admiralty, denying a German announcement that four British warships had been damaged severely by bombing planes west of Bergen, said: "Two cruisers received very slight damage from splinters."

Summing up the reports from all sources, naval observers expressed belief that big-scale naval warfare was in progress from the Skaggerak on the south to Narvik, above the Arctic Circle.

Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, kept all-night vigil in the admiralty's fame old map room.

These observers said the ability of the German fleet to sally into the North and Norwegian seas to cover troop landing operations on Norway's coasts indicated that the British fleet deliberately allowed the enemy to reach the high seas in the hope of crippling or destroying it.

The German Fleet

Exact proportions of the German fleet are now known. It is almost all new construction. It is known to include four to six battleships, two pocket battleships, one or more aircraft carriers, 12 or more cruisers, and more than 20 destroyers, supplemented by submarines, torpedo boats and lesser craft. About 125 German warships were reported sighted moving out of the Baltic Sea Monday.

While Britain did not confirm reports that expeditionary forces already were en route to Norway, observers held that a smashing blow to the German fleet was a necessary forerunner.

Awaiting official reports on the naval results, Britain also watched Belgium and The Netherlands. Two Belgian fishing trawlers gave radio reports indicating that Britain was clearing all shipping from the North Sea, saying they had been taken to a control base by British ships and that Netherlands fishing boats were seen there. British northeast coast shippers decided to hold up all neutral shipping to be loaded for Scandinavia.

Some observers suggested that Germany's thrust into Scandinavia might possibly mean a large-scale operation against the Netherlands and Belgium.

Dutch Pessimistic

A reuters news agency dispatch from Amsterdam said government circles there "now are taking a more pessimistic view of the situation."

The quickening war tempo was accompanied by cancellation of leaves for Royal Air Force and British Expeditionary Force members in France.

Some observers contended that an effective Allied counter-stroke to Germany's Scandinavian drive would be an attempt to crack the Siegfried line. There was no indications, however, that the quiet of the western front might be shattered.

Military men pointed out that by invading Denmark and Norway, Germany got a number of airdromes which considerably lessened the striking distance to Britain's northeast coast.

The distances from Sylt Island and bases on the northwest German mainland are 600 to 700 miles, compared with about 400 miles from the Scandinavian bases.

Other observers argued that Germany acquired more liabilities than assets by her move. They said that German communication lines were greatly extended and that the Allies now were in a position to make a long-desired flank attack.

The food ministry said that occupation of Denmark would not affect British rationing for the present. The British said German seizure of large stocks of food in Denmark was only of temporary advantage because Denmark's dairy and livestock industry was largely dependent on feed imported from Britain.

MORE ABOUT—

General Odlum

A devout Christian and a member of the United Church of Canada, General Odlum's whole outlook on the grim conflict of Nazi Germany against the democratic powers is influenced by his religious convictions.

Resumed In Ten Years

On returning from the First Great War in which he commanded a battalion and later a brigade he stated publicly his belief that the war was not ended, only suspended. He was wrong in saying it would resume in 10 years but otherwise his opinions have been borne out by events. Asked why he distrusted the peace of 1918, he answered:—

"When men hate one another they are bound to fight one another. The last war left hatred in men's hearts. The only thing I could see which would remove that hatred was a Christian revival. And there was no Christian revival."

A veteran of two wars, the South African War and the First Great War, General Odlum enters the third convinced it is the grimmest struggle of the three, and his confidence of victory rests on spiritual rather than on material factors.

In the South African War the existence of the British Empire was never in danger. The First Great War was scarcely a life and death struggle because, with the powers ranged against Germany, the issue was never in doubt.

"This time we are definitely fighting for our lives," he declared.

"Based on my religious convictions I believe we are going to win. We will win this war by equality in physical factors plus a spiritual element.

That Feeling of Dread.

"Men who go out and slaughter others in cold blood, as the enemy does, can not have behind them the vision and the inspiration that we have. I think a murderer must always have a feeling of dread in his heart and can never have the exultant confidence of the man who knows his cause is just."

No mechanical superiority on land, sea or in the air will win the war, in General Odlum's opinion. The courage and the heart of men will win in the end. The Germans are not lacking in courage but in extreme trial they can not have the same heart as free men fighting for their freedom and their ideals.

Getting down to practical matters, General Odlum said he wanted the best men in Canada, irrespective of where they were or what their present jobs, for his divisional headquarters staff and to command the brigades.

"This war demands the fastest-working brains," he said. "If my brains won't work fast enough I must make way for someone else. In action we will move 10 times as fast and 10 times as far as in the last war. We will have no time to pore over maps and spend weeks planning the next move."

No Rivalry Wanted.

General Odlum wants no inter-divisional rivalry in the Canadian forces. He hopes to make the second division the equal of the first division but does not want it to get the idea it is better. There was too much of that in the last war.

In this he is sure of the co-operation of General McNaughton, to whom he referred as "Andy." It will be "Andy" and "Vic" when the two generals meet for they are old comrades from the last war, although their ways have parted in the interval of peace.

"I have studied harder at military science in the last 20 years than I ever did at school," the second division commander said. "I have given more work and thought to it than I have to my business."

General Odlum believes the function of a commanding officer is to inspire his men, plan operations and view his task broadly in relation to the general situation, leaving detail to subordinates. He followed that principle as commander of the 7th Battalion and the 11th Infantry Brigade in the last war.

Supply

the provision that contracts will, as heretofore, require the approval of the Governor-General in Council."

With New Department

Creation of the Munitions and Supply Department will bring little physical change. Wallace R. Campbell, Windsor, Ont., chairman of the War Supply Board, and other members of the Board will be associated with the new department.

They include G. E. Gravel, Montreal; W. C. Woodward, Vancouver; and Lt.-Col. W. A. Harrison, Saint John, N.B. The large technical and clerical organization of the War Supply Board also will remain. Mr. Howe has been minister supervising the war supply board since it replaced the old defence purchasing board last Nov. 1.

Need Has Now Arisen

When parliament adopted an act to create the munitions and supply department, such authority was not to be put into effect "until such time as Canada's war needs rendered this step necessary," the statement recalled. "In the opinion of the government that need has now arisen."

As minister of munitions and supply, Mr. Howe will have authority "to procure, purchase and acquire munitions of war and supplies and to procure the execution and carrying out of defence propects for, during, or respecting the present war, and to enter into contracts therefore.

"To control or supervize, and, if authorized by the governor-incouncil to procedure, purchase, and acquire or enter into contracts for the procuring, purchasing and acquisition of munitions of war and supplies for any of His Majesty's governments or for the government of any Allied or associated power."

A further function will be to organize the industrial resources of Canada, and to mobilize and co-ordinate such economic facilities.

Canada Can Make Up Loss

Loss to the United Kingdom of bacon and ham supplies from Denmark can be made up largely by Canada, according to officials of the bacon board set up here when the government contracted with the British food controller, early in the war, to supply 5,600,000 pounds of bacon and ham weekly.

This weekly export can be stepped up immediately to 6,600,000 pounds, an official said, because of a surplus now in store in Canada. This would wear down reserves but the weekly export could be maintained indefinitely at 6,000,000 pounds a week.

Possible loss of Norway and Denmark as a source of supply for Butter, Wood Pulp and Paper, may mean that greater demands will be made upon Canada for these materials. United States is expected to look to Canada for a greater volume of her paper requirements

Canada finds itself with a surplus of bacon just now because more pigs were brought into the abattoirs during the winter months than had been expected, and with pork prices higher in Canada than in the United States, 24,000,000 pounds of United States pork was brought into Canada during January and February before the Canadian government put a quota on these shipments. The quota limits the imports to the amount normally brought into Canada from United States.

Two-Hour

All German sentries carried rifles with bayonets, and had three or four long-handled grenades stuck in their belts. They barked their commands in German to the Danes, many of whom were unable to understand and were bewildered.

Crowd Ordered Back.

At one place, when an inquisitive crowd pressed too close to a sentry, he ordered it back and fired his rifle in the air. At another point a young Dane was halted by German troopers when he attempted to ride his bicycle down a closed street. He explained he had to get through to reach the building where he worked but the sentries laughed. "Work today?" one of them said. "This is a holiday."

King Christian's royal flag continued to fly over Amalienborg Castle, showing that he still was in residence.

The trim royal guards who usually patrol the castle square had doffed their shakos, however, for steel helmets like those of the new arrivals from the Reich.

A few blocks away, at the citadel barracks, German troopers were installing themselves in the old fortress, but it was impossible to estimate their number.

The Germans went about their business without opposition, although a few incidents occurred as Danes grumbled over the occupation of their city.

Many foreigners, hoping to leave the city, hastened to the airport and railroad stations, only to find them thronged with soldiers or closed to the public.

No Planes Available

The Copenhagen airport, from which planes usually depart every 15 minutes, presented a strange sight with only one small training plane visible on the entire field. Baggage with foreign labels, mostly British, was piled high in trucks. A few glum looking people sat around the waiting room, hoping against hope that air service might be resumed.

Thousands of Danes cycled to work as usual, pausing only to glance overhead as Nazi bombers roared over rooftops to drop pamphlets.

Merchant Fleet at Sea.

The swift German occupation caught many scores of Danish vessel in the harbor, but the major portion of the merchant fleet was at sea. Work along the waterfront appeared virtually normal.

Small crowds gathered around newspaper offices. When the papers appeared they were filled with German and Danish proclamations, and were quickly snapped up by the news-hungry public.

From time to time the radio blared instructions for the behavior of the populace. As night fell the city was put on a war-time blackout basis.

Sale of alcoholic beverages was barred.

The Danes talked little, and the general feeling seemed to be summed up by one citizen who said:

"There wasn't anything we could do about it. It was wise not to resist."

but surrendered when they saw it was useless to fight.

Danish civil life was reported to be proceeding much as usual, though D.N.B. said the Bourse in Copenhagen had been closed indefinitely, all commercial air traffic suspended, and a strict blackout enforced throughout the country.

The Norwegian capital capitulated in mid-afternoon yesterday, D.N.B. said, after the Norwegian government had retreated to the lake town of Hamar.

Subsequently, the news agency reported, the government was taken over by a Cabinet headed by Major Vidkun Quisling, Norwegian Nazi leader, who immediately called upon the people to cease resistance.

Two members of the old regime led by Premier Johan Nygarrsvold were said to have joined the new cabinet.

The first contingent of German soldiers landed at Copenhagen at about 4.30 a.m. yesterday, newspaper reports said, and proceeded "in warlike formations" toward the city's citadel while Nazi bombers roared overhead dropping leaflets appealing to the civilian population not to resist.

Not After Sweden.

It was insisted that German action to "protect the neutrality of the northern states" was finished, and it was stated that no steps against Sweden were contemplated.

Germans described the military occupation of strategic points in Norway so general and so thorough that the British-French Allies under no conceivable circumstances could obtain a foothold in Scandinavia.

At the same time they denied that Germany had occupied the Danish possession of Iceland or Greenland which might have brought the war closer to Canada.

"Germany hasn't the remotest interest in either Iceland or Greenland, and they are militarily of no significance in Germany's fight for existence," it was said. "These lands remain completely under the jurisdiction of Denmark."

At the same time an announcement said the German minister to Norway had obtained an audience with King Haakon at noon (6 a.m. EST) to clarify the situation there and determine who is responsible for governing Norway.

The German minister, the announcement said, was instructed to ask the King if the government of Premier Nygarrsvold was functioning or if it could deal with the 'government" proclaimed yesterday in Oslo by Major Vikdun Quisling, Norway's "Little Fuehrer" and the leader of its small Nazi Party.

Mines Finish Bluecher

Of warfare in the north the communique said "operations at sea still are underway."

"Several explosions" shook the Bluecher before she sank after running into the Norwegian mine barrier. The Germans said they had silenced the heaviest Norwegian coastal batteries but not until the Bluecher "suffered severe damage." The mines finished her.

The Bluecher, a heavy cruiser, was completed only last August. She had eight 8-inch guns, 24 anti-aircraft guns, 12 torpedo tubes and three airplanes. The number of her crew was a naval secret.

The Karlsruhe, built in 1927, had a normal complement of 571 men. Armed with nine 5.9-inch guns, 14 anti-aircraft guns and 12 torpedo tubes, she carried two planes.

City Engineer Served For 27 Years

A record for service as city engineer, believed to pe without parallel in Canada, is held by Roy H. Parsons, who observes to-day his 27th anniversary of his appointment to the position of city engineer for Peterborough.

In 1913 when he came from Ottawa and assumed his new duties, Chambers Street, the short connection street between Brock and Hunter streets, was the only paved road in the city limits. Since that time 16½ miles of concrete pavement have been laid, together with 8½ miles of curb and gutter, 18 miles of sewers and 21¾ miles of concrete sidewalks. Along with this there has been more than 2,000 private house connections made when the sewers were being connected, and close to 1,200 made since the sewers were laid.

Only One Storm Drain.

Twenty-five years ago Peterborough had not one storm drain, but to-day it is said for its size, to be the best drained city in the province.

During Mr. Parson's term of office a sewage disposal plant costing $220,000 was built, and besides spending $18,000 on small bridges, the Hunter Street Bridge was built at a cost of $560,000. The total expenditures in the Board of Works Department for the 27 years was $4,698,570.

Mr. Parsons is a graduate in science and civil engineering of the University of Michigan. He is a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada, also of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario. He has taken a keen interest and active part in the affairs of the Children's Aid Society, and and is the oldest member in point of service on the board of directors, having held office continually since 1916. He was one of the five incorporators when the organization was incorporated as the Children's Aid Society of the city and county a few years ago, thus giving it legal status under the Ontario Welfare Act.

Charter Member of Kiwanis.

He was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club, and has helped materially in making Peterborough the City Beautiful. Photography, gardening, and hunting are his hobbies.

The pavement on Chambers Street was laid in 1912 and the total mileage of pavement given does not include the retread surfaces.

In 1913 when Mr. Parsons came to Peterborough the population was 19,300, and at that time wooden sidewalks were in vogue. To-day there are no board walks left, as the policy has been to build cinder paths, because they have low maintenance cost and offer less hazard to pedestrians. The first sewers were built in Peterborough in 1897, and the first sidewalks in 1898.

Stanley Lapp Dies In Toronto

Asa Stanley Lapp, 541 Harvie avenue, Toronto, son of Mrs. A. Lapp of Peterborough and brother of Cecil Lapp and Mrs. Gordon Miller of this city, died suddenly in Christie Street Hospital on Monday morning. Mr. Lapp had been ill for the past year and a half, but had recovered sufficiently to be back at work. He suffered a heart attack and died unexpectedly Monday. He was 46 years of age.

Mr. Lapp, who moved to Peterborough from Cobourg with his parents only a few months before the outbreak of World War I, had an enviable record, during which he served his country throughout the entire conflict, being on duty four years and nine months in all.

He received his education in Cobourg Public and High schools, and while he enlisted in the 2nd Canadian Heavy Battery, the commanding officer of which was Lt.-Col. J. W. Odell, one of hic high school teachers. The day after war broke out he left Peterborough and returned to his regiment which was immediately called up. With it, he served in 1914 on the west and east coasts, in defence work, and went overseas in the same unit and under the same commanding officer, in June of 1915 as a sergeant, which rank he held for the duration of the war.

Mr. Lapp returned to Peterborough after demobilization and entered the Test Department of the Canadian General Electric Company here. He remained here for four years, and then transferred to the Moloney Electric Company as a test engineer. He remained with this same company for 18 years, until his death.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. A. Lapp of Peterborough (his father, Frederick Lapp, died some time ago); his wife, formerly Pearl Walton; and three children, Gordon, Doreen, and Helen, all at home; also one sister, Mrs. Gordon Miller of Peterborough; and two brothers, Charles of Ottawa and Cecil of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held in Toronto on Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.

Failing To Get Permits Cost Drivers $5

Apparently Gus Hogan of Hastings has a poor sense of timing; at least he chose the wrong moment to do a little fast driving when he selected a time when he hadn't a driving licence with him and when a traffic officer was in sight.

As a result there was a chase with Provincial Traffic Gordon Broughton doing the pursuing, and this morning in traffic court Hogan pleaded guilty to two traffic charges. For speeding on a provincial highway he was fined $20 and $3 costs and for failing to produce his driving licence when called upon to do so was fined $5 and $3 costs.

A number of other motorists who hadn't their driving permits with them when Traffic Officer Broughton stopped them were also fined $5 and costs on written pleas of guilty today. They included John Mervin, Robert Spence, Lakefield; Henry J. Gordon, F. G. Stinson, Millbrook; Anson H. Forster and Earl McGill. A similar charge against Richard C. Dalton, Toronto, was adjourned pending proof of service.

Speeding on city streets cost E. C. Ferguson $5 and costs on a written plea of guilty and Alf. Yateman was fined a similar amount when he pleaded guilty to driving carelessly at Hunter and Mark Streets.

Anton R. Lendi To Give Lecture

The history of the oldest of all demomracies, Switzerland, from early history to present day government will be told in St. Paul's Church next Monday night, April 15, when Anton R. Lendi will give an address under the auspices of Frazer Auxiliary on the subject "The Romance of Switzerland."

Mr. Lendi, native of Switzerland and educated in public and private schools in that country and in Germany and Italy has travelled extensively and has a wide reputation as a speaker. His address will be illustrated by lantern slides, the first set of which gives the audience an idea of the type of country the Swiss had to defend and develop; the spot where the story of William Tell was enacted in one of the pictures shown. A movie of Swiss life of the present day "Mountain Peasants at Work and Play" is also shown. Following is a second set of beautifully colored slides that take the audience on a well-extended tour of the cities, valleys and mountains; many peaks well known to mountain climbers and tourists the world over are shown and the explanation of the scenes by the speaker is both interesting and educational. The photographic excellence of these pictures has been commented on wherever they have been shown.

Take More Care Frost Urges

TORONTO, April 10 — (CP). — Leslie Frost, Conservative member of the Legislature for Victoria and a member of the special committee inquiring into Ontario judicial procedure, remarked at the committee session to-day that the fact 10 per cent. of cases in Assizes and General Sessions Courts are dismissed, through 'no bills' might indicate that "magistrates are not as careful as they might be."

Clifford Magone, committee counsel, said that last year 119 bills were presented to the Grand Jury at the various Provincial Assizes and 109 true bills were returned and 10 "no bills." In General Sessions 160 bills were presented of which 147 were returned.

Mr. Frost recalled the statement before the committee by Fred Barlow, Master of the Supreme Court, that if Grand Juries were abolished 'Magistrates and Crown Attorneys might be more careful at preliminary hearings."

Helping the society has become a Mitchell custom.

Bridgenorth Boys Celebrate With Sound Of "Artillery"

Peterborough's hockey championship was celebrated with a grand bang at Bridgenorth this morning while the city fans slept. In fact it was on toward daybreak when a lone car arrived back from Kitchener, and "back" means Bridgenorth, with Don Crowe, Eddie Starr, Bun Kingdon and Frank and Jack Jopling, and Hugh Davis, the driver of the taxi.

The Bridgenorth community was sleeping soundly with the satisfaction of knowing that they had a hand in the victory. Some inspiration came upon the group as they arrived back from the bright lights and the cheering and all the rest of the high timing. Maybe it was the Jopling boys themselves. At any rate they knew their way around. They felt around in their own homes until they located three guns, and then went to another Jopling house, probably Jim's, and got a couple more firearms. The story goes that they had five or six of these fowling pieces.

With this supply of artillery the gang gathered around down in the centre of the community, and then with a one-two-three they pulled six triggers on the same beat and as one of the villagers told it "there was one helluvan explosion." Then they did a brief parade, firing the guns as they went along. People rushed to the windows wondering "what on earth is that," and more disturbed than usual because of the bed time war news.

The boys fired off about forty rounds of ammunition, and by that time most of the neighbors knew that the two Bridgenorth boys were back from the hockey wars, and had helped a lot in bringing home the O.H.A. intermediate championship.

Down at the Alparka bar this morning they were recalling that there was no celebration last night as contrasted with 1926. Well, the regulars at the McLeod buffet will probably be gratified to know that Joplingville made up for the local quiet with the noisiest celebration, and only a brief one at that, they have heard since the last war ended.

Crossing Street Stirling Woman Is Fatally Hurt

BONARLAW, April 10 (ENS) — Mrs. Alex Martin, 72, of Stirling, who was struck by a car while crossing the street in Stirling on Monday night, died in Belleville hospital last evening.

Both her legs were broken when she was struck by a car, allegedly driven by Burton Sharp of Rawdon in a heavy fog that was so bad the driver said he did not see Mrs. Martin. He was not held.

Mrs. Martin, formerly Mary Reddick, is survived by her husband, Alex Martin of Stirling and a sister, Mrs. Thomas McKeown of Norwood. She was born and lived most of her life in Rawdon, and retired to Stirling a few years ago. The funeral will be held in Stirling on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

Two Men Blamed For Car Accident

"In view of the conditions and the state of the road I consider that the action of the accused in stopping his automobile in the position indicated amounted to lack of due care and was without reasonable consideration for others," declared Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning in finding Harold Donaldson, 21-year-old Otonabee farmer, guilty of careless driving.

The charge against Donaldson, arising out of an accident on Highway 7 some weeks ago, was heard last week and His Worship had reserved judgment until this morning.

Provincial Traffic Officer Gordon E. Broughton prosecuted and Donaldson was defended by W. B. Gordon.

In giving judgment Magistrate Langley expressed the opinion that while he found Donaldson guilty as charged the accident could have been avoided by greater care by the driver behind, Frank Hotts of Washago whose car collided with that of Donaldson after the latter had stopped his machine on the highway to pick up a pedestrian who wanted a lift.

"I think a charge should have been laid against the other man," declared W. B. Gordon.

"If it were not for the fifteen-day limit I would indicate to the officer that I believed it to be his duty to also charge Hotts with careless driving," Magistrate Langley stated when the question of costs was being considered.

Donaldson was fined $5 and costs amounting to $12.25.

The Rambling REPORTERS

STOOD AT ATTENTION

Active service units and those prepared to serve Canada exchanged salutes last night in one of the most impressive episodes of an impromptu nature seen in this city in many a day.

The tribute between active service and non-permanent militia men was entirely unrehearsed and passed unnoticed by most people of Peterborough. But to the people who stood at the corner of Hunter street, watching the Prince of Wales Rangers march down George street last night, it was a thing that brought with it a thrill of pride.

Two privates of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, wearing their active service uniforms, stood at the corner of George and Hunter streets and as the Rangers approached they snapped to attention. Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, M.C., caught view of them out of the corner of his eye as the hand of both flashed to the salute and he returned the salute smartly. While the Rangers passed by the two men remained stiffly at attention.

A small thing, perhaps, and yet an incident that tells a great deal. For it tells of the spirit of oneness that is the army's in time of war, whether that army be called into active service yet or not. Civilians stood idly and loosely watching a parade, but two privates were smartly at attention as other soldiers marched by.

Drunken Party Frauds Bring Terms

WHITBY, April 10 (Special). — Hugh Watson, Paul J. O'Neill, Roy D. McIntyre and Harry Gassien, convicted of conspiracy to defraud, were Tuesday sentenced to penitentiary terms by Judge D. B. Coleman. Gassien, self-confessed bootlegger at whose home James Foley, elderly farmer, was kept in "a drunken condition," was sentenced to three and a half years in Kingston Penitentiary. The three Toronto men were each sentenced to three years.

"I feel no sympathy for you men. I can't find a single extenuating circumstance that applies to any one of you," Judge Coleman told the quartet. He said he accepted in its entirety the evidence of Dolly Shaw, Crown witness, who was "on the party," that "O'Neill and Watson persuaded her to change her evidence in this courtroom."

"McIntyre was just a bit smarter than the other two men when he told her that if Officer Clarke asked if she had seen them she was to agree. He was not so smart when he gave her five dollars."

Evidence Changed.

Miss Shaw changed her evidence of the preliminary hearing that she saw O'Neill enter the Coboconk branch to obtain blank cheques and later heard him inquire the way to Foley's farm. When she denied these previous admissions she was charged with perjury last Thurday. On Friday she entered the box to testify that she had been persuaded by O'Neill and Watson to switch her statements. Miss Shaw was acquitted on the perjury count when the Crown offered no evidence against her in police court today.

Judge Coleman declared that the education, bearing, and good appearance of the three Toronto men made their conduct all the more deplorable. "Watson was a smooth, good-looking young gentleman of 33. He did not make such a smooth impression in the witness box. What was he, a young married man, doing in a bootlegger's, associating with an old farmer?"

"You, Gassien, you swore in the witness box at this hearing, that James Foley was your friend," he continued. "How did you treat him? Knowing his weakness for women and liquor, you betrayed him to your fellow wolves. To you, Watson, O'Neill and McIntyre, you are bringing disgrace on your wives and families. You apparently had an excellent chance in life yet, from the evidence here, all you appear to be is three drunken scoundrels.

Witness Pitiful

"I find that O'Neill went into the bank to get blank cheques with which to defraud Foley. It was really pitiful to see O'Neill in the box trying to devise an explanation of why he got the cheques when he had no bank account there or anywhere else."

Inspector E. D. Hammond of the Provincial Police, and Provincial Officer W. H. Clark were commended for "the most efficient way in which you pieced the tangled skeins of evidence together," and Judge Coleman also congratulated Crown Attorney A. F. Annis on his handling of the Crown's case.

Judge Coleman remarked that, "as long as I sit on the bench I hope I may never again hear the term 'party' applied to such disgraceful proceedings."

He excoriated Gassien with the remark that "you betrayed Foley to your fellow-wolves. I don't believe you know how to tell the truth under oath or anywhere else."

All four had been charged with defrauding Foley through false cheques obtained during what Watson admitted to be "one long drinking bout."

Judge Coleman held that Foley had been "plied with beer and whiskey," and said he believed Dolly Shaw's story that the whole matter had been arranged beforehand and the four men deliberately set out to "trap Foley."

Lindsay Reduces Its Relief Lists By 396

LINDSAY, April 10 — (ENS). — Lindsay Council heard an encouraging relief report from Welfare Chairman Alderman Lewis Gordon Monday night, when he announced that March relief was only 29 per cent the cost of relief in March, 1939. Only 271 persons are on relief in Lindsay at the present time, he said, a figure that is considerably smalled than the 667 that had to be provided for in March, 1939. The per capita cost to the town is $1.69 as compared to a 1939 per capita cost of $2.32.

Council decided to purchase a new chassis for the small fire truck. A committee, Aldermen Earl Vanstone and L. W. Jordan, Reeve William Langdon and Fire Chief Herb. McCullum, will determine the type best suited and will advertise for tenders.

Alderman Alvin McLennan will continue the work of Industrial Commissioner B. L. McLean, who was forced to withdraw from that position due to pressure of his private business. Alderman McLennan will work in association with Industrial Chairman Alderman C. E. Ferguson.

Members of the Lindsay Hydro-Electric Commission strongly protested the action of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission in taking various sums of money from the local commission which, the members felt, was being used for the same purpose. During the past five years, it was revealed, the Lindsay commission has paid about $20,000 for purposes listed as stabilization, contingency and obsolescence.

"They are just playing on words," said Commissioner Dr. H. D. Logan. "What is the difference between stabilization and contingency?"

"I suppose they'll use our money to help pay for that new building they are erecting in Toronto," Dr. L. V. Shier said.

The secretary was instructed to write the H.E.P.C. asking an explanation of the accounts.

Humane Sunday Set For April 14

"Humane Sunday" will be observed in Peterborough on April 14, it was decided at the monthly meeting of the Humane Society held this week. Clergymen throughout the city have been invited to co-operate in the movement which has now become international in scope.

The Peterborough Humane Society not only prevents suffering and cruelty among animals, but it is a very real service to all citizens, as it is the only organization one can appeal to when an animal is in distress.

Picture a community of about twenty-five thousand people deprived of the services the Hume Society renders, injured, hungry, diseased dogs and cats roaming uncontrolled about our streets and our playgrounds. The society houses the lost, feeds the starving, cares for the sick and injured and destroys painlessly those beyond help.

Tag Day, Saturday, May 4

The annual Tag Day for the Society will be held on Saturday, May 4th, and all citizens are cordially invited to keep the event in mind and to co-operate in the great public service being done.

At the recent meeting of the society, the executive decided to seek the co-operation of the Jackson Park Commissioners to try and prevent the carrying of firearms and air-rifles, as it has been found that a number of boys have been shooting at birds in the park, many having been found dead.

It is hoped that the younger generation will soon realize that it is much better to shoot birds with a camera than with a rifle, as with the latter, a bird's life is at an end.

Dr Thomas Johnson, V.S., the devoted inspector of the Society, whose services have proved invaluable, celebrated the 50th anniversary of commencing practice of his profession recently. All his friends in the Humane Society and others wish him many more years of usefulness, and hope to see him back at work shortly, following his recent illness.

Gives Definition Of True Friendship

Speaking on "Friendship," Rev. E. W. Rowland addressed sixty members of George Street Church Y.P.U. Tuesday evening at the weekly meeting in George Street Church. True friendship, stated the speaker, contains loyalty, sympathy and understanding. To illustrate, he gave a definition of a friend as "one who comes in the back door when others are going out the front."

Miss Dorothy Smith, chairman of the Christian Missions Group, under which the meeting was conducted, thanked the speaker on behalf of Y.P.U. members. The meeting opened with a "sing-song" conducted by Miss Loretta McDougall, and the devotional period with quiet music and a call to worship. Miss Audrey Oliver read the Scripture lesson; Miss Mary Duncan led in prayer, and Miss Smith read a fine poem, "The Christ of Common Folks."

The president, Mrs. L. Ash, conducted the business period in which she announced that the play, 'April's Fool,' presented last week, was a huge success. Next week's meeting is in charge of the Christian Citizenship Group. Recreation was enjoyed under the direction of Miss McDougall.

St. John's W.A. Helps With Appeals

Extra-Cent-a-Day appeals for the Women's Auxiliary, as announced at the April meeting of the W. A. of St. John's Evening Branch, included furnishings for a Boys' Hostel at Athabaska, $60.00; purchases for the parsonage at Beeton, $230.00; Diocese of Caledonia, repairs to the Northern Cross, $150.00. These were for the month of March.

Mrs. M. Montgomery was chosen to represent the branch at the annual meeting, to be held at St. Anne's, Toronto, on April 29. Miss Lancaster gave an interesting review of the study book.

The meeting opened in the Guild room with a hymn and the reading of the Litany, taken from the W. A. missionary service. Rev. W. P. Robertson took the prayers and gave a brief and interesting talk. Mrs. J. Bell gave the Bible reading.

Reports were given by Miss A. Stout, secretary; Mrs. D. Milburn, treasurer, who reported a substantial balance on hand; Mrs. B. Ottewell, Dorcas convener; Mrs. Bett, sick and visiting report; Mrs. J. Substantial Sum Sent To Presbyterial Treasury

The April meeting of George Street Women's Missionary Society was held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. I. Brown, president, in the chair. While members were gathering, Mrs. W. P. Purdy played softly on the piano, "The Old, Old Story." After the usual call to worship and a few moments' spent in silent prayer, a verse of the hymn, "Breathe on me, Breath of God" was repeated.

The treasurer's report for the past quarter showed the sum of $225.00 sent to the Presbyterial treasury. Mrs. J. W. Hales, for the Sick and Visiting Committee, reported 247 calls made, and Mrs. A. White, corresponding secretary, stated that 13 letters had been written to the bereaved, and six others. Collectors were appointed for the Bible Society canvas, to be held in the early part of May. Announcements included a shower to be held for the bale at the next meeting in May; of a tea to be held on the 17th of April at the home of Mrs. Thomas Barrie, Water street, for the W.C.T.U., and of a Mission Band tea.

On motion of Mrs. F. Mather and Mrs. W. J. Hales, Miss S. Courtice was appointed as missionary for special prayer. Miss Courtice is now on furlough, but expects to return to Japan this summer. On motion of Mrs. Purdy, a letter was requested to be sent to Mrs. W. H. Cunningham at Montreal, thanking her for her services to the society, particularly as pianist for so many years. Mrs. W. H. Morton reported 101 books read during this quarter.

Miss Might took charge of the devotional period for Group C. A Bible lesson with echoes from the Madras Conference was given by Mrs. M. C. Parr, Mrs. J. B. Parker and Mrs. W. P. Purdy. Mrs. Macfarlane led in prayer. Mrs. W. J. Routley and Mrs. Gordon Marshall sang very beautifully, "'Neath the Old Olive Tree." Miss Might reviewed the 6th Chapter of the study book on "The Church in India." The meeting closed with prayer by the president.

"Peace" Theme Of Mission Program

As announced "Peace" was the theme upon which the program for the Jean Wagar Mission Circle was based and drew the unusually fine attendance of thirty-eight girls to their meeting on Monday night.

Mrs. A. Wilson, Westcott street, was the gracious hostess. In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. C. Searles, Jessie Martin, first vice-president, presided.

The appropriate theme for these days of unrest and war was presented in the opening service of worship. "The peace past understanding" as arranged by Marion Wagar. The service was concluded with the girls joining in repeating the 14th chapter of St. John's Gospel in unison, and prayer was offered by Mary Easson.

The challenging story of a Chinese cripple girl who overcame her handicap was read by Nancy Pooley. A delight piano solo played by Dorothy Taylor was very much enjoyed, as were vocal selection by Mary Hanlon and a duet by Mrs. Gerald Cuff and Margaret Smart. The hymns were also in keeping with the peace theme.

In a clear, concise and interesting resume of the study book, Anne Deyell brought a vivid picture of the mysticism of the Hindu religion as portrayed in the life of grandfather Roy. The death of this devout old man by the side of the sacred river Ganges was described as well as the ceremonial funeral rites observed by his family.

In contrast to this, was the picture presented of his progressive young grandchildren who are striving for the freedom of India.

The business consisted of a welcome to the four new members and to the former prsident, Mrs. S. Rowe.

The next meeting takes the form of a shower for the bale, to be held at the home of Jean Meeks, McGill street. Announcement was also made of the mother and daughter banquet to be held by the W.M.S. on Friday evening.

An interesting feature of the Circle this year is the reading contest in which several members are taking part and a number of books distributed by the librarian, Nancy Pooley. A fitting and beautiful climax to this peace program was the candle-lighting service led by Jean Meeks and with Nancy Pooley, Dorothy Drysdale, Eleanor Fife, Hazel McLaren, Constance Wagar, and Jean Hammond, each lighting a candle for the various types of peace, to the accompaniment of the soft hymns of peace played by Anne Deyell. The lowered lights helped to make this an effective tableau which closed with the solo, "Wonderful Peace" sung by Hazel McLaren with the assisting girls joining in the chorus and an earnest prayer for peace by Jean Hammond.

It is intersting to note that this last service was the composition of the Circle president, Mrs. Searles.

The thanks and appreciation of the Circle to Mrs. Wilson as hostess for the evening, to the committee, Vera Leggitt, Dorothy Drysdale and Eleanor Fife and to all adding to the success of the meeting was expressed by Jessie Martin and endorsed by all. A jolly bean-guessing contest was enjoyed and won by Hazel McLaren, after which delightful refreshments were served.

Systematic W.M.S. Giving Has Increased

Wesley Hall was the setting for the April meeting of St. James' W.M.S. Auxiliary, with the president Mrs. W. Rose, presiding.

The hymn, "Who Givest All" opened the service and was followed with prayer by Mrs. W. H. Buckler.

A brief business session revealed an encouraging financial statement in which systematic giving has increased the receipts by monthly envelops considerably over last year.

Letters of acknowledgement for flowers, letters, cards, and other kindnesses were read by the secretary from grateful members.

The corresponding secretary was instructed to express the thanks of the Auxiliary for donations from the Treasure Seekers' Bible Class and the King's Own Class. She is also to send cards to invalids in the home of Auxiliary friends.

Plans for the Mother and Daughter banquet, April 12, were completed and this annual event promises to be a most successful one.

Department secretaries reported as follows: Mrs. McAdams for Associate Helpers; Mrs. A. Cripps for Supply Work; Mrs. E. M. Davis for Baby Band, and Mrs. E. Beavis gave a stirring temperance prayer.

Mrs. George H. Rowe announced for the W.C.T.U. a Spring tea to be held April 17, at the home of Mrs. T. Barrie, 757 Water street, from 2.30 to 6 o'clock.

The devotional part of the program was in charge of Mrs. E. R. Frost, group leader, who read the call to worship and gave the theme as "The missionary purpose of God to spread the Gospel and promote peace in all the world."

Assisting in this service of worship was Mrs. Ernest Deyell, who read the scripture lesson; Miss M. Deyell, who received the offering and gave a dedicatory prayer.

A period of intercession for peace was led by Mesdames E. L. Woodley, G. H. Rowe, A. Cripps and Mrs. B. Pitchford concluding with a call to prayer and thought.

In her paper on Christian Stewardship, Miss M. Deyell gave various references in support of this method of giving, from both Old and New Testament, convincing her audience that this is the ideal Chritsian form of raising funds.

"Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love," was the beautiful promise in solo by Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, while the hymns selected were also in keeping with the spirit of the theme, with Mrs. H. F. Doig accompanist.

The study was taken from the third chapter of "Moving Millions" and dealt with those living in the rural areas—their customs and problems, in a splendid review by Mrs. F. McAdams, the convener for study this year.

The benediction brought this Spring meeting to a successful conclusion.

17 Young People Parade Talents In Knox Playlets

The Young People's Union of Knox United Church will repeat tonight the three one-act plays which they presented to an interested audience Tuesday evening. The three short plays provided a varied program and gave opportunity for no fewer than 17 of the young people to parade their talents. All gave a creditable performance and behaved like troupers in spite of the fact that it was, for many, a first performance.

The curtain lifted first on "The Doom of Saul," a biblical drama written by the minister, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt. He also played the part of Saul, King of Israel. An able supporting cast including Bill McKinley as Agag, King of Amalik, Don McKinley as Saul's servant, Orm Benson, as Samuel, Paddy Watson as the Witch of Endor, and Don Charlton as Saul's Armour-bearer. Betty Allen was narrator. The play follows closely the original scriptural narrative and offers a vivid and accurate portrayal of this moving and dramatic story.

"Gas Light," the second of the playlets, is a Mid-Victorian mystery drama which Rev. Zufelt adapted for modern stage presentation. Gladys Gerrard and Ralph Charlton were well cast in the leading roles of Bella and Charles Chesterton. Irene Graham (Nancy) and Gladys Brierly (Elizabeth), two maids, offered fine support for the chief actors. Warren Trotter as Sergeant Detective Weese, also performed splendidly. This play was under the direction of Lloyd Richards.

Almost all of the comedy was reserved for the last play, "The Professor Roars." In this fun-packed drama, all five parts were extremely well taken. Stuart Laing, as Professor Andrew Fromkin, Helen Ward, as Emily Fromkin (the professor's wife), and Mrs. A. Huffman as Aunt Justina, handled the major parts in grand style, while Lee Marcy and Billy Carstairs, the live-wire co-eds, were portrayed in very able fashion by Marjorie and Connie Lewis. Norman Hughes was director of this delightful farce comedy.

Lighting and stage effects were created by Ray Gillis, assisted by Mr. George Davis. Scenery was designed by Mr. Harold Lewis. Mrs. Alex Wedlock played several enjoyable piano numbers during intermissions. Curtains were drawn by Betty Jory and Irene Brierly. Margaret Gertly was at the door.

Tonight's presentation will enable many more to see some fine work by the young people, as well as affording the last opportunity of witnessing these three novel and interesting plays.

Accommodation Is Crowded At The Shelter

Need of increased accommodation at the Children's Shelter was stressed in fact and comment at the meeting of the Children's Aid Society Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, presiding, reported that at present there are 21 wards in the society's home with resulting over-crowding of the sleeping quarters.

"It is something we should let the public know," H. B. Cowan suggested. "We might as well let the facts speak for themselves because if we kept quiet about them we might be more liable to criticism."

Alderman Dutton said that before long, "We may be considering getting rid of the Shelter and finding more effective ways of doing the thing that has to be done."

Action Is Needed.

Alderman Stocker declared that if there was drastic action taken against parents who in one way and another were neglecting their children the demand on the Shelter would be greatly reduced. Several other member referred to the disposition of some parents to shift their responsibilities to others.

"We are doing more work than we did ten years ago," Rev. Dr. Barr said, "and that is not a reflection on anybody. "As we increase our efficiency, our responsibility increases. Years ago certain work used to be let slip, but today we are in a position to take care of it. However, we cannot consider ourselves an efficient society yet, because we are not supplied with the means of getting the efficiency which we know we should have."

The engagement of another social worker, an assistant to the superintendent, Miss Rachael Young, is regarded as a primary need of the Society, especially toward the end of preventive enterprise that would overtake the conditions which have increased the Shelter's little company to 21.

It was suggested that a student might be engaged for the summer months, and Miss Young was authorized to obtain information as to what could be done in that respect.

Rev. Dr. Barr remarked that the Society would find itself on a solid basis if the county council would "give us the help to go alongside the city's."

The Number Doubled.

The number of children in the Shelter on March 1 was 10; yesterday it was 21.

Miss Young's review for the month included this information:

Six children, all from the city, were admitted to our care during March. One child was placed in a free adoptive home, and the other five are in the Shelter. Four of these children, who are from one family, come from a serious home condition and the decision as to what should be done has yet to be made by the magistrate. The other child was placed by an aunt, when six months old, with a man separated from his wife but living with another woman. This other woman dies and, as far as we can find out, the foster father and child wandered hither and yon. We do know too, that the environment at times was far from satisfactory. The foster father was killed in the Fall of 1939, and the child was without guardianship. As she had already been shuffled about at least eight times, it was felt some permanent plan should be made. As in the previous case, the case has not yet been decided in court. This child has suffered tremendously from her poor environment and it is our opinion that unless her future environment is satisfactory she would have been classed as "queer."

Miss Young also reported 71 office interviews, 140 visits, 68 telephone calls and 238 letters sent out during March. "One family who had moved out of the county returned and will need a great deal of supervision if the home is to be kept fit for the children. Our interest discontinued in 14 families. While we feel they will manage, there is no doubt that three would have benefitted greatly from further supervision, but as time would not permit it we shall hope a further contact will not be necessary. On March 31, 1939, we had 79 families under our supervision; and on March 31, 1940, we have 125,—an increase of 46%.

Under the Unmarried Parents' two new cases came to our attention and we discontinued our interest in five, leaving 59 cases under our supervision. We are glad to report that this is only an increase of five in comparison with March of last year."

Miss Young praised the work of the sewing committee of which Mrs. W. J. Oke is convener.

"Mrs. Oke has worked against adverse conditions,—the Shelter quarantine for six weeks, the outbreak of the war with its great needs in the sewing line, and hence with great difficulty in getting assistance in sewing for our children, the shifting population at the Shelter. It is well that two in particular be mentioned, Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Mason, who when unable to get to the Shelter worked at home."

Home and School Association News

ONTARIO CONVENTION

The following notes, taken from the diary of a delegate to the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, Inc., held recently in Toronto, will undoubtedly be of interest to both parents and teachers.

Of the Question and Answer session Friday morning she records the following examples:— Question: What should an association do that has a president who agrees with everything—to gain favor? Answer: Balance this situation through a fair-minded executive committee. Question: What may be done to receive more interest from the teachers? Answer: Grant them a subscription of The Review, first, then remember the importance of inviting one teacher and the principal to the executive meetings. The teacher attending may have part of the months' program in hand. Invitations may be extended to teachers for something of interest to parents on a program. These contributions from the teachers are optional or voluntary, never should any feeling of compulsion come into them as the teachers' work is rightfully over by four o'clock.

In the Home Education session, writes this delegate, an important point brought out is that the greatest help to the child in the home is to teach him to help himself. The thought in home training is to guide and guard the child as a mother without smothering the natural expression of self-reliance. In working for right habits at home, the parents or persons in charge, above all, must be patient in presenting the repetition of right habits. Quiet, it was emphasized, is the only suitable atmosphere for study in the home.

The delegate was much interested in the talk on "School Health Education" as given by Dr. E. P. Lewis, Director of Out-Patients' Department of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital. "First," Dr. Lewis said, "health is the state of well being. This 'Being' of the individual includes his mental attitude which makes for happiness. The combination of happy mind and clean, wholesome habits makes up the happy child or person." Dr. Lewis also made an impressive and commanding statement to the hundreds of delegates at the Educational Convention luncheon, when he said, "Children do not necessarily inherit wrong habits—but parents do set the pattern children often copy, such as being sullen and unsociable."

In the afternoon "gathering together of opinions," the delegates continues in her diary, "I heard Dr. MacDougall of the Department of Education speak on School Legislation. He has been doing a great pioneer work in Northern Ontario, where hundreds of children receive their education from school cars. Dr. Goldring, Superintendent of Schools for Toronto, gave examples of improvements in methods and equipment for teaching today.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 11.

Under unusually expansive and productive planetary influences, this day should be one of outstanding accomplishment, with commonplace matters moving into successful channels, and with the artistic, cultural, social and philanthropic urges finding gratifying expression in generous returns for efficient effort. It is a time to work for achieving the goal of heart's desire, both in practical as well as sentimental objectives. Particular success may be realized in connection with groups of kindred ideals and with the support of elders.

Those whose birthday it is may look to a year of much gratification in return for lofty ideals and exalted purpose, with high aims and aspirations fostered by expansive, warming and generous influences. Group work in connection with social, humane or cultural programs is especially likely to succeed, and the hearty support of elders and old institutions is assured. Romantic, artistic, and intellectual aspirations are encouraged as well. Work with high purpose.

A child born on this day may have rich endowments for attaining prominence and prestige in the higher walks of life—humane, cultural, artistic and social. Romance and good fellowship also bless its life.

A ball of camphor put away with the silver when storing will help to prevent tarnishing. So does a lining of blotting paper in the drawer.

Soap the folds of collars and cuffs of men's shirts—the areas that gather the most soil, when putting to soak and they will be much easier to get clean, and since less rubbing will be required, will wear longer, too.

HERE'S A BIT OF GLAMOUR FOR PLAIN FOODS

THOSE ordinary, everyday dishes, which you must, for economy's sake, serve several times a week—give them new flavour appeal by adding a little H. P. Sauce. Some items like stew, meat pie, slices of Sunday's roast warmed up in the frying pan, macaroni dishes, meat balls, etc., are flavoured best by adding H. P. while cooking. With other foods like cold meats, fish, leftovers of fowl, bacon and eggs, add the H. P. when serving.

This is the way to put a bit of glamour into everyday foods and have the family—including yourself—eat them up with relish. H. P. Sauce is such a success at flavouring foods because it is thick, rich, and has good flavouring power.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Noted Cardinal Verdier Passes

PARIS, April 10 (CP)—Jean Cardinal Verdier, Archbishop of Paris, died early Tuesday of heart disease after several weeks of illness from which he had seemed on the road to recovery. Last Tuesday he underwent a surgical operation described as "minor."

Known as the "Cardinal of the 100 Churches" because of his energetic building activities, Cardinal Verdier was named Archbishop of Paris in 1929 and elevated to the Sacred College as a Cardinal priest by Pope Pius XI in that year.

At that time he was the youngest of France's five Cardinals and his appointment was regarded somewhat as a surprise. Many names had been more prominently mentioned than that of the Superior General of the Order of St. Sulpice. Known as "Monsier Verdier" because the Order was unrecognized in France.

His life previous to his accession to the Cardinalate had been spent almost entirely in affairs of the congregation. But his handling of problems arising between the government and the Order stamped him as an able negotiator.

Recently he had been active on behalf of the Allied cause. Early in the war he denounced Germany for destroying the Polish shrine of the Virgin at Czestochowa. In a sermon Sept. 8 he expressed confidence in the ultimate victory for the Allies.

He visited Canada and the United States in 1932, and was a close personal friend of Rodrique Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec. When the Canadian Prelate visited France last June he spent several days with Cardinal Verdier in Paris.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

Hitler's lightning war struck Norway and Denmark today but until the smoke of present and pending battles between German and Allied naval and air forces in the new war zone clears away the effect of the latest Nazi aggression on the long range war outlook will be uncertain.

German garrisons established in ports on the west coast of Norway are certai nto have a tough time if the Norwegians keep up resistance. These garrisons will have no sure communication line to the Reich and will be exposed to attack by Allied naval units.

From the point of view of the economic side of the war and blockade a complete occupation of the Scandinavian states would do little to improve the German position or hamper the Allies. Under conditions of peace and Nazi pressure metho Germany has been obtaining wha ever materials she wanted fro Scandinavia. The Allies, Gr Britain particularly, imported he ily from Norway and Denmark b as easily can obtain the same su plies elsewhere.

Although yesterday's operatio were planned long in advance wi all the cunning, detail and ca which went into the planning of t German conquest of Poland the i mediate occasion for the move w said to be the Allied action to sh off the movement of Swedish ir ore along the Norwegian coast in Germany.

Faced with the prospect of losi this vital source of supply the Na took action to secure it. Denma submitted to a Nazi occupation a protectorate without a struggle. T Norwegian government fled from t capital at Oslo to Hanar, 60 mi back from the coast and announce it would resist. Then the Nazis sorted to the technique Russia in Finland and Japan is using China, set up a puppet Nazi gover ment for Norway.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT DOES HE MEAN?

IF YOU have doubled the opponents' bid, asking for a takeout, and the next opponent has redoubled, what would a bid by your partner now mean? Would he be showing substantial strength, because of the logic that the opponent has relieved him of the responsibility of bidding on a weak hand? Or would he be showing weakness, making sure of letting you know his distribution at the earliest possible moment.

North and South had explained they use short-suit Club bids frequently, also the "negative No Trump," a No Trump response being required on a weak hand. That accounts for South's queer-looking bid. In the play West took exactly three tricks, after leading the heart 2. He got one in hearts and two in diamonds. The opponents, besides game and 400 points for the redoubled 1-No Trump, got 1200 points for three redoubled extra tricks at 400 each.

West explained that he thought his partner's pass of the redouble indicated strength, so that a profitable set of the contract was in sight. East said he thought his partner would have treated a bid at that spot as indicating strength.

All of which points to the value of new partners agreeing on the meaning to be attached to a bid over such a redouble. Lacking any agreement, perhaps a wise course for East would have been to bid, since he had a five-card major, pass otherwise. In this case, 2-Spades would have been set badly, perhaps four tricks doubled, but that would have cost only 1100 points, and so would have saved the side several hundred.

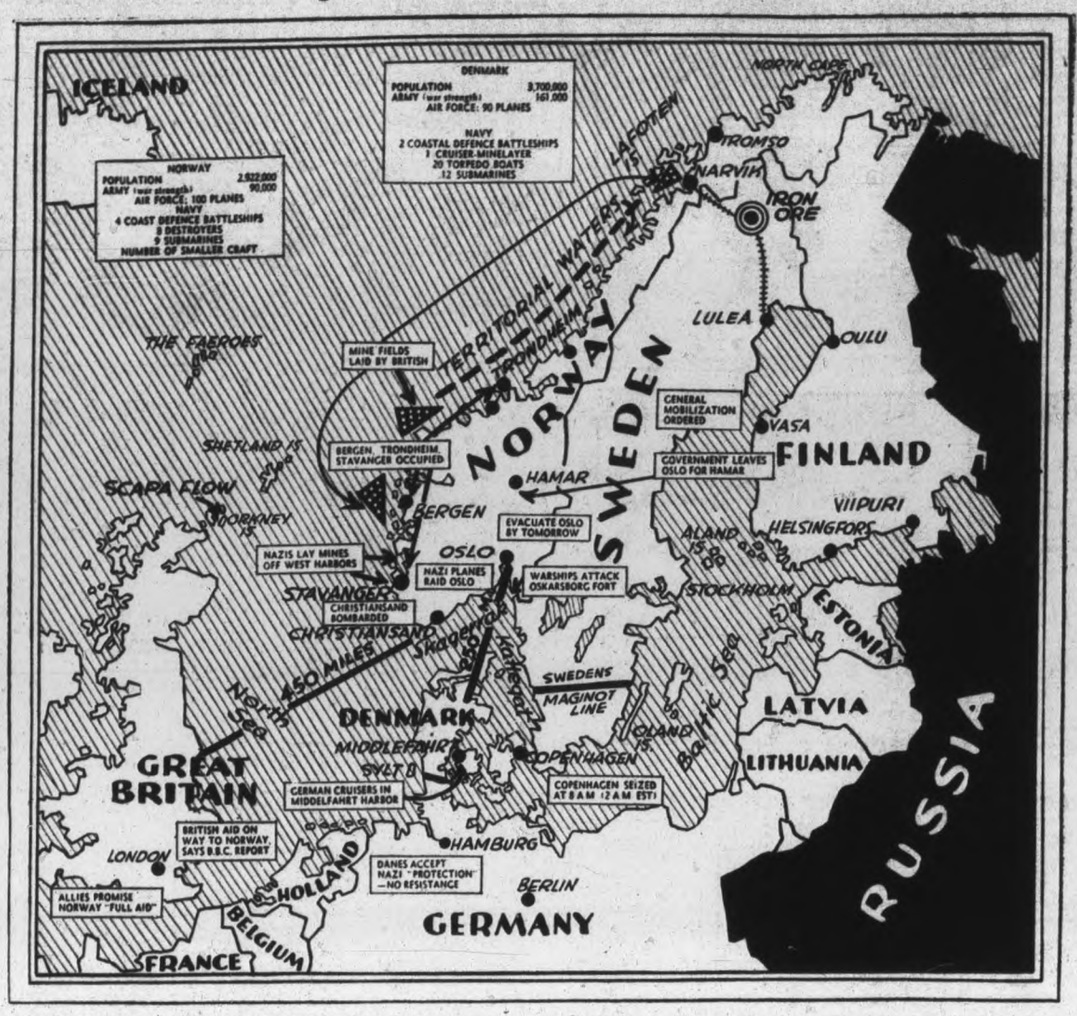
Nazis Unleash Blitzkrieg On Scandinavian Peninsula, Allies Rush Aid



Spreading death from the sky, land and sea, Nazi legions violated the neutrality of Denmark and Sweden to overrun Denmark and launch air and sea attacks on Norway. With the announcement that Norway was bravely battling the superior forces of the Nazis, the Allies immediately announced that full aid with no strings attached would be sent to the aid of the tiny Scandinavian nation. Launching their Blitzkrieg with stunning suddenness, the German legions quickly overran Denmark, which capitulated without a struggle. Norway, however, chose to fight and coastal batteries were brought to play on German warships attempting to land troops and it was reported that the German battleship Gneissenau was sunk by the Norwegian fire.

Dr. A. Hyndman Carleton Member Dies

CARP, Ont., April 10—(CP).—Dr. Alonzo Bowen Hyndman, Conservative member-elect to the House of Commons for Carleton and representative of that constituency in the House since 1935, died today.

He was 49 and had practised in this village about 15 miles west of Ottawa for many years.

Dr. Hyndman's death was the second to deplete the House of Commons representation since the Dominion election March 26. His death was entirely unexpected and he had conducted a vigorous campaign for re-election.

Only last week Rev. Walter George Brown, Unity member-elect to the Commons for Saskatoon, died in Ottawa at the home of a daughter.

Dr. Hyndman's death reduced the Conservative membership in the new House of Commons to 38. During his time in the House he was a regular participant in parliamentary debate. He was particularly interested in agricultural questions.

Dr. Hyndman's death will necessitate a by-election in Carleton.

As in the case of Mr. Brown, Dr. Hyndman's election had not been gazetted and he had not been sworn in, but Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, will make a formal report showing Dr. Hyndman was elected as member of the House of Commons for Carleton.

Dr. Hyndman was born at Mountain, Ont., and was educated at Kemptville (Ont.) High School, Smiths Falls Collegiate and McGill University.

Chance For Manion?

Expect Premier To Call On FDR

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP)—Should Prime Minister Mackenzie King go to the United States for the brief holiday he has promised himself in the near future, he will likely pay a courtesy call upon President Roosevelt, it was reported last night.

The Prime Minister declared at a press conference last week that he would "slip away for a few days' vacation." He indicated he would like a week away from his official duties, but that his own vacation would be deferred until his Cabinet colleagues had a rest from election campaign duties.

A spokesman for the Prime Minister said last night that the United States would be a likely destination for any vacation trip Mr. King might make in search of warm spring sunshine, and that it "would not be unreasonable to suppose that he might pay a courtesy call" upon the United States President if he visited that country. He emphasized, however, that there were no plans for a formal visit to the United States President.

Still Checking 'Griffon' Wreck

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP).—More than 250 years ago, the Griffon, an exploration boat sent out by Sieur de La Salle, foundered in Lake Huron (1679). Today historians still are trying to identify the hulk of an old vessel washed up on Mississagi Point, Manitoulin Island, as the remains of the French adventurer's ship.

La Salle was not on board the Griffon when she was lost. His explorations were ended a few years later when he was attempting to form a French colony in Louisiana.

Roy F. Fleming, Ottawa historian, said Dr. Florence Hawley of the University of New Mexico, an expert on wood, is in charge of tests being carried on to identify the wreck. Dr. Hawley is comparing pieces of wood taken from the wreck with wood from the Niagara district where the Griffon was built.

An iron bolt taken from the wreck by Mr. Fleming was definitely identified in Paris as having been manufactured in France prior to the 18th century.

Nazis Celebrate "Victory" Over British Navy Hint Isles To Be Bombed From Norway 'Will Not Permit Attacks On New Possessions'

BERLIN, April 11—(AP).—Amid German celebration of alleged "victory" over British forces in protection of the Nazi foothold in Scandinavia there appeared today a hint that newly occupied bases might be used for bombing attacks on the United Kingdom.

The Berlin newspaper Lokal Anzeiger declared that Germany, after having "successfully repulsed" a British destroyer attack on the Norwegian ore port of Narvik, "will not permit herself to be attacked continuously in Denmark and Norway."

The newspaper added that all the possibilities which these areas offer will be employed "for the defence of Northern Europe and for the protection of the two occupied countries."

"The reinforcing of German troops in Norway is being carried out methodically.

"The air force during April 10 carried out again, in accentuated manner, reconnaissance flights over the whole of the North Sea and brought back important information regarding the position and movements of enemy forces.

Only 2 Encounters

"Air squadrons used for purposes of reconnaissance had only two encounters with the enemy, due to bad weather.

"A British destroyer was hit by large bombs. An anti-aircraft battery and a battery of searchlights in the Scapa Flow region were disabled by bombs which reached their objective.

"British pursuit planes repeatedly attacked German reconnaissance planes, but without success.

"A British pursuit plane of the Hawker-Hurricane type was shot down before the Shetland islands. Two of our planes are reported missing.

"German pursuit planes have carried out flights to inspect Norway and the western coast of Denmark, and they assured the security, by their great number, of Norwegian coastal territory against enemy air attacks.

"Enemy airplanes were seen only on the western Norwegian coast, where the Stavanger airdrome, in which were German aviation units, was attacked by isolated British planes which made a deep penetration, but without success.

The presence of German troops and ships as far north as Narvik, hundreds of miles north of the nearest German port, so quickly on the heels of the first announcement of intent to "protect" Norway and Denmark was noted.

To observers this seemed solid evidence that the move was planned perhaps days—rather than hours—in advance. The actual occupation started about 24 hours after the Allies laid mines at three points in Norwegian territorial waters at dawn Monday.

First Troops By Plane

It appears, however, that at least some of the first troops were transported by plane. At any rate, the German manoeuvre was so arranged that ports and cities many miles apart in the two Scandinavian countries were taken almost simultaneously.

Nordic King Throws Cause In With Allies Red Troops Moving To Odessa Area, French Army Leaves Ordered Suspended

Norwegians Swing Battle Tide Drive Nazis South

STOCKHOLM, April 11 (AP) — Norway joined Great Britain and France as an ally in war against Germany today, heartened in a pledge to drive the invaders from her soil by reports of victories on land and at sea.

At Elverum, meanwhile, Premier Johan Nygaardsvold issued a proclamation declaring that Norway could not submit to German demands that she become a protectorate and King Haakon, declaring his faith in his people's will to fight, concurred.

The King said: "I adhere fully to the appeal published by the government and I am convinced that the entire people is with me in the decisions taken."

Working With British

President of the Norwegian parliament, Carl Hambro, announced today that Norway's northern forces now are co-operating fully with British forces against the German invasion.

Hambro, who is in Stockholm on an undisclosed mission, made the announcement after communicating with the Norwegian government, which has established headquarters at Elverum, 20 miles from the Swedish frontier.

A German advance eastward from Narvik, northern Norwegian port, already has been repulsed and Hamar, for a time seat of the government, recaptured, Hambro said.

Hambro informed the Norwegian legations in Helsinki and Stockholm that offers of volunteers would be gratefully accepted and that instructions would be sent soon to speed their entry to help against the German invasion.

The newspaper Nya Daglight Allehanda reported receipt of a telephone message from Bergen saying that Atlantic port had been recaptured by Norwegian troops during a counter-attack this morning. Telephone service was still open between Stockholm and Bergen.

Hambro said that four German planes were shot down during the Norwegians' early withdrawal movement before Elverum. Norwegian infantry subsequently succeeded in dynamiting the Fjoevir bridge, which cut the German vanguard off from all sources of supply.

Other bridges were blown up in the invaders' rear and to the south of Hamar, he said, and the German spearhead is now isolated.

According to his report, German planes constitute the only liaison between the isolated German infantry and their bases.

Hambro said the Norwegians adopted the same tactics in the fighting around Elverum, where 100 Norwegian soldiers were credited with having stopped an enemy motorized detachment twice as strong.

Adopting much the same strategy as that successfully used by the Finns against the Red army, the Norwegians hid in the heavy woods and then surprised the enemy and stampeded them into a costly half-hour battle. The Norwegians admittedly lost many men, but reported that the enemy's casualties were disproportionately greater.

Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht, asked how his government considered Britain's declaration that Norway was now her ally, responded:—

"We are at war with Germany, thereby in alliance with others at war with Germany. Besides that,

STOCKHOLM, April 11.—(AP).—A wireless message from the Norwegian commander at Bergen to-day reported that seaport had been recaptured from the German invaders.

BERLIN, April 11—(AP).—The German News Agency to-day issued a claim that German naval forces last night sank two more naval destroyers at the west Fjord approach to Narvik.

The Agency did not say whether it claimed the newest losses had been inflicted by warships or coastal defence guns. One British destroyer was sunk and another run aground at Narvik yesterday morning.

STOCKHOLM, April 11.—(AP).—The newspaper Tidningen reported from Berlin to-day that Germany had sent 3,000 laborers to Denmark and Norway to fortify newly-occupied coastal positions.

Germany, it said, intends to build a "Gibraltar" on the Danish coast and another on the Norwegian coast as keys to her control of the Kattegat and Skagerrak, the passageway between the Baltic and North Seas.

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP).—An unidentified station to-day "blacked out" British news broadcasts from London, including a short-wave broadcast of the speech of Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty.

The National Broadcasting Company short-wave station reported that reception, up to the moment of the first "jamming" about 9.30 a.m. EST., had been excellent. Then a buzzing noise blanketed the British signals. The "jamming" occurred again as the London station started news of Mr. Churchill's address.

LONDON, April 11.—(CP).—Winston Churchill announced to-day that "we have not re-occupied Norwegian ports."

WASHINGTHON, April 11.—(AP).— A large portion of the huge Norwegian and Danish merchant fleet may be transferred to United States registry to escape being taken over by Germany.

Discussions already have started, it was learned today, between Danish shipping interests and American officials. One Danish company with a branch office in New York, is ready to place its whole fleet of 60 modern ships under United States registry.

Norway and Denmark are among the largest merchant marine nations. Norway ranks fourth with a tonnage of 4,800,000. Denmark, has a merchant marine of about 2,000,000 tons.

Allied Fleet Gaining Upper Hand In Scattered Actions

LONDON, April 11—(CP).—Tales of destruction wreaked on the German fleet in far-flung battles off Norway, with Oslo reported under the muzzles of British naval guns and Bergen and Trondheim seized from the Nazis, brought cheer today to Britons who fought off air raids on their own shores.

While an informed British naval source early to-day warned that there was no confirmation of successes at Oslo, Bergen and Trondheim and a landing at Narvik, the mass of unofficial accounts from a variety of sources gave this mosaic picture of events:

Four German cruisers, twelve of 20 large German transports and a destroyer were sunk, all with heavy loss of life, in the heavy night fighting off Norway's southern shores, centring in the Skagerrak and at the mouth of the Kattegat;

British warships blasted through Oslo and commanded the Germans who captured the Norwegian capital Tuesday to surrender or be bombarded;

There was no further word on the outcome, but a traveller who reached Stockholm said British-French planes bombarded the Oslo airport last night;

Carl J. Hambro, Speaker of the Norwegian Parliament, said British landing parties had captured both Bergen and Trondheim; important Nazi-held ports on the Atlantic;

British marines landed at the northern iron ore port of Narvik after an initial naval action.

King Haakon and Premier Johan Nygaardsvold of Norway proclaimed from their refuge at Elverum continued resistance to the Nazi invasion and rejection of Germany's demand for recognition of a Nazi puppet government.

Tromso, on Norway's northern coast, broadcast an urgent radio appeal for help against German troops being landed from two warships at Aalesund on the southwest.

Reports from several sources credited the 1,596-ton Norwegian minelayer and training ship Olaf Tryggvason with sinking Germany's 5,400-ton cruiser Emden, possibly in Oslo Fjord. The Olaf Tryggvason's victim first was identified as a destroyer, then as a warship of the Deutschland class before the Emden identification was made.

Further evidence that the Norwegian were putting up a grim battle with the small means at their disposal came in a Reuters' report

Belgium Prepared

BRUSSELS, April 11.—Belgian's defence minister, Lieut.-General Henri Denis, told a press conference today that thanks to her military precautions Belgium has been able to stay out of the war.

"For eight months," he said, "the army has been mobilized and considerable work has been done. So if any invader sought to try his chances and cross our territory he would find there only slim advantages to be gained."

Crippled Scharnhorst Flees In Smoke Screen; Churchill Compares Norway Invasion To Napoleon's Blunder In Attacking Spain

LONDON, April 11—(CP).—Winston Churchill today told the House of Commons that "great losses have been suffered by the German navy" in a continuing air and naval battle touched off by Germany's invasion of Norway.

He said that "four German cruisers—nearly half of their total pre-war strength and much more than their existing strength—have been sunk."

"We have greatly gained by what has occurred in Scandinavia and northern waters in the strategic and military sense," he said.

"Hitler has made as great a strategic and political error as Napoleon when he invaded Spain."

"At the present nearly a dozen ships, some of large tonnage, have been sunk or captured either in the Skagerrak or the Kattegat or in attempting to bring supplies to forces landed at Narvik," Mr. Churchill declared.

Of Britain's lossess, Mr. Churchill told the House of the sinking of the destroyers Glowworm and Gurkha and the damaging of the battleship Rodney and the cruiser Aurora by bombing. He said the British destroyer Zulu had sunk a German submarine and described a running fight between the Renown and two German cruisers in a blizzard.

He said Britain is occupying Denmark's Faroe Islands, between the Shetland Islands and Iceland, but that they will be returned to Denmark when she "is liberated from the foul thraldom into which she has been plunged by German aggression."

"The question of Iceland needs further consideration," the First Lord said, "but no German will be allowed to set his foot there with impunity."

He promised the House that "All German Ships in the Skagerrak and the Kattegat will be sunk."

He contended that by invading Norway "Hitler has doubled the efficiency of the Allied blockade."

"We have suffered from nothing in our blockade so much as from the accursed (Norwegian) corridor now closed for ever," he said.

"We shall take what we want of this Norwegian coast now with an enormous increase in the efficiency of our blockade."

Mr. Churchill warned that "Hitler has created a whole series of commitments on the Norwegian coast" for which he now will have to fight against; the Allies who have "vastly superior naval forces and are able to transport them to he scenes of action more easil ythan he can."

"The very recklessness with which Hitler and his advisers have cast the fate of the German navy upon wild waters" may be a prelude to 'far larger events' which depend on the land," Mr. Churchill said.

Cruiser Loss Heavy Blow.

"We have probably arrived at the first crunch of the war."

He declared that "four German cruisers—nearly half of their total pre-war strength and much more than their existing strength—have been sunk."

Germans Fleeing Narvik Toward Sweden

STOCKHOLM, April 11 (CP)—The Svenska Dagbladet reported today that German troops who landed at Narvik, northern Norwegian port, now are trying to flee over the border into Sweden.

President Hambro blamed the Nazis' successful landing operation at Narvik on the treachery of a Norwegian army colonel named Sunblo, whom he described as a close friend of Major Vikdun Quisling, head of the puppet government established by the Germans.

According to Hambro's story Major Omdhal was immediately ordered to arrest Sunblo and attack the invaders. The Norwegians, retreating along the railway leading eastward from Narvik, had withdrawn under the first blow of the invasion.

Off the west coast of Sweden, where a big battle took place at the entrance to the Kattegat last night, all seemed quiet this morning, the agency said. No warship was seen from shore but three foreign planes

7 Nazis Downed At Scapa Flow, 19 Since Sunday

LONDON, April 11 (CP) — The air ministry announced today that seven German bombers were shot down last night over Scapa Flow. The ministry said 19 German aircraft have been destroyed by British warplanes since Sunday and that the Royal Air Force has lost only six in that period.

An enemy plane was reported shot down today in Eastern England.

The air ministry said that two other bombers were probably damaged during the Scapa Flow raid. Losses of the R.A.F. included three bombers and three other planes.

The statement follows:—

"Since the early morning of Sunday, April 7, all operational commands of the Royal Air Force have been intensively engaged in operations against the enemy.

"In addition to normal security and convoy protection patrols, reconnaissance aircraft have maintained close watch over the North Sea on the Norwegian coast and on German naval bases, with the result

House Is Packed To Hear Of Naval Battle

LONDON, April 11.—(CP Cable)—Vast crowds milled about Whitehall while Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, spoke inside the House. Peers and diplomats crowded every corner of their galleries and overflowed into aisles.

It was disclosed tonight that the King visited the Admiralty on Tuesday while various actions were in progress.

Mr. Churchill spoke confidently, with all his accustomed vigor and clarity, and ease of expression. But he tired towards the end of the speech, which was reported to have been extended to permit him to make further announcements which had not arrived when he began to talk.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberals in the House, followed Mr. Churchill with a warning that the possibility that the attack on Norway was only a fake could not be discounted. He contended that when Britain's attention was distracted, the main German blow might fall elsewhere.

Allies Given Key To Fastest U.S. Fighters

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—As Europe's war blazed to its fiercest heights today, the Allies got the long sought "go ahead" signal for the purchase of an armada of the latest type United States fighting planes.

Simultaneously the navy, with one eye on the explosive situation abroad, decided to expedite the construction of 10 new warships without delay. In Congress, opposition appeared against proposed reductions in the fleet building program.

The war department cleared the Allied way yesterday by releasing for export three of the air corps newest pursuit ships, all credited with speeds of 400 miles an hour or better. The planes are designed to prey on raiding bombers and to fight off any faster craft accompanying them.

The action promised an end to the Allied delay in placing an estimated $1,000,000,000 order for about 8,000 United States military planes and 13,000 engines. The contracts

Canucks Back From Battling Reds Miss Norse Invasion By Hours

LONDON, April 11.—(CP Cable)—Canada's soldiers of fortune who fought with the Finnish forces in the closing weeks of the campaign against Russia began arriving in London today.

The advance guard, which left Bergen, Norway, the day before the German invasion, included Cameron J. McMaster and William Jenkins, aviators, and Ben Caster, who served with the infantry, all come from Toronto.

From the decks of their ships the Canadians heard the roar of distant guns and saw squadrons of unidentified planes scurrying overhead. But not until they arrived in the safe haven of a British port did they learn that the war had been extended to Scandinavia.

McMaster acted as spokesman for the Toronto group and said the Canadian squadron had seen considerable action considering the short time it was there.

"During the closing weeks of the war we had a good belt at the advancing Russians and I think we made a bit of a mess of some of their tanks," McMaster said, "but what disappointed us was our failure to come to grips with Russian fighters.

"We hunted the skies for them, but without any sign of an enemy plane. It burned us up especially, as a Finnish youngster in the squadron had bagged six a couple of days before we arrived."

Without knowledge of the Finnish language, the Canadians experienced considerable difficulty getting around, McMaster said. To avoid the possibility of complications in the event of challenge, they carried a card reading: "I am a volunteer flier.

Last Minute News Flashes

STOCKHOLM — (CP-Havas). — The Swedish Admiralty announced to-day that it has mined territorial waters off the west coast. Thirty-four survivors were brought to shore, among them several cavalry and air force officers.

British Warplane Motors Supplied Danes Yield No Secrets To Nazis—Now Obsolete

LONDON, April 11—(CP Cable)—British air authorities are not worried by reports the Nazis will now be able to probe the secrets of British air engines supplied Denmark before the war.

Twenty Rolls Royce Merlin engines of a type similar to those which make the 400 miles an hour Spitfire such a formidable weapon were bought by the army aircraft factory at Copenhagen, but were already outdated, an expert said.

Newer, more powerful types of Merlin engines have been produced in the past few months, so the Nazis' "prize" will tell them nothing about the present power of Royal Air Force aircraft.

It is said here that the fastest fighters and bombers of the small Danish air force are obsolete.

Dutch On War Basis, Front Manned Evacuate All Frontier Towns

AMSTERDAM, April 11 — (CP-Havas).—The Dutch army today, to all intents, was on a war footing and defence positions were occupied along the whole eastern frontier, where for the past two days—since the invasion of Denmark and Norway—unceasing troop movements have been reported.

Completion of necessary preparations to stop a possible German invasion was seen in the fact that authorities reopened the railway lines to goods traffic, although maintaining restrictions on passenger travel.

The evacuation of Arnhem, Nijmegen and other frontier towns was reliably reported here. Schools and hospitals were evacuated first. Meanwhile, the Netherlands' population, going through its third crisis since the beginning of hostilities, took calmly the cancellation of leaves and other military precautions.

In addition to the evacuation of frontier areas, the following other steps were reported:

Highways and ports were placed under close guard. At several points, particularly Limburg, automobile traffic was stopped.

Barricades were placed by Dutch troops on the roads at all stretagic points, and the explosives were put in position on all possible routes of invasion.

Telephone communications were interrupted for several hours last night at various frontier areas.

Particular attention was being paid to anti-aircraft defences.

These precautions stressed strongly the Netherlands' fear that the German high command may try to

Danish Assets Must Remain In United States

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The United States took unprecedented action today to assure Norway and Denmark of the safety of their several hundred million dollars in holding in this country.

Forestalling any possible German attempt to confiscate this rich store of foreign exchange for the Nazi war chest, President Roosevelt by executive order prohibited the removal from the United States of any Danish and Norwegian assets, monetary or otherwise.

It stipulated that no holdings could be removed from the United States except with a special license from the treasury. The order was phrased in such a way, however, Danes and Norwegians residing here would be able to use personal bank accounts unimpeded.

The treasury promptly issued instructions for all holders of Danish or Norwegian wealth in this country to report it for an accounting.

The President took his step late

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil now dispensed by chemists at trifling cost, that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is instantly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery eczema. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet—other irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottles at any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.

that much valuable information has been made available to our naval and air forces engaged with the enemy.

"On Sunday a bombing attack was launched against a strong enemy naval force off Horns Reef. (A Danish promontory just north of Esbjerg).

"From dawn on Monday throughout the day extensive reconnaissances were carried out. In the evening an enemy attack on Scapa Flow was beaten off, five German bombers being shot down by our fighters.

"Throughout Tuesday our aircraft were engaged in locating and reporting the position of enemy warships in Norwegian waters, and in the evening a bomber attack in force was delivered on a German cruiser lying off Bergen.

"Subsequent reconnaissance indicates that this ship was sunk."

"On Wednesday, British long-range fighters reconnoitred Norwegian aerodromes which had been occupied by the enemy. In spite of heavy anti-aircraft fire, low flying attacks were delivered, resulting in destruction of at least three aircraft.

"During the evening, repeated but abortive attacks on Scapa Flow and a convoy were successfully driven off. Four German bombers were shot down by our fighters and three by anti-aircraft gunfire while two more were so damaged as to make their return extremely doubtful.

"In the course of these operations we have lost two flying boats, one reconnaissance aircraft and three bombers. No fighters have been lost.

"During the same period, 18 German aircraft are confirmed as having been destroyed."

repeat the famous Schlieffen plan which was only partially carried out in the last war by the invasion of Belgium.

The use of this plan—a flanking drive through the low countries to France—is generally considered to be the German high command's only way out, in view of Germany's geographic position and above all the existence of the Siegfried and Maginot Lines which prevent a direct attack against French territory.

It was generally feared here that the Germans—apparently receiving a setback from Allied forces around Norway—would try to create a new "diversion" by invading Holland or Belgium.

No large-scale movement of German troops near the frontier has been reported in the past two days, but it is known that motorized divisions have been in place on the border since the end of the Polish invasion.

At several points on the border, however, German troops have cut passages through the woods, as if to clear a path for motorized forces.

The Torontonian said he was glad there was no occasion for bailing out of his plane as the Finns had been ordered to fire on anyone coming down by parachute. They were fearful of Russian spies dropping behind Finnish lines of communication.

It would have been even worse if the Canadians had been forced to land in Russian-held territory as every Finnish airman had been supplied with a pistol and ordered to use it on himself rather than court capture.

The Russians, McMaster said, were a motley lot, poorly clad and unkempt, and were no match for the Finns in physique. It was only by sheer force of manpower and materials, he declared, that they had finally broken the heroic resistance of the Finns.

He recounted that when the war ended a wave of bitterness swept over the little country. Chief criticism had been directed against Sweden and Norway for refusing to allow the transit of Allied aid and also against the United States which many believed should have intervened on their behalf.

70 Cents A Day

The Canadian airmen who served for the equivalent of 70 cents a day were without funds when the armistice was declared. The Finnish government, however, undertook to pay their passage home and gave each man a few dollars to tide him over while en route.

McMaster and Jenkins lost no time after arriving in offering their services to Britain. They immediately took a taxi to the Air Ministry where they filled in applications to serve with the Royal Air Force. Jenkins then took off for Birmingham to visit his father residing there.

Gaster, who was accompanied by his wife, had not decided on his future plans but thinks he most likely will return to Canada "for a bit of rest." He was the first Canadian to see active service on the Finnish front and came through the most violent fighting without a scratch.

When the trio left for Finland more than 100 Canadian volunteers were still awaiting repatriation. Ed Waller, Toronto flier, remained in Helsinki while yet another Toronto aviator, whose name was not available, halted at Oslo on the way home, McMaster said.

Had Weak, Nervous Stomach, Limbs; Back Pained Badly

This Ladys Says She Can't Speak Too Highly of Syntona As She Once More Gets a Good Night's Sleep and Enjoys Her Meals. Was Nervous, Rundown and Losing Weight.

MRS. CHAS. CANNOM

"After the wonderful results I have had by taking a treatment of Syntona, I think everybody should know about this medicine," said Mrs. Chas. Cannom, 433 Ridout St., N., London, in a recent statement.

"For many years I scarcely ate a single meal in comfort. I would have hungry, weak feelings, but my stomach rebelled at the least bit of food and caused endless suffering with indigestion, gas and heartburn, and I was troubled with constipation regularly. Then, last winter, after repeated attacks of influenza, I could not regain my strength. I became very nervous and rundown and I was losing weight. At night I would lie awake by the hour with a dull ache across my back and pains in my arms.

"I found it very discouraging trying one medicine after another without getting any benefits, so you can imagine how pleased I was when I found Syntona was really helping me. Right from the first it seemed to go to the root of my trouble and improve the action of my stomach so I could eat regular meals and get some benefit from them. I have only taken four bottles, but already I feel better than I did in years previously. I am regaining my lost weight, my nerves are calmed, and I get a good night's sleep now. My bowels are regular now and I don't suffer with those pains in my back and limbs like I did. Because of my own experience with Syntona, I can confidently recommend it to any person who suffers like I did."

Come to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, to-day and find out how Syntona can help you, too. Syntona is produced by Vaughan Bros. of Canada, Toronto, Ont.—(Advt.)

BERLIN.—The German News Agency announced today that 6,000 men are affected by the action of Danish authorities in calling to the colors air-raid defence personnel of the classes of 1936, 1936 and 1938. The chief task of these men will be to supervise blackout precautions.

HELSINKI, April 11.—(CP-Havas).—The government announced to-day that the Arctic port of Petsamo has been returned to Finnish authority following evacuation of Russian forces.

LONDON, April 11.—(CP).—Reuters News Agency dispatches from Stockholm to-day reported more German warships had reached Oslo Fjord and that some troop transports which escaped yesterday's battle had landed during the night. The Stockholm report emanated from Marstrand, Swedish coastal city near the Kattegat entrance where the fighting occurred.

STOCKHOLM.—(CP).—British warships were reported to-day to have sunk 12 of 20 German troop transports they attacked in the battle at the entrance to the Kattegat yesterday.

LONDON.—(CP). — The crew of a reconnaissance plane which flew over Bergen yesterday at height of 2,000 feet reported to-day that it had found no trace of a German cruiser reported attacked by the fleet air arm in a dusk raid last Tuesday.

An immense patch of oil, about one mile long, covered the site of the attack, the crew said.

The plane's navigator added: "Bergen seemed to be a dead city. We saw no movement except for one or two tugs. No one seemed to take any notice of us. No anti-aircraft defence was encountered."

HONG KONG, April 11.—(AP).—British authorities here have detained 11 Norwegian and Danish merchantmen, three of which arrived yesterday.

BERLIN, April 11.—(AP). — The High Command said to-day that German troops had occupied the Danish Baltic island of Bornholm without difficulty. The island lies about 25 miles off the southern tip of Sweden.

BERLIN, April 11.—(CP).—The German News Agency, DNB, to-day issued a special bulletin to "announce" that German troops in Bergen, Norway, had seized five British steamships loaded with war materials.

The Agency, apparently seeking to drum up a case for Germany's attack on Norway, claimed the seizures "finally clarified" British plans to land an expeditionary force at Bergen and other points.

It added the ships were sent to Bergen "under the guise of aid for Finland."

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP).—Two Norwegian submarines have been sunk in action off the Norwegian coast, the French government wireless reported to-day in a broadcast received by Columbia Broadcasting System.

PARIS, April 11.—(CP-Havas).—A German radio report that a French destroyer had been sunk in the North Sea was officially denied by the French Admiralty to-day.

Many people have learned that constipation is commonly due to waste jamming-up in the big bowel. So they wisely pass-up doses like calomel, which acts near the upper opening of the bowels, salts which flush their way through, and oils that work in the small intestine, to take CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS. Because they contain cascara, said to give "nearest to natural action," CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS work right in the big bowel—moving waste quickly, pleasantly bringing relief. Fire Prevention Regulations Need Strength

The Attorney-General said "the recommendations of the Fire Marshal are worthy of careful consideration with a view to improving the laws and regulations."

The report exonerated the hotel proprietor, Earl Torno, of responsibility for the outbreak and also said public authorities whose duty was to inspect hotels were not negligent.

CAMDEN, N.J., April 11 (AP)—Seeking a divorce, Mrs. Helen M. Andersen declared her husband, William, forced her to sleep in the yard in a pup tent, kicked her out of bed three times, tweaked her nose when she had a boil on the end of it. The divorce was granted.

Revealing Census

ATLANTA, Ga., April 11 (AP)—It took a census-taker to inform a suburban jail-keeper that two of his prisoners were missing. Taking a census of a jail, an enumerator discovered his count of the jail's population was two off from that of the jailer. "Great Scott!" cried the jail-keeper, "two of 'em are gone."

Richard Ford, sexton at St. John's Church, was busy with his rake this morning cleaning the large lawn in front of the church. For a week the lawn has been completely bare of snow and the new grass is showing through the brown surface in several places. This lawn because of its southern exposure is one of the first in the city to take on a spring hue.

SLEEPING OUT NOW

With the advent of warmer weather transients are keeping away from the police station. The number of applications for shelter these nights is usually not more than three or four as against a dozen or more in the winter months. In that connection evidence in a case this week disclosed the fact that when five men were arrested following a liquor raid they had to climb on top of the cages in the cell block to get a place to lie down.

Millbrook Party Well Attended

MILLBROOK, April 11—(ENS)—The Red Cross funds benefited to the extent of approximately twenty dollars from the progressive euchre held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Friday evening, intervening events, and bad roads, lessening the attendance, though thirteen tables were in use for play.

Prizes for high score went to Mrs. Walter Barringer and Lynden Russell, and for the consolation to Mrs. P. Stinson and L. H. Winslow. The ladies' first prize, one of the distinctly useful yarn holders, made by T. A. Campbell for the local branch of the Red Cross, having been won by Mrs. Barringer, who already possessed the gadget, at her request it was put up at auction by H. D. Bigelow, and sold to Mrs. Stinson, thus adding to the receipts of the evening.

Mr. Winslow, showing a reluctance to open his gaily-tied parcel, it also was auctioned off and knocked down to the original winner, who allowed it to be put aside, still unopened, for the 'booby' prize at the next Red Cross euchre.

The service of lunch brought an enjoyable party to a close. Miss B. M. Turner and Mrs. L. Byam were cashiers, and a number of those interested in making the event a success volunteered for the preparation and service of the refreshments.

Some Post Office Facts.

Not many citizens of Millbrook of the present day can recall the interesting fact that the first post office in the village was located on the lot where the houses occupied by Miss L. Burton and by F. L. Edworthy now stand. Mrs. L. S. Clarry who has spent her entire life in the community, and who can recall with remarkable clarity and detail events in its early history, has supplied the information that a frame building housed both the post office and a drug store; Matthew Knowlson was the proprietor of the drug store, and also the first postmaster of Millbrook. Later the building was destroyed in the great fire which wiped out two-thirds of the village and which Mrs. Clarry also remembers vividly.

A rough cast building adjoining a grocery store operated by the late William Vance, postmaster for fifty years, and situated on the lot just west of the present R. A. Ford's butcher shop, next housed the post office, and after two other removals, it is now, and probably permanently, located in the handsome new Government building erected for this special purpose on the corner of King and Union Streets, and recently formally opened for public use.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Campbell, who have spent the winter in Seattle, Vancouver, Blairmore, and other western cities, returned home on Monday evening. Mrs. Campbell was called to Seattle owing to the illness of her father, Dr. Martin, and her many friends will be glad to know that the invalid was in fairly good health when she was obliged to leave for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry, and two sons, Max and Wilson, were guests of Reeve W. E. and Mrs. Ball at the tea hour on Sunday evening.

FIRE MARSHAL REPORTS.

TORONTO — (CP). — Fire Marshal W. J. Scott to-day presented to Attorney-General Gordon Conant his report on the investigation of the fire at the Avonmore Hotel here on March 15, when five persons lost their lives and several more were injured.

Hard Days Ahead

London, April 11 (CP)

URGING the Empire to steel itself for days that may prove hard and testing, the Evening Standard today said:—

"The war is now on our doorstep. Nothing stands between the British people and the subjection inflicted upon Copenhagen and Oslo but the audacity of our seamen, the daring of our pilots, the discipline of our soldiers and the labor of our factories. Nothing more. It is their life or ours. Either the Nazi power is destroyed or generations of our citizens will be forbidden to known again the life and peace we love."

TAKE THE "LEAD" FEELING OUT OF YOUR LEGS

Get More Oxygen In Your Blood and Get the Pep that Sends You Bounding Up the Stairs

People who smother to death die because oxygen has been completely cut off from them. Just as surely you are slowly smothering if your blood lacks red corpuscles. Red corpuscles are your oxygen-carriers. They carry the oxygen you breathe in to every part of your system. Without enough oxygen-carrying corpuscles, your kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels slow down. Your skin gets pale, flabby, often pimply. Your nerves may become jittery—you tire quickly—feel depressed.

What you need is Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These world-famous pills help make more and better red corpuscles and thus increase the oxygen-carrying power of your blood. Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today at your druggist. See for yourself how quickly this time-proven blood-builder will help give you back your pep. Copr. 1939, G. T. Fulford Co., Ltd.

A.Y.P.A. Planning Another Dance

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11. — (ENS)—Following a report of the dance held by the A.Y.P.A. on Saturday evening members voted in favor of holding a second one this week. Jack Sutton gave the treasurer's report which showed a substantial profit had been derived from the previous affair. The invitation to have their meeting next week take the form of a social evening at the home of Mrs A. Hollings was accepted. The vice-president Donald Russell presided for the evening and was assisted during the devotional period by Miss Marian Higginson who read the scripture. Miss Doreen Beatty gave the secretary's report. The program was in charge of Mrs. C. Newman and included several musical selections by Capt. E. Hutchinson accompanied by Mrs. P. Bateman. Concluding portion of the program was devoted to a brief address by Captain Hutchinson after which lunch was served.

A School Dance

When the High School Athletic Society found they were faced with a small deficit as a result of hockey this winter it was decided at a meeting of the executive that a dance would be the best means of raising the necessary money. Their action was ratified by Principal E. H. Greig and arrangements are now under way to hold the affair in the school auditorium on Thursday of this week. Doug Hutchison's Aces will supply the music and girls in the home economics department are arranging the lunch.

Increase War Effort

WELLINGTON, April 11 — (CP-Reuters). — 'Added incentive" will be given New Zealand's war effort by Germany's invasion of Norway and Denmark, Prime Minister Peter Fraser declared to-day.

"This further act of wanton aggression will stir the world and will, I know, be an added incentive to the people of New Zealand to do their very utmost in the struggle in which we are engaged," he said.

Russia bought nearly $3,000,000 worth of aviation products in the United States in the last year.

Surely It's Plain Now

New York Herald Tribune considered the German invasion of Norway and Denmark and then stated: "Here is crime, stark and blood-red ... It has in a real sense cleared the air.... Americans should once more take sights, fix their position and determine their course." Just what that means we do not know definitely, although it may be one way of telling the people of United States that they will very soon have to make up their minds what they are going to do about the war.

There are numerous places where one can look for information about Hitler's latest move. It would be his because it is an accepted fact that he alone makes the decisions. We learn that Ribbentrop in November urged that there be an invasion of the Scandinavian countries, but Erich Raeder, German naval minister, was opposed. His claim was it would be too dangerous as it would bring German forces and newly-taken positions under attack from the British navy.

Actually that is what has happened. Germany will have to defend its position on the coast of Norway, and every bit of equipment and supplies will have to put to sea to reach there. It will bring the fighting right out into the open, and that kind of business is something from which the British navy will not hold back. It has already had that effect.

Whether Russia has settled down is open to speculation. If Hitler moves north in Scandinavia, it may be Russia will consider it opportune to push on farther west and reach the iron ore territory of Sweden. No one knows whether the carving of the Scandinavian countries is something on which Russia and Germany agreed months ago.

Rumors and speculation run in London like sap. We read that this move on the part of Germany is not the major objective, but only a feint to hide the coming attack through the low countries, following much the same path as the Germans pursued in their attack of 1914. If the path were to lie through Holland or Belgium then through that way would war sprawl its course. Germany will strike regardless of international boundaries; will invade without a declaration of war; the lesser nations unable to defend themselves will be kicked about without mercy or consideration. Surely the world can understand now why the Allies had to go to war.

The Products Of Denmark

With Denmark in the hands of the Germans there will be no more Danish bacon reaching the British market. That means there will be more market for the Canadian product, and there is plenty on hand for the present.

Germany will not come into possession of Danish bacon and butter. Denmark is not an agricultural country in the meaning of the word as we understand it. It is more like a well regulated feeding and breeding ground, with most of the foodstuff for the animals being imported.

Britain allowed that importation to go through the blockade because the produce in the end was coming to Britain. When the importation of foodstuff is cut off Germany may possibly have 3,000,000 hungry Danes to look after because Denmark will soon cease to be a producer of butter and bacon for the British market. Or any other.

Two Vacancies Already

Dr. A. B. Hyndman, elected as member of Parliament for Carleton on March 26, did not live to take his seat. He died, as Rev. W. G. Brown of Saskatoon had done, between voting day and the opening of the House.

It is hardly necessary to say Dr. Hyndman was a Conservative, for that can be taken for granted in Carleton. Since the first general election in 1867 up to and including the one just concluded there has never been a break in the Conservative representation for this riding. Sir John A. Macdonald was elected there in 1882 and again in 1887, and R. L. Borden secured the seat in a by-election in 1905 and again in the contest of 1908.

So there are already two vacancies in Parliament before it has been called to meet.

Cost Will Be Greater

The Ottawa Journal believes Canada is in a better financial position to pay for war now than she was in 1914-18. In 1914 our national income was $2,000,000,000, while last year it was close to the $4,000,000,000 mark. And from there the Journal reasons "we should be able to spend a great deal more on this war than on the last, the while paying as we go a great deal more of what we spend."

In the last war we were paying virtually nothing on the costs as the war proceeded; we were borrowing the money and have been paying interest on it ever since.

If we understand the situation correctly the present war is going to cost us more because the method of carrying on war has changed so radically. In the last war mechanization was in its infancy. Today it is riding high. War in the air was not a determining factor in the last war; today it is considered of major importance, and the cost of equipping and training an air force and providing machines mounts into figures which we never before considered as being possible. Our national income may be much greater than in 1914, but our belief is that war effort today is many times as expensive as it was in 1914-18.

We Have a Nice River

Some of the rivers of Western Ontario like the Grand, the Thames and the Maitland are always kicking up didoes in the Spring. When weather begins to warm and rain comes to aid the runoff the rivers go on what they call a rampage. People have to move because water comes up around their places of abode; merchants in some places have to remove goods from their cellars.

And that in turn causes us to believe we have a nice river in our Otonabee. A friendly and a reasonable sort of stream, and one which appears to be willing to bear its full share of ushering in Spring without going into a huff over it.

When we crack up the ice and scrape the snow off our streets in town we simply take the stuff and pitch it in the river, or on the river when the ice is there. And the Otonabee minds not at all. When days grow warmer our obliging river just takes this added load in its stride.

Of course our river is one of the regulated sort, being part of the Trent Valley Waterways, the longest inland waterway in the world. The water from the north country does not rush down upon us all at once. It moves according to rule and direction as applied from the head office just across the street from where the Examiner lives. After reading of the bad habits of some of the rivers elsewhere in the province we are satisfied our Otonabee is indeed a very nice and a pleasant mannered stream.

They Just Shot Them

Most people regard the right to live as the most valuable thing in the world, and that is what makes it difficult to understand the cold and indifferent manner in which it is continually disregarded.

Latest piece of evidence comes from Detroit where John Kasap and John Kur Awa have told police the method they used to try and make money. Police found bodies of two men, one buried beneath a house and the other out on a city dump and shooting was the cause of death.

The two men who now face life imprisonment explained that these victims both owned cars. They were lured one at a time to places where there would be no interruption with plans, and then they were deliberately shot. After that the next move was to sell their cars and pocket the money. The prisoners admit they believed when they started that the plan could be carried out almost indefinitely. They were prepared to shoot any person who had a car, and by having more cars for sale they would make more money.

One can run his command of words dry and yet failed to give adequate description to that situation. They gave the victims no chance to fight, no chance to hand over the car in order to save their lives. Just plain butchery as though the right to live was nothing more than a spare tire. It looks as-been increasing rapidly but none too though population in United States had well.

Speaking Of Muskrats

We read a report in the Kingston Whig-Standard telling of an address which W. Y. Mills gave to the Kiwanis Club saying that muskrats trapped within 100 miles of Kingston have the finest pelts in the world for Hudson seal coats.

On a good many matters we might be inclined to allow that Kingston has some advantages over our city and district. Admittedly they have a bigger and better jail there than we own, and they have a much larger university than we have in Peterborough. But when it comes to muskrats we rise up to talk back. Around here is a country for muskrats, beaver, wolves, deer, fish and more fish. For groundhogs, porcupine and heron.

Buyers here tell us that when a rat hide comes from any place east of Belleville they begin to be suspicious; they don't like the looks of the pelt; seems as though the owner of the fur had been through hard times or had been leading too gay a life. Rice Lake rats have earned a reputation as aristocrats in their line, and if the furrier in Kingston had such pelts coming into his place he probably would have spoken for a couple of hours about them because he would have warmed to a worthy subject.

The trouble is we cannot get pictures of rats in Kingston area to compare with those which dwell in our district. If a camera man wants a hopeless assignment then he should be sent out to get a picture of a live muskrat. The Examiner wanted one several years ago for its Annual Tourist edition but such a picture was not in existence. Fred Roy didn't have one and he has photographed almost everything in the district. Then it was we found a very nice one at the Normal School. Stuffed and very quiet. We borrowed that one and our photographer took it out into the Chemong Road. There he placed the rat on a bank and drew up a little grass to make it look better, and thus we secured the only picture of a muskrat which we have encountered.

The man in Kingston said never a word about Kingston muskrats being good to eat, and possibly he has never tried them. Our Indian friends salt down a good deal of their catch after removing the pelt. It comes second on the list. First is porcupine, then muskrat and finally groundhog. They are all vegetarians and are all good to eat. (At least that is what we are told.)

NOTE AND COMMENT

British food controller has issued a book on "What To Do With Left-Overs." In our neighborhood the problem is solved by leaving them in the ice box at night. They're gone by morning.

Sports writers have an enviable territory in which to ply their trade. Thus we read: "If they had scored a couple of the ones that they missed the whole trend of the game might have been different." Yes, quite likely.

In 25 years of operation the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario has paid out $135,000,000 in benefits. The most remarkable feature is that the cost of administration has amounted to only three per cent.

Many of the streets in Lachine have been flooded. Motorists who have occasion to drive through there on the way to or from Montreal hope when the flood waters recede some of the streets may be found to have become wider and straighter.

With all the figures in it is found a Liberal has carried the riding of Acadia, Alberta, by 2 votes. When he gets to Ottawa that member should make it a point to talk matters over with the member from Montreal who went in by something over 25,000 to the good.

Moscow asked that the president of Norway resign from his post as he is considered anti-Soviet. That is undoubtedly a fact as he was president of the League of Nations Assembly at the session when Russia was expelled from membership.

In an interview with some farmers, we read in the Stratford Beacon-Herald where one man had milked a cow, secured a 12-quart pail full to the top, and he did it in five minutes. We have a feeling this fellow must have been working with the pump handle.

Board of arbitration is considering the situation in London, Ont., where employees of the street railway are asking for the increase of 10 cents per hour which was promised three years ago. So far the increase has amounted to two cents per hour. If they got two cents in three years it will take 15 years to receive the full increase of 10 cents.

COMPETITION

(By A.R.K.)

¶ I lived upon the highway, so, I saw the tourists come and go, and other folk I knew; on business I felt rather keen, I'd sell them oil and gasoline, the proper thing to do.

¶ I gave the thing a lot of thought, and picked a likely looking spot, in fact the thing was swell; I'd put my tanks where they'd be seen, and if the trade looked rather keen, I'd sell hot dogs as well.

¶ Nor did I let the moments pass, I made a contract for the gas, I visited the bank; no worry then on my supply, my pumps they'd watch with careful eye, and fill them from their tank.

¶ And business came on fairly brisk, nor did I face too great a risk, of dogs I sold a quire; the money rolled in there so fast, I started thinking how at last, some day I might retire.

¶ And then the man across the way, had found no cash in oats and hay, he lost on crops he grew; he took a strip of orchard land, put in a tank and hot dog stand, so competition grew.

¶ Another man a half mile down, a little closer to the town, went in the business too; so I'm going back to oats and hay, and pigs and cows and cans of whey—like what I used to do.

Tough Boys At Start Of The Murder Gang

"YES, I remember the first time I took him to court back in 1921." Patrolman Frederick Murray was speaking of Abe Reles, now facing charge in the famous murder ring in Brooklyn. Abe was then gambling, stealing from pushcarts, beating up smaller boys and making a general nuisance of himself. When he was taken to court his mother followed and talked the judge out of the idea of sending Abe away to a boys' school. Instead he got off with a fine of $2 which his mother paid. Patrolman Murray continues:

That was the beginning of Abe Reles' criminal record in Brownsville. His dossier now contains 41 accusations and the latest is a murder indictment obtained by District Attorney O'Dwyer of Brooklyn on Feb. 2.

Abe was born in Manhattan of Austrian-Jewish parents, almost 35 years ago. His family was one of the many who moved from the East Side to Brownsville. At that time Abe was in Grade 7A of public school. He has told several stories about the extent of his education, but it has not been proved that he went further than the eighth grade, and his writing is the laborious scrawl of a man accustomed to less subtle methods of conveying thought.

At the time of Abe's first arrest, the family was living on Blake Ave. His father, now 61, was then a pants maker. Now he peddles knishes—baked potatoes or buckwheat in a dough wrapping—at a nickel each from a pushcart. His mother, Rose, a small, stooped woman with white hair, has been defending Abie ever since that day in Children's Court.

"Abie has always been a good boy," she says today. And in the next breath she justifies anything he may have done in words that sound like parrotings of Abe's own defense:

"New York is the crookedest place in the world. Everybody's out to make all the money they can, and they don't care how they make it. I should have the money those boys give the cops every Christmas!

"Everybody's grafting, and then this O'Dwyer has to go and open the records and pick on Abie to make a name for himself yet."

IN ADDITION to Abe, there is another Reles son, a year younger. He has never been in trouble. A younger sister has been a steady worker for years. But Abe's father tried to make a garment worker out of Abe and failed. Abe admits today that he never worked, except for two periods totalling about two years—and investigators have been unable to confirm even this meagre employment record.

When Abe left school, he was a short boy, but heavily built and handy with his fists. He lived on the streets of Brownsville and in candy stores and pool rooms, traveling with two boys about his own age—Motel Goldstein (now known as Martin or Buggsy) and Herschel Strauss (now known as Pittsburgh Phil)—and the three of them were equal to any of the other tough boys in the neighborhood.

The three spent their days as hundreds of other boys in all the poorer, densely populated sections of the city did. They played poker, shot craps, played "underfoots" (the game in which one player slides a coin under his foot and the other attempts to match it). They stole from pushcarts, took money from boys who couldn't defend themselves and bet on baseball and punchball games.

"He ran around with his gang, and I saw him most often at baseball games," says a man who grew up with him and became dean of boys in a Brooklyn high school. "He was mean and tough. However, in those days most games ended in fights and we didn't mind having him on our side. He was a handy guy with a ball bat and, knowing he was on our side, umpires frequently gave us most of the close decisions. Since we were playing for money, we didn't mind that."

Other Brownsville boys at 15 were members of gangs that fought and stole. Some of them grew out of it and became professional or business men. Reles, Goldstein and Strauss did not change. From minor escapades they progressed in a few years into confirmed hoodlumism. They gathered other toughs around them, and from these beginnings developed the Brownsville gang which O'Dwyer now accuses of at least 25 murders.

A Bit of Nonsense

Very Trying

"Do you find it hard to keep in step when dancing?"

"Not a bit—but the music puts me out sometimes."

That's That!

"This is a good restaurant, isn't it?" said the Australian soldier to the waiter of a London cafe.

"Yes, sir, best in town, sir," said the waiter. "If you order a fresh egg, you get the freshest egg in the world, sir. If you order hot coffee, you get the hottest coffee in the world, sir. If—"

"You've said it," interrupted the Australian. "I ordered a small steak."

A Bit Too Much

With a puzzled look on his chubby face, the small boy sought his mother.

"I wish daddy wasn't a professor," he said. "It makes him so absent-minded."

"Why, what's he done now?" asked mother.

"Well, I met him in the street just now and he said: 'Hallo, my boy. I seem to know your face. How's your father?'"

RIGHT!

"My daughter! By gad, sir, how you've got the nerve—!"
"Well, sir, this is a war of nerves."

• Placing A Tax On Land Only

EDITOR EXAMINER: Sir.—You express doubt, in commenting on the change of name from the Single Tax Association to the Henry George Society, whether more progress will be made under the new name than under the old one. This is to "damn with faint praise." We surmise, however, that your attitude is due to lack of information, and we are to blame for not keeping you better informed.

In spite of your impression to the contrary, it can be proved that the principle for which Henry George stood has made considerable progress. Henry George argued that, in order to abolish poverty, it is necessary to take 100 per cent of the economic rent of land for public purposes, and his device of a single tax would ensure that the values which the community makes as a community would be used for public purposes.

In the last 40 years his principle has been applied in varying degree. In Australia for example, there is a Commonwealth land tax, a source of taxation we have not yet adopted in Canada. All of the States of Australia but New South Wales also levy a state land tax. In municipal taxation there is local option as to whether taxing authorities exempt buildings or tax them. In New South Wales municipal taxation is universal, and that includes the city of Sydney with a population of 1,500,000 people. In the State of Queensland the capital city, Brisbane, and every other local authority levies all rates on land values. In the other Australian States quite a number of municipalities exempt improvements 100 per cent.

New Zealand levies a Dominion land tax, and 58 per cent of the people live in municipalities where the sole source of revenue is land values, including the capital city Wellington. In South Africa, a number of cities exempt improvements 100 per cent, among these being Johannesburg. In Pretoria, the tax on improvements is but slight. In other parts of the Union, quite a number of cities make a differential in favor of improvements, one of the largest of these being Durban, where the rate on buildings and improvements is half that on the land value. Nairobi in Kenya rates on land values only.

Denmark has a national land tax, and the principle of exempting improvements to some extent is in effect in Copenhagen. In our own Canadian Western provinces, homes and buildings used for farm purposes are 100 per cent exempted in Manitoba, Sasaktchewan and Alberta and are exempted up to $1,500 in British Columbia. In Ontario and eastern Canada we still burden our farmers with improvement taxes. Winnipeg exempts improvements one-third; Saskatchewan has a 40 per cent exemption on buildings. In Alberta, under local option some exemption is universal, commonly ranging from 50 per cent in cities to one-third in towns and villages. British Columbia also has local option, the general exemption on buildings being 50 per cent. But there are cities and municipal districts which exempt buildings 100 per cent and a fair number of municipalities allow greater exemptions than 50 per cent. Several of the Western provinces also raise a part of their provincial revenues by a direct tax on the value of land. We haven't come to that, as yet, in Ontario.

In Great Britain, the land question has been in politics for 40 years. Lloyd George and Philip Snowden, when each was Chancellor of the Exchequer, included land valuation and tax provisions in their budgets for national purposes. The immense power of the landed interests in Great Britain, however, has prevented the putting into effect of these budgetary reforms. But the taxation of site values is a live question yet in Great Britain for only one year ago the London County Council promoted a Bill in Parliament to give the L.C.C. the right to raise revenue by taxing site values in the capital of the Empire. Not only London but many large centres in Great Britain have been petitioning for years for this overdue reform. Both the Labor and Liberal parties are pledged to grant it.

Sometimes failure is glorious. But the tide of history rolls on, and humanity has not yet heard the last of the principles advocated by Henry George. Four years ago there were about three active disciples in Montreal—today there are 300 others.

HERBERT T. OWENS,
Secretary.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And when Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented. And Jesus saith unto him, I will come and heal him.

The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed. For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, an he doeth it.

When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel.... And Jesus said unto the cenurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the self-same hour.—Matt. v, 17, 18; viii, 5-10, 13.

DISTASTEFUL TASK

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

Under that heading the Carmel (Calif.) Pine Cone, a weekly, printed a front page editorial on March 22 which ought to produce results in its bailiwick. It promises that in its issues of April 15, the issue immediately following the coming local election, it will publish the names of registered voters who fail to exercise their right to vote.—Editor and Publisher.

THE STORY BEHIND

We've read the exchange of letters between Premier Hepburn and Colonel Malcolm Lang, resulting in the resignation of Col. Lang as chairman of the T.N.O. Railway but there's still a great deal of doubt as to what it's all about. Some men surely can write things in a way that whets one's curiosity.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

As the House cheered, Mr. Churchill observed, "We certainly find no reason to deter us from entering on any further perils that might lie before us."

"We feel ready to encounter the utmost malice of the enemy and to achieve a ready victory in what is a world cause."

Norse Hard To Beat

Churchill said that the Norwegians "in their wild and mountainous country" should be able to maintain "vigorous and prolonged resistance" against the German invaders.

"If the Norwegian government had not been so very strict and severe in enforcing her neutrality against us," he said, "it would have been very easy to give them more timely and more support than is now possible," he went on.

He charged that German invasion had been "long and elaborately prepared" against a number of small countries and it was only in the small hours of Monday that it was learned "that Norway and Denmark had drawn the unlucky numbers in this sinister lottery."

"It is not the slightest use blaming the Allies for not being able to give substantial protection to neutral countries when we are held at arm's length by those countries until they are actually attacked on a scientifically prepared plan by Germany," he said.

He announced that the destroyer Glowworm apparently had been lost Monday morning off the Norwegian coast in a battle with German warships. Her normal complement was 145.

"We can only conclude that the Glowworm was sunk by superior forces of the enemy on Monday morning," Mr. Churchill said. "Since then fighting has been conducted night and day."

He said the fleet was cruising "to the south about the level of Bergen" when, on Monday afternoon, "it was continuously attacked by enemy aircraft."

Rodney Shakes Off Bomb

A very heavy bomb fell on the battleship Rodney but her decks, the First Lord said, "resisted it."

He said the cruiser Aurora was attacked unsuccessfully five times while "the destroyer Gurkha accompanying her was hard hit and sank after 4½ hours and the crew rescued."

"The destroyer Zulu sank a German U-boat off the Orkneys," the First Lord disclosed.

"There is no reason," said Mr. Churchill, "why a large portion of the crew of the Glowworm should not have been saved if the ordinary humanity of fighting men had been practiced by the enemy.

The Renown, one of the British battle cruisers opened fire at daybreak Tuesday morning," Mr. Churchill said, and added after three minutes the enemy replied."

While intense naval activity was occurring on many sectors, Mr. Churchill said that far to the north of Narvik the 32,000-ton British battle cruiser Renown sighted the 26,000 - ton German battleship Scharnhorst and a 10,000-ton cruiser of the Hipper class at daybreak Tuesday morning.

The warships apparently had steamed to the Narvik region the day before, he said.

Belgium prepared

After nine minutes of firing the Renown observed hits on the forward superstructure of the German vessel. She stopped firing and later her turret began firing "on local control."

Hipper to the Rescue

The 10,000-ton cruiser Hipper "drew a smoke screen across the wounded battleship," Mr. Churchill said.

As the Renown opened fire "on the Hipper which turned away" both German ships "were retiring at high speed."

"In the end I regret to say they succeeded in leaving us—teh firing ceased at 25,000 yards when they became invisible" Mr. Churchill said.

He added that messages from the Renown broke off at the moment that "they became interesting" and "we never heard another word until a few hours ago."

A very determined attack was made on Wednesday by two waves of Royal Air Force planes of 12 planes each, Mr. Churchill said, in which two German cruisers were attacked and "one has not been seen since."

He said that on Monday morning it seemed as though the German forces which "had sunk the Glowworm would be caught between our forces in the north and the main home fleet, both of which were superior to it. However, they got away."

A torpedo-carrying aircraft of the fleet's air arm "attacked enemy shipping in the harbor of Trondheim," Mr. Churchill disclosed.

"I look forward to making another statement to parliament very shortly," the First Lord said.

7 Hurt On Rodney

Seven men—four officers and three sailors—were injured when a bomb hit the flagship Rodney, whose "heavy armament deflected the blow," Churchill disclosed.

"So far as the structure of our ships of war is concerned," he said, "the incident must be regarded as satisfactory."

In recounting the tale of the British destroyers' attack on the Germans in Narvik, Mr. Churchill said the fighting was "worthy of any in British navy records."

"The destruction of store ships, crippling of the destroyer force and blowing up of a munitions ship which was perhaps intended to turn Narvik into a Sebastapol or Gibraltar has simplified the task which obviously might be among those which lie ahead," Mr. Churchill said.

He also disclosed there were no casualties on the Renown although a shell had passed "through our ship above the water line without bursting."

He said something similar happened to the Exeter in the Graf Spee battle and showed "all Nazi workmanship is of a piece."

Seas Breaking Over Guns.

"A shell also went through the Renown's foremast carrying away the main aerial," Mr. Churchill reported. He said the speed which the Scharnhorst maintained "was very great" and that the Renown had to push ahead at 24 knots with very heavy seas breaking over her turrets and guns.

He said that 60 German aircraft attacked Scapa Flow last night "without doing the slightest damage."

"The enemy lost six aircraft," he added, and then declared:

"We are ready to fight this matter out at Scapa Flow."

Mr. Churchill said a cruiser was hit in the first air raid on Scapa Flow which "necessitated several weeks of repair, but no more than that." Since then "up to the moment at which I am speaking there has been no vessel hit or damaged at Scapa and no objective of the slightest military importance has been hit."

Of the 15 torpedo-carrying aircraft which attacked at Trondheim Mr. Churchill said all 15 returned. When reconnaissance craft went to the scene "no" cruiser was seen. Where one had been there was only a half-mile long streak of oil. It looks as if the result had been obtained.

"We had hoped to catch a Hipper class cruiser which was reported to be there," the First Lord said, but "all we caught was a destroyer which was hit by a torpedo."

Knew Something Brewing.

The First Lord of the Admiralty said that for several months past Britain had received information of large numbers of German merchant ships being fitted as transports and of numerous small vessels being assembled in various Baltic ports and also in mouths of the River Elbe.

The Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden all were equally liable to a sudden "brutal, capricious and in any case unprovoked attack," he said.

Mr. Churchill said which neutral would be selected as the victim remained inevitably a matter of speculation, but he asserted that the Germans "have an obvious preference for striking at the weak rather than the strong."

"In the small hours of Monday morning," he went on, "we learned that Norway and Denmark had drawn the unlucky numbers in this sinister lottery."

Mr. Churchill remarked that all small countries on the borders of Germany "were, and still are, in a high state of alarm."

"Even those neutrals who had done the most to placate Germany and had been the greatest aid to her could not feel any sense of security that they would not be attacked without any reason or without any warning and speedily overrun and reduced to bondage and pillage of all their property, especially of all eatables."

The House laughed at this statement.

"There has been no greater impediment in the blockade of Germany than the Norwegian Corridor," Mr. Churchill said, after remarking that Denmark had special reasons for apprehension, not only because she was nearest and weakest but because she had a recent treaty with Germany guaranteeing her from all molestation."

"His Majesty's government have been extremely reluctant" to incur reproaches for even technical violations of International law, but it had decided "at last" to interrupt the Norwegian ore traffic and "make it come out in the open sea."

Up to then, he said, the British navy was forced to watch "an endless procession" of German and neutral ships which respect for International law forbade them to touch.

He added that Germany "flouted" those same conventions in this war as in the last and they tried to make out "the invasion of Norway and Denmark was a consequence of our act in closing this corridor."

He declared that during the last war the British, French and United States governments "induced" Norwegians to mine their territorial waters to prevent abuse by submarines.

"We have the most profound sympathy with the Norwegian people," the first lord affirmed, and promised aid to "the best of our ability" since "their future and independence are bound up with the victory of the Allies."

Mr. Churchill stressed that it was "intolerable" to the Allies to watch ships passing down "the Norwegian Corridor" carrying iron ore to make shells which would "strike down the young men of France and Britain in the campaign of 1941."

SENIOR CAGE LEAGUE FINALISTS PLAY TO DRAW

Grads To Disband Next June 6 After 25 Years

EDMONTON, April 11 — (CP).—J. Percy Page's famed Edmonton Grads, recognized as the best women's basketball team in the world after compiling one of the most outstanding records in the annals of major sport, will disband and retire next June 6, after 25th anniversary celebrations here.

Lack of financial support and competition in Canada and extra duties Page will have as a member of the Alberta Legislature were reasons behind Grads' decision to "fade out," made at a special meeting here last night. The players will not join other teams nor play the game after June 6, Page said.

Page, one of five Edmonton members-elect in the Legislature, has been known as a basketball genius since the day he took charge of the MacDougall Commercial High School girls' team here in 1914 and the Grads' first senior team in 1915.

Grads players, all but two of whom have graduated through the school's junior, senior and gradettes intermediate teams, won every one of 54 series for the Underwood Women's International Challenge Trophy, have never lost a Canadian championship series, and were victorious in all 27 games played during four sets of Olympic Games — at Paris in 1924, Amsterdam 1928, Los Angeles 1932, and Berlin in 1936.

Since the start of women's Canadian championships in 1922, Grads won 13 championships. On four occasions they did not compete and in 1939 they were declared Canadian open champions, which gave the Senior A titlists, Calgary Buffaloes, the right to challenge for the open crown. Calgary, however, did not challenge.

Before Grads retire, Page said he expects the 1940 Senior A champions to be crowned in Vancouver later this month, will challenge them for the open title early in May.

Chisholm Chaffs At Fate That Shelves Him

TORONTO, April 11 (CP)—The square-jawed young man opened the door of his automobile and asked: "going downtown?"

Lex Chisholm was leaving Maple Leaf Gardens after watching other members of Toronto's National Hockey League club go through a light drill in preparation for tonight's fifth game of Stanley Cup finals with New York Rangers. He had to be careful of how he handled the steering wheel, for his right wrist was in a cast.

"The doctor's going to take it off today," he said, indicating the cast. "It doesn't bother my driving anyway."

He didn't say anything immediately about having to stand by while the rest of the Maple Leafs battled for the world championship.

"Things look pretty good for the Leafs now," he ventured at last. "They've tied up the series and the rest of the games are to be played here in Toronto, where we've lost only three times all season.

"But, boy, I'd like to be in there. The kind of battling that's going on in this series is right down my alley."

Could Use Him

The Leafs could have used Chisholm, too, in this hectic best-of-seven round. Before he suffered a broken wrist in practice during the N.H.L. schedule, he was a mainstay in the tight spots and a dangerous attacker. Rarely did the rookie from Galt, Ont., lose a duel for the puck in a corner. Toronto is employing a left-hand shot, Nick Metz, at right wing on a line where Chisholm might conceivably be playing.

The series reaches another crisis tonight, when one team can gain a huge advantage by winning the fifth game and going ahead. The Rangers took the first two contests at home and the Maple Leafs have won the third and fourth here.

Alex Shibicky, the Rangers' only casualty, may return to action, though his sprained ankle still gave him considerable pain yesterday when he tested it on the ice. If he is unable to play, young Stan Smith from the Philadelphia farm will replace him in the lineup again. Smith was dressed but not used for the fourth game Tuesday.

Four Teams In Southend Loop

Four teams definitely entered the Southend Softball League meeting last night, Keene, Cogs, Maple Leafs and Brintons. Officers elected were: Hon. Presidents, Sid Barrack, Bill Prindible; honorary secretary-treasurer, Jack Copping; president, Art Pilling; first vice-president, Dave Leether, Sr.; second vice-president, Fred Whalen of Keene; secretary-treasurer, Frank Maloney. Executive will include the team managers.

It was pointed out that all officers were experienced and capable, having been connected with the league in various capacities for several years. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 24th, at Barrack's Store, when entries will be closed. Several more clubs are wanted to round out this successful independent circuit.

Waterloo Loses Junior "B" Tilt

TORONTO, April 11. — Opening the scoring jets in the third period, Aurora Tigers outdistanced Waterloo Siskins to post a 7-to-3 victory at Maple Leaf Gardens last night in the final game of the O.H.A. Junior "B" round-robin series.

Aurora's victory enabled them to tie Waterloo for second place and the teams will play a 2-of-3 series for the right to meet Owen Sound Greys in the championship set. Aurora and Waterloo will meet in Kitchener Friday night and back at Maple Leaf Gardens next week, probably Monday.

Aurora—Goal, Tunney; defence, Martin and Curtis; centre, McComb; wings, Lowe and Pierce. Subs—Cummings, Donkin, Michanuik, Cook, McGee, Scott, Brennan.

Waterloo—Goal, Hainsworth; defence, Schlote and Martin; centre, J. Bauer; wings, Cressman and R. Bauer. Subs—R. Voll, Shuttleworth, Lang, Cotey, K. Voll, W. Bauer, Woolner.

Referee—Bert McCaffery, Toronto.

Remember When—

Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' Iowa farm boy, beat the old baseball master, Carl Hubbell, in an exhibition game with the Giants three years ago today at New York. In eight innings Feller struck out nine and allowed five hits and two runs. Hubbell in eight innings allowed eight hits and let in four Indian runs, two of which were homers.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

And the shouting and tumult of the Petes' capture of an O.H.A. championship Tuesday eve in Kitchener has pretty well died down. But there were plenty of wide grins around town yesterday and last night, with much favorable comment—so 'twould seem the victory has local fans' approval in big gobs. For a natural ice centre, and for a practically 100 per cent home brew puck club, Peterborough can well be proud of pulling out a provincial hockey championship this year. Over such clubs as Trenton Fliers, Port Colborne Incos, Owen Sound Trappers, Collingwood Shipbuilders and Kitchener Greenshirts. It is a high spot in local hockey history.

* * * * * *

Some of the Petes were in no hurry returning home, but we suppose they're all back in the groove by now. And all pretty chesty. We know the hats of Art Heal and Eddie Starr—it seems the lighter lads will always be set upon by the bigger bohunks, be it hockey or war—will never again be the same. But nobody is sobbing o'er spilt milk—or was it milk? And folks out Bridgenorth way won't forget for awhile the sunrise victory parade of the Jopling boys and their pals replete with firearms, only 'twas Hap Wilgar who piloted these merry souls out in the car, not Hugh Davis. We're told that this office and Dick Raine handled so many phone calls on the game that some of our scribes and Dick can't look a phone in the face since! Ah, well, a small price.

* * * * * *

And On To Ottawa

In ye olde meantime, plans have been practically completed for the Petes to go—there's a cheap rate east via train this week-end—Saturday to Ottawa for the first of their three-in-five Eastern Canada intermediate "A" final serial with the Maxville Millionaires. At the request of the O.H.A. and the C.A.H.A. Second tilt will be Monday, and then the clubs shift to Toronto to wind it up. The local speedsters are tickled at being known as Ontario champs but would be happier than a cat in a butcher shop if they could cop Eastern Canada honors ere hanging up their battle-scarred blades for the year.

* * * * * *

In the four final frays, the Petes scored 17 goals and had 10 scored against 'em by Kitchener. Honey Tompkins tallied four and aided on two to lead with six points, and Bun Kingdon was right on his heels with two and three for five points. Don Coughlin was in on four. Then came Art Heal, Joe Blewett and Eddie Starr with three points apiece—showing the scoring was pretty well spread around in these money melees. Jack Jopling, Smoke Gardner and Don Crowe figured in two each, and Jim Ellis in one. So that takes in 10 of the puckists who were there or thereabouts in the four-game final, and Ray Harding couldn't be expected to do any scoring, could he?

Best Of Wishes

Says Vic McKenty, genial Kitchener scribe: "Given a dream on which they capitalized, the Petes — who are opportunists and worthy champions, too, if ever a team was—made the most of it and rapped home a pair of clinching goals after the tie had been broken. To skate off with a 5-2 decision, the O.H.A. intermediate 'A' champions with the right to enter Eastern Canada finals. Greenshirts need not apologize to anybody for losing to Peterborough. The 1939-40 intermediates from the Quaker Oats city are very worthy champions and Kitchener players and fans alike wish them the very best in their bid for the eastern title." Well, thanks, Vic, for the good wishes.

Folks are sardined in every night this week at Duffus' viewing the big open bowling tournament, with some of the finest pin-smackers in Ontario on hand. Lot of outside teams, with more to come, before it comes to a finish Saturday eve. Last three nights of the week should see some real rolling. Belleville's male maple masseurs are high for men's teams to date, and the Kingston ladies lead the lasses' squads. Fred Martin has high single so far, while Fred and Bill Martin are on top to date with high double. No scores have been announced yet, with the competition in full swing, but averages will be listed later. Drop in if you want to see more strikes than a ball umpire does in a month.

Classy Orfuns Play

Local lasses who play super-nifty basketball under the name of Orfuns swing into action in the first game of the L.O.B.A. intermediate "B" finals this Saturday evening at 6.30 in the Y.W. here. Playing St. Paul's girls of Toronto. The Orfuns are rightly named as they have no sponsors, buying their own uniforms this year, renting the gym, using their own cars on trips and buying meals and gas themselves—just a gang of sports without much money but having a lot of fun. As it shapes up like a sweet struggle by two excellent squads, fans should flock out in force to cheer the Orfuns along in their bid for a title. The gals deserve a break.

Bees and Zephyrs fought it out to a 32-all tie last p.m. in the "Y" in a neat men's City Cage Loop playoff. Their second playoff, so the Bees are still one up and one to go. Zephyrs had a 22-10 lead at one time, holding Jimmy Thorburn well in check, but the swarming Bees buzzed around the basket the last while and were within 30 seconds of a victory when a free toss tied it up tighter than a corporation's legal contract. Taylor, Ascott and Rogow were the pick of the Bees; with Dyer, Dougherty and Sedgewick standouts for the sons of Zephyrus—whom ancient Greeks considered a big breeze. But Bees don't believe it. Dunno when the next tilt is.

Zephyrs, Bees Go 32-All In Nifty Game

Bees and Zephyrs fought through 40 minutes of hectic basketball at the Y.M.C.A. last night, only to finish up in a 32-all tie and the Senior City League final series still shows the Bees up one victory to none.

After the Zephyrs had taken a 22-10 lead by virtue of a splurge of points late in the opening half, Bees fought a bitter up-hill battle to take a 1-point lead with seconds left. However, the Zephs counted a free throw and tied it up with half a minute left.

Zephyrs played a strong, desperate defensive game all the way, and succeeded in tying up league-leading scorer, Jim Thorburn, holding the winners' ace to seven points, all of which came in the final half. The teams battle evenly through the first ten minutes of the first half but Zephyrs went on a splurge, sinking baskets from every angle to run up a 22-10 lead. Bees opened the last half with a field goal and then gradually cut down the Zephyrs' lead until Taylor scored a field goal to put them ahead 32-31. A few seconds later Sedgewick was awarded a free throw, which he made, to tie it up.

Both teams turned it on at a terrific rate through the remaining seconds, but neither had a real scoring chance, and the game ran out to a dead heat. The Bees looked anything but winners in the opening half, but starting the final period looked like a different team and their passing and particularly their shooting, that had been off in the first half, began to hit the basket and they slowly but surely cut down their deficit.

Zephyrs played a fast-passing, accurate shooting attack with a good share of their points in the opening half coming from well out. Bees made six for their nine free throw chances, with Zephyrs making six of their 16 tries from the free-throw line.

Ascott, Taylor and Rogow all stood out in a fine effort for Bees and Dougherty, Dyer and Sedgewick were outstanding for the Zephyrs. The teams:

Bees (32).—Centre, Craig, 9; forwards, Taylor 4, Thorburn 7; guards, Ascott 4 Rogow 4; subs., Whaley, McArthur, 4.

Zephyrs (32).—Centre, Stewart, 6; forwards, Dyer 12, Dougherty 3; guards, West 7, Sedgewick 4.

Referees—D. McPherson, Curly Krug.

OSHAWA CAPTURES EASTERN CANADIAN TITLE

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—The freshman baseball coach at Michigan State is sitting up nights trying to pare a squad of 200 hopefuls to 25... Old Zeke Bonura was so keen to hook up with Washington he offered personally to pay $1,000 of the purchase price...When and if Johnny Paycheck regains consciousness he'll be offered a May 10 setto with Gunnar Barlund in Chicago, which apparently can take anything.

That crop of berls has made Billy Conn a bit grumpy. He yells: "I hate that Teddy Yarosz like poison. I wouldn't fight him for a million bucks." Haw! We always thought that was when guys like to fight... Andy K., the Derby candidate, was vanned down to Laurel yesterday for a speed test on a fast track...Seen on Broadway: Joe Louis. Ditto: Henry Armstrong.

That's George B. McCamey, the well-known horse breeder moaning ...He had 12 colts foaled in succession on his Bedford Stock Farm near Fort Worth and was on the way to a record of some sort when the unlucky 13th upped and caught him...Yep, it was a filly, blow and blast it.

Thistles Revive To Slap Edmonton Down

WINNIPEG, April 11 — (CP). — Kenora Thistles taught Edmonton Athletic Club a lesson in defensive hockey last night as they scored a 3-1 victory to even the Western junior hockey final at one game apiece.

Still smarting from a 7-1 pasting in Edmonton on Saturday the Thistles, bubbling with confidence, ran in a three-goal lead in the first period and ragged the puck for the remaining sessions to hold the Athletics scoreless until five minutes from the end.

The opening game of the best-of-five series, played in Edmonton, ended 2-2. The fourth and fifth will be played here on Fridayd an Saturday.

Both clubs were guilty of rough play and slashing but several threatened recurrences of the fistic outbreaks of Saturday's game were nipped in the bud. Eight minor penalities were called against Kenora, while Edmonton served seven. Each goalie was forced to stop one penalty shot.

All Kenora goals came in the first period while Edmonton was shorthanded. Bill Juzda, solid Kenora rearguard, opened the scoring with a pretty solo effort and the combination of Thistles' first string of Dick Milford, Eddie Dartnell, and Roy White resulted in the others. Ken Reardon scored Edmonton's goal.

Milford relayed Dartnell's pass from behind the net across to White who waited until Goaler Cliff Kilburn made his move before placing the puck in the top of the net. Dartnell raced down right wing in high gear, took Milford's pass as he round the defence, and let go from 10 feet for Kenora's final counter.

Dizzy Stays Over Ignoring Mere $100 Fine

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, who changes his mind faster than he ever changed his pitching pace, cancelled a midnight train reservation and guessed he'd stay over today to watch his Chicago Cubs play an exhibition game against Pittsburg's Pirates.

"I'm going to sit in the stands, eat peanuts and enjoy myself just like any other fan."

Ol' Diz beamed. He was feeling good after a chicken dinner, topped off by a beer or two. He apparently forgot that he was fined $100 and ordered by Manager Charles Hartnett to go on to Chicago.

Hartnett, apparently irked more by the telephone calls Dean's latest screwball antics caused him than by the pitcher's actual offense, suddenly was neither jovial nor gabby.

The trouble all started in Wichita. No one knows when it will end, or how.

"Who cares?" snapped Hartnett.

Dizzy told interviewers at Topeka he spent Tuesday night visiting an uncle, the Rev. Bland Dean, who lives 14 miles from Wichita.

Couldn't Get Gabby

"I knew I was going to be a little late (to catch the Cubs' special) so I tried to telephone Hartnett. I couldn't get him."

He caught a later train and arrived 30 minutes behind the Cubs.

His uncle said "I didn't see Dizzy. He didn't show up."

Dean slipped in his fast one. "Aw I didn't say my uncle. I said my nephew. Any of the boys'll tell you I was with him."

Said Hartnett: "$100 fine and home to Chicago."

Dean made a train reservation for St. Louis to see his wife—his moral and spiritual adviser in times of stress. She pulled him out of many a hole in his balmier days with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Then Dean and most of the Cubs went out to Joe Gleeson's Golden Arrow Tavern. Gleeson, in his second year with the Cubs, was host at a chicken dinner. Hartnett was conspicuous by his absence.

There Ol' Diz wavered between submission to Hartnett's orders and rebellion.

"I'm going to do anything Gabby wants me to.

A few bites later:—

"If they make that phony fine stick I'm going on an exhibition tour. Hell, I can make more than the $10,000 they're paying me in three weeks barnstorming. That's the trouble with ball clubs and managers—they won't pay you anything."

O'Neill Rebuilds His Bisons From Coal Bin Up

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 11.—(AP)—Stripping down his 1939 club in sales and trades, Steve O'Neill has rebuilt Buffalo Bisons from the coal-bin up for the International league campaign opening, April 18.

Only five of 21 players were retained. Of these only three pitchers, Earl Cook and Sal Maglie, and Outfielder Ollie Carnegie, the circuit's home run king—are slated for regular duty. Ollie hopes to play about 100 games. He's the league's graybeard but not old enough, he says, to make his real age known. Social Security say it's over 40.

The other two holdovers are Coach Greg Mulleavy and Hank Nowak, speedy reserve outfielder.

The Irish boss of the Bisons believes he has a first-division team.

Steve believes he has seven potential .300 hitters in Les Fleming, first baseman; Third Baseman Jim Outlaw, bought from the Boston Bees; Pat (Irish) Mullin; Detroit chattell who'll start in centre; Mayo Smith, who hit .278 for Toronto; Carnegie and Roy Johnson, who'll divide the left field asignment and Catcher Cliff Bolton.

Catchers Weak?

O'Neill, however, is somewhat worried about the catching department. Bolton, who quit Detroit in 1937, is finding a comeback tough and has a sore arm. So has Frank Zubik, who managed Spartanburg, S.C., last year.

Problem No. 2 is the keystone combination. Dan Carnevale, light with the mace but a whizz in the field, will be the regular shortstop. Second-base is an open scrap between Gene Markland, cut loose last winter by Commissioner Landis from Detroit, and Nick Lemon, a Connecticut boy who came up via Montgomery, Al., where he hit .324 last year until shelved by an appendectomy. Carnevale hit only .257 for Wilkes-Barre.

As for the pitching, the Bison staff may be good or terrible. Joe Rogalski, fast-ball hurler acquired from the Tigers via Toledo when he won eight and lost nine with a last place club, figured to be the ace. But he hasn't pitched in a ball game because of a chronic spring shoulder hitch.

Floyd Stromme, 24-year-old Detroit "giant" on option from Cleveland, and Floyd Giebel, Detroit farmhand, are probable starters, along with Cook and Maglie. Best of the rookie crop is Lefty Walter Ogiego but its a long ladder from Tallahassee in Class D, where he won 17 and lost eight, to AA ball.

Generals Oust Verdun In 4-0 Victory

MONTREAL, April 11 — (CP). — One Eastern Canada record smashed, the powerful Oshawa Generals are waiting today for the West to declare their junior champion before they can get to the business of trying to set another.

With a 4-0 victory over Verdun Maple Leafs here last night, Generals became the first junior team ever to represent the East in three successive Memorial Cup finals. Coach Tracy Shaw thinks they can become the first to win two straight Dominion titles in the 22-year history of cup play.

"I feel sure we've got all the necessary material here to keep the Memorial Cup safe for another year," he said in the dressing room as the Generals jubiliantly celebrated the victory that made it two straight over Verdun in a best-of-three games series. The Generals won the first game 6-3.

Outstanding in the triumph were Forwards Jud McAtee and Nick Knottand Goalie Dinny McManus, all members of the Memorial Cup squad that beat Edmonton Roamers in the final.

Jud McAttee and Knott each bagged a goal and an assist against Verdun while Buddy Hellyer, who played in Montreal last year, and Roy Sawyer scored the other goal. The Generals took a 1-0 lead in the initial period and added three in the next before laying back to protect the lead.

The Oshawa defence, especially Frankie Eddolls and Don Daniels, always were one step ahead of the speedy Leafs.

Royals At Home Out To Down Romping Devils

MONTREAL, April 11.—(CP)—Home ice and their own promise "to do better this time" will send Montreal Royals into tonight's game with Kirkland Lake Blue Devils as favorites to square the final series for the Eastern Canada senior hockey championship at one victory apiece.

Royals dropped the first game of the best-of-five round 3-1 in Toronto to the surprising Northern Ontario squad that travelled too fast to catch the body checks the heavier Montrealers were supposed to use to wear them down.

This time, however, the Quebec champions say it will be different and a sell-out crowd of close to 11,000 is assured for what should be a rousing game. The fans started lining up for tickets yesterday and few were available today.

Johnny McCreedy, hoping the Blue Devils will be his third Dominion championship team, will be the man Royals will watch most carefully. The speedy forward practically stopped them singlehanded at Toronto as he banged in all three goals, two of them unassisted.

Dr. F. J. Nickle Discusses Child Ailments

MARMORA, April 11 — (ENS).— The regular meeting of Marmora branch of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Rice on Monday evening, the attendance being twenty-three and the president, Mrs. H. W. Sabine, occupying the chair. The usual opening exercises having been carried out, the roll-call, "How to retain your youthful figure and vigor" was well responded to. Following confirmation of minutes and the presentation of the treasurer's report, the report of the recent card party was given by the committee in charge. The proceeds of this party was to finance the representation of two local girls at the special agricultural course which is being held at Kemptville on April 26-27. Plans were made for another party to be held on April 25 in aid of the same object. Quilt blocks for the quilt which will be sent to a family which were burned out in New Carlow were received.

Enjoyable Program.

The program was then put on. A pic contest was held by Mrs. M. Linton was won by Mrs. K. Armstrong. Dr. F. J. Nickle of Eldorado guest speaker of the evening, touched upon the prevention of diseases among children. He gave statistics of the treatment of children before and after the advent of vaccination. A question period added much to the general interest in Dr. Nickle's visit. Mrs. (Dr.) Nickle, who was also present, spoke briefly. A hearty vote of thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Nickle having been given, a solo was given by Mrs. Bray, with Mrs. F. R. Wells acting as accompanist. A report of the North Hastings district executive meeting recently held in Madoc was given by the delegate, Mrs. J. Gordenier.

The meeting ended with the singing of the National Anthem, after which lunch was served. The next meeting will be held on May 8 at the home of Mrs. M. Linton.

Douro Dramatic Club Pays Visit To Warasw

WARSAW, April 11 — (ENS). — St. Joseph's Dramatic Club of Douro played to a packed house here on Friday night when they presented their Irish comedy, "Moonlight and Roses." This society always gives a good account of itself and this was no exception. "Moonlight and Roses" full of sparkle and Irish wit was played by a veteran cast and was one of the finest plays seen here for some time. The local rink committee who were rsponsible for the appearance is to be congratulated on obtaining an entertainment of this sort. Several beautiful solos between the acts, together with Dr. Munro's orchestra, made it an evening long to be remembered.

Personals.

FRESH YEAST to help digestion
VITAMINS for vitality
BOTH TOGETHER can help put new life into tired people

If you just don't have the pep to get through your work, if slight digestive upsets are sapping your vitality*—see if Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast can't help you.

It's the vitamins and the fresh yeast—working together—scientists say, that make Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast so effective in building people up.

The fresh yeast stimulates slow digestion and speeds up the assimilation of food. Laboratory tests have shown this is an action of the yeast itself—entirely distinct from known vitamin action.

The vitamins are needed to maintain steady nerves and keep up vitality. Only in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast can you get such an abundant supply of the 4 important vitamins, A, B_1, D and G, and all the vitamins of the amazing Vitamin B Complex.

Eat 2 cakes every day. Try exchanging that overtired feeling for one of buoyant energy!

Cheese Provides System With Calcium

Eat more cheese and you should not have to concern yourself about the first part of the subject of Dale Carnegie's gospel of amenity, "How to Make Friends and Influence People."

That assertion seems to be a reasonable deduction from the interesting and informative talk by Dr. Harry Ebbs of the Hospital for Sick Children and also of the University of Toronto on nutritional values at the Y.M.C.A. last night under the auspices of the Peterborough Council of Women.

Dr. Ebbs was introduced by Dr. Agnes Moffat who recalled to the audience of several hundred women, and a handful of men that he is a former Peterborough boy.

Cheese is a highly recommended element of diet for its content of calcium to which Dr. Ebbs ascribes the invaluable social effect of "soothing the nervous system and helping you get along with other people." Adults who allow their diet to become deficient in calcium over a period of years will develop evidences of irritability, the kind of folks who are hard to get along with. "Common mousetrap cheese" should correct the inner disharmony, and in that bit of humor no doubt referred to the domestic article which should be more generally known as Canadian Cheddar cheese, some of the very best of which is manufactured in the Peterborough-Campbellford district.

Calcium in Milk

In that phase of his address on "Food for Health in Peace and War," Dr. Ebbs was extolling the benefits of milk especially for growing children, for expectant mothers and, further down the list, for adults. Milk is rich in calcium, the mineral that builds bones and hardens teeth. Hence, the advice is emphasized that milk and its products, such as butter and cheese, should be essential in the family diet. Those who object that they cannot drink milk were reminded that they could have it served in puddings, for example. And as for the notion that cheese was constipating, Dr. Ebbs declared that to be just so much bunk, one of those hardy opinions which doctors have proved to have no basis in fact.

Sources of Vitamin C

Vitamin C is supplied by oranges, lemons, grapefruit, and among other sources of this element canned tomatoes ranks near the top. Deficiency of vitamin C leads to scurvy. The preventive effect of citric fruits was recognized long ago in the British navy, Dr. Ebbs said, recalling that the sailors used to be called "limeys" because it was said of them that they took along kegs of lime juice on their voyaging. As a matter of fact they included green lemons in their larder to prevent the outbreak of the dreaded scurvy.

"The first case of successful treatment of scurvy was in Canada in 1535," Dr. Ebbs said. "The French explorer Jacques Cartier, one of the early founders of Canada was told by friendly indians to make a brew of the young shoots of spruce trees to cure scurvy among his crew. Cartier tried it, and it was successful, and he recorded it among French journals, but nothing more was done about it for the next few hundred years."

The Sunshine Vitamin

Vitamin D was mentioned as the sunshine vitamin, the lack of which causes rickets. Its chief source is cod liver oil and fish livers generally, and from the indispensible sunshine. People in this country live too much in houses and work in shops and factories. They are not exposed long enough to the benefits of the sun. Dr. Ebbs presented on one of his charts a comparison of cod liver oil's health giving qualities as compared with various foods For example, one teaspoonful of cod liver oil is equivalent to 555 helpings of carrots or 1,560 helpings of beets, just to mention two of the foods. He also advised adding a little cod liver oil to the milk for children, even for babies under six months.

As an illustration of the gradual elimination of rickets, Dr. Ebbs said that at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto there were 153 cases in 1925 and only 4 in 1935. When any cases are met with today, an immediate enquiry is made in the home conditions and the family diet, especially in regard to provision of calcium and iron, vitamin D and other balancing elements.

White sugar and white bread are excellent sources of energy, but the refining processes remove essential foods. Forty-four per cent of our food contains no vitamins or minerals. Half of the food we eat should be milk, eggs, butter, vegetables and fresh fruits. Half of the flour and cereal products should be of whole grain, and present day diet contains only about one-fifth of whole grain, Dr. Ebbs said. The modern tendency has been progressing toward a greater use of whole wheat with its minerals and precious vitamins in the outer structure of the wheat berry.

Modern advances in the science of nutrition have been largely stimulated by agricultural studies and discoveries. Farmers learned and were taught the advantages of feeding the wheat germ and bran and middlings to their cattle, observed how they flourished, and that knowledge was directed to human account.

Dr. Ebbs showed a picture of a small boy holding a big hen that had been fed and fitted for an exhibition, but the boy's bowed legs indicated a lack of necessary elements in his own food. The farmer knew all about the feeding of chickens, but little about food for his family. The picture was taken years ago.

The people of Canada are among the healthiest in the world, Dr. Ebbs stated, but there was still a great need of more general knowledge of the subject of food and health and nutrition. Positive gains in stature were apparent in the younger generation.

"If you go to the Ontario museum and see the armor that was worn by the heroes of the holy wars of the 15th and 16th centuries, you will observe that they are not big enough for our fourteen year old boys. Our people have grown to that extent. Some deficiencies still remain and the Canadian Medical Association is endeavoring to remove them, but nevertheless we know that our University freshmen of today are taller and heavier than they were in other generations."

Dr. Ebbs cited other evidences of this general improvement in the physical standards of the new generation. The sizes of children's clothing which have long been established as standards will have to be altered for the young generation of today for the simple reason that the old sizes do not fit them. Charts of height and weight for age are out of date. During the last year 90,000 children have been measured and weighed to bring those standards up to date, Dr. Ebbs said.

New Booklet Issued

A new booklet entitled "Food for Health in Peace and War" has been prepared by the Canadian Medical Association for the purpose of promoting public knowledge of the essential facts of nutrition. The cost of its publication has been assumed by the Life Insurance Companies of Canada, and it is planned to send a copy to every home.

One of the paragraphs from this booklet is as follows: "The Canadian farmer produces all the foods necessary to health. Canadian-grown vegetables such as tomatoes, turnips, cabbage, and fruits in season (apples, berries, cherries, plums, peaches, pears) can replace the more expensive imported fruits."

And—"One-half or more of the cereals and flour should be whole grain, such as rolled wheat or rolled oats, and one-half or more of the bread should be whole wheat."

"To keep our health and to improve it is a national duty, more so today than ever because we are in this war and must win it," Dr. Ebbs stated. "The brunt of that duty falls on our Canadian mothers, and this booklet is intended to tell them in simple words the food we should eat."

British Dogs Of War Speak

Carrying out the glorious traditions of the British Navy, British men-o'-war are battling Nazi naval crafts along the Norwegian coast as British marines were landed to recapture Narvik and Bergen from the hands of the Nazi invaders. This picture of a British warship firing a salvo was taken in the North Sea recently and transmitted from New York via phonephoto.

Denmark Placed On War Basis By Nazi Rulers

COPENHAGEN, April 11.—(AP). —Denmark, rich bread basket of Scandinavia, felt the pinch of a nation on a war-time basis to-day as the German occupation brought mounting restrictions and signs of more to come.

With the sale of food restricted to four days' supply and all private automobiles banned from the roads after 7 p.m. the government party newspaper Social Democraten predicted:

"We will have to miss coal and gasoline and, still more, there will be a shortage of many other goods."

A regulation which hit beer-drinking Danes hard was that prohibiting alcoholic beverages. Its aim, apparently, was to help avoid any clashes between Danish citizens and German soldiers, for Denmark has plentiful supplies of beer.

Another prohibition stopped Denmark's streamlined oil-burning trains as an oil conservation measure.

While many Danes took the occupation of their country imperturbably, the war that has caught them up was brought home with full force by air raid restrictions which blacked out this once gay northern capital.

Police called for 250 auxiliaries to help during the blackout.

Evidence of the thoroughness of German preparations was seen in the sudden appearance of hundreds of shaded blackout street lamps similar to those used in Berlin.

Many restaurants shut long before their usual midnight closing time because their customers dwindled and, with the sale of alcohol prohibited, most nightspots were closed altogether.

Outwardly there were fed indications of the presence of German troops, although certain sections of Copenhagen were blocked off and, it was announced, two school houses had been requisitioned for barracks.

Omemee

The Women's Institute of Omemee held its April dance on Friday evening in Coronation Hall. Due to road conditions there was a fair crowd in attendance. Music was supplied by Rex Wilson and his orchestra.

Refreshments were served and during the lunch hour tickets were drawn for lucky door prizes, Gordon Brown and W. Downing were the lucky winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McConnell and daughters, Joan and Beverley of Wexford spent the week-end in Omemee visiting relatives.

Messrs George Stephenson and Cecil Reeds spent the week-end in Toronto and attended the A.Y.P.A. Conference.

Mr. Arthur Jamieson left Sunday when he enlisted with the Air Force at Galt.

Mrs. Vince Jones and Milburn were visitors to Peterborough on Saturday.

Norwegians

we have concrete offers of assistance from Britain and France."

Koht declared Norway was "determined to do everything" to stay free of German rule.

Fort Bolaerne, in the outer part of Oslo fjord, was said to be still in Norwegian hands and to have inflicted heavy damage on German troop transports attempting to reach Oslo.

Despite a German aerial bombardment and demands by Major Kikdun Quisling, self-proclaimed head of a Norwegian Nazi government, for surrender, the fort was reported still resisting.

Fort Horten, Surrenders

The fortress at Horten, down the fjord from Oslo, was reported to have surrendered, however. It was outside of Horten Tuesday that the 5,400-ton German cruiser Emden was sunk in a battle with the Olaf Tryggavson, largest of Norway's new warships, in which the Norwegian minesweeper Rauma also joined.

There was no further information on reports that British warships, having forced Oslo fjord, were threatening to shell the German-held Norwegian capital unless it surrendered by 1 p.m. (7 a.m. EST) yesterday.

Three persons were said to have been killed and many others injured when panicky residents of Oslo stampeded avenues of escape in their hasty exodus.

About half the 250,000 population had fled before the Nazis occupied the city.

Although the thunder of a sea battle was heard for four hours from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. yesterday, no British cruisers or destroyers were seen, leading to conjecture here that the whole attack was made by submarines which slipped under mine barriers to challenge the Germans in the Skagerrak.

Shore observers said many Germans were rescued from sinking ships and the bodies of many more were washed ashore. Both masts were shot from a Swedish trawler which chanced into the line of fire but it remained at its task of picking up German survivors.

Behind Barricades.

Swedish travellers reaching here from Norway said they encountered the thick of fighting on the highway between Hamar and Elverum.

About 200 Germans, supported by followers of Major Vidkun Quisling, were firing from behind a barricade of overturned buses.

Resisting them, they said, were Norwegian soldiers, among whom were many still in civilian clothes and with no equipment except shotguns.

King Haakon received Kurt Brauer, German Minister to Norway, who made clear Berlin's demands before the King and Premier issued their proclamations of defiance.

Brauer was said to have demanded that Quisling's regime be acknowledged the government of Norway.

King Haakon, however, rejected the demand after meeting with his Cabinet and declared his desire that Norway's rule not change hands. Foreign Minister Koht delivered the King's answer to Brauer by telephone.

This answer was said to have the approval of a committee of three members of the Storting (Parliament) and Koht which had been named for eventual negotiations.

From scattered parts of Norway, meanwhile, reports come of progressing Norwegian mobilization, with many civilians and Swedes volunteering.

C. J. Hambro, President of the Storting, declared here that if the German entrenched themselves solidly in Norway it would be a difficult problem to eject them.

King's Train Bombed

Describing the Government's escape from Oslo, he said a special train carrying the King, cabinet and most of Parliament was bombed near a military airport, but that no troops had been seen en route.

The Storting met at Hamar, Hambro said, with only five of its 150 members absent.

Fleeing from Oslo, he said, the Norwegians managed to take the gold reserves of the Bank of Norway as well as stores of gasoline, oil and corn.

He said 1,000 Germans were landed by airplane at the Oslo civil airport and that they later were reinforced.

Before the fight for Oslo was given up in order to avoid making the capital a battleground, Hambro said, four German planes were shot down by anti-aircraft batteries. Norwegian planes had left for the interior of the country before the Germans arrived.

About 5,000 Germans landed at Bergen, Hambro continued, but their progress stopped yesterday as Norwegian mobilization increased the defence forces' manpower.

To Brauer's suggestion that Germany's proposals be accepted to avoid useless bloodshed and absolute warfare, Hambro declared Norway replied she was willing to open negotiations if Germany immediately halted all hostilities.

When the German minister answered that the Nazi action developed automatically, he said no negotiations opened and Norway continued mobilizing.

Late last night, Hambro said, the German minister asked to meet the Norwegian Government and declared his willingness to go to Elverum.

This, apparently, was the discussion which led to the proclamations by the King and Premier declaring Norway's resolution to defend her soil.

that the Norwegian destroyer Aeger sank a German transport off Stavanger yesterday and was in turn sunk by bombing planes. Another of the German transport losses was laid to a mine off the west coast of Sweden.

Norse Guns Help

Norwegian coastal guns were credited with helping the British jam their way through Oslo Fjord. These southern batteries were admitted yesterday to have caused destruction of the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Bluecher and the 6,000-ton cruiser Karlsruhe.

Stockholm reports said the great battle of the Skagerrak raged throughout the night, with the rumble of cannon shaking houses on the Swedish shore while searchlights swept the skies till dawn dimmed them.

Fishermen from Goteborg, Sweden, set out to hunt survivors and to gather up floating bodies of the uncounted dead.

Naval observers emphasized the achievement of British warships in sweeping through new-laid German minefields in the Skagerrak to reach the narrow Kattegat pathway to the Baltic Sea.

This is a direct blow at Germany's lifeline for reinforcements of her invading troops, and mastery of the strait by Britain would almost certainly mean the salvation of Norway.

7 Germans Shot Down

Meanwhile, Britain officially announced that heavy damage was inflicted on German bombers which yesterday raided a convoy off Scotland and made the "most murderous" attack yet on oft-bombed Scapa Flow and other places in the Orkney Islands.

A joint communique by the Admiralty, air and home security ministries said anti-aircraft batteries and pursuit planes brought down four of the Scapa Flow raiders and three of the others, and that three others planes were badly damaged.

Spectators said two towns in the Orkneys were machine-gunned as well as bombed, but the only listed casualty was one slightly-wounded service man.

The many German bombs fell "miles wide" of the warships but splashed near some trawlers, a witness said.

Another British communique said that two long-range British planes Wednesday afternoon made a diving attack on a Norwegian airport, destroying one Germn plane, damaging two others and burning a fuel tank. Returning home, the same planes sighted and silenced a large German bomber.

were sighted flying northward.

Germans Scattered

In the action at Narvik, above the Arctic Circle, newspaper reports here said, retreating German troops attempted to cross the frontier into Sweden aboard a train on the iron ore railway linking Swedish mines with the Norwegian port.

According to these accounts, Norwegians ripped the rails out at a point where a derailment would have plunged the Germans to certain death. Balked, they said, the Germans abandoned the train and scattered through the countryside with Norwegian soldiers in pursuit.

Nazis Celebrate

This morning's newspapers unanimously featured what they described as a German victory over the Royal Navy's attempts to land forces in Norway.

Adolf Hitler's Voeklischer Beobachter carried the streamer: "English and French landing fleet destroyed."

An early morning high command communique denied reports that the Norwegian cities of Trondheim and Bergen had been occupied by British forces.

The high command previously had announced that all important Norwegian military bases, including those two cities, were in German hands.

The high command said today that German troops had occupied the Danish Baltic island of Bornholm without difficulty. The island lies about 25 miles off the southern tip of Sweden.

German forces also were said to have occupied the town of Elverum, Norway, yesterday forenoon. (Subsequent advices by way of Stockholm are that German troops have been driven south from Elverum, present seat of the Norwegian Government.)

The occupation of Bornholm, which lies somewhat removed from the mainland peninsula and larger islands making up most of Denmark, was carried out yesterday, according to the high command.

Backing by Norwegians?

It was also claimed that certain Norwegian coastal batteries had been taken over for defence of German-occupied areas and that Norwegian defence forces in Oslo had "declared their readiness" to participate in air protection against the Allies.

British fighting planes were said to have made a low attack on the airport at Stavanger yesterday afternoon, but without success. Stavanger is now a base for the German air force..

The German command has acknowledged loss of two cruisers, the Bluecher and Karlsruhe, by Norwegian shore batteries along Oslo Fjord, sea approach to Oslo, and at Kristiansand, on the south-east coast. The cruisers were covering troop landings when sunk on Tuesday.

The Germans claimed, however, that four British destroyers were sunk yesterday when they attempted to break into Narvik Harbor where German destroyers were based, and that four British battleships, two battle cruisers, three heavy cruisers, and two transports had been badly damaged — principally by aerial bombardment.

yesterday, shortly after he extended the combat zone of European waters from which American ships are banned.

He added not only the whole Norwegian coast but also the Russian ports of Murmansk and Archangel and the Finnish harbor of Petsamo, where the Soviets have special privileges under the recent peace treaty. Waters around the British Isles, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Germany previously were closed.

Three ships headed for Norway were called back from mid-ocean, and simultaneous efforts were instituted to get three others out of the perilous Scandinavian ports where the blitzbrieg trapped them.

Two important government decisions were held in abeyance pending more complete information from the war zone. The first was the question whether Denmark and Norway should be formally designated belligerents under the neutrality act, and made subject to its cash-and-carry provisions. The second concerned the policy to be adopted regarding $20,000,000 in credits recently granted the two changed to require all new hotels of more than two storeys to be of fire resistive construction, Mr. Scott reported. Hotels of two storeys or less, constructed in the future, and repairs to all such hotels should follow recognized fire prevention practices.

This would include fire stops in all walls at each floor, use of non-flammable insulation in all walls and ceilings and construction of enclosed stair wells.

The report also urged that a law be passed making it compulsory for hotels of 25 or more bedrooms to employ a night watchman to make regular rounds of the entire premises. At least one man on the night staff should be a trained fireman with experience in fire fighting.

Pimples Kill Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but it is the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement of the face which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood of its impurities.

Flood Threats Disappear As Waters Drop

Flood threats in sections bordering Jackson Park creek are disappearing as the water level continues to remain two feet below the concrete retaining walls.

There is very little ice left along the bed and close supervision and work by the Board of Works has eliminated all obstructions from the creek bed and under the bridges. It is believed that all sunken ice, frozen close to the bottom has lifted and been swept away.

At Downie street, one of the danger spots the creek is comparatively low, and at Stewart, behind the old William Hamilton property, a portion of a garden is flooded. Just north of Brock street, it appears that a section of the east bank has caved in, between two rip-rapped sections.

Usually in other years this creek does not reach its peak until two days after a thaw or a heavy rain, but city officials do not believe the creek has reached its highest level as yet. Even so with two feet or more of clearance there is little danger of the rampaging waters to overflow and do any damage.

The current is extremely swift and the water in many places is over six feet deep. At Townsend street where the rushing waters smack into a wood and stone wall before making a right angle turn into Little Lake, the water is doing some damage. Huge stones which had been placed to reinforce the bank are being washed away, and there is cvonsiderable debris laying in a pool near the George street bridge.

Downie street creek is reduced almost to a trickle, and the Euclid avenue creek in Ashburnham is behaving nicely. In North Monaghan where the creek runs along New Chambers street there is plenty of water but no particular damage is being done.

Boyler's creek near Downer's Corners is a raging torrent and Meade's creek which drains the flat country east of the lift locks into Little Lake is also flowing level with its banks.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

LATEST BULLETIN NEWS.

The huge plate glass window on the north side of the Examiner has been taxed to capacity since Monday to accommodate bulletins on the fast-changing war picture in Scandinavia. It is the first time since the war started that the window, which holds 36 bulletins, has been completely covered.

RIVERS OPEN.

Ice was moving freely down the Indian and Ouse Rivers Wednesday and the Indian River has flooded its banks in several places. Water is up to the edge of cabins where the river flows under No. 7 highway, nine miles east of the city, but there is little likelihood of damage. All of the small streams north of No. 7 are in good shape for muskrat trapping.

APPLE CROP SOLD

C. T. Stevenson, senior fruit inspector, Belleville, reports that the entire apple crop produced in the Central Ontario district was sold. Most of it went to Quebec and Ottawa interests. Heavy shipments have already been made, and the rest of the stock is expected to move in the near future. Increased demand for apple juice helped overcome the loss of export business on account of the war.

9,000 HAVE ENLISTED.

The local branch of the Grenfell Mission is making its annual appeal for funds. Contributions, large or small, are urgently needed for this good work, this year more than ever, with more than 9,000 of the fisher folk serving the Empire overseas. These men have enlisted in the belief that in their absence the Mission will stand by their dependents. Shall we not justify their faith in us by continuing Peterborough's contribution to this work? The Examiner does its part year by year, in courteously giving this space and allowing contributions to be left at their office. The treasurer of the local branch, Mrs. G. R. Langley, 239 Burnham Street, will also gladly receive donations of any amount.

The Rambling REPORTERS

COULD NOT GET THERE.

It may be a little late in the telling, but Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe was more or less turned back when he attempted to reach Rochester, N.Y., a few days ago. There was an Alumni meeting at his old alma mater, and the Murray Street pastor was bent on being there. Along with Mrs. Sutcliffe and the two boys the trip began and went along very well indeed until they were a fair distance past the International Bridge. Arriving at Watertown things looked bad. Mr. Sutcliffe was informed that some of the large buses could hardly make their way. "There were miles there where a channel had been cut through just the width of a car and the snow was up at the sides the height of the ceiling. Rotary plows were working too, and piling the snow in the fields. We stayed there a couple of days and decided there was nothing else to do but turn around and head for home. I came to the conclusion that in our district we had not known what snow actually looked like this winter even if some of our roads had been blocked."—K.

AT SCHOOL WITH ODLUM.

Principal F. E. Kerr of King George School, recalls he was at Cobourg Collegiate the same time when the now Brigadier-General Victor Odlum of the Second Canadian Division was attending. "I remember we had a teacher there, Charles Horton, and a good teacher, too, but Odlum did not get on any too well with him. It came to the point one day when the future soldier hauled off and took a poke at the teacher, and then considered his best plan would be to stay away for a day or so. When he returned it was necessary for him to go and report to Principal G. W. Mitchell, who afterward became a professor at Queen's University. The strap was not much used in the school, but it came out on that occasion, and perhaps Canada's commander of her Second Division may now and then recall the way in which the principal of the Cobourg Collegiate went over the top in order to enforce discipline in his school. Victor Odlum was never in trouble after that."—K.

Spending Vacation Money In Canada Americans Told They Help Good Neighbor

E. A. Outram, deputy city clerk, showed the Examiner today a letter from Morris Ackerman of Cleveland, acknowledging Peterborough's renewal of a half-page of advertising space in Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide.

"You will be interested to know that my son and editor, Bill, starts a series of twenty-six weeks of Friday night broadcasts to the fishermen and hunters over the entire network of the Mutual Broadcasting System. More than one hundred radio stations from coast to coast will carry the program," Mr. Ackerman wrote.

In the first broadcast last Friday night, the air audience was told that there are no restriction of entry into Canada, and that holiday-seekers can make the trip cheaper this year.

Mr. Ackerman enclosed with his letter a copy of his "Outdoors With Ack" article in The Cleveland Press of March 22, telling American tourists that although Canada is at war the border is just as open as ever. "It is just as easy to cross as it was last year and the years before.... Let's go over there, like always, and spend our dollars for their fishing and hunting—and fun.

"When you spend your vacation money in Canada you help a good neighbor. And you get your money's worth in return."

Sap Run Light In District

Indications are that the maple syrup crop will not be a heavy one in this district.

The run of sap has been light although Wednesday, with its bright sunshine following a night of frost gave a better than average yield.

First-run syrup has been retailing in Peterborough at $2.50 a gallon.

It was noticeable on the market last Saturday that much of the syrup on sale came from a considerable distance. Several of the vendors hailed from the Marmora district.

Pleads Not Guilty To False Pretences

Just what constitutes a cheque was the question that bobbed up in police court this morning when James Pearson was charged with obtaining $5 by false pretences.

The indictment mentioned a document "to wit a cheque" and on reading it over Magistrate Langley remarked that the name of the bank was not given.

"It was not drawn upon a bank at all," replied Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

"Then it was not a cheque," said the Magistrate.

Mr. McElderry stated that where the name of the bank should have been filled in the name of an individual had been written. Then the document had been cashed.

"That was a bill of exchange," Magistrate Langley stated, "and the information should be amended."

Pearson started to plead guilty to the charge and was checked by the Magistrate's remark, "In spite of the fact that I tell you this was not a cheque." Then he changed his plea to not guilty.

"I have to bring a witness from Haliburton," Crown Attorney McElderry stated.

Magistrate Langley decided to remand the accused until tomorrow to enable him to get legal advice. In the event that he would then adhere to his "not guilty" plea there would be a further remand, he told Pearson.

Cattle Break Through Ice

Three cattle narrowly missed death by drowning in the Indian River at Keene, Wednesday and one was lost when the four broke through thin ice at the edge of the fast flowing stream, now a flood level.

The seven cattle, all yearlings, are owned by Fred A. Eason whose farm borders the east shore of Indian River, below the iron bridge at Keene. The cattle strayed on to the large marsh and worked their way toward open water until four of them broke through, a short distance from the main channel.

Reg. Robinson who was on the bridge saw the accident and sounded the alarm. Several men from the village obtained ropes and launched punts on the river. They crossed to the opposite ice rim, and one man risked walking across the thin ice to tie ropes around the head of each animal. They were pulled to safety by the boat crews.

When the men arrived only the heads of the animals were visible and one had disappeared. The animals, threshing to gain freedom remained afloat, but took in considerable water. Their mouths were pried open with short sticks to prevent strangulation and reduce the gas bloating. They lay on the shore in the sun covered with blankets until evening when they were loaded on stone boats and taken to Fred Eason's farm. It is believed that the three will recover.

Drunk Is Given 15 Days In Jail

An alternative of fifteen days in jail in default of the payment of a fine for drunkenness was named by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in a police court case this morning when a young man who had previously pleaded not guilty changed his plea. The accused had gotten into trouble recently and had been given suspended sentence on a theft charge on condition that he refrain from over-indulgence in liquor.

He fell by the wayside and was arrested.

This morning he told the magistrate that he found the bottle that caused all the grief.

"I never seem to find any of those bottles," Magistrate Langley remarked.

"This boy's mother is not in shape to pay a fine," Chief Constable Newhall stated. "He will not work."

The accused had been in jail for a week and in setting the fifteen day term for non-payment Magistrate Langley dated it back to the day the youth was arrested.

Had Grand Time On Sylt Raid Pilot Declares

Among the Canadians who took part in the gigantic air raid over the Island of Sylt late in March was Pilot Officer Wilfred Lewis of Welcome, near Port Hope.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lewis, "Mike" Lewis tells of that flight. "I had a grand time and certainly enjoyed being on a real bombing trip," he wrote. "We had some anti-aircraft fire but nothing close."

The next night after the raid reporters and photographers were at their station in droves and Pilot Officer Lewis said he had a long interview with the Canadian Press correspondent, who told him he would try to "squeeze in the name Mike" although no names could be mentioned in the dispatches. "A chap here is getting the Flying Cross for the show. It was more or less a toss up who got it. There is just one allotted to the station."

A day or so later he wrote on his birthday (he was 22 on March 24) and told that he was going to broadcast by short wave the following day on request of the British Broadcasting Corporation. He spoke on the next day and his words were heard in a rebroadcast. "They also made a newsreel of myself and the rest of the crew on the raid and it will be shown all over the world. I hope you see it."

"Mike" Lewis left Port Hope in July, 1939, and entered the Royal Air Force in England, speedily winning his wings two months after joining the force.

Ireland—McNutt

MARMORA, April 11.—A pretty Spring wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. McNutt on Monday, April 8, when their eldest daughter, Melva Viola was united in marriage to Fox Merville Ireland, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ireland of Warkworth. The ceremony was performed under an artistic arch by Rev. R. G. Babcock of Tichborne, Ont., uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. C. K. Chatson of Uxbridge, Ont.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered the room to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. John Nixon of Norwood, sister of the groom. She was becomingly gowned in a short length dress of powder blue crepe with navy accessories and wore a corsage of white gardenias. The bridesmaid, Freda Muriel McNutt, sister of the bride, wore a dress of rose crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Mr. Ray Nayler of Marmora attended the groom.

Following the ceremony a dainty buffet lunch was served to immediate relatives and friends numbering about thirty. Amid showers of confetti and rice, the happy young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Kingston, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride travelling in a Monterey rose dress with grey coat, and matching accessories. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Warkworth.

The young couple received many beautiful gifts showing the esteem in which they have been held.

University Club Studies French-Canada

A communication from the Canadian Federation announcing the Triennial meeting to be held in Calgary on August 26, 27 and 28 was read by Miss Giles at the April meeting of the University Women's Club, held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.

Given by the first study group, the evening's program dealt with French-Canada and French-Canadians. Miss Doris Burgess spoke on Canadian National Unity and the pressing French-Canadian problems, both political and economic, dealing with the point that national unity is not necessarily national uniformity to the French-Canadian.

Mrs. Currie then spoke on the educational, artistic and literary abilities of the French-Canadians, illustrating her talk with striking examples of handicraft, painting, architecture and wood-carving.

Miss Isobell Weddell entertained with a group of French-Canadian songs and led in a group of French-Canadian rounds, which was much enjoyed by the members.

Miss Marie Hicks spoke on Political Problems in French-Canada, and Miss L. Parks finished the group with a short discussion of how Canadian unity could be achieved in Quebec and Ontario by means of interchange of ideas, educational newspapers and a greater national consciousness.

Thanks were expressed to the group for a delightful and interesting evening, and tea was served with Miss J. Lynch, Miss Vera Hiland, Mrs. A. Sollitt, and Mrs. Borbidge as hostesses.

91st Birthday Is Celebrated

Mrs. George Martin termed the "Grand Old Lady" of Fenelon Falls, celebrated her ninety-first birthday on Tuesday of this week. A resident of the village for sixty-nine years, Mrs. Martin has lived in the house during that period.

As Christina Ann Macdonald she was born in Ops township and longevity belong to the Macdonald clan. Mrs. Martin's grandmother celebrated her 100th birthday, and her maternal grandfather was 116 years of age when he died. The latter spent his youth in Scotland and served as a drummer in the Battle of Colloden Moor in 1746, and was buried in Lindsay.

Although slightly incapacitated, Mrs. Martin maintains an interest in affairs. A life-long Liberal, she took an active interest in the recent election campaign. A family party was held to celebrate her birthday and the hostess was assisted by her daughter Miss Sabina Martin.

Hospital Alumnae Has Spring Tea

A spring tea by the Nicholls Hospital Alumnae Association was an event of much charm Wednesday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room, at which guests were received by Mrs. F. E. A. Breckenridge, president of the Association; Mrs. E. M. Leeson, hospital superintendent, and Mrs. H. I. Walker, general convener.

Daffodils in a crystal bowl centred the lace covered tea table, which was softly lighted by mauve candles in crystal candelabra. Pouring tea were Mrs. S. Holloway, Mrs. Ivan Lillico, Dr. Agnes K. Moffat, Mrs. H. I. Walker. Members of the Alumnae assisted to serve. Committee members in charge of arrangements, under the direction of Mrs. Walker, were Miss Evelyn McBrien, Miss Madge Houston, Mrs. T. Kingdon, Mrs. R. D. Taylor, assisted by the following members of the executive: Miss Daisy Reid, Mrs. Walter Jones and Miss Florence Vickers.

During the tea hour delightful solos were sung by Mrs. James Goldie, with Mrs. M. C. Parr at the piano, and Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, accompanied by Mrs. Wm. J. Gordon.

The door prize was won by Dr. Agnes K. Moffat.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 12.

Perhaps mediocre progress may best interpret the effect of the planetary operations on this day's doings. There may be some rather surprising or entirely unlooked-for events, with travel, change, removal or new plans and procedures. These may be attended by petty annoyances, disappointments, or impediments, begetting minor losses or financial worries, but with sound acumen there may be fair success and pleasant contacts, especially with strangers. The private life is expansive, pleasurable, probably romantic and happy.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix — Does marriage kill love? Can a man and woman stay in love with each other after they are husband and wife? Do men consider that they are through their courting when they marry?

G.H.B.

ANSWER:
It love could not stand the strain of marriage, instead of there being one crack-up in every six marriages, divorce would be universal. This is proof positive of the fact that the great majority of the people stay married because they want to, not because they have to. No idea is more erroneous than that marriage kills love. Perhaps romance seldom survives the wear and tear of everyday life and of a man and woman finding out that their mates are just ordinary human beings with human faults and weaknesses. But in place of this flubdub sentimentality there grows up between most husbands and wives a deep affection that makes them love each other a thousand times more on their silver wedding day than they did on their first.

It is inevitable that husbands and wives, if they are decent people, who try to do their duty by each other, should be drawn together rather than separated by marriage. For one thing, they are dependent on each other for happiness. For another thing, they have all interests in common. And, for still another thing, they are bound to each other by ties of gratitude. Each can recall so many kind things the other has done, so many sacrifices the other has made, so many times when they have stood shoulder to shoulder fighting their battle together against the world. And there are the children.

Exotic novelists have popularized the theory that marriage kills love and that only free love lasts, but you see many old couples celebrating their golden wedding day, but you never hear of a liason that endures. The honest, domestic home stands, but the love nest is a flimsy structure that any chance breath of fickle fancy blows away.

Only too many men do drop any active love making after marriage because they consider that they are saying it with hard work instead of soft speeches. That is true enough, and the proof of a husband's love for his wife is what he does for her, not what he says to her. But, inasmuch as women have an inexplicable mania for being told over and over again what they already know, it would add much to the happiness of marriage if every husband would make it part of his daily dozen to tell his wife every morning that she was the only woman in the world to him, and that she grew more beautiful and fascinating all the time.

Dear Dorothy Dix — Here is the prayer I say every night on my knees:

"Dear God, I thank Thee for the mate whose years are ones of toil at hard and disagreeable labor that I and our children may have comfortable clothes, good food, fire, shelter and the safety of home.

"I thank Thee for the joyous cry of Daddy! Daddy! Daddy! which rings throughout the house whenever Father comes, and which expresses the love and happiness of our little ones.

"I thank Thee for that line of red, and yellow and blue and pink which I have hung up to dry in the morning sun, and that the joy of washing those small garments has been given to me.

"I thank Thee for small arms about my neck at bedtime. I thank Thee for little fumbling hands that always want to help. I thank Thee for childish voices, with their singing and laughter and questions.

"I thank Thee for my home, where I may serve those whose health and comfort have been given into my hands.

"Oh, God, make me big enough always to love my job. Give me the patience to bear with childish ways, and may I have wisdom that I may gently lead my children to grow into fine adults, happy because they have found the joy in work and service, and beauty in little things about them every day.

"Oh, God, may I, a humble housewife, never miss a sunset or a rainbow because I am looking down, instead of up."

JUST A HOMEMAKER

ANSWER:
And to that we all say: Amen.

Dear Miss Dix — I am keeping company with a young man who is very fond of onions and insists on eating them on the nights when we have dates. Now I love this young man very much, but I do not like onion on his breath. Would it be asking too much to ask him to refrain from eating onions? Or shall I keep on loving him and permit him to gorge himself on them as much as he wishes?

JANE

ANSWER:
Well, Jane, I agree with you that onions are not the perfume with which a poet would flavor love's young dream, and that a girl could hardly grow enthusiastic over an onion-scented kiss, but, still and all, I am bound to warn you that you are taking a big risk when you make giving up that succulent and odorous vegetable the proof of your sweetheart's love for you.

For, you see, the onion-eater is joined to his idols and when you ask him to give them up, you are striking not only at his heart but his stomach. You are taking the joy out of eating, the flavor out of food, and there is little affection in this unromantic age that will stand that test.

My earnest advice to you is to learn to be an onion-eater yourself, for onion-eaters, I understand, are immunized to each other's breath and hence are not offended by an odor which calls for clothes pins on the noses of the nononionists.

DOROTHY DIX

Enquiry Column

Question—I always read your recipes and not long ago you printed one for Paprika Chicken — a Hungarian dish that we made and liked. A dietitian friend of mine says veal or pork chops can be treated in the same way but does not know the exact method. Do you have a way of making veal or pork chops with paprika sauce? If so I would like to see it printed on the cookery page. Thanks for all your help.
M.S.S.

Answer—Thank you too, for your letter.

Veal or Pork Chops with Paprika Sauce

(Borgu Vagy Dizzno Paprika-select)

Six medium thick veal or pork chops, 2 slices of side bacon to each chop, 1 cup sour cream, 1 tablespoon paprika, salt. Fry the bacon in a little melted butter and when done, remove from pan and keep warm in a low oven. Fry the cutlets to a golden brown in the baconfat, add a little hot water and simmer until chops are tender, seasoning with the salt and paprika. Add the cream gradually, stirring until the sauce thickens. To serve, put some fluffy boiled rice in centre of dish and place the bacon strips around in a border. Arrange the chops on the rice and pour the sauce over.

We hope this is the recipe to which you referred and that help you again. Canned salmon turned out of a large can in the moulded shape may be treated in exactly the same way—omitting the cooking in the fat—the bacon to friend, salmon put in fat, cream poured over, then paprika, and baked.

"The Authority on Authorities"

OBLITERATE ALL DOUBT

YOUR partner's mind works somewhat differently from yours. There may be lines of logic you would use to figure out certain facts, but he may not think at all the same way. From his side of the board, he gets a different view of the situation, and may fail to think of some factor which to you is obvious. So, if you can make the reading of the situation easier for him, you should do so, abolishing all doubt if you can.

Fearful bidding by East and West against Smart Aleck South! East should have done something on his first turn, perhaps 1-No Trump, with an ace and a king opposite a vulnerable overcall. West should have shown his spades on the second turn, and they should have reached 4-Spades.

West led his heart Q. East properly overplaying the K, and returning the 7 after South held up the A. West took this with the J, then led a third round, knocking out the A. South thereupon led the club K. East took it and returned the spade 3, so South ran his game.

West thought East should have figured him for diamond tops, since South's bidding a No Trump game, immediately after hearing about North's diamonds, indicated that was his weak spot. East blamed West, however, and was right. After taking the second heart, West should have led his diamond K before leading the third heart. Then, after East got in the lead, he would have been certain to return a diamond and the contract would have been defeated three tricks.

Havelock Pastor Holds At Home

HAVELOCK, April 11 — (ENS).—Reorganization of the young people's work in the Havelock United church was commenced on Monday evening when Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McLauchlin were "at home" to a large gathering in the Sunday school room.

Close to a hundred young people were welcomed by the minister and his wife, who are anxious to stimulate more interest among the youth of the church. Next Monday night the annual election of officers of the Young People's Union will be held, when the formation of a large and vigorous society is expected. The underlying aims and purpose of the Y.P.U. was outlined by Rev. Mr. McLauchlin.

The devotional portion of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. McLauchlin, who spoke on "The Builders." Describing the various forms of architecture, she used this to demonstrate how each of us are building character as we grow up. Special hymns were also sung.

A vocal solo, "Keep Smiling," by Miss Margaret Johnson, opened the social program, which was under the direction of Mr. Jim Watson. There was a humorous skit, in which Messrs. Doug. Anderson, Cliff Kennedy and Jim Watson took part, and a reading by Cliff Kennedy. A large number of interesting group games were played under the supervision of Miss Lucy Wing to conclude the program.

Refreshments were then served in the form of a dainty buffet lunch.

England has ruled that two seedlings must be planted for every tree felled in government forests.

Their Peace Efforts Failed

The desperate efforts of this trio of monarchs to keep their countries from becoming involved in the war between Germany and the Allies failed as Germany invaded Denmark and launched a lightning attack on Norway. Unconfirmed reports also stated that German troops had landed on Swedish soil. The monarchs of the ill-fated Scandinavian countries are pictured LEFT to RIGHT: King Christian of Denmark, King Haakon of Norway, and King Gustaf of Sweden.

Espionage Talk Heard by Y.P.U.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11. — (ENS) — An interesting talk on espionage was a feature of the weekly program of St. John's Y.P.U. which met on Monday eevning. The topic was taken by Miss Dorothy Henson who substituted this for the usual current events period. Citizenship convener Frank McKelvie was in charge of the meeting and he was assisted in the devotional exercises by Charles Jeffs. Other items on the program included a piano solo by Don Bennett; vocal solo by Mrs. Bates, a piano duet by Misses Gladys Stephen and Dorothy Henson and a reading by Donald Lloyd. Following a period of games the mizpah benediction brought the evening to a close. Mr. Arnold Bates will be in charges of next week's program for a which a one-act play is being prepared.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

Both boys and girls will have their own separate responsibility so far as next week's program of this organization is concerned. It was decided at their meeting held Monday to hold a social evening and supper next Monday when the girls would be found in their customary roll of preparing the meal while the boys will be held responsible for the program. Mrs. Bruce Grills, the president, presided for the meeting.

Boy Scouts in Ceylon distributed government publications as part of their National Service.

Havelock Business Men Organize, Elect E. J. Leeson As President

HAVELOCK, April 11—(ENS).—The "Havelock Business Men's Association" came into existence last night, as the result of an enthusiastic meeting held in the local council chamber. An executive body of ten representative men were selected as the nucleus of this new organization, and there in special session at the conclusion of the general meeting chose their officers and appointed committees. More names may be added to the executive or committees as the occasion arises.

Ernest J. Leeson, prominent grocer and local councillor, was named as president of the association, with Eldon Pirie, as his vice. Fred McKenzie is secretary-treasurer, with D. F. Miller as his assistant. Other members of the executve include: Messrs. Robert Sayers, E. W. Warner, B. A. Curtis, George Hubbel, William Forsythe, and S. W. Ellis. Committees appointed were: Membership, E. Chiles, James Squire, Robert Anderson, H. Bannon; Finance, Rae Williams, John Scott, H. W. Wing, F. G. McTavish; Publicity, F. McKenzie, D. Mathison, G. Denike, G. Hubbel; Entertainment, W. J. Nobes, H. W. Krantz, H. Ferguson, Joseph Little.

Valuable assistance was given the local merchants last night by a delegation of Peterborough men which included James J. Dorris, secretary-treasurer of the city's Chamber of Commerce; W. C. (Chris) Hughes, president of their Business Men's Association; F. J. Overend, a past president; T. L. Ashton, Charles Kingan and Jack Primeau. Invited by the Havelock business men to aid them in the process of organization, these men from their own experience were able to supply a wealth of much-needed information.

Long talked of by a few of the village merchants, the move to organize them into an association was really effected about a month ago when a petition for this definite purpose was circulated among the business men. With practically unanimous approval, thirty-eight signatures were placed on the list. Presented later at a council meeting, the petition found favor with the municipal body, which granted the merchants the use fo the council chamber for an organization meeting.

E. J. Leeson was appointed chairman of last night's general meeting with F. McKenzie as acting secretary. Reviewing the circumstances leading up to this meeting, the chairman then called individually upon each of the Peterborough men to address the gathering.

Successful Enterprise

W. C. Hughes, introduced as the newly-elected president of the Peterborough Business Men's Association, said that this body which has been in existence but three years, has met with much success.

"Our association really came into being," said Mr. F. J. Overend, because although the Chamber of Commerce in a sense is for much the same purpose, it does not wholly discuss problems dealing with the retail men. There is an absolute need, he said, for an association in every community to deal with the ordinary business man's problems.

Secretary J. J. Dorris revealed that regular general meetings were never successful because of the diversified opinions of a large group of men. He advised rather, the habit of holding executive meetings every two weeks, with a general session only when a big question was on hand. If you organize here, said Mr. Dorris, you might act also as a board of trade and a tourist association.

Both Mr. Kingan and Mr. Ashton also spoke most favorably of a business men's association. A general discussion then followed in which everyone had the opportunity to present questions and offer their opinions on different subjects.

Finally a motion by Messrs. Curtin and Mathison, that the business men be organized in to the Havelock Business Men's Association was approved, and on Mr. Dorris' suggestion an executive was then nominated. The visitors were invited to sit in with this executve at the special session which followed immediately after the general meeting, when the officers and committees were appointed.

The next general meeting of the Havelock Business Men's Association is to be held on Monday, April 15, also in the council chamber by permission of Reeve E. W. Seeney.

1,200 Nazis Defend Trondheim As Net Tightens

STOCKHOLM, April 12—(AP).—Five German warships, including a pocket battleship, were reported today off Trondheim, Norwegian port, where Britain is said to have attacked the Nazi invaders by air and sea.

Advices reaching Stockholm—the only Scandinavian capital free of German control—said the Germans occupying Trondheim had mined all bridge, apparently to hinder any advance by a British landing force.

The Germans were believed to have about 1,200 men in all at Trondheim.

The Norwegian radio station at Olesund reported a naval battle between British and German sea forces and British war planes were said to have bombed German warships in Trondheim Fjord.

The pocket battleship was identified tentatively as the Luetzow—formerly the Deutschland—sister-ship of the Admiral Graf Spee, scuttled by her own crew after she had been beaten in action off Montevideo, Uruguay.

She and the Admiral Scheer are the only two fighters in that 10,000-ton class left in the Nazi fleet.

(Although official British sources still issued no word of landings in Norway to challenge the German occupation, reports persisted that British troops were preparing to fight for several strategic coastal points.

Action At Narvik.

(Reuters News Agency said authoritative Norwegian circles in Stockholm had information that a British landing force, ashore a short distance south of Narvik, was trying to join Norwegian troops to retake the iron port from the Germans.

(Norwegian sources also said British soldiers were in close contact with Norwegians near Bergen—reported retaken by the Norwegians—and from Uddevall, Sweden, reports came that British warships were observed "apparently landing troops" in outer Oslo Fjord.

(The British Air Ministry said German gasoline reserves and many German planes were destroyed in two air attacks on a flying field at Stavanger, Norway).

Swedish authorities, looking to their own country's security, mined more than 100 miles of Sweden's west coast from within 30 miles of the Norwegian frontier near Oslo south of Varberg, about midway down the Kattegat opposite the coast of Denmark.

No steps have been taken yet, however, to bring home about 6,000 Swedes, mostly laborers and crafts-

Berlin Boasts British Aircraft Carrier, Cruiser Heavily Damaged In Air Raid 125 Miles Off Norwegian Southwest Coast

BERLIN, April 12—(AP).—Germany today claimed a great economic victory in her lightning invasion of Norway and Denmark and boasted that her air force had inflicted new losses on the British home fleet which is striving to break the Nazi grip on Scandinavia.

Ranging over the North Sea, presumably from newly won Norwegian bases, German war planes were said here to have bombed and damaged a British aircraft carrier and a cruiser.

The Nazi raiders, according to DNB, German news agency, scored direct hits on both vessels, and when last seen the aircraft carrier was smoking and the cruiser was listing.

Though met with terrific anti-aircraft fire and fiercely attacked by British pursuit planes, DNB claimed, the Germans escaped unscathed in the encounter 125 miles northwest of the Norwegian port of Trondheim, now said to be in Nazi hands.

In addition DNB claimed two more British destroyers were destroyed yesterday at Narvik, ore port in West Arctic Norway, bringing to six the number the Germans say were sunk there. No details were given.

Recent Bomb Raid

The German news agency claimed today that British warplanes had bombed a German railway station in Schleswig-Holstein (Denmark) and intimated that reprisals might be expected if such bombings were repeated. The agency said the raid had given "a new aspect to the war."

"If a repetition of this act shows it is part of a systematic new policy on the part of the British," DNB said, "the German air force will face the new situation."

Authorized sources predicted that far-reaching economic advantages would accrue to the Reich as a result of the Scandinavian coup. Chief results, they said, would be:

1. Suspension of the operation of Norwegian and Danish merchant vesels which have been carrying vital supplies to the United Kingdom from the ports of the world.

2. Paralysis of British imports from the entire northern area of Europe through German control of access to the Atlantic.

3. Shifting of the bulk of northern European trade to Germany for the duration of the war.

Germans said Britain had obtained through these trade routes 37 per cent of her butter imports, 50

German Bombers Wipe Out Town Of Elverum Air Force Raid Into Skagerrak Gets Munition Ship, Damages Transports

STOCKHOLM, April 12.—(AP).—Seven German warships were reported in Norwegian advices to-day to be bottled up in Oslo's harbor and Norwegians, trying to seal their conquered capital within an iron ring, expected important action at any moment.

All highways to the east and north-east of Oslo were blocked by Norwegian defence forces, according to advices reaching here.

A semi-circle already has been established running from Moss, 35 miles south of Oslo, to the east and thence north through Malden, Kongsvinger, Elverum and Gjovk, the latter 60 miles north of Oslo. To the northwest, strong formations were reported concentrated in valleys.

THE HAGUE, April 12.— (AP).— The Netherlands Government, concerned over swift-moving developments in Europe, disclosed to-day that it is taking steps to guard the nation against "dangers" from within as well as without.

The nature of the steps was not specified, but observers expressed belief that a curb would be placed on the Netherlands Nazi movement, which is small but active.

STOCKHOLM, April 12.—(AP).—The sinking of a vessel of considerable tonnage in flames in the Skagerrak was witnessed to-day from Stroemstad, Swedish coastal town near the Norwegian border.

Heavy cannonading was heard last night from the direction of the mouth of Oslo Fjord. This was followed this morning by heavy detonations and a ship was seen in flames with heavy clouds of smoke billowing up from burning of oil or gasoline. The ship sank in an hour.

There was no immediate clue as to her identity.

LONDON, April 12.—(CP).—A German ammunition ship was blown up and a supply ship was believed damaged in raids last night in which Royal Air Force bombers attacked "enemy ships over a wide area extending from Oslo Fjord to the Baltic coast of Germany," said an Air Ministry announcement to-day.

Allied Minefields Block Skagerrak, Kattegat Norse, Danish, German, Dutch Coasts; Berlin Gives Up Hope Of Deal With Norway

LONDON, April 12—(CP).—The Admiralty gave notice today of the mining of four areas in the North Sea, the Skagerrak and the Kattegat.

The area touches Norwegian, Danish and German coasts and also territorial waters of Sweden and the Netherlands.

The announcement said no mines would be laid in channels extending to 10 miles on both sides of certain points.

Naval sources explained that the new minefields covered the entire entrance to the Skagerrak and Kattegat.

With the minefield laid September 3 this now means that the North Sea is mined from north of Netherlands territorial waters to within about 30 miles of Bergen on the Norwegian west coast.

The mines extend as far as the middle of the Kattegat.

Agreement Unlikely.

BERLIN, April 12.—(AP).—Nazi spokesmen said to-day that Germany virtually has abandoned hope of being able to come to any agreement with the Norwegian government for administration of Norway under German protection.

Under no circumstances, it was stated, would Germany tolerate any government in any degree under the influence of Carl Hambro, president of the Norwegian Parliament, who left Norway for Stockholm soon after the German invasion. The spokesman claimed Hambro has connections with a London banking firm. (Hambros Bank, Lt., is a well known London house.)

"Some ministers who are in Oslo are manifesting a sufficiently realistic grasp of the situation, but for the most part, the Norwegian government moves from village to village and is out of touch with the people and the state," said an authorized spokesman.

It was insisted, however, that German negotiations with King Haakon are "not broken off" and that the German minister to Norway has been instructed to continue discussions with the King this evening.

R.A.F. Bombers Blast Stavanger's German Air Base

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—The central west-coast Norwegian port of Trondheim, in the deep fjord of which a naval battle was reported in progress, was picked today by neutral experts as the most likely base from which British, French and Norwegian troops might seek to scourge the German invaders into the sea.

(The German command reported that British planes and light naval forces attacking Trondheim were driven off.)

Meanwhile, the Royal Air Force, busily backing up the navy's efforts to destroy every German ship, reported its bombers had blown up an 8,000-ton Nazi munitions carrier in a bold raid on the Great Belt and Little Belt, straits linking the Baltic Sea and the Kattegat.

As British military bases, four other ports besides Trondheim were seen as possibilities, because they are on railroads.

They are Namsos, north of Trondheim; Aandalsnes, on the Romsdals fjord to the south; Narvik, in the Arctic; and Bergen, in the southwest.

Trondheim, however, with railroads leading north, south and east, and situated on a wide inlet that slashes nearly across Norway, was described as the best jump-off point as military strategists and British war office "brains" pored over maps to visualize a land campaign which must follow the present wide-open sea warfare between the British and German fleets.

Town Wiped Out

Elverum was destroyed by German air bombs last night, but the number of killed was relatively small as the civilian population had been ordered earlier to withdraw.

Home guard forces meanwhile were being organized and women were called to labor duty.

The Norwegian government announced by radio that the Germans elsewhere were masters of Kristiansand, on the south coast, Stavanger, on the southeast coast, Bergen, on the west coast, and Narvik, on the northern coast.

The situation at Trondheim remained hidden under military secrecy. Five German warships, including a pocket battleship, were reported today off the port where British forces were said to have attacked by air and sea.

The Norwegians believed the warships hid in the narrow, deep bays of Trondheim fjord yesterday for a Norwegian expedition sent to locate them reported no vessels were visible.

To the north British naval activity continued as Namsos, north of Trondheim, reported that two British destroyers this morning steamed along the coast outside the harbor of Folde fjord.

Australia Hits Canada's Car Exports A Blow

SYDNEY, Australia, April 12.—(CP Cable)—Another serious blow was struck at Canadian exports to Australia today when the Commonwealth government issued further restrictions on non-sterling imports of motorcar chassis, reducing present import quotas by 40 per cent on ordinary cars and 12½ per cent on trucks.

Today's restrictions effect a saving of £756,000 ($3,364,000) in dollar exchange. However, it is learned that the federal ministers are concerned about the possible drastic effect of the restrictions upon Australian-Canadian trade, which it is recognized must be avoided if at all possible in the view of the need of intra-Empire mutual aid owing to the war.

The ministers are considering the possibility of some Australian-Canadian credit scheme either between firms or between the two governments. Another suggestion is that Canadian exporters might be willing

Storm Suspected Dying Kick Of King Winter

TORONTO, April 12 (CP)—Winter clothing replaced spring finery in Ontario today as winter-weary residents plodded through freshly-fallen snow. Farmers generally welcomed the fall and said it would ensure a good supply of moisture in the soil for spring planting.

Snow and rain began falling late yesterday with the rain turning to snow during the night. In some sections the fall continued today. Fair and cold weather was forecast throughout the province.

The snow, termed winter's "dying kick," came just as the last of packed ice and snow was melting from open country ground. Some side-roads were blocked by four-foot drifts.

Western Ontario highways were reported to be slippery with the temperature below freezing. In the Galt district the temperature slipped from 46 degrees above yesterday to 19 above during the night. At Brantford four-foot drifts were cre-

Jutland Scrap Still Tops History Despite Scope Of Battles Now On

(By the Canadian Press.)

Despite the thunder and destruction in four days of the British-German naval encounter linked with the German invasion of Denmark and Norway, the First Great War Battle of Jutland stands as history's biggest fight at sea.

The scope of the present operations, ranging hundreds of miles from the Skagerrak to Norway's far northern port of Narvik, plus a factor which Jutland lacked—hundreds of bombing and reconnaissance planes — would bar true comparison even if the present naval forces paralleled those of Jutland.

Jutland was fought in a restricted area, units of the opposed battle fleets moved like players on a football field. The number of warships involved was vastly bigger.

Hardy Survivors Try Brave Landing Alone

LONDON, April 12.—(CP Cable.)—Officers and men of the British destroyer Hardy, which ran aground in Narvik Fjord, attempted to make a landing under German-operated shore batteries rather than surrender, it was disclosed today.

The fate of the men, 40 or 50 in all, is unknown, but when they were last seen by the crews of the destroyers Hotspur, Hostile and Havoc they were throwing rifles and ammunition into lifeboats and attempting to make a landing on shore.

These facts, which became known in official circles here, apparently were the foundation for reports from Stockholm that British marines had landed at Narvik. The two taken together might indicate that the men of the Hardy actually landed in the port.

British forces have made no landings along the Norwegian coast, it was learned from official sources, which also denied reports that a

2 Nazi Generals Swim To Norway

BERLIN, April 12 (AP) — Two German generals, an admiral, a naval captain and a military photographer completed their journey to Norway by swimming the last 200 yards through water covered by oil so hot that it burned their bodies.

The five, according to a report reaching here today through military channels, were in a German cruiser which was sunk Tuesday by Norwegian shore batteries.

Holding on to four pistols, some money and a water-tight can of exposed film, they managed to reach the rocky shore and, after obtaining dry clothing, went to Oslo by taxi-cab.

German Tactics

HELSINKI, April 12 (CP Havas)—Attempted strong-arm tactics of a Norwegian Nazi have resulted in his capture and internment by loyal Norwegians, it was reported here today from the Norwegian Swedish border.

While motoring to Sweden a man named Lunde, a friend of Major Vidkun Quisling, Norwegian Nazi who set up a pseudo-government in Oslo after the Germans arrived, met some young men going to join their army units.

Stopping his automobile and emerging with a drawn revolver, Lunde ordered the youths to go home. Instead, they captured him and took him to be interned in Kongsvinger Fort.

Parliament Is Called To Meet May 16

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP).—Members of the Senate and House of Commons will assemble in Ottawa May 16 for formal opening of the first session of the 19th Dominion Parliament since Confederation. It is expected the session will continue until late July.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the opening date last night. He said any appointments having an effect upon parliament would be delayed until the eve of the opening.

The House of Commons, in which the Liberal party will again have a record majority as a result of the Dominion elections March 26, will be technically a new body, all members requiring to be re-sworn, but the bulk of its members were in the last or previous parliaments.

14 New Faces.

In the Senate, an appointive body whose members hold office for life, there will be at least 14 new faces, that number of senators having been appointed since the last session to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation.

It was not known whether Hon. Pierre F. Casgrain, Speaker of the House in the last parliament, will continue in that office. He has been suggested as a likely successor to Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, who died last summer.

In other quarters it has been suggested that Mr. Casgrain has gained such complete grasp of the exacting role of Speaker that the government will prefer to retain him in that capacity. F. J. Sanderson, member for Perth, is Deputy Speaker and would no doubt be in line for the promotion if Mr. Casgrain goes to some other post.

Considerable speculation arises over the plans of the Conservatives elected under the National Government movement led by Hon. R. J. Manion, who succeeded Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett as National Conservative leader in 1938.

Conservative Leadership?

Dr. Manion was defeated personally in Fort William but 39 of his supporters were elected. It is not known whether Dr. Manion will try to find a seat in the House so that he may continue as leader of the official Opposition, or if the group will choose one of their number for the position.

If the latter course is followed the choice may fall upon Hon. R. B. Hanson, elected in York-Sunbury. He was Minister of Trade and Commerce in the last year of the Bennett regime, but was defeated with his party in the 1935 elections.

Two vacancies already exist in the House of Commons, one caused by death of Rev. Dr. W. G. Brown, elected as a United Reform candidate in Saskatoon, and the other by death of A. B. Hyndman, former Conservative member for Carleton County and successful in the last two elections as a National Government candidate.

Another vacancy was caused by postponement of the election in Three Rivers when official Liberal candidate died on the eve of election day. The deferred election will be held April 22.

Burt Young Wins Handicap Swim

Burton Young, the latest addition to the Y.M.C.A. Junior Swimming Club, bettered his time for the 100 yards free style by a second to win the handicap race Wednesday at the George Street natatorium. It was Young's second race of the night as he was timed a few minutes before the race.

Jim Brown, in scratch man in the event, placed second after a battle with Gordon Blackwell, who was third, and Don Pinch and Andrew Brown.

To-night the Y.M.C.A. junior club will hold the finals of the quarter-mile free style handicap for which special awards are being made.

Allan Marshall, senior breast stroker, had a great workout Wednesday and was tarvelling at good pace, Coach Gord Minty hopes to take him down to Montreal in the near future for an open Quebec Province event and feels sure that Marshall will hold his own in fast Montreal company.

big naval battle is raging at present in the Kattegat.

It is understood that British submarines are very active in that area, determined to prevent German supply ships and transports reaching the Norwegian mainland.

Depth Charges?

Press reports from Scandinavian points referring to gunfire in the Kattegat might be based on the mistake of supposing that German depth charges, tossed overboard as protection against submarines, indicated major operations.

Survivors of the bombed destroyer Gurkha arrived at their homes today and said the ship's anti-aircraft guns had brought down the Nazi plane which sank them and also another.

Gunner Jack Squires said about half a dozen planes attacked the Gurkha about 3 p.m. on Wednesday.

"The vessel began to sink," he said. "The bulkheads were closed and we managed to keep afloat nearly four hours. We kept firing and brought down a couple of planes—one of them was the blighter that got us."

Other members of the crew told how the commander of the Gurkha stuck to his post as the ship was sinking, but was forced to leave by two ratings who "almost hurled" him into the rescue boat. The commander is Captain A. W. Buzzard, 37, elder son of Sir Farquhar Buzzard, Physician-in-Ordinary to King George V.

While a British warship was picking up the survivors, German planes swooped again and dropped more bombs—all of which missed.

Air Raid on Bergen.

LONDON, April 12 — (CP). — A detailed account of the successful bombing of a German cruiser in Bergen Fjord by a British bomber on Tuesday night was made public to-day by the Air Ministry.

The attacking planes kept well above the clouds while crossing the North Sea. They approached Bergen in full view of the enemy, the clouds having thinned out and finally disappeared.

Two German cruisers and two destroyers were clearly visible. They soon began spraying the air with anti-aircraft shells as the British planes approached.

"One of the cruisers was particularly antagonistic and was singled out for attack," one bomb aimer said. "We climbed several thousand feet, circled above the ship and flew away, later returning back to make a normal approach before attacking. Several bombs were dropped, one of which hit the ship with a terrific explosion.

"The warship emitted volumes of black smoke and ceased fire at us. When we first reached the fjord the cruiser was at anchor. Later it moved about half a mile to the main bay and then remained stationary."

The crew of this plane was making its second operational flight. It took part in the raid on Sylt several weeks ago. The bomb aimer came from Johannesburg to join the Royal Air Force and the captain is a native of Melbourne.

driver arriving in Sweden as saying that when he left Kongsvinger 30 minutes after midnight the city was calm, although blacked out. Hamar was said to have been machine-gunned from the air.

According to this report Norwegians are fighting everywhere in the region near the Swedish border, but have not yet been able to establish a continuous defence line.

Today's fighting was said to be concentrated south of Skarnaes. Although evacuation of Elverum was continuing despite bombardments, a large part of the population of that city was said to have stayed there. Elverum is an unfortified city.

The Finnish radio also said that a German plane was shot down near Lake Tlommen, and that the Germans have mined the bridges which connect Trondheim with the interior of Norway. The occupying force there was said to number 1,-200, with the pocket battleship Deutschland and other German war vessels anchored in the harbor.

It was also reported here that new German troops have reached Oslo. Yesterday six German bombing planes attacked Frederikstad, at the entrance to Oslo fjord, hitting and destroying a gasoline storage tank. No casualties were reported from this raid.

An air-raid alarm was again sounded at Frederikstad last night, but this time no bombing followed. Almost the entire population has left the city.

Planes Busy Scouting.

PARIS, April 12.—(AP).— Allied and German planes scouted extensively over the western front yesterday and to-day in search of information on troop movements or possible battle preparations, French military sourced said.

Anti-aircraft guns went into action near Paris early this morning, but there was no alarm.

The day's communique said merely: Nothing to report."

An air raid alarm was sounded at 12.45 a.m. to-day in central France but was lifted at 1.30 a.m. without incident.

Premier Paul Reynaud conferred at the Foreign Ministry with the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Campbell, and the Papal Nuncio, Monsignor Valerio Valeri.

French advices said the Allied counter-offensive in Norway was "progressing favorably" and that a German army of occupation of about 30,000 men was in a "precarious position."

These reports said it appeared "extremely possible" that at least part of Bergen had been retaken by Norwegian troops.

Expect Quick Spread

LONDON, April 12—(CP).—London newspapers today expressed the general expectation that the war would spread to other fronts in the near future.

"Costly as Hitler's new enterprise is likely to prove when every transport and supply ship sent to sustain it has to run the gauntlet of the Allied command of the sea," said The Times, "we cannot assume that the precariousness of his position in Scandinavia will persuade him to localize the conflict there.

"The covered way for ore ships from Narvik is already closed beyond hope of restoration," The Times continued, "and it is difficult to over-estimate the effect of that blow upon Nazi strategy. As much to burst the tightening bonds of the blockade as to relieve the pressure on their garrisons in the north, the Germans must be expected to seek further diversions, using, no doubt, their accustomed weapons of illegality and treachery in hope of gaining the advantage of surprise."

Sweden Next.

The Daily Express said: "Hitler may seek another route to Oslo, sheltered from attack by our ships. That route lies from Malmoe through Southern Sweden. There is another possibility. Operations in Norway are being carried on by the German navy and air force. They have not taken away many men from the German army. So the Norwegian expedition may be a diversion for a land attack elsewhere. Mr. Churchill (Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty) warns us that bigger offensives may be coming.

"In Holland, in Belgium, behind the Maginot Line, in Switzerland, in Hungary, all along the frontier of Germany, soldiers are standing to arms, waiting, ready."

Warships Sunk

3 Armored cruisers	1 Battle cruiser
8 Destroyers	4 Light cruisers
	5 Destroyers

Since then the Battle of Jutland has been fought many times—in the controversy over who really won. The Britons argue victory was theirs, at least in the ultimate sense, since the German high seas fleet thereafter offered no challenge to the British grand fleet. At the war's end it surrendered—and was scuttled by the Germans—at Scapa Flow.

But that is an argument for experts. That of the battle itself? How might it have looked to a hypothetical, omnipresent observer?

Tremendous Spectacle

Imagine, first, the gray, half-hidden silhouettes of the German scouting force, filing ghostlike out of the Jade estuary into Heligoland Bight at 2 a.m., May 31, 1916, trailed 50 miles astern by the battlefleet, nearly two score hulking batt'eships in the escort of cruisers and lighter craft.

Picture the British battlefleet in its broad daylight rendezvous 10 hours later, 100 miles or so from the advancing German fleet and about the same distance off the Danish coast in the mouth of the same Skagerrak which figures in today's accounts of war at sea.

Visualize the ships deployed farther than the eye at water level could reach, like football players spread upon an enormous field to receive the kickoff.

Place in the expanse of sea between the two slowly manoeuvring fleets a stray merchant steamer, her funnel smoke smearing the horizon—wandering like a kitten into a lion's den.

A lookout in the wing of the British cruiser screen sights the "intruder." Simultaneously a lookout in the opposite wing of the German scouting force also spots the merchantman and a destroyer is detached to investigate.

Another instant and the rival warships have seen each other. H.M.S. Galatea, from which the steamship has been sighted, hoists a signal meaning "Enemy in sight."

The tracery of naval maps which plot the superlative battle that followed is a thing of complexity—by experts for experts.

Suffice to say that the incident of the stray merchantman brought the fleets into combat earlier than would have happened otherwise and thus further north on the course of the advancing German fleet.

Thus started an inferno of shells, ranging up to 16 inches in diameter, smoke screens, the rending of steel and flesh, the white furrowing of torpedoes and crippled ships limping and then slowly turning on their sides like stricken animals to nose into the sea with men plummeting and sliding into the water in a frenzied clutching at life.

Running Battle

First came the running battle between advance rival battle cruisers: British ships forming a single line and bearing down on their enemy at 25 knots, batteries thundering in increased volume as the range shortened.

Then came the action of advance battleships. A shell from the German Luetzow ripped into H.M.S. Lion's midship turret, killing nearly the whole gun crew. The Lion was enveloped in smoke. The by-play of cruiser and destroyer actions brought a respite.

Then again the Luetzow dodged torpedoes fired from 2½ miles away. Destroyers, vitally wounded, limped to the sidelines to die.

All these things were a warm up. The main action did not get underway until nearly dusk when Viscount Jellicoe, commander-in-chief of the British Grand Fleet, ordered deployment into an "L" formation to envelop the German line.

The Germans slipped away. A re-engagement followed. German ships were smothered in shell at a range of less than 9,000 yards. Ship after ship picked out a foe to dule while destroyers of each side worried the flanks of the other. The battle lasted into the night. Then, at 4:30 a.m. Jellicoe signalled: "Enemy fleet has returned to harbor."

Admiral Reinhard Scheer, commander-in-chief of the German high seas fleet, had withdrawn.

School Bus Is Ditched; Pupils Are Forced To Return To Campbellford For Night

About twenty of them were in a bus that left for Hastings last night after the High School party. The bus left the road four miles west of here around 1 a.m., and the students had to be brought back to Campbellford for the night.

This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Sees Nazi Blow At Norway Start Of Defeat

OTTAWA, April 12 — (CP). — The Scandinavian invasion may well be the "beginning of the defeat of Germany," General Josef Haller, Polish minister without portfolio, believes.

On a goodwill tour of Canada and the United States, the Polish soldier-minister conferred briefly last night with Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Count Victor Podoski, Polish Consul-General to Canada, accompanied General Haller.

Hitler's sudden march upon Denmark and Norway was ill-timed, the general said in an interview. He thought Hitler had been forced to take such a hasty step because the German people were restless and dissatisfied through prolonged inactivity in the war. In addition, it must be remembered that the German civilians had been under wartime restrictions for the last 16 years.

Nevertheless, the Scandinavian attack was logical from a strategic point of view. "To win the war Germany must defeat Great Brian authoritative Norwegian source reported here to-day.

According to the same source, British fighting units have been debarked at a number of points near Narvik, Arctic ore port.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 12.—(AP).— Balkan capitals heard with anxiety to-day reports that Germany had warned south-eastern trade circles that they would invite action which might mean war if they accorded the Allies any favors detrimental to the Reich's interests.

The warning, which said Germany would regard as "unneutral" any move tending to cut off her flow of vital supplies from the Balkans, was weighed by rumors that more than 100,000 Nazi troops had been concentrated near the Hungarian border and nearly 200,-000 more at Cracow in German-conquered Poland.

LONDON, April 12.—(CP).—A high official of the Air Ministry to-day denied that British planes had bombed a railway station in Schleswig-Holstein, as reported to-day by DNB, the German News Agency.

NEW YORK, April 12.—(AP). —The German controlled radio station at Oslo, Germany, in a broadcast picked up by the National Broadcasting Company short wave listening station shortly after 6.45 a.m. EST today appealed to the Norwegian people to stop fighting and warned that anyone failing to co-operate would be shot.

LONDON, April 12.—(CP).—The Royal Air Force said to-day its bombers had blown up an 8,000-ton German ship in an attack last night on an enemy transport and supply convoy in the Kattegat and the approaches to the seaway from the Baltic.

The announcement said British fliers penetrated to the Little Belt and Great Belt, the narrow straits connecting the Kattegat with the Baltic. The Little Belt hugs the shore of German-occupied Denmark. The Great Belt, the centre passage, is between the Danish islands of Fyen and Zealand.

LONDON, April 12.—(CP).—The Swedish tanker Sveaborg, 9,076 tons, largest tanker in Sweden's fleet, sank to-day off the coast of Scotland, apparently the victim of a German torpedo.

Thirty-four members of its crew were landed at a British port.

The vessel was returning from the United States with a cargo of petroleum.

Agents of the owners said they believed the ship had been torpedoed.

ROME, April 12.—(AP).— Italian newspapers were generally restrained to-day in their comments on Scandinavian battlefront developments, but expressed the view that the Allies thus far had failed to cut Germany's lines of communication with her expeditionary force in Norway.

Il Telegrafo conceded, however, that the British themselves had not failed to score successes.

"The figures they give on losses of the German navy appear truly considerable."

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(AP).—President Roosevelt said to-day he had asked the Red Cross to look into the needs of the 17,000 persons on Danish-owned Greenland with a view to furnishing necessities of life in event the annual supply ships from Denmark are cut off.

The President, discussing the question at a press conference, refused to discuss Greenland political questions raised as a result of Germany's invasion of Denmark. He termed such questions hypothetical and premature.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(AP).—The British Embassy announced to-day that all contraband goods consigned to or destined for Denmark would be detained or seized by the Allies "in view of the fact that Denmark is under German occupation and control."

The Embassy likewise announced that goods of Danish origin or ownership would be detained under the reprisals order in council of Nov. 27, blockading German exports.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 12.—(CP). — After a night journey from the north of Scotland, a party of about 80 German prisoners arrived at an east Scottish town to-day and were taken to an internment camp. A crowd of several hundred persons watched the prisoners being transferred to buses.

They ranged from mere boys to men well past middle age. One or two appeared to be injured, and were helped from the train to buses. An elderly man hobbled with a stick.

A number still wore lifebelts. Most of them were in the uniform of the German merchant service. Only boys in the party mustered a smile.

fighting in South Jutland, at Soegaard, Aabenraa, Toender, Gee and Haderslev, and in the capital of Amalienborg Square. Vaerloese airport was fired upon from the air and one Danish plane was downed.

"After it was decided at a conference at Amalienborg about 6 a.m. that resistance should cease, orders were issued that fighting should be stopped.

"The loss of Danish troops in this fighting has been placed at 12 killed and 29 wounded. The final loss will not deviate much from this estimate."

The Copenhagen press concentrated editorial interest on Denmark's future economically under the new situation with certain imports now impossible. It was expected that the question of national economy would be among the first questions taken up between the German and Danish authorities.

Otherwise, there were few reminders of the week's lightning events in Scandinavia. Denmark has accepted German occupation with apparent placidity. The Danes merely have gone back to work.

The sight of German army trucks rolling through Danish streets brings only brief stares. The major interest has turned to the effects occupation will have on Denmark's commerce—therefore on employment.

The scattered resistance which occurred was only incidental when "considerably more" than an army corps—45,000 to 75,000 men—poured into Denmark Tuesday.

The commander of the German army of occupation, General Leonhard Kaupisch, said Danish casualities were 10 killed and several wounded.

Today in Copenhagen German soldiers stand unarmed around trucks with Danish bystanders grouped around them. From the beginning, German officers have moved freely about the streets.

But the Danish press says: "We must look to the future," and reminds Denmark of German assurances that her territorial integrity and political freedom will live—that the Danish flag still flies over Denmark and that King Christian's prayer still is "God save Denmark."

Serious Situation

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP)—Australia's new restrictions on the import of automobile chassis from Canada and the United States should be regarded as "very serious" from the standpoint of Canadian trade a government expert said today.

"Something will have to be done about it," he said, while not disclosing what steps might be taken to soften the blow of the Australian measures on the Canadian trade.

Prime Minister Menzies in Canberra announced imports of car and truck chassis into Australia would be reduced 24.8 per cent compared with 1938-39 in order to conserve foreign exchange.

Here it was estimated this would mean a reduction of about 5,000 units in Australian Automobile imports from Canada which last year sent to Australia about 27,000 units.

Daily War Survey

(By the Canadian Press.)

Whatever the ultimate consequences may be the German invasion of Norway will go down in history as one of the most daring and skilfully planned operations of the war. Although complete information is lacking the operation obviously involved a combination of air and naval operations with subversive underground activity in Norway.

The Nazi Party in Norway apparently served its purpose in preparing the ground for German occupation of strategic points and Nazi agents helped spread confusion and perplexity.

Loaded German troopships with naval protection took up positions in or near Norwegian ports in advance and awaited the order to effect landings. Some troops were transported by air.

Preparationhs for the attack did not escape the notice of the Allies, as Winston Churchill revealed in the House of Commons yesterday. But they were not aware where the blow would fall. The same preparations would have been equally suitable to an onslaught on Sweden or Holland.

Mr. Churchill's conservative and guarded speech confirmed unofficial reports that the German navy had lost heavily in tonnage it can ill afford to lose. Its value as a striking force for some time to come has been impaired to an important degree While continuing to hammer at the Germans on the sea the Allies must be constantly on the alert for a German offensive in some other quarter. The German genius for planning displayed in the Scandinavian operation has been working for many months and detailed arrangements for any number of other operations doubtless are ready.

El Salvadore is starting several public works projects.

Amateurs Stage Smart Play At Ennismore

ENNISMORE, April 12—(ENS).—"His Irish Dream Girl," a three-act comedy-drama that sparkled with Irish wit, was presented before a large and appreciative audience in the parish hall on Friday evening by the dramatic society of the Young People's club of St. Martin's parish.

Two or three old favorites together with some entirely new talent combined to form a cast of players, each of whom was so suited to his or her particular role that no choice could be made as to "top honors." Stage settings were quite effective and lines were spoken in such clear audible voices that not a word was missed by the interested listeners.

Leo Scollard very ably portrayed the character of Jim O'Brien, a happy, jolly young Irish farmer, very romantic and lovable, rather crude and uneducated but ambitious to better himself for the sake of his dream girl.

The role of Jim's mother—an old-fashioned Irish mother who bestows nothing but the kindliest of things upon her children, and who speaks in a decided Irish brogue—was well suited to Lillian Hennessey, who carried out the part in an exceptionally splendid manner.

The other members of the O'Brien family is the widowed Libby Kelly, played by Ella Murray; Libby is very competent and greatly devoted to her mother and brother Jim, and her Irish humor brought forth rounds of laughter during the evening.

Margaret Crough quite captivated the audience as Nora Lynch, "the dream girl"—a spunky Irish?American girl, sweet and lovable who, although deeply in love with Jim, does not betray that love until the close of the play.

The role of Nora's brother, Ora Lynch, an author and magazine writer, was assigned to Fergus Crough and much credit is due him for the capable manner in which he played the part of the always unpopular character that features every play.

Dare Reynolds, a man about town—to whom Ora Lynch was greatly indebted and to whom also Ora had promised his sister Nora in order to redeem such debt—was very ably portrayed by Kenneth Crough.

The part of the village constable, Ed. Brown, was taken by Frank Murray, who fulfilled a somewhat unpleasant position in a very creditable manner.

The real Irish wit and humor of the evenings performance was carried out by the helpers at the O'Brien's home—Mary Foley as "Emma," and Harold Flood as "Danny."

Danny, a big, bashful farm boy, is very much in love with Emma, who is quite indifferent towards him but thinks she is in loved with Jim O'Brien and is jealous of Jim, but in a manner full of comedy. The witty expressions of the two latter characters sent chuckles of laughter through the audience.

Between the acts musical numbers were supplied by Geraldine Kennedy, pianist; Neil Conway, violinist, and Jack Kennedy on the banjo.

John J. Killen of Peterborough spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Killen.

Miss Ethel Crough of Peterborough was a week-end visitor at her home.

Crown Of Denmark Tottering Under Nazi Invasion

The future of this royal family of Denmark is a matter of considerable conjecture now that the Nazi steamroller has crushed all resistance in the country of Denmark. German soldiers occupy Copenhagen, and the Danish crown is obviously tottering. This picture was made a short two years ago when war clouds were just gathering in the distant horizon. It was the king's 40th wedding anniversary. LEFT to RIGHT: Princess Caroline Mathilde, Crown Princess Ingrid, Crown Prince Frederik, little Princess Elizabeth, Prince Valdemar and King Christian. Friends In Cavan Pay Honor To Bride-Elect

CAVAN, April 12 — (ENS). — On Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. John Smith's home, Ninth Line, Cavan, was the scene of a happy social gathering in honor of their daughter, Iva, whose marriage to Mr. Carl Porteous take place this month. Approximately sixty friends and relatives were present.

After a short interesting program the bride-elect was conducted to a chair under a large white bell with pink and white streamers. She passed through an arch made by the ladies standing in two rows, with their up-raised arms forming the arch, while all sang "There's A Long, Long Trail Awinding."

When all were seated two small girls, Gracie Bigelow and Shirley Thorndyke, dressed as Sun-bonnet Sue and Overall Jim, drew in a wagon, gaily decorated in pink and white, and laden with gifts. Three trips to the dining room were necessary before all the gifts arrived.

Miss Blakely of Lakefield assisted the guest of honor in unwrapping the gifts and reading the accompanying cards. After all the parcels had been unwrapped and exhibited Iva spoke a few words of appreciation and thanks after which all joined heartily in singing "For she's a jolly good fellow."

A sumptuous lunch was served.

The Evidence Is There

Already we are reading of people who were not at all surprised that Norway had been attacked by Germany. Denmark, they assert, could have been taken at any time in an afternoon, and Norway was not well protected, and these people were not at all surprised when Hitler made his move.

Perhaps one should not be shocked, horrified, surprised or amazed at anything which takes place today. But we believe most people were downright surprised when Hitler tackled those little countries of Norway and Denmark.

Norway is just a long strip of land hanging on to the west side of the Scandinavian countries, 1,100 miles long and and from 10 to 250 miles in width. It has a much indented coast line with a length in all of 2,110 miles. . . temperate climate. . . ports open all year but some clogged with ice in winter.

Norway has a hereditary limited monarchy; there they call parliament the storting; it has 126 members and men and women over 25 years of age can vote.

Nearly all the people there are Lutherans, and the 2,500,000 population live along the coasts and in the valleys. Mountains and rocks and waterfalls provide little chance for agriculture, and only 3 per cent. of Norway is arable land. That is the low figure for western Europe. Norway needs coal but has none; there is iron ore there but it is low-grade. Plenty of timber and fishing is good. But Norway has been continually yielding her young folk to the New World and they have gone chiefly to United States and Canada. As a nation of shippers Norwegians are outstanding, and following severe losses in the last war they pulled their business up to the rank of fourth.

The people there are well educated; they have to make their living the hard way; they have never had enough national income to spend heavily on defence, and possibly they saw no good reason why they should do so.

If one wishes to see the real Hitler-Germany revealed in all its naked ugliness there is the picture, for Norway, small and defenceless, was the land where Nazi blood-red fingers pointed for attack and occupation. If United States wants any more evidence regarding the sort of world in which it is living, there it is, speaking for itself. The neutrals who wondered and pondered why Britain and France went to war, and who professed to believe there was some other way out, have had conviction jammed down their throats until their bellies can hold no more.

Too Many Gasoline Stations

Those who are interested in the retailing of gasoline had a gathering in Hamilton, and they seemed to be in entire agreement with the claim of a speaker who contended there were twice as many people in the business as the trade warranted. Statistics on this point were a little shaky as the number of service stations was placed between 12,000 and 13,000, so where there's a margin of 1,000 to work on we take it the number must be very great.

It was also agreed that the excessive number of stations in business today was the main reason why so many operators cannot make a decent living. And there is probably little room for argument on that point. There are numerous stations throughout the country which have to be kept open long hours seven days a week, and there is not enough business there to pay a decent wage and on that account wages are far too low.

When banks found they had been opening too many small branches they began a deliberate and carefully planned system of closing them out. This bank would close one here and that bank would do the same elsewhere, and in that way they rid themselves of the consequences of unwise over-expansion.

The gasoline business shows no tendency to do anything like that. Nor is there anything at all in the claim one often hears that the increased competition tends to keep down the prices. It just can't work that way. If ten gasoline stations were sufficient to serve a community, and if they employed 40 workers, then those 40 workers would be the personnel overhead which would have to be provided for. If the number of stations in the community is increased to 20 and there are 80 people employed, then the available patronage in the community has to provide for twice as many workers, and that is assuredly not the way to cheaper gasoline.

Our competitive system of distribution has produced plenty of similar situations. There is no central power to apply restriction. Newspapers went through similar experience in every city in the province and it was found if two papers persisted in staying in the field both would probably fail or become miserably poor. The gasoline business may mend itself eventually, but in the meantime, and until the mending is done, there are a number of people who will work long hours and make mighty little out of it.

That's Not Our Problem

Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire are holding a provincial conference in Hamilton. Mrs. Albert Martin, discussing the subject, "How the Germans Think?" was moved toward the belief that thousands of Germans were ashamed of the actions of their government. Just what ground there is for that belief was not stated in the report. Mrs. W. B. Horkins of Toronto was certain women of Canada could not share that view.

There has been a good deal of that kind of discussion one way or another, but we doubt if any of it has served a good purpose. It is not difficult to recall pleasant associations of a few years ago touring in Germany. One met many people there and they were good citizens. They were kind, courteous and as friendly as one could wish. But what these same people are thinking and doing today is something on which we have no information at all. They may be either through compulsion or desire, with Hitler to a man. We can at least take it for granted that in times of war they are dead set against us.

One man cannot possibly dominate a population of some 80,000,000 unless that population is willing to be dominated. Our best information is that the younger element in Germany, including nearly all those who are presently of military age, follow Hitler with a feeling and attitude of blind worship. They ask no questions; they desire no reasons for what they are ordered to do; they are wedded to the idea of German domination of the world, and their enthusiasm has carried them to the point of idolatry.

So we need waste little time wondering what the Germans think. Of supreme importance at the moment is the vial matter of what WE are going to do about it.

Churchill Speaks

Winston Churchill is a bold and a blunt speaker when the occasion calls for such speech. In the House of Commons he made it clear enough that in attacking Norway, Germany had done the one thing which simplified matters for the British navy.

The one weak spot in the blockade has been the long coastal waters off Norway, for through these lanes shipping destined to reach Germany could go ununder the protection of those neutral waters.

Hitler has changed all that by occupying Norwegian territory, and thus rendering German-destined shipping open to seizure, and to that degree he has simplified matters for the Allies, and especially for that agency known as the British navy.

Those who have been at sea can appreciate the condition which the navy has been facing in the North Sea, a restless body of water at the best of times. Raging snow storm and heavy seas would cut visibility to the minimum. Impressive was Churchill's blunt declaration: "All German ships in the Skagerrak and the Kattegat will be sunk." That's war to a finish.

May Call This Minister

London, Ont., Free Press carried a story telling of the visit to a church in that city of a young minister from Smeaton, Sask. The church in London, a large and relatively well-off one, is seeking an assistant minister and that is why the man from the West was brought to the city.

When he started toward his Western home he took along two gallons of maple syrup because the people in his charge had not tasted anything like that in 20 years.

The Westerner was the speaker at the evening service of the London church and he told mostly of the work in his field. His headquarters are 60 miles northeast of Prince Albert, and the field extends from there to the farthest white settlement in the province. For the most part his preaching is done in school houses. It takes two weeks to cover his district, one Sunday he preaches in five schools and the next Sunday in three.

Most of the members of his "congregation" are farmers who have been forced to abandon their drought-stricken farms and start in farther north. They are poor and they are widely scattered, and working in a field such as that would call for the expenditure of a deal of physical energy and it would call for a brave outlook and a whole-hearted determination to minister to his folk according to their need and his strength and ability to do so.

We cannot help but wonder if a large church in London is doing the right thing in calling a young man from such a work to become assistant minister in a city church. In a city he will find things rather well ordered; the church will be organized to the last degree; it will be quite easy to get around. He will not have to think of one family 20 miles away and of another 30 miles off, nor will he have to cover those distances in all kinds of weather. Possibly most of the people in the city church have maple syrup of their own, and they do not endure much hardship. So the city church would be more comfortable.

But what of those folk scattered about in the Western field? Cut off pretty much from intercourse with each other; denied the opportunity of going a few blocks and sitting in a comfortable pew in a pleasant church. Battling drought, distance and elements, often enough discouraged and beaten back. Hard it is to shove to one side the full challenge of such a field, and that is why we are moved to wonder what good reason the congregation in London is going to advance for desiring to call a young and able man from such a work.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We are assured there will be no coal shortage in Canada, but we hardly get a full-grown thrill out of that assurance at this time of year.

Russian troops withdrawing from Finland have been held up by the snowstorms, and at the moment we can think of no good reason for feeling sympathetic.

Eduard Benes, former president of Czecho-Slovakia, announces that a free Czecho-Slovakia is one of the war aims of the Allies. It might be more satisfactory for the leaders of the Allies to make their own statements.

Morris Ansman of Boston at the age of 80 is getting his third set of teeth. And what do you think of this for luck? Three on top and three below, and they click!

In Chatham the mother of the bride put up $300 bail so a young man might be released to marry on the day arranged. And possibly that one too will be described as "a quiet but pretty wedding," etc.

Hospital Trust, Ltd., which has operated the Irish Sweepstakes, has suspended operations due to the war. In ten years it has handled $270,000,000, showing what an interest people have in hospitals.

Port Dover harbor has received a new fog horn from the government. Something must have slipped up there as we always understood that such things should be attended to a week or so before voting day.

Kitchener wants a provincial inspecto to come there and reorganize the police department. There has been a dispute between the two men on the force about which one should mend the sidewalks and spread the gravel on the main street.

Johnny Walker, New York play producer, brought action in court for $10,000 and he was awarded six cents. As the case has been on the go for three years we imagine other items will have mounted well past the six cents line.

Manitoba government has offered 18 landing fields for the Empire air training plan. If we could trade Manitoba a couple of miles of our hills and valleys for a bit of its prairie land we might also be in the landing field business by now.

WEE ANGUS

(By A.R.K.)

¶ I trained Wee Angus years ago, the work was long and rather slow, it was a goodly deed; he should have habits that were neat, when he was home or on the street, I figured I'd succeed.

¶ I taught him how to keep his room, so things would not be pitched or strewn, a good thing to do; so he could pick up here and there, and not heap stuff upon a chair, as though a storm passed through.

¶ A peg where he should hang his coat, a place for lessons that he wrote, I stated all my views; his tooth brush should be kept just there, and here the brush to fix his hair, a spot to put his shoes.

¶ I'm rather lax myself I know, so I showed Angus how to go, nor was I very rough; if he formed habits fairly quick, I knew that like as not they'd stick, so he could place his stuff.

¶ Wee Angus slips though now and then, and travels with the careless men, I mentioned it today; the way he laid his stuff around, so none of it was easy found, I wondered what he'd say.

¶ Wee Angus said his jacket's there, his coat is hanging on that chair, a door knob holds his cap; he says he always does the same, the plan he uses is as plain—as drawing on a map.

Attack Needed Before Allies Succeed In War

From the British Ministry of Information. Passed by the British Censor.)

By Major-General Sir Charles Gwynn, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

THE ALLIES do not let themselves be deceived by the comparatively bloodless course of the war into imagining that they will automatically and without further exertion on their part achieve their war aims.

They are piling up war material and training more and more men. But that by itself, as they well know, will not bring victory.

The German Army and Air Force are not less strong today than they were when the war started. Sooner or later, Allied men and material must be employed to help shatter their strength.

Except on the sea, where the Royal Navy, the Merchant Service and the fishing fleet in co-operation with Coastal aircraft have gallantly and efficiently been carrying out their role, the British Fighting Services have so far not been called upon to make a major positive contribution toward winning the war.

For war cannot be won solely by pressure of the blockade. It cannot be won merely by holding the Maginot Line. It cannot be won by reconnaissance flights and showers of leaflets over Germany.

Internal revolt in Germany will not be caused by such means, however much the weakness and immorality of the Nazi regime may ultimately provide a soil in which revolt may spring up.

For the time being, while they are building up their strength, the Allies may be content to launch no offensive on land or in the air, leaving it to their sea power to exercise its pressure.

That, however, is only a preliminary attitude. The end to be aimed at is full and well co-ordinated use of all our instruments of force to wear down the German power of resistance.

It needs to be insisted that German power is certainly such that it cannot be overthrown except by the complete employment of all the resources, moral, material, and military, of all the Allies.

THE WORD attrition awakens unhappy memories of the last war. And it is tdo widely believed that a war of attrition is the last resort of leaders not competent to win by other means.

But though in the last war the word was given a specific and limited meaning, yet almost every war has been won by a process of attrition. There is nothing new in the idea.

Sometimes the process of attrition has been slow, as in the American Civil War or in the Peninsular War.

Sometimes it has been made rapid by great tactical victories, as in the Prussian Wars of last century.

In modern wars between great nations commanding forces of approximately equal strength, decisive tactical victories are rarely achieved. Attrition, resulting from destruction of life, is necessarily a slow process.

On the other hand, the immense supplies of war material required by armed forces has enormously added to the importance of economic factors in the process of attrition.

In this war the economic pressure of blockade imposes an urge on Germany to resort to offensive action which, if successful, might enable her to escape the effects of economic pressure.

If unsuccessful, it would on the other hand increase the effects of economic pressure which limits the replacement of the enormous expenditure of supplies entailed by offensive action.

THE improbability of achieving decisive tactical success if fully appreciated by the German leaders, and account for their hesitation to take offensive action.

If economic pressure compels the Germans to take the risk, the Allies will fight defensively in strong positions. Allied troops, however, would have no easy task. The advantages of the defence can be over-rated.

Morally and physically, troops on the defensive are subjected to an even greater strain than the attackers, so long as the latter have fresh troops and unlimited munitions at their command.

The Allies may have confidence, however, that they have resources which would enable them to bear the strain and that they would eventually be able to take counter-offensive action.

If, on the other hand, the Germans were to decide that the risk of offensive action providing unsuccessful was too great, and decided to stand on the defensive, what course would be imposed on the Allies?

One cannot suppose that economic pressure of the blockade would by itself compel the Germans to relinquish their ill-gotten gains.

The effect of the blockade would have to be intensified. That can only be done by forcing the Germans to expend their resources.

That is to say, they would have to be attacked.

• Waiting For Snow Drifts To Go

THIS WEEK we ought to write about Spring. About the finish of the jobs we usually associate with the Winter and the cleaning up of the seed grain, and other work in preparation for Spring seeding. No doubt about it, writes Rusticus in Stratford Beacon-Herald, there are farmers who are all set to get going, and every day we are getting a little nearer that stage ourselves. We do admit, though, that it is rather difficult to get up much "steam" so long as huge, even, though somewhat diminished, snow drifts lie about the place. Perhaps some of these weeks we will be able to write about open roads—roads over which the old car can travel quite safely—and will that not be a pleasant change? Just yet, though, the condition of the side road makes motor travel something to look forward to, rather than an immediate pleasure.

Perhaps, too, we might write of the maple syrup making. That is, if we had ambition enough to wade through the deep snow to gather the sap and make the syrup. We are going to miss some of those warm sunny days down at the sap house, if such days ever come. This year, though, we are quite content to do the chores for a few more weeks and let some one else do the pleasant though hard task of making maple syrup.

The other day we met one of those grand old men whose memory goes back to a time before most of us were born, and we asked him if this was one of those old-fashioned Winters we heard so much about. You see, that is a question of vital importance because they always associated an old-fashioned winter with good crops in the following season. Our old friend just shook his head and said: "Blamed if I know."

"Now," he added, "we have often had more snowfall in a season. We have had colder weather, and we have had more storms."

Right then our hopes began to sink. Maybe this wasn't an old-fashioned Winter after all. Perhaps our good crops were not assured after all.

After a moment's thought the old man added: "But I never knew of so steady a Winter. Generally we could count on a few weeks of mild weather at some time or other in the season, but this year there wasn't even a decent thaw."

Now, was it an old-fashioned Winter—or wasn't it? We do not know. The younger generation has seen few as steady and the older cannot agree. They apparently like to think that everything including the weather, was very much tougher forty or fifty ears ago.

Those snow drifts cannot disappear too soon. There is much we had planned on doing in that space of time after the snow is gone and seeding starts. In other words, right now. Only, the drifts are not gone. Oh,well perhaps next week!

• The Craze for Useless Information

THE quiz books are back. That is fair warning to everybody. For the next few months all of us must be wary about accepting invitations to spend a quiet evening, even with our most rusted friends. A menace to human happiness and contentment—dormant for some years—has returned with new vigor.

Quiz books had quite a vogue some years ago in the wake of the crossword puzzle craze, recalls the Halifax Chronicle. Every home seemed to have its copy of "Ask Me Another!" or a similar work. One could hardly pay a visit anywhere without experiencing discomfort and embarrassment. Every hostess had one of these intruments of torture hidden in he bookcase. A pleasant evening would become an ordeal as the hostess bombarded defenceless guests with questions like these:

What is the candlepower of Fire Island, N.Y., light?

How many pairs of abdominal spiracles are there in a male house fly?

Is military service compulsory in Iraq?

Who said: "We never desire earnestly what we desire in reason"?

The guests, of course, don't know the answers. Neither does the hostess until she looks them up in the back of the book. The answers are of no interest to anybody anyway.

This sort of things has started all over again. The use of the books, of course, is but a part of the strange quest for useless information which has become so prominent in contemporary life. The quest is stimulated by a delight to discover that other people are just as ignorant as ourselves.

The radio and the cinema have aided and abetted the craze. Broadcasts of informal interviews on New York streets, whereln the victims were asked all sorts of questions, were followed by quiz programs from studios. In some of these programs experts quizzed the listeners; in others, listeners quizzed the experts. Band leaders adopted the same system to popularize their musical programs. The moving picture people used the idea for some of their short subjects.

Now this sort of thing is tolerable in the movies or on the radio. One can take it or leave it alone. But when it invades the sanctity of the home, it is time to sound the alarm.

What should be a light-hearted gathering of a few good friends becomes a gloomy affair with all the restraint, suspense and panic of a university examination. Nor is it any comfort to discover in quiz book that your score of 27 is 43 points below that of a hat check girl or some noted poet for the same test.

The only solution appears to be escape. While there is yet time, flee to Surinam (Dutch Guiana).

To The Editor

THANKS

To the Citizens of Peterborough:

As Officer commanding the local Salvation Army of the Local Corps, and campaign manager in our recent drive I wish to express the thanks of our Committee and the local Corps for the splendid way you came to our aid when we appealed for funds.

Peterborough has again expressed its appreciation of and confidence in our work and we say THANK YOU. Please be assured that we will strive to be worthy of it all.

To the chairman, vice chairman, committee chairmen, captains and workers may I say a personal word. Your efficiency and co-operation made what ordinarily is an arduous task into a joy and inspiration. To you and to the citizens generally we say God Bless you and thank you.

Yours sincerely,
NORMAN BUCKLEY.
Adjutant.

WISE BETTOR

Either it was beginner's luck, or Hon. Norman McLarty is near tops at knowing how to place his bets in an election. On March 12 he forecast the results for the Windsor Star—two full weeks prior to the election. He called the Liberals to win 177 seats; named the number of successful candidates to a man in P.E.I., Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Alberta. His betting in Quebec, Ontario and B.C. was a trifle short, in Saskatchewan and New Brunswick a bit long.—Financial Post.

TURNING OTHER CHEEK

MISS AGNES MACPHAIL, remarks the St. Thomas Times-Journal, "was so strongly anti-war that her pet subject for years was to oppose the grant for the cadet movement. This was a wartime election and her constituents, knowing her attitude of mind, felt she could not worthily represent them in the next Parliament." This probably explains the defeat of the lady who, even with the example of Munich before her, could not rid her mind of the notion that turning the other cheek was a paying proposition.—Brantford Expositor.

QUALIFIED

WHEN Sumner Welles returned from his European trip, the ship-new reporters were completely frustrated in their attempts to elicit any information from him. During their examination, a messenger delivered a telegram to Welles, who glanced at it, smiled, and started to pocket it. The reporters, hoping that it had been a message from the President, asked Welles about it. He obliged by showing them the wire, which read: "You are cordially invited to become an honorary member of our organization.—The Explorers.—(Leonard Lyons, in New York Post).

MILLIONAIRES

The annual meeting of the directorate of Maple Leaf Gardens, sports palace in Toronto, was attended by 23 persons of whom 17 are millionaires. And where, would anyone ask, did those men get their millions? Mostly from Northern Ontario, largely the gold mines. Yet the people of Toronto, no doubt, regard Maple Leaf Gardens and other big buildings similarly financed as particularly their own.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven....

Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth....

Blessed are pure in heart: for shall obtain mercy....

Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God....

Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God....

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven....

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matt. v: 1-3, 5, 7-9, 16, 48.

"Your mother made them," interrupted the bride, quickly.

"Of them?" he ended.

Neutrality Shattered By Unproven Nazi Attack, Norway Fights On

Taken completely by surprise by the Nazi attack on their country, ths Norwegian army was forced to give ground in many places as the German forces captured strategic centres along the Norwegian coast. Recovering from the suddenness of the invasion, the Norse army quickly rallied and is reported to be giving the Nazi legions stiff opposition. With her small, but well equipped army, Norway has announced that she will contest the Nazi invasion every inch of the way. An artillery detachment is shown, TOP LEFT, on the move during recent manoeuvres. These guns and men are now engaged in a fight for their existence.

Thought to be helpless against the might of the German navy, Norwegian warships are shown, TOP RIGHT, on patrol off Bergen. They have given a splendid account of themselves against their powerful foes. Machine-gunners such as these, BOTTOM LEFT, are today engaging the German land forces and are reported to be taking a heavy toll on the German troops. A battery of Norwegian howitzers are shown BOTTOM RIGHT, being wheeled into position along the Norwegian coast. These guns were the first to go into action against the Nazi warships and are credited with sinking the German cruisers Gniesenau, Bluecher and Karlsruhe.

Mystery Comedy Is Given Much Applause

Lights flashing off at unexpected moments, puzzling mystery, and the antics of a colored mammy and valet caused thrills of excitement to tickle the spines of the grown-ups in the audience, and drew loud applause from the younger set when All Saints' A.Y.P.A. presented the mystery comedy, "Aunt Susie Shoots the Works," Thursday evening in the Parish Hall.

To be presented again tonight, the play kept interest high, not only because of its mystery, but also because of the delightful thread of humor running through its three acts, provided by a confirmed spinster, Aunt Susie, a role admirably taken by Mrs. Gordon Webb, whose oft-stated aversion to all men causes her relatives to stare in open-mouthed amazement when a gentleman turns up declaring to be her husband, and scratch their heads in bewilderment when almost at the same moment she makes coy love to another!

Other amusing scenes develop, due to the effect of "love lozengers" which have been planted about the house, and which, while making remarkably good eating arouse in the consumers (including Aunt Susie), a short-lived desire to make love to all member of the opposite sex.

Many Complications

The plot concerns Aunt Susie and a sausage factory left to her and Omar Graves (Allan Worsencroft) in a will, the terms being that the two must marry. Many complications follow, due to the man-hating complex of Aunt Susie, and the plans of three interlopers, Madame Zola (Mary Cavalier), Laura Dawson (Barbara Hill), and Slick Conway (Arthur King), who attempt to scare Aunt Susie and her household away by mysterious "black-outs," kidnapping stunts, and strange noises. However, it all comes right in the end, due to the love lozengers and the vigilance of Johnny Rogers (Bert eWale), who finally rounds up the imposters.

Mrs. Gordon Webb (Aunt Susie), was excellent as the confirmed spinster, and amusingly clever in her interpretation of the flirtatious mood brought about by the lozengers. The two colored folk, Scarlet Deane (Edith Abraham), and Le Salle Johnson (Douglas Weir), gave an outstanding performance, particularly in the dialogue scenes; Allan Worsencroft as Omar Graves displayed fine acting ability, as did also Johnny Rogers (Bert Weale), who, disguised, penetrated the mystery—he was really the fiance of Aunt Susie's niece, Joy Herbert (Selena Buck) whose faith in him was not restored until the last dramatic act. Creditable performances were also given by Phyllis Hill as "Portia Lark," a lady lawyer; Winnie Lord as "Cynthia," a neighbor, and Arthur King as "Slick Conway." Although the players were not as sure of their lines as they might have been, the play is one well worth seeing, and one in which there is never a dull moment.

Mr. Leslie Cavalier is director, Mr. Farley Hill is stage manager, and the treasure is Mr. Ken Gibson.

Piano music between acts was played by Mr. Jack Marshall, and several clever tap dancing numbers were given by small Doreen Larry and Betty Bestard, pupils of Mrs. Thelma Simpson.

As Nazis Prepared For Scandinavian "Blitzkrieg"

For many weeks German troops were reported to be practicing landing operations at points along the Baltic coast. The fruit of these preparations was apparent as the Nazi legions swept over Denmark and launched attacks on various key points along the Norwegian coast, capturing Bergen, Oslo, Narvik, and Trondheim. German troops are shown here launching one of the boats designed for use by landing parties.

James Milby, Former Warden Peterboro County, Laid To Rest

The funeral of James Milby, Warden of Peterborough County in 1940, was held on Thursday afternoon from his home on Park Street South in North Monaghan to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. Paul's Church, conducted the service in the presence of a large company of the late Mr. Milby's friends. They represented his interests and his activities in a life that was purposeful and fruitful of accomplishment in this community to which he had come from Scotland prior to the outbreak of the Great War.

Members of the Council of North Monaghan of this year and of other years were present with representatives of the County Council, ex-service comrades of the war of 1914-18, associate employees of the Canadian General Electric Company, neighbors and other friends.

The pall-bearers were David Miller, Joseph Mackness, Jacob Seger, William McKinley, Thomas Monk, and F. L. Somerville.

Floral tributes included wreaths from the departments of the C.G.E. Company, the County of Peterborough, and North Monaghan Council.

Rev. Dr. Barr spoke on the text from Proverbs: "He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness and honor." This earthly journey which all must experience is but one phase of life, Dr. Barr said. It provided the one golden opportunity to make a worth-while contribution to the life of the world, to the community we live in. It begins when the breath of life enters a material body; it ceases when that breath of life is withdrawn. And it is God Who gives to us the breath of life, the golden opportunity. It is 'in Him that we live and move and have our being." Likewise also, it is within His divine law that when the material body ceases to function adequately to the needs of the soul, the breath of life is withdrawn. That is the meaning of death; "the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

When Solomon, speaking the divine wisdom, stated that "he that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness and honor," he was not only uttering a characteristic truth for his own time, but for all generations. Today that is the part of true wisdom; it is the great need of our times. It never was better exemplified as a practical testimony so well as it was in the life of James Milby. It was back in Scotland he was born; but it was in many places that he was to show the reality of the truth of our text. Growing up as a boy in Stranraer—a place where I taught school in earlier years—he learned the secret of a happy, honorable life. The Twenty-third Psalm was just one fond remembrance of those earlier days, since it was a deposit of truth given to every Scottish lad. But he had learned well, and when he left Scotland it was in varied places he lived out his opportunity and his testimony. Twenty-six years ago he came to this community, where he came to fill a large place in human hearts and the councils of community life.

"Proverbially reticent, as well as humble, James Milby let but few into the inner recesses of his soul," Dr. Barr said. "As one who knew him closely, it is not saying too much that he was a man of God. Dr. Barr said.

He lived right, gave men a square deal, and was ever showing that pity which is the significance of the word mercy' in our text. No doubt there are many mourning to-day unobtrusively who knew him as a real neighbor and friend. To us left behind is the challenge of that one opportunity given us—our earthly experience—to emulate his virtues. Yet, in a sense, he is not gone; the mortal has been givn up, but the immortal abides. In that sense we are all at one with him; and some day we will find ourselves like him enjoying that immortal life which comes as a reward to "him that followeth after righteousness and mercy."

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

"I did. The first four scripts of 'Paradise'."

"I want to read Sylvia," Romany decided. "Let's go up and raid the ice box. Then you can coach me."

It was Romany's chance to help Bax save the price of a dinner. And she was afraid he'd ask her out and waste a couple of dollars. She zipped into one of Aunt Cisgie's taffeta housecoats while Baxter took a shower and changed back into his street clothes in the guest bathroom.

When he joined her at a little table in the kitchen there was cold fried chicken, lettuce and tomato salad and a variety of cheeses and odds and ends. Coffee perked on the stove. Bax ate with relish, and Romany had the uncomfortable feeling that perhaps he hadn't eaten his lunch.

Afterward in the living room, Bax read the part of the lawyer of "Paradise," while Romany read Sylvia. It was amazing, Bax thought, how quickly she had caught on to the things he had told her the day of her audition.

"You ARE Sylvia," he said when she had finished. "I'll never be satisfied with the way anyone else does it."

"Do you mean it?" she asked unbelievingly.

He got up and walked over to the window, and his lean intelligent face was grave.

"Of course I mean it." He turned from her, looking out over the water. "No one will ever be Sylvia to me but you."

Romany was silent because she did not feel like making light of it. Bax had paid her a wonderful compliment, and he was not in the habit of saying things for effect.

In the drooping of his tall frame lined against the window, Romany could see that he was not happy. Her heart went out to him in sympathy.

"Oh, Bax," she pleaded then, "don't be discouraged because you're having trouble selling 'Paradise Is Here.' That's radio. Brent Nelson says it has taken a year or two to sell all the good shows. It's the same with plays."

Bax turned, coming back to sit near her in the big chair.

"I know," he nodded wearily. "I could stand the waiting, if they'd just leave the show alone. It's got everything! That isn't bragging. I know it. Don't tell me people aren't fed up with most of the tripe being dished up to them on the five-day-a-week shows. I'd give 'Paradise' to a sponsor with the courage to try something different."

"I know," Romany nodded understandingly, "just how you feel. If we just had the money so that we could afford to wait, it wouldn't be so bad. I'll just about go crazy if I don't get a call from Interstate soon. I've got to have a job!"

"That," Bax sighed grimly, "is just my trouble. I'm sick of trying to live on nothing."

And, Romany thought unhappily, Terry O'Rourke owes you fifty dollars you're probably counting on and never will see. Just then the phone rang. It was Brent Nelson.

Could Romany be at Interstate at eight o'clock in the morning? She was to be on a nine-thirty broadcast. Brent had spoken to a director friend of his, Hal Trotter, about helping her get a start. Trotter had told Nelson to call her.

She almost kissed Bax in her excitement when she hung up.

"Imagine," she yelled happily. "I'm going to be on the air in the morning. Hurray! I'm an actress!"

Bax smiled his crooked, whimsical smile.

"Brent Nelson certainly isn't wasting much time in getting your radio career launched, is he? He must be a pretty swell egg."

Romany did a happy little dance. "He's marvellous!" Her green eyes sparkled. "Would you mind murdering Myra Noyes for me?"

ROMANY'S hardest task was getting up in the morning. But she forced herself out of bed at six the next day to make certain she would be in the studio at Interstate before eight. She would have been there just as cheerfully at five. Her first dramatic part. Dreams coming true at last!

She was surprised to find Brent waiting in the hall near Studio 3. He grinned, taking her hand.

'Early, I see. Excited?"

"Terribly," Romany sighed happily. "I don't know how to thank you."

"You don't have to," The announcer decided any girl who could look like Romany before eight in the morning deserved a medal. "Come along, I'll introduce you to Trotter. I'm announcing with you."

"Oh, I'm glad!" Romany followed him down the hall. "I won't be so nervous."

Myra Noyes came around the corner from the other end of the hall. She stopped, and Romany

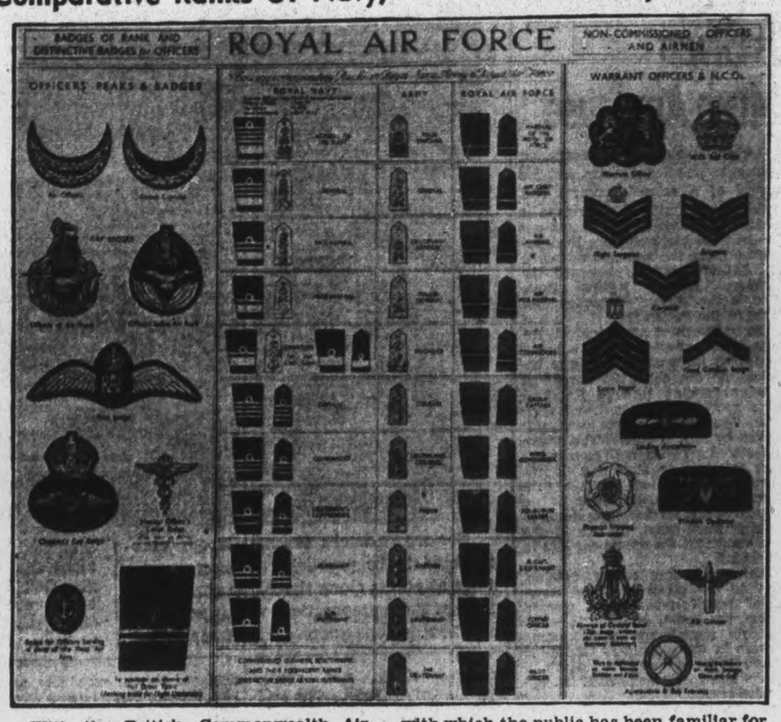
Comparative Ranks Of Navy, Air Force and Army



With the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan swinging into operation, the men and officers of the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force are being brought to the attention of the public more every day. Unlike the army ranking, with which the public has been familiar for several years, names and ranks of the air force are not so familiar to the general public. The ABOVE chart, indicating comparative ranks in the navy, army and air force was prepared for the Royal Air Force, but is applicable to the R.C.A.F.

Testing Gauges To Millionths

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP)—Born of the war and destined to die with the return of peace, a gauge inspection service has been established by the National Research Council of Canada to help Canadian manufacturers, especially those holding contracts for munitions of war.

A frigid test by government inspectors is made of the manufacturers' finished products, which must conform to the specifications of the Dominion War Supply Board.

Inaccurate gauges will pass products that should be rejected, or rejects parts actually within the tolerances, so that means for controlling the gauges themselves become very important.

The new laboratory has been equipped for inspection of gauges, which in turn are used to inspected the workshop products. As these products must in many cases be correct to one one-thousandth of an inch, the gauges controlling them must be measured to one ten-thousandth.

Again, "master" gauges are used in toolrooms and laboratories to verify other gauges just mentioned, to attain the desired precision a precision expressed in one one-hundred-thousandth, even millionths of an inch is necessary for these "master" gauges.

These "master-on-block" gauges are verified in the Meteorological laboratory of the Council, where the measurements are made optically.

Meet Challenge Dr. Thomas Says

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12. — (ENS).—Addressing a gathering of more than one hundred and fifty at a Mother and Daughter banquet in St. John's United Church here on Wednesday night, Dr. Lorna Cotton Thomas of Peterborough delivered an inspiring speech in which she emphasized the challenge the discordant world was presenting today. She claimed the challenge being offered was one which women must meet by submerging petty personal prejudices and uniting to meet the problems intensified by a fast changing world. It is by thought and endeavor that a new world democracy will be formed and not by the over-emphasis of the trivial things.

An interesting sidelight on the present European conflict was revealed in the story told by Dr. Thomas of an interchange of parcels between guards on the German-Swiss frontier. According to the speaker, the Germans either in a gesture of friendliness or more likely of protest, sent a small parcel to the guards on the Swiss side of the Alps. On opening it the Swiss asserted the contents to be more in the category of garbage than food but nevertheless sent a return package bearing the greeting, 'We give what we have.' It contained tea, butter and sugar—things which the Nazis were compelled to do without entirely or at best use substitutes of inferior quality.

At the conclusion of her remarks, Mrs. A. D. Bennett moved a hearty vote of thanks on behalf of the mothers and daughters, and Miss Dorothy Ferris presented a beautiful bouquet to the speaker. Yellow daffodils formed the principal floral decorations on the banquet tables and Mrs. G. N. Maxwell presided as chairman at the head table. Other items on the program included the toast to the King, which was proposed by Mrs. R. Fox; to the Country—Miss Marjorie Mills and Miss Helen Partridge; to the Church — Miss Nellie Hoover and Mrs. W. F. Scott; to the Mothers—Miss Eleanor Armour and Mrs. Howard Clarke; to the Daughters—Mrs. A. E. Burgiss and Mrs. D. Holmes. Mrs. Charles K. Stephen introduced the speaker.

First Bren Guns Completed 5 Months Early

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP). — Complete Bren light machine guns now are being produced at the Toronto plant of John Inglis Co., Ltd., and an additional order for parts from the British War Office assures production at top speed for many months to come.

The first Canadian-made guns now are in possession of the Department of National Defence and the armament division of the company, especially developed for Bren gun production, is running on a two-shift basis, more than five months ahead of the schedule set for fulfillment of the original Canadian order for 7,000 guns and the original British order for 5,000.

Size of the new British order is an official war secret, but the fact that the War Office has increased its original order by another for Bren gun parts was confirmed by Major James E. Hahn, president of the company, when a group of newspapermen were shown through the factory recently.

The new War Office order is on the same terms as the original, Major Hahn stated. The company receives cost of production plus 10 per cent. The actual cost per gun will be considerably less, however, as the combined original orders for 12,000 guns bear the preparatory cost of setting up the plant and getting it into production.

Production in 3 Nations.

The Bren gun, originally developed in Czecho-Slovakia, and further developed and modified at the British small arms plant in England, is the standard light machine gun for armies of the British Empire. Production now is under way in Great Britain, Canada, and Australia, and as rapidly as guns are turned out they are issued to the forces to replace the Lewis gun which was the standard light machine gun for the First Great War.

Under its original contracts, the company undertook to deliver 1,000 guns in the 12 months starting April 1, 1940. Now guns are being delivered at the start of that period and production has reached the stage it should have reached five months from now in order to permit of deliveries according to the contracts.

The armament division of the Inglis plant occupies a separate building, especially erected. A year ago, on the occasion of the last press inspection when a committee of the House of Commons investigating the contracts visited the plant, the chief work carried on was the making of tools for use in producing the gun.

Then a good part of the 83,000 odd square feet of floor space was vacant. Now it is crammed with 600 machines, each adding its small contribution to the precise and complicated job of making and assembling the 161 parts of the gun.

Some 600 employees now work in the gun factory. When production reaches its peak the number will run to between 800 and 1,000. Practically all are men. A few women are employed at machines, mainly with an eye to utilizing female labor on a larger scale should war conditions make it imperative.

Carved Out of Steel

The gun literally is carved out of blocks of steel. From 101 pounds of steel, parts weighing 18 pounds enter into the assembly of the gun. These with the wooden parts and a few parts of other materials make up the 21-pound weight of the finished gun.

As the 161 parts must fit snugly together and be interchangeable with the parts of every other Bren gun whether produced in this plant or in England or in Australia, a high degree of precision and accuracy in the cutting processes is necessary.

That means perfect tools, and tool-making and repairing sections of the plant are manned by highly skilled workers. In all more than 17,000 different fixtures, tools and gauges are required.

These are used to make and check 2,846 operations on machine. Each machine operator has at his hand the required gauges. As he completes his operation on a part of the gun he tests it with the gauges. It may be the drilling of a hole, the making of a tread, the cutting of a groove on a certain angle and to a certain depth. The gauge must fit the completed work exactly or the work is discarded.

The size of the Bluecher's crew was kept a naval secret.

Spring's Charm Dawns In War's Gloom

By GLADYS M. ARNOLD
(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, April 12—(CP)—The rainy season is in—a sort of soft misty rain which at night turns the streets into strips of black satin.

Though it is distinctly more dangerous to circulate after dark because drivers find it difficult to see pedestrians until they are upon them—still Paris has a charm and beauty it had lost when the glare of electricity turned the streets into perpetual day.

The automobile lights and street traffic signs are spots of color which give it almost a carnival air, for car lamps are in many colors, red, orange and deep yellow are favorites, but all shades of blue, green and violet bob up among them so that the Place de la Concorde with its obelisk (Cleopatra's Needle) and the fountains and then out into its many radiating streets is a constant play of interweaving colored pin-points of light reflecting in the wet pavement.

At each corner the flash of traffic red, yellow, green, add their bit; and the whirring swish as cars roll along is discreetly inter-mingled with subdued musical horns whose use until the war began was forbidden in Paris.

At each stop and start the policeman in his new white cape and shining metal helmet steps out from the sidewalk where he usually stands prudently, and where the signal light above his head alternately bathes his helmet and face, now in a glow of faustian red, and then a blur of spectral green. The effect is dramatic.

Hatless In Paris

The feeble light of the street lamps produce some strange impressions. It catches the gleam of hair, for many girls are now going hatless (a custom never practiced in Paris) there is the dry rattle of military raincoats, a flash as the gold on cuff or cap reflects the light.

But the deepest impression of all is made by the relative silence which darkness induces, and at the same time the feeling that this darkness is alive, warm and electric. On rounding a corner, one collides with a soldier embracing his girl; time is short, leave is rare, and the darkness offers such opportunities.

Across the Concorde by the Seine the naked chestnuts are black masses in whose upper branches the stars become entangled; to the left and right one feels rather than sees the mass of the Louvre, the delicate spires of St. Clotilde and the far-away shaft of the Eiffel Tower.

The wind, whipping around a corner, blows up the shawl and causes the old paper woman to crouch closer into her corner.

"Are you selling many?"

She shakes her head. "People don't want to stop—they want to get home and I guess some of them don't see me in the darkness. Some of my regular clients are gone."

"Do you find you can make enough to live?"

"I manage," she said, philosophically. "One must, it is the war."

Parisians have become accustomed to the obscurity and even those who at first described it as lugubrious have been slowly conquered by this different Paris. They stop suddenly, charmed and surprised by a night scene along the Seine, the romantic allure of a pale street lamp against the walls of an old church. "Why, it's beautiful," they say. "It's almost a pity to bring back the lights."

Census Taker Pays

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 12 (AP). —It's getting to the point where you can't even crawl into a brick kiln for a cozy night's sleep without being bothered by a census taker. But seven bums snugly slumbering in one of the kilns of the Twin City Brick Co. didn't mind at midnight last night when their privacy was thus interrupted. They put the bee on the census taker for $1 for their breakfast.

Chemical Plant Shuts At Donald

LINDSAY, April 12—(ENS). — The plant of the Standard Chemical Company, Limited, at Donald has closed down after being in operation six months. Every cord of hardwood, used in the manufacture of charcoal and alcohol, has been used the first time since 1916. Machinists, firemen and oven men from Langford Mills have returned home.

Mr. Patrick Clancy, an old resident of Ops Township, who has moved to Peterborough, where he will reside, was given a farewell by his neighbors this week. He was the recipient of a purse of money.

The death was announced in Toronto this week of John Mulhall, who was well known throughout the Midland district as a ball player. He came from the United States to Peterborough some years ago, and held down second sack for the Peterborough baseball club in the Midland League. He is survived by his wife (Bertha Doughty, formerly of Peterborough, and three children.

George Tripp, who was employed at C. Hodgson's sawmill at Redstone Lake, Haliburton County, is in the Ross Hospital in a serious condition. He was terribly crushed when a 20-foot skidway of logs on which he was standing, gave way. He was extricated from the timber in an unconscious condition.

EDMONTON GRADS TO RETURN TROPHY UPON THEIR RETIREMENT

Famous Cagers Will Quit Play In June

EDMONTON, April 12—(CP). — The Underwood women's international basketball trophy, held by the famed Edmonton Grads since it was donated in 1922, will be returned to the trophy board of trustees after June 6, when Grads, world champions, retire, Coach J. Percy Page announced here last night.

Page, who piloted his Edmonton girls through 54 Underwood series without losing a series, will send the international challenge trophy to J. L. Seitz of Toronto, chairman of the board. Grads made their last defence of the famous bowl last year rolling through Wichito (Kansas) Thurstons for three straight victories. They will not defend the trophy between now and June 6, the silver-haired coach said.

Farms Out, Too

Coincident with retirement of the Grads on their 25th anniversary, Page's farm system, one of the most successful developing chains in major sport, will disappear from the commercial graduate club of the MacDougall Commercial High School of which Page is principal.

The Gradettes, senior understudies of the Grads and present Alberta women's senior champions, Grad Clubs, junior girls, and Boy Cubs, 1940 Provincial junior men's champions, will disappear in name only. While Grads' players definitely will retire, the members of the farm teams may play with other clubs next year, Page indicated. The Boy Cubs supplied competition for the Gradettes and Grads because of lack of women's teams in this city in recent years.

St. Louis Cards Favored In National Race

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Baseball "experts" as a whole are generally agreed that the 1940 National League race will be a two-team affair, but right there the general agreement stops. They are split almost 50-50 on whether St. Louis Cardinals or Cincinnati Reds will come home in front, with a slight edge going to the St. Louis entry.

Of the 76 sports writers taking part in the Associated Press poll all but three named either the Cards or Reds in the No. 1 spot, the Cards drawing 39 first-place votes to 34 for the defending champions. One long-shot addict picked the Pirates, and two strung along with the Cubs.

Second-place ballots also were well cornered by the 1-2 teams, although nine voters picked the Cubs for the runnerup spot, six named the Giants, four the Dodgers and two the Pirates.

There the common agreement ceased, however, and it was every man for himself the rest of the way in, or at least down to the Bees and Phillies. The Phillies escaped being a unanimous last-place choice by three seventh-place votes, and the Bees escaped a similar seventh-place designation by drawing one fourth, one fifth, two sixth and three eighth-place votes.

Badminton Club Finals Staged Saturday

The Peterborough Badminton Club is down to the finals in its yearly competition now, and will wind up a successful year Saturday evening in the Market Hall, commencing at eight. The finals in ladies' singles, men's singles, ladies' doubles, men's doubles, mixed doubles and the consolations will be cleaned up this week-end. A meeting will be held later that evening for the election of officers for 1940-41.

Mary Cathcart and Maxine Troke playoff in ladies' singles, while Bob Baker and Grant Henry are finalists in the men's singles competition. Ladies' doubles will be between Marg Donoghue and Mrs. N. Rishor in one bracket and Mrs. P. Hall and Mary Cathcart in the other. In the men's doubles, it's Bill Brown and G. Bailey against the winner of the Dr. Wright and Grant Henry vs G. Tollington and A. Drynnan series. Mixed doubles see Florence Adams and Bill Brown playing Maxine Troke and Grant Henry.

Bowling At Duffus'

CITY LEAGUE

Bob Clyde and Frank Wood hit 781 each to share the top place in the City League last night. Bob also nailed a 339 single to lead Tom Martin's 320 and Nels Routley's 312.

The team results showed Gordon's away up with 3626 for four more points from Duffus Recreation, Lock Works flopped Grafton's 4-0 and Jay's took Grant's by the same count. The C.G.E. team's big 1244 in the first round was too much for Capitol Grill and they finished on the big end of a 3 to 1 score.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

A flock of charming looking femmes will be representing this city in provincial basketball finals here tomorrow night 'gainst Toronto. St. Paul's of Toronto and the local Orfuns clash at 6.30 in the Y.W. gym in the first of their two-game L.O.B.A. intermediate "B" final series, and it ought to be a sweet cage struggle. Rates a big crowd of fans, not only because it'll be a dandy duel, but the gals needs lots of support. Coach Z. Levine's squad consists of: Audrey Livingston (captain), Barb Blade, Audrey Craig, Madeline Clarke, Doris Ackford, Ruth Thompson, Marjorie Hawthorne, Ruth Ellis and Mary Ferguson. The girls and boys— and older folk—who like basketball can't miss the boat on this one.

* * * * * *

Time the Girls' Softball League was holding its annual huddle, huh? Takes a few meetings to get things going, especially when it's a district loop, and this is almost April the middle. Looks like the C.G.E. champs and Westclox will again represent Peterborough, with Brintons a possibility, too. Probably the classy Lindsay lasses will be back again, stronger than a year ago. And we wouldn't be too surprised to see one good club moulded from the players of Hastings and Keene, rather than just so-so squads from both centres. Mayhap, the call for entries will see another prospect or two hoving into view. Who knows?

* * * * * *

The Southend Setup

Only four clubs to date have signified entry into the Southend Softball League, but na doot several more will be clamoring for a spot before the next meeting, April 24th at Barrack's Store. Cogs, who won out last season, will be back and ditto the other finalist, Keene—but the Keenesters at present aren't sure of affiliating with the O.S.A. for a bye. Others in are Maple Leafs and Brintons. 'Tis said the Quakers might apply for a berth in the City Softball League. Officers in the southend setup for 1940 are: President, Art Pilling; first vice-prexy, Dave Leether; second, Fred Whalen of Keene; secretary-treasurer, Frank Maloney; with team managers on the executive.

Sarnia scribe says the Imps won't be satisfied with a three-team senior grid loop this year; it'll have to be four or none. Looks like Montreal Westmounts are in the Big Four, but Red Wilson feels that Dundas Bombers may step up to senior, along with the Imperials, Beaches and Peterborough. There is some little talk, too, of Cobourg being the fourth team—but it's all just in the talking stage as yet. Even Camp Borden has been mentioned, though Scribe Wilson says war time is no time to bank on a team from a service unit. For that matter, says he, the war may wipe out all senior football this year. Yes, it might.

A Word From Jawn

Speaking of the opening Saturday in Ottawa of the Eastern Canada intermediate "A" puck finals betwixt the locals and the Maxville Millionaires, with the last game or games in Toronto, Jack Maunder of the Ottawa Journal—he used to work in Lindsay—writes: "The big Toronto ice surface may seem a little like a lake to those intermediates. And Peterborough might object. When their natural ice went out the Petes took any games they had left to Oshawa and 1,000 fans went there from Peterborough. It is doubtful if the same number would take on the added mileage of a Toronto trip. And this intermediate series will be a local affair. If Toronto would turn out only 6,000 fans to see Blue Devils and Royals, what will the intermediates draw, coming as anti-climax to the Stanley Cup?" Just flies, Jawn, that's all.

* * * * * *

Petes had a workout in Oshawa last p.m. and seem to be in okay shape for the Maxville melee. Honey Tompkins is getting over a sore foot and Jim Ellis is nursing a lame shoulder, but both expect to be fit for Saturday's fixture. The squad leaves on the noon train—taking advantage of the cheap rate down east this week-end—Saturday and will return after the tilt Monday eve, rolling in at about their usual five a.m. touch. Arrangements have been completed whereby the C.A.H.A. and the O.H.A., between 'em, have guaranteed the Petes' expenses for the series, so the club can sit back and relax as far as the financial end of it is concerned. At least a few local fans are planning to run down to Ottawa to see the playoffs start this week-end.

Cage Title Coming?

What, another provincial championship coming here this spring? Yowzah, it appears as if St. Paul's good he-man cagers are out to repeat their O.C.B.A. intermediate "A" success of last year—when they went on to cop Eastern Canada honors. Last night in Hamilton, the local hoop aces turned in a brilliant showing in the first of their two-game final series against the Centenary Nomads of the Ambitious City, winning out 46-35. It gives 'em an 11-point lead for the return fray at eight Saturday night in the local "Y". 'Twas a fast, tight tussle with the Saints showing a bit of an edge, especially the first half—Yumpin' Yimminy Thorburn again one-handing his buddies to the win with a 22-point tally. Play was rougher in the last half, both sides collecting 14 fouls.

* * * * * *

Re-organization meeting of the Church Softball League will be held Monday, April 22nd, at seven p.m. in the "Y". Election of officers, reports and general plans for 1940 will be on the agenda. There were 23 squads in last year's loop, and another successful circuit is anticipated by President Len Agnew, who requests a big representation at the meeting. Present ossifers are: President, Len Agnew; vice-prexy, Ron Payne; secretary, Don Charlton; treasurer, Bill Begley; executive, Jack English, George Beauclerc, Byers Smith, Earl Spenceley, Mel Hunter, Nels Hewitt and Burt McFadden.

Girl Basketeers Here In The Finals

Peterborough Orfuns have made the Ontario Ladies' Basketball Association finals, in the Intermediate B Class, and will play off with St. Paul's of Toronto for the provincial title. First of the two-game series, points to count, will be staged at the Y.W.C.A. gym here this Saturday evening at 6.30 o'clock, return game being next week in Toronto. The Orfuns, sponsored entirely by the girl players themselves, took part in the local Ladies' League during the winter, playing exhibition games. They drew a bye into L.O.B.A. playdowns, defeating Belleville and then St. Catharines in Ontario semi-finals, and it is likely a big crowd of keen cage rooters will view this tilt to-morrow night.

Coach Z. Levine has a classy crew of local players in A. Livingstone, B. Blade, A. Craig, M. Clarke, D. Ackford, R. Thompson, M. Hawthorne, R. Ellis, and M. Ferguson. The Toronto team is also rated strong and a grand basketball battle is sure to result in this series.

Lazzeri Happy Over Leafs 1940 Prospects

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP). — Considering that the team finished the 1939 season far down in the standings, there is a surprising amount of optimism oozing from officials of Toronto Maple Leafs over the prospect for this year.

Although he failed to keep the team from resting in the International League cellar after he took over from Jack Burns in mid-season, Manager Tony Lazzeri is "high" on the team he will send on the field when the bell rings at Newark on April 16.

Lazzeri declares his pitching staff is the best in the league. He has six hurlers who can start a game with a fair chance of finishing, and four of them—Earl Caldwell, Carl Fischer, Johnny Pezzullo, and Jim Walkup—have been in the business quite some time and don't scare easily.

The other two starters are Phil Marchildon, Pefietanguishene, Ont., product who played his first organized baseball last year, and Jim Reninger, the six-foot-three right-hander who saw service with Baltimore and Philadelphia. Better things may be expected of both these young fellows, as Marchildon has a year of experinecet behind him, plus some benefit from the teachings of the new coach, Sad Sam Jones.

Two Good Reliefers.

Slated for relief and fill-in work are John Berley and Walter Lanfranconi. Berly wound up last season with the best earned-run average of any AA pitcher. Also given a chance to stay up is young Ralph Hammond, from Guelph, Ont., who is making his first appearance in pro ball this year. Jones insists the boy has the makings of a fine pitcher.

Lazzeri had expected to go through with an outfield made up of Mel Mazzera, Eric Tipton, John Tyler, with Buffalo last year, and Billy Southworth, but an injury to Mazzera forced a change in plans. So Buddy Bates was brought from Boston Bees to fill the gap. Bates hit .321 with Memphis last year and is reported by Lazzeri's scout friends to be sure-fire AA ability.

Calgary Thumps Bear Cats For 6-4 Win

CALGARY, April 12—(CP). — Calgary Stampeders and Port Arthur Bear Cats leave today for Port Arthur where the Cats, defending the Canadian Senior hockey championship they won in Montreal last year must make a desperate bid to avert 1940 elimination before their home supporters Monday.

Stampeders are within a game of giving Calgary its first Western senior title as a result of their 6-4 victory here last night in the fourth game of the best-of-five series. The Albertans now have two victories to one for Ports, with one game tied, and Stampeders need only a tie on Monday to qualify for the Allan Cup final against either Kirkland Lake Blue Devils or Montreal Royals.

If Ports win on Monday, 10 minutes overtime will be played and if a series winner is still undeclared, a sixth game will be played in Port Arthur, the date to be decided later, Prof. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, President of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced here last night.

Cats Wilt in Third

Bear Cats set a blistering pace for two periods last night, and then wilted before the sustained attack of the rugged and finely-conditioned Stampeders.

A capacity crowd of 6,000 saw Port Arthur go ahead 1-0 in the first period only to have Calgary rally to tie the count at 3-3 in the second. Midway through the third, Stampeders had gained a 6-3 lead and the tire Bear Cats rallied but only got one goal in the face of persistent checking.

Tony Desmarais, wiry little Calgary centre, celebrated the signing of a contract as golf professional at Inglewood course here by scoring two goals, the pair that sent Stampeders int oa safe lead in the third.

Dave Duchak, another pivot player, also counted twice and other marksmen for the Alberta champions were Tommy Dewar and Cam Burke.

Port Arthur goals were shot by Waikko Koivisto, Bert Laprade, Norm Wright, and Bones McCormack.

SPORT BRIEFS

WASHINGTON. — For a club that has been billed as short on power, the Nats have been doing nicely of late. Salting away their eighth straight victory yesterday at the expense of Boston Bees, they again demonstrated that they had the punch when it counted.

Fans are beginning to take Manager Bucky Harris seriously when he says this is the best Washington team since the 1925 pennant winners.

Int.-Am. League Piling Up Large Profits

TORONTO, April 12—If there is anything wrong with professional hockey, you can't prove it by the International-American League, the most prosperous minor organization to operate in the world's fastest sport in many years.

For the season just closed the International - American League grossed approximately $750,000, according to President Maurice Podoloff, who was a Toronto visitor Wednesday. This sum doesn't include playoff receipts.

"Only Cleveland, Philadelphia and Syracuse showed any decrease in attendance or box office receipts for the 1939-40 season," Mr. Podoloff said. "Cleveland's drop was about five per cent, and you couldn't consider that serious, since the Cleveland Arena holds all existing records for minor professional hockey receipts."

All-Time Mark

Podoloff pointed out that there was nothing wrong with a sport that had enabled Pittsburg to set an all-time record for receipts for a single game and also for a season's schedule. "The last playoff game between Providence and Pittsburg in Pittsburg grossed just short of $8,000, according to Owner John Harris. That tops any previous high in a city that has had experience with both major and minor professional hockey and highly developed amateur hockey."

Al Sutphin, president of the Cleveland Hockey Club; John Harris of the Pittsburg Club, and President Podoloff comprised a committee of three that sat in on a lengthy conference here Wednesday with President Frank Calder of the National League; Art Ross of Boston Bruins, and Lester Patrick of New York Rangers. The conference was arranged to deal with details in connection with the renewal of a working agreement between the National League and the International-American League. The agreement deals, among other things, with the $7,500 draft price that the minor league gets for players drafted by the majors; the $500 paid by the majors for each referee graduated to the National League; and numerous other items in connection with reserve lists and negotation lists of players.

"Our present agreement with the National League does not expire until next January, 1941," Mr. Podoloff said, "but we felt that the time was opportune to start negotiating for a new agreement, to run five years. The present agreement was made for a five-year period."

President Podoloff declared that Wednesday's meeting with President Calder and his agreement committee of Art Ross and Lester Patrick was a most satisfactory one. The minor league hockey head was emphatic in denying that there was any serious breach between the two organizations, or any anticipation of one.

Asked about the Buffalo franchise situation, Podoloff declared that there had been so much work in connection with spring playoffs that no attempt had been made to handle the problem. "The case will probably have to wait for a month or two," he said.

Whoopee!

Although she has not long been a devotee of the sport of bowling, Renne Gettel, show girl, obviously gets a kick out of the pin game. The speedray, which stops action at 1/100,000th of a second, catches the ball before it hits the alley, and also catches Renee shouting "whoopee" or words to that effect.

Kerr Unbeatable Patrick Hero In 2-1 Leaf Loss

TORONTO, April 12. — (CP) — Probably the hockey students will discuss as long as the game endures the noble experiment that didn't quite work for Toronto Maple Leafs in the fifth contest of Stanley Cup finale.

New York Rangers scored a 2-1 victory after 31 minutes of overtime last night against a Toronto team that had been given an astonishing infusion of new blood in an attempt to swing the cup series. The Broadway Blues took a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven round after losing the third and fourth games.

Murray (Muzz) Patrick, son of Manager Lester Patrick of the Rangers, fired the winning goal in the second 20-minute period of overtime play on a breakaway with Neil Colville from a Toronto attack that had endured almost since the end of the regular 60 minutes. That sudden-death goal spelled the upsetting of a bold gamble by Manager Conny Smythe and Coach Dick Irvin of the Leafs.

Muzz Patrick

"If Toronto had won, Smythe and Irvin would have been hailed as heroes and master-minds," Manager Patrick said afterward. "To me, their strategy will always seem smart, no matter who takes the series."

Use Taylor and Metz

Billy Taylor and Don Metz, just back from finishing the International-American league finals with Pittsburgh, were called upon to replace Robert (Red) Heron and Sweeney Schriner on the Toronto forward line. Reg. Hamilton and Wilfred (Bucko) McDonald played in place of captain Red Horner and Jack Church on the defence.

The decision to break up a winning combination brought new life to the Toronto attack and the Leafs outshot their opponents 47 to 31. But in the end the only Toronto goal was scored on a fluke when a Ranger player tried to clear the puck.

Neil Colville sent the visitors ahead in the first period on a relay from his brother, Mac, and Alex Shibicky, who played with an injured foot frozen by drugs.

In the second Mac Colville came close to making himself the goat of the series when, in attempting to knock aside a shot by Syl Apps, he drove the puck into his own net to tie the score.

The tie held and the Leafs were almost constant aggressors through the third and through a period of overtime. Then Patrick, whose goal broke up a game with Boston's National League champions in the semi-finals, found the net soon after returning from serving a minor penalty.

For all their margin on the attack, the Leafs couldn't penetrate the armor of goalie Dave Kerr with a shot of their own making. Their main consolations lay in the fact that four of their stars have been rested for the sixth game tomorrow and the remainder of the series is to be played here.

Petes Nab First By 46-35 From Hamilton

HAMILTON, April 12 — (CP). — Peterborough Intermediates defeated Hamilton Centenary Nomads 46-35 last night in the first game of the Ontario church basketball finals. Thorburn, diminutive forward, scored field goals from any angle, shooting all his baskets one-handed.

Peterborough took a slight lead at the start of the game, getting points on a very fast break. They gradually increased their lead to a 27-19 advantage at the rest period.

During the second half, the Peterborough team outscored the Nomads 19-16, winning the game by 11 points. The Smith brothers along with Ted Jocelyn and Gord Moffat starred for the Hamilton team, while Thorburn, Gemmell, and McPherson were best for the winners.

38 English Clubs To Tangle Over Weekend

LONDON, April 12 (CP Cable)—Cup soccer provides the major attraction on the United Kingdom's sport card at the weekend. The preliminary round of the football league war cup will bring together 38 English third division clubs, grouped along geographical lines, and semi-finals will be played in the Scottish wartime cup competition.

English teams have been divided into two northern and two southern groups for the preliminary stage to cut down travelling expense. Crystal Palace, Norwich City and Chester drew byes into subsequent rounds, but such well-known clubs as Derby County, Aston Villa; Exeter City, Ipswich Town and Tranmere Rovers are not participating in the tournament.

Highlight of the Scottish fixtures is the meeting of the Rangers and Motherwell with odds slightly favoring Rangers. In the other semi-final Airdrieonians and Dundee United clash after showing surprising strength in earlier rounds. The former played three 3rd round battles with the powerful Hearts of Edinburgh, finally winning 4-3.

Rangers, leading the Scottish west regional group, have played strongly to amass 33 points this season. Motherwell is in fourth place in the group, six points behind.

Regular group schedules generally will be abbreviated owing to cup play but the major leaguers in South "C" perform as usual for London fans. West Ham United, the pacemaker, is expected to take Brentford's measure, the more so because of a 2-1 triumph over Arsenal early in the week.

The draw for the preliminary round of the Football League Cup follows:

South A

Southend U. vs. Queen's Park R.
Brighton vs. Clapton Orient.
Northampton vs. Watford.
Mansfield vs. Notts County.

South B

Bristol Rovers vs. Aldershot.
Cardiff City vs. Reading.
Bournemouth vs. Bristol City.
Port Vale vs. Walsall.
Swindon Town vs. Torquay U.

North A

Southport vs. Oldham Athletic.
New Brighton vs. Crewe Alex.
Rochdale vs. Accrington Stanley.
Barrow vs. Carlisle United.
Wrexham vs. Stockport County.

North B

York City vs. Bradford City.
Hartlepool vs. Halifax Town.
Darlington vs. Gateshead.
Hull City vs. Lincoln City.
Doncaster Rovers vs. Rotherham.

Kirkland Beats Royals 3-1

MONTREAL, April 12 — (CP) — The lights along the road to the Allan Cup final all shone "green" to-day for Kirkland Lake Blue Devils, with the speedsters from Northern Ontario needing only one more victory to complete the ousting of Montreal Royals in the best-of-five Eastern Canadian senior hockey final.

A crowd of 10,707 fans watched the Blue Devils outfight, outcheck and outscore Royals in the second game last night. The score was 3-1. The Blue Devils won the first game by the same count.

Thus the Northern Ontario club needs only one more victory to win the round, with the right to represent the section in the Allan Cup final against either Port Arthur Bear Cats or Calgary Stampeders. The Blue Devils left the impression that they'll end the series at Toronto on Saturday afternoon in three straight games.

The Blue Devils came from behind to gain their victory. Johnny Acheson sent the Royals ahead with less than two minutes of the first period gone when he fired a 25-footer into the net.

The Blue Devils went ahead with goals in the second period by Hal Cooper and Johnny McCreedy. Dick Kowcinak put the game away with a score on a breakaway late in the third period.

Three major penalties were handed out in a hectic third period, two going to Defenceman Andy Anton of the Royals and the other to Coach Lex Cook, Kirkland Lake defenceman. Anton drew his first for slashing Cook over the head suddenly, almost knocking out the giant Kirkland Lake player.

Twenty seconds from the end Cook and Anton became engaged in another scrap when the Royals' player, sitting on the players' bench, spoke to Cook, who was skating along the board.

Sticks swung hard for a moment and then Centreman Buddy O'Connor of Royals tangled with Cook and Anton leaped to the ice. Twenty-five to 30 spectators climbed out on to the ice surface, but contented themselves with roles of spectators. Cook and Anton drew majors for their part in the general melee.

men, who were in Norway when Germany struck last Tuesday.

Six German planes were said to have bombed Freidrickstad, north of Oslo, where British planes also were observed.

King Haakon and Crown Prince Olaf were said to have ducked to cover with only three minutes' leeway yesterday before a German air squadron bombed Bybergsund, near the Swedish frontier, and apparently a headquarters of Norway's army.

This headquarters is believed now to have been shifted again since the air attack by five German planes which bombed and machine-gunned the village.

The whole Norwegian administration was said to have been concentrated there in crowded quarters, using chairs and the floor for beds and sharing a common table.

The King, Prince Olav and Prime Minister Johan Nygaardsvold were eating when the first of three alarms sounded. They dashed immediately to automobiles outside.

Three minutes later the first bombs set the village school aflame. The whole population—about 100—scurried to the woods. Small children were hidden under sheets in the deep snow to conceal them from the raiders.

A second wave of three planes dropped to less than 400 feet above the woods and machine-gunned the villagers.

When the raiders left 1½ hours later, the King and Crown Prince jumped from their cars and ran to the woods where Olav helped with first aid. Several persons were injured.

Both Elverum, 35 miles to the south, and Hamar, where the government first fled from Oslo, were in flames early today and many Norwegian towns were reported bombed.

Two persons were killed, many were hurt and numerous buildings set afire at Elverum, twice-raided yesterday.

Kongsvinger, about 125 miles northeast of Oslo, also was bombed. German and Norwegian troops fought at several points west of Kongsvinger and at Eidsvold, half way between Oslo and Hamar.

Swedish correspondents in Norway emphasized the envelopment tactics of the hastily mobilized Norwegian forces.

Germans Trapped

They said the Germans at Elverum were trapped "in a sack" with bridges burned behind them and that it was only a question of hours before they would be wiped out.

Near Kongsvinger, too, they said, the Germans were caught in a bottleneck and a pitched battle was believed imminent. Among the Germans fighting there was the prize crew taken last fall from the United States steamship City of Flint. They were released from interment on orders from the German command, but the commander who released them was reported arrested by Norwegian volunteers.

The Norwegian volunteers, some of them untrained peasants and men who had time only to grab shotguns and join the colors, were reported methodically blasting bridges to obstruct the Germans, and fortifying every possible defence point not in Nazi hands.

Indications of how completely Norway was surprised by the German action included a report that when mobilization was ordered on Tuesday, Norwegian officers and soldiers could not reach concentration centres before several had been occupied by Germans.

German Strategy

A clue to how it was done was seen here in a dispatch reporting a conversation yesterday with an officer outside barracks in Oslo. He spoke fluent Norwegian, wore a Norwegian uniform and was German.

When German reinforcements landed at Moss, on Oslo Fjord below the Norwegian capital, they commandeered buses and private automobiles for the overland trip up to Oslo.

One report said they drove through Norwegian guard lines, the guards never suspecting that the invaders would arrive in interurban buses and private cars with Norwegian license plates.

Although the reported landing at Moss indicated that some Germans still were reaching Norway by water, Swedish newspaper reports said that the army of occupation was being augmented by aerial transports operating from new Danish bases.

naval fighting in Trondheim fjord, with British and German aircraft also engaged. There were no details.

Stavanger Bombed

That Britain already was harrying the Nazis on the Norwegian coast was confirmed by the air ministry, which announced two attacks on Germans at Stavanger airdrome, southwest Norway.

Gas Supplies Fired

The Germans suffered much damage ,including destruction of gasoline supplies, it said, but one British plane was lost.

Once landings are effected, the Allies' task is to push inland, ousting German garrisons as they go, before the Germans can solidify their positions.

Norwegian troops are expected to aid greatly in isolating the German units, for in that rugged country rail communications can be cut or roads ruined in a single night by few men with sufficient dynamite.

The Norwegian valleys, ancient routes of invaders, are densely wooded and offer concealment for expeditionary forces striking southward from Trondheim toward the most populous parts of Norway.

Neutral experts expressed belief that the Allies could cut the country in two from Tronheim to the Swedish border, then shove a line southward on a country-wide front.

Norwegian riflemen and possibly the mountain - trained French Chasseurs D'Alpine were regarded as necessary aids to such a movement.

The experts pointed out that Narvik was too far north to be used as a primary base, although they said the Norwegian army, reported fighting east of there, should be able to recapture it, possibly with aid from naval units.

Bergen ,on the south, is considered a necesary naval port, but there are indications that the Allies do not regard it as a good base for land operations.

per cent of her egg imports and 60 per cent of her pork imports. Britain also obtained large supplies of ore, whale oil, fish, hides and fur from Norway.

"There is no doubt that the German market will be able to absorb without trouble all the supplies which Denmark and Norway formerly sold to Britain," the newspaper Dient Aus Deutschland said.

The same commentary added: "There is no doubt that Germany assumes not only military but economic obligations toward both countries," it declared.

Spokesmen said that the details of economic relations had not yet been worked out, but it was expected that a trade commission would depart soon for Copenhagen to study the Danish situation.

Some Trouble Here

While the Germans were confident of their ability to absorb the export trade of Norway and Denmark, their recognized that both countries are heavy importers and acknowledged that the Reich cannot supply all their demands.

Informed sources said that Germany could supply Norway with coal, chemicals and machinery. For other imports such as textiles, foodstuffs and minerals, these sources said, Norway "will of course remain dependent on the supplies she is able to import outside the British sea war zone and mine blockade."

Denmark is virtually in the same boat as regards imports, but it was claimed she should be assured of cattle feed and other grains because of Germany's access to the Balkans.

Dienst Aus Deutschland observed that under the new situation it will be "a difficult problem" to keep busy the Norwegian merchant fleet, one of the largest in the world.

Official sources remained silent on progress of military operations in Norway, asserting that to "divulge all details would be to give information to the enemy."

Claim Attack Prepared

Today's German high command communique said light British naval units supported by airplanes yesterday attempted unsuccessfully to penetrate Trondheim fjord.

The communique claimed that the attack failed and the airplanes were repulsed.

The communique said:

"The day passed quietly in Denmark.

"Patrol flights of the air force along the Danish west coast disclosed no enemy there.

"In Norway, the German-occupied region was expanded from Narvik. Elveness was occupied. No fighting occurred there. An attack by British planes in the Trondheim region was successfully repulsed.

"In the afternoon, light English naval forces made unsuccessful attempts to enter into Trondheim fjord. A raid of British torpedo planes at the same time remained without effect.

"Further Norwegian coastal batteries, taken over near Trondheim, were put into shape for defence.

"The day passed quietly in occupied regions around Bergen, Stavanger and Kristiansand. Expected attacks did not occur with the exception of an unsuccessful British air raid on Stavanager. One Vickers-Wellington plane there was shot down by anti-aircraft artillery.

"German troops in the Oslo region expanded their occupation in all directions on schedule.

Some Repetition

"The navy continued operations April 11. As previously reported, two English destroyers were sunk off Narvik.

"Units of the air force supported German troops in Norway through numerous reconnaissance and patrol flights.

"In newly-established air and naval bases numerous anti-aircraft batteries have been ready for action since noon (Wednesday) April 10.

"Reconnaissance planes patrolled the sea regions of the Norwegian coast and advanced far into the northern North Sea, watching movements of enemy naval forces.

"On the basis of reconnaissance results, a fighting plane unit in the evening hours attacked enemy warships 200 kilometres (about 125 miles) northwest of Trondheim. One airplane carrier was severely damaged by square hits with heavy calibre air bombs. One heavy cruiser was struck by two bombs and incapacitated.

"In the west, no special events. Air reconnaissance over north and central France April 11 extended as far as Paris. Two of our planes failed to return.

tain," he said. "The attack must come from the flank, since the Maginot Line is too strong. Norway is the flank."

Out Temporarily.

Poland is down temporarily, but not out, according to the general, who expressed complete satisfaction with the manner in which Great Britain and France discharged their obligations to his stricken country.

The understanding between Poland and the Western Powers, he said, was that : soon as Germany attacked Poland Great Britain and France would mobilize and that within 12 days after the attack they would occupy the first outposts of the Siegfried Line.

That had been done. Poland was a long way from Britain and France and it was never contemplated that they should send forces to Poland to help fight the German forces.

General Haller held no command in the German-Polish campaign, but his son fought in the defence of Warsaw and is now an officer in the Polish Army in France while his first cousin, General Stanislaus Haller, was Chief of the Polish General Staff, and is now in a Russian prison.

Where Reich Charges Dynamite Plot

A view of the gorgeous blue Danube where it races through the granite gorge in the grandiose Kasan Pass at Galati, Rumania. It is at this point, according to German propaganda, that British agents had plotted to block the river by causing an avalanche with dynamite. The idea behind the alleged plot, the Nazis said, was to cut Germany's vital supply line from the Black Sea. Today Germany demanded that Balkan nations submit to policing of the river along its entire length by German patrols. The river gorge shown here is the so-called "iron gate" of the Danube.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign Drive For $15,000 Gets Under Way

$8,000 Is Being Sought For Work Of Y.M.C.A. In Peterborough; $7,000 For Its War Activities

"Anything we do, who stay at home, fades into insignificance in the light of the sacrifice of those who go overseas to fight for us," was the trumpet call of H. M. Long, outstanding Montreal business man, as he opened the Y.M.C.A.'s war drive in Peterborough district Thursday night. Addressing a meeting of the county's leaders, all members of the campaign committee, he urged the importance of collecting every last dollar that the association seeks to carry on its war effort. The Y.M.C.A. is seeking $8,000 for the local budget, and $7,000 for the national war drive. A total of 120 workers are participating, representing many of the city's outstanding business and professional men.

This is a war for things eternal, waged against an enemy of God, and unless a miracle happens, it will be a long and terrible conflict in which, before victory is assured, "we will be called upon to make sacrifices far greater than any we have yet been asked," he forecast during his address.

Mr. Long impressed upon his listeners the importance of obtaining every last penny of the sum asked, and related that its total had been reached, not by idle guess, but by statistics sought and checked by competent business men as being the absolute minimum with which the work could be carried on.

Small Gifts Count

The influential people of the country, the men who are trained to know the value of any effort, are behind the "Y" drive in solid formation, he revealed, stating that on Wednesday night in Montreal, R. Y. Eaton had donated $25,000 to the campaign. A telegram reached him in Peterborough shortly before he made his address, and which he read, that revealed that John H. Molson of Montreal had donated $10,000. "But," he warned, "in the final analysis, it will be the smaller gifts that will place this campaign over the top." He urged campaign members to seek out small gifts to the limit of their ability.

Mr. Long said that the figure of $1,038,000 had been arrived at after long investigation and consultation, as the absolute minimum with which the Y.M.C.A. could carry out its policy of co-operation in the war. "It is not a mythical figure, but is based upon actual information," he declared. Of the amount, $470,000 will be spent for services in Canada, and $568,000 will be spent among soldiers abroad.

When campaigners go out in Peterborough and district to make their collections, they will be among the 13,650 men of high purpose who

CHEESE REFRIGERATION

Killarney cheese factory in the Norwood area is installing an electric refrigeration plant to maintain an average temperature of 50 degrees in its cooling room throughout the summer.

A QUICK CHANGE

"You had me working on the lawn yesterday; here I am today shovelling snow," said Dick Ford, sexton of St. John's Church this morning as he cleaned a down town sidewalk of snow that had appeared there during the night.

NO SERIOUS ACCIDENTS

Although driving conditions Thursday night were about the worst in months with the road surface slippery and visibility limited because of the heavy snowfall motorists seem to have been on their best behavior as no serious accidents have been reported.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

The Peterborough Chamber of Agriculture will begin another phase of its activities with the directors' meeting Saturday afternoon in the office of F. C. Paterson. The main business will be the election of officers.

TO CHOOSE CONSTABLE

The regular meeting of the police commission which should in the ordinary course of events be held next Tuesday has been shifted until a week from then. At that session a new police constable will be selected from the four candidates chosen from a field of 44 by the commission at its last meeting.

WELL KNOWN HERE

King Cameron, 24-yead-old Bell Telephone employee who was killed in a car accident at Baden, near Kitchener early this week, was well known here. He worked at Peterborough during the period when the changeover from manual to dial was being made and went to Woodstock last November. His father, Donald Cameron, was district plant superintendent at Peterborough for three years, being transferred to Woodstock a year ago.

LOOKED LIKE WINTER

Storekeepers were busy shovelling their sidewalks this morning, with somewhat surprised and even disgusted expressions on their faces. "I put my snow scraper in moth balls a few days ago," remarked A. M. Ward, grocer at the corner of Aylmer and McDonnel streets as he stopped shovelling to let a pedestrian pass. "It looks like winter again."

SNOWPLOWS OUT

Local men who had the contract for removing snow from the city streets during the winter had thought their work was finished. Last night's whirl of snowflakes laid a blanket of white 2¾ inches thick and the snow plows were needed again. Song sparrows were trilling and even blackbirds were sending their shrill calls out over the fairyland of snow, early today indicating perhaps that this is Old Man Winter's last frost breath before he retires for six months.

STRONG WRAPPING NEEDED

Parcels for soldiers overseas should be carefully wrapped, Postmaster Lacheur advised today. Flimsy wrapping is causing difficulty in deliverinng parcels overseas. Several layers of heavy paper, and strong twine should be used, and as an extra safeguard a slip should be enclosed bearing the name and address of the sender and complete name and address of the soldier to whom the parcel is being sent; also the words "c-o Base Post Office, Canada."

BEAUTY SPOT GONE

Residents of the southwest corner of the city are going to miss Al Spencely's expanse of flowers this year. Ani item in the classified section of the Examiner announced his sale of bulbs and plants, and enquiry from Mr. Spencely brought the information simply that he had to give up the garden. The grand show of annuals and perennials, including a colorful expanse of gladioli, is going to be "blacked out," and folks passing that way are likely to wonder why Mr. Spencely suddenly had to give up a pastime in which he found a great delight.

ATTENDING FUNERAL

Sara Bingham, widow of Charles S. Bunnell, passed away Tuesday in St. Cloud, Minn. Mr. Bunnell was a brother of the late A. K. Bunnell, Brantford City Treasurer for many years, and his wife was one of a well-known early family of Brantford. The deceased will arrive by C.N.R. train early Friday afternoon and interment will take place in Mount Hope Cemetery, Brantford. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. K. Bunnell, Hunter Street West, Peterborough, are in Brantford attending the funeral; the late Mrs. Bunnell being an aunt of Mr. Bunnell.

COLLIDES WITH BUS

An automobile driven by W. E. Gallagher, Dummer and a city bus, in charge of H. C. Meekin came into collision at the interesection of Monaghan Road and Weller street Thursday. The bus was moving south on Monaghan Road and the other car travelling east on Weller street. The bus was struck at the rear and the right rear fender was torn off and the hub cap bent. The Dummer car was damaged around the front by the impact.

Man Pleads Guilty To False Pretences

James Pearson who was charged Thursday with obtaining money under false pretences pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning after the information had been amended to describe the document in the case as a bill of exchange rather than a cheque.

"I didn't know I was doing wrong," Pearson told the court in asking for suspended sentence. "I have a steady job to go to up north," he added, remarking that he was drinking when the offence was committe.

Magistrate Langley pointed out to him that the offence he had pleaded guilty to was the uttering of a forged document.

"When you get into the field of forgery you run into severe penalties," he said. "The maximum for the offence is life imprisonment."

Pearson was remanded for sentence until next week.

At Opening Of Y.M.C.A. Drive

Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, was a teacher in the famed Khaki University in the last war, it became known Thusday night when H. M. Long, prominent Montreal business executive, addressed the opening meeting of the Y's war drive here. Mr. Long told the meeting of the work that had been done by those teachers and after the meeting Father Kelly and he had quite a chat about it, as this picture shows. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

Y.M.C.A. Canteen Always Found Close To The Front Lines

Lt.-Col. Clair H. Stuart, one of the campaign chairmen in the Y.M.C.A. drive for $15,000 gave the soldiers' point of view toward the Y in the last war, when he addressed the Kinsmen Club briefly at the regular meeting Thursday evening.

Colonel Stuart saw twenty-two months of active service in France in World War I in the Royal Canadian Artillery and his talk was not only an outline of the splendid work done by the Y.M.C.A. during the war but was also an appeal to those present to give their assistance in reaching the monetary objective.

"Without belittling any other service organization which catered to the needs of the soldiers in the last war, I can truthfully say that the Y.M.C.A. did as much if not more than any other similar group, as far as giving comforts and service to the troops, more especially to those actually in the fighting line," he said.

"The 'Y' canteens were located closer to the front than any others and on several occasions including one time amid the ruins of Ypres, when we were coming out after being relieved we found a Y hut where they served hot tea, coffee, and cocoa with biscuits and took no pay. At Passchendaele and Hill 70, Y.M.C.A. workers were nearer the actual fighting than any other unit, and one of their canteens was blown up by artillery fire.

No Overcharging

"Some soldiers argued that the Y gave nothing away, but I must say they did not ask for pay in the actual fighting zone where coffee and biscuits were really appreciated. At other spots they made the usual charge, and did not not overcharge. After all a soldier received $1.10 a day and he had this for his spending money.

"There was a place for every organization in the last war and their services will be needed just as badly in this one.

"In peace time membership fees are kept at a minimum so that the majority may take advantage of the facilities for healthful recreation and exercise. Any one who uses the local Y know they get good value for their money."

Aided Troop Sports

Vern Selkirk, president of the Kinsmen Club and also an ex-serviceman added that the Y supplied bats, baseballs, footballs and other sports equipment and also provided entertainment behind the lines which helped keep up the morale of the troops and cost money to arrange. "I quite agree with Col. Stuart in what he says about the Y canteens being up close to the line."

Dr. Ralph Honey introduced Lt.-Col. Stuart and the speaker was given a cordial reception by the members of the club.

Four Men Appear On Liquor Charges

A series of liquor charges all more or less linked together was reeled off in police court this morning, as the result of city and provincial police activity Thursday.

Geoffrey Feeley of Peterborough was charged with keeping liquor for sale and pleaded not guilty. He was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C.

Neither side was ready to go on this morning and the accused was remanded by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., until April 18, bail being fixed at $500.

Harry Ingles, 44-year-old Norwood horseman also pleaded not guilty to a similar charge. He was arrested Thursday night by Provincial Constable John A. Rogers and Constable Bruce Menzies after they had searched his house.

Ingles was remanded until Monday, April 22, on bail of $500.

Arising out of the other cases Charles Carson and Charles Quinlan were charged with illegal possession of liquor and without pleading had their cases adjourned until next week.

HOT WATER MYSTERY

FOLKESTONE, England — (CP). —The skeleton of a man lying on a hot water bottle, which still contained water, was found in a bush here by two boys. The man had been dead at least two years, police said.

Peterborough Boy Served at Front 30 Months Lost Life Working In Y.M.C.A. Hut

Proof of the Y.M.C.A.'s claim that it did not remain content to stay far behind the front lines in the last war, but maintained its service beside men who were fighting, is to be found in Peterborough itself. For among the names of honored dead on the Peterborough war memorial, is the name of one who was doing such work when he met his death.

He was Reg Heaslip, son of Mrs. P. J. Heaslip, 541 Gilmour street. Reg enlisted in the 31st Battalion whose headquarters were in Winnipeg, early in the war. He had the remarkable record of being in every engagement in which his outfit took part in France, from the fall of 1915 to the spring of 1918, and was never wounded. Any man who saw active service knows that such a record is a rare one, and so when a cushy" job opened in the Y.M.C.A. hut, the officer commanding his unit saw to it that Reg got it.

The job was one that was considered a soft spot—given as a reward for service of the highest order to his country. Yet less than a month later, Reg Heaslip, who had gone unscathed through two and a half years of front line warfare, was dead. He was killed when a German shell exploded in the Y.M.C.A. hut in which he was working. That is how close to the front the Y.M.C.A. was working in the last war.

Milf Hardill told that story today. He knows it intimately because he was a close friend of Reg. Heaslip and frequently ran across him in his Y.M.C.A. work. Once Reg. managed to get him a supply of baseballs for his unit and when Mr. Hardill learned of his death, he took out one of those same baseballs and kept it, returning it to Reg.'s mother when he returned to Peterborough in 1919, after carrying it with him for close to a year.

Late Spring Is Holding Back Building Houses

Adverse weather conditions may cause headaches for building contractors in this district who have contracts to build several houses this Spring. Under the term of the Dominion Housing Act, the cellar excavation must be made, and concrete footings in place before May 30, if the owner is to have his taxes reduced for three years, and many home buildings wish to take advantage of this clause.

So far not one cellar has been started because the frost is not out of the ground and there is so much surface water that working conditions would be distressing. It takes from two days to a week to excavate a cellar, depending on the formation. If a contractor runs into hardpan, it sometimes takes the week.

The Dominion Housing Act is again enjoying considerable popularity among local people and indications this year are that about forty homes will go up under this plan. Many wish to get an early start and it is thought that once suitable building weather arrives, excavating contractors and cement contractors will be hard put to meet time schedules.

Tommy Doughty, local contractor, who has contracted to dig several cellars, says he has not been able to start any as yet, but expects to have his crews working within ten days.

Rotary Sponsors Swine Club

Following a recent address on boys' work by E. A. Summers, Bowmanville, agricultural representative in Durham, Port Hope Rotary Club has decided to sponsor a boys' swine club in East Durham.

The Rotarians will buy twenty pure-bred weanling sow pigs which will be distributed among ten junior farmers under Mr. Summers' direction. The pigs will likely cost the Rotary Club about nine dollars each.

Each members of the boys' swine club will be required to keep feed accounts, study management of swine and show his pair of sows at an achievement day held next fall at the Port Hope Fair. In 1941 and succeeding years the Swine Club member must return a pair of weanling pigs which will be given to a new member who will be one of a new club of ten members.

In 1939 the Rotary and Lions' Clubs of Bowmanville bought sixteen pigs for boys' club work in West Durham. As a result of that beginning there will be sixteen pigs returned by the boys in a few weeks for a 1940 club. The two Bowmanville clubs are buying an extra four pigs this Spring which will bring the total to twenty.

In both east and west Durham the service clubs have sponsored a perpetual swine club, which will mean a total of forty weanling sow pigs to be distributed each year.

Mr. Summers told the Examiner a few days ago that in the course of a few years this project should place Durham on the map as one of the highest quality swine producing countries. He was grateful to the Rotary and Lions' Clubs of Bowmanville and the Rotary Club of Port Hope for their practical interest in the welfare of young farmers of Durham county.

Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission. Warden John McColl and nearly all the members of the county council were present.

Successful Blockade Of Germany Bring Country To Its Knees In Six Months Kinsmen Are Told

A successful blockade of Germany would bring the country to its knees in six months because even in peace times there is a decided shortage of nutritious foods, a high ranking officer in German Army told Dr. and Mrs. William Watson of Toronto when they toured Europe in 1938.

This information was given the Kinsmen Club at their regular meeting in the Empress Hotel Thursday evening by Mr. Watson who was guest speaker. The speaker is the author of two best sellers, a lawyer and a world traveller. An accident at birth deprived him of the use of both hands, so he uses his right foot as anyone would use their hand, to eat with, hold a cigarette or to write.

His speech was one of the finest ever delivered to the Kinsmen and was highlighted by several titmely stories that brought roars of laughter.

European Survey Made.

Dr. Watson and his wife went to Europe to make a survey of training centres for the physically handicapped with a view to having similar institutions established in Canada, and his observations while making this survey were interesting.

His speech was entitled "Why Worry" and went on to prove that Canadians had little to worry about on the outcome of the war, as everything pointed to Hitler's defeat.

'We found a tremendous hatred for Germany in all of the countries of Middle Europe, and in Belgium a man refused to forward a letter when he learned we were going to Berlin. We also found a very noticeable pro-British feeling.

I am certain that Hungary favors Great Britain and France and will lean toward an alliance with with them.

'When in Germany we found the people very kind and hospitable and while there an army officer remarked that a successful blockade would bring Germany to her knees in six months, because of a lack of nutritious foods. There is no state of hunger but there is a dangerous state of undernourishment. In recent years since the advent of the Nazi regime the quality of the food has fallen considerably. Dysentry has jumped 300 per cent, and there is a marked increase in ptomaine poisoning cases and tuberculosis. A regrettable feature too is that the Germans exploit the tubercular people by prescribed labor and if they can't work, they are ruthlessly eliminated.

Increase in Disease.

"There is an alarming increase in the number of cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria among young people. In 1933 there were 79,000 cases of scarlet fever and in 1938 this had jumped to 117,000. Rickets is common too.

"The main reason for this tremendous increase in illness is that Germany is deficient in food, and the whole physical outlook has been so impaired that it is affecting the mental outlook. Germans live tense lives, even in peace time. They are in constant fear that some one will report something to the dreaded Gestapo (Secret Police) and they will be hustled off to a concentration camp. They distrust their friends and neighbors. The horrors of German concentration camp cannot be exaggerated. Sterilization of sex perverts is a law, and as all Jews are regarded as sex perverts, they are sterilised when they are sent to a concentration camp.

"Germany needs oil badly. In 1940 it was computed that her requirements would be ninety million

142 Eye Cases Treated In 1939 By Kinsmen Club

Kinsmen Club's crusade to provide eye-glasses and proper medical treatment to those who cannot afford them is becoming a more uphill climb with each succeeding year.

At Thursday night's meeting Adam Sands brought in a huge bulletin board mounted easel style, which gave a statistical summary of the cases treated since this work was first undertaken.

In 1938 the club treated 87 cases but in 1939 this total soared to 142, a new record, and so far this year there has been 45 new cases, which on a quarterly average would top all previous years. J. MacDonald reported that proceeds from the shopping certificates amounted to approximately $700 and the club would have to raise $600 more to do the service work that is planned.

The board will be brought up to date for each meeting so that all members may be well informed on the progress of the service work and the capital required.

barrels and this would double in war time. Her normal output is 19 million barrels and even with synthetic oils she cannot step production up beyond 25 million barrels a year. In the last war Roumanian oil wells were destroyed when Roumania was attacked and that is one reason why Germany is going slow in dealing with this valuable country. Russian railways are a different gauge to those in Germany, and even if Russia were able to give Germany her exportable surplus of oils, it would fall far short of meeting the needs. Another factor to be considered is Germany's need for iron ore. In peace time, 25 per cent of her iron comes from France. This was cut off when war was declared. Forty-one per cent comes from Norway and Sweden and this will soon be out of her reach also.

"It was a surprising thing but we also discovered tha Germany is not the united country the paper would have you believe. In Silesia and Bavaria they hate the Prussians and await an opportunity to break away from them.

"Our conclusion after making all these observations is that we have little to worry about in his conflict.

"Worry is based on fear aid fear in turn results from ignorance.

Law Of Compensation

People worried about me when I was born and an accident at birth robbed me of the use of both arms, but they forgot the law of compensation. When I started to school people worried again but they forgot the law of adaptation. I sat on the floor and with a pencil between my toes made circles on a flatboard slate. I have coordinated my toe muscles until I can write well. Later when I began to study law at the University I learned to write using a pencil between my teeth.

"My first job was selling insurance but I didn't do so well because I had a sympathy complex, then I tried radio announcing and finally started to practice law in Alberta. My employer said I would embarrass his employees and that statement changed my entire life.

"I finally realized that there were many people who look on a physical handicap with revulsion and I decided then to devote my life to assisting in having institutions established as training centres for people so afflicted.

"I wrote a book called "My Desire" in order to raise money for my life work. It was the first and only autobiography to go into a third edition, and in 1938 my little Scottish mother financed my book, "I Give You Tomorrow," which is now a best seller.

"My thesis in this book is—Disappointments come to everyone, but if they are accepted sanely and intelligently they can be used to pave the way to success, provided you do not let your own unhappy lot get the better of you for it like a cloud passing across the sun will cast a gloom much greater than its own dimension. If you must go into a slump about things in general, console yourself that you are better off than many another. Go out and find a rainstorm, bear your face to its pelting downpour and wash your cares away. Then for all the love that is in you laugh and sing.

Ken Smylie introduced the speaker, and E. F. Borbridge paid generous tribute to the speaker on behalf of the members for fine address.

Herbert Barnes Joins Airforce

Herb Barnes, popular city ticket and passenger agent for the Canadian National Railways here for the past year, left Peterborough last night for Ottawa to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. He will hold the rank of Temporary Flying Officer and will enter training immediately.

So sudden was his departure that scarcely had he been informed of his acceptance into the Air Force, when he was gone.

Mr. Barnes came here as head of the Peterborough office about a year ago, from Windsor. He did a considerable amount of private flying in Windsor before coming here.

His place here will be taken by Eddie Ryan, an old Peterborough boy now stationed in Windsor. Mr. Ryan worked in the C.N.R. ticket office here until a few years ago, when he was moved to Windsor. He will return in charge of the office.

have offered their services to the Y.M.C.A. in its great undertaking, he said. In every province across Canada, in every city, leading men have realized that this is a worthwhile task, and are doing their utmost to bring the Y.M.C.A.'s drive to its complete realization.

Mr. Long outlined the developments that had led to the Y's need for such a sum. At the outbreak of war in September, the president of the board of directors of the national organization, Dr. Sidney Smith, offered the Canadian government the resources of the institution for whatever purpose they desired, he said. "In that offer he was placing for the government's use, eight and a half million dollars' worth of equipment from coast to coast, 2,000 employees, and 250 career secretaries, "but more than any of these, he was placing before them 100 years of successful experience of working with you." It was little wonder, he said, that the government accepted the Y's offer and asked it to enlarge its activities, both in Canada and abroad. "They did so because they were conscious of the need of an organization such as this," he declared, pointing to the object of the "Y" in war as being to strengthen the morale of soldiers who are serving Canada.

The Y.M.C.A. is particularly well equipped to carry on in World War II, in view of its record of service in World War I, he declared. "The Y needs make no apology to anyone for the part it played in the last war," he said, quoting Sir Arthur Currie as one eminent authority for his statement in view of congratulatory remarks he had made during the World War about the organization's efforts. The Y.M.C.A. was the only unit, outside the chaplain's service and the Red Cross, that was an auxiliary in battle areas, he maintained. Sir Arthur Currie had words of highest praise for the work of the Y and particularly for its efficiency, he noted in reading a statement from him made in 1918. It was the complete, highly trained skill of Y workers that most impressed Sir Arthur—they were not well-meaning, incompetent individuals, but a unit trained to the last inch in the job they set out to do. "There is no body of men less self-seeking," was one tribute of Sir Arthur's that he quoted. "Those words are a more eloquent tribute to the Y.M.C.A.'s effort than any I might make," he declared.

Mr. Long pointed out that in the last war the Y.M.C.A. had two services, one free and the other a canteen service in which goods were paid for. Prices charged were established by the British army, and profits went to provide free services which could not otherwise have been provided—privileges such as concerts, athletic games and equipment, and many others. "Unfortunately," he added, "it is true that in the pressure of those times, many soldiers who accepted those free services were not aware that they had been given by the Y.M.C.A."

Problems Even More Acute

Because this war is a different kind from the last, because there is little activity and consequently greater leisure time, the Y's problem is even more acute than it was formerly, he pointed out. He urged the absolute necessity of the moral influence that the Y can bring upon soldiers away from their homes.

Already, he said, the organization has undertaken great tasks, without the money to carry on, firm in the knowledge that Canadians will realize that the work is essential. He told of free services being offered to soldiers all across the country and related that the equivalent of 1,150,000 men have been cared for free of charge since the war broke out, in Y institutions. Military leaders are convinced, he asserted, that they would have faced a serious problem in the past seven months had it not been for the athletic and recreational facilities offered by the Y, he said. Mr. Long told of the Red Triangle clubs that have been formed, of the purchase of the Halifax Ladies' College for soldiers on leave—where 550 beds have been set up and already 52,000 individuals have spent a night at a nominal charge of only twenty-five cents a night. When the first Canadian contingent went overseas, the Y was with the soldiers, and the first night they were in Aldershot, the Y staged a concert that had 2,500 free spectators. Tea wagons have been established, there is a complete program of activities now going on—2,280 events in all have been staged, at which 167,000 have been present. In London the Beaver club has been taken over by the Y and its yearly upkeep will be $50,000—a centre for Canadian troops on leave in London. It is now manned by Y officials, on borrowed money and its continuance will depend, necessarily, on the response to the war appeal now being made. Already the groundwork has been laid, and the Canadian Y.M.C.A. will move into France if and when our boys cross into France."

A Major Problem.

In Canada there is great need for the Y, he mantained. "No organization has a greater challenge to offer than this." He told of the confusion that will face youth in the future, and urged the duty of other Canadians to prepare youth against that confusion through the Y.M.C.'s efforts. Forces opposed to Christianity are at work with youth "and they are making progress," he charged. "That is a major problem facing us, and just because we are living secure for the time being in Peterborough or any other centre, doesn't mean the problem isn't before us. We can't kid ourselves that things which have happened in other countries, can't happen here." Referring to published reports that communism is on the upspring in this country, he said: "I know, and you do, too, that there is a lot of truth in that claim." The Y.M.C.A. is one strong bulwark against that doctrine's spread, he maintained, and urged it as the duty of every man to check that spread. "Your first duty as citizens is to guard youth in Canada, just as youth is guarding you abroad," he charged.

"Knowing the calibre of you workers and also knowing the attitude of the citizens of Peterborough toward any constructive effort, included in which is the Y.M.C.A., I feel certain that we are going over the top," declared H. L. Garner, campaign chairman. He said there will be supper report meetings on Monday and Wednesday and expressed the hope that by the second such meeting, the objective will have been reached. A final report meeting will be held next Friday.

"A good many of you men sitting here tonight can look back on the days when you attended the Y.M.C.A. regularly. You know what a great thing it was in your life and what it did for you in your formative years. Today you and I don't need the Y.M.C.A., but the youth of Peterborough does need the Y.M.C.A. and the soldiers at home and abroad need the Y.M.C.A. and this should be our inspiration.

"Let us regard ourselves as bridge builders, for that is what we are—we are building bridges across which the youth of this country can go to a fuller and better and more construtcive manhood."

"I am asking that you keep this in mind when we are working because the youth of this country needs you, needs your efforts, and needs the Y.M.C.A."

At the head table besides Chairman Garner and Speaker H. M. Long were Adjutant Norman Buckley of the Salvation Army; Fred Hills, secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; G. A. Gillespie, honorary president of the Y.M.C.A.; J. H. Vernor, chairman of the Industrial Committee; Paige Rowell, chairman and organizer of the outside districts; W. L. Ferguson, chairman of the Lists Committee; A. L. Elliott, M.L.A.; John McColl, Warden of Peterborough county; Rev. C. C. Boyter, president of the Minister Association; D. T. Diplock, vice-chairman of the campaign; Charles Lacheur, president of the Y.M.C.A.; G. H. Roper, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral; G. K. Fraser, M.P.; Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Special Names' Committee; W. R. Richardson, past president and member of the National War Services' Committee; R. L. Havelock Lodge Is Honored By Grand Master

HAVELOCK, April 12 (ENS)—A most auspicious event in the annals of Royal Lodge No. 286, I.O.O.F., Havelock, was marked by a gala celebration in the lodge rooms, Wednesday evening, when the Grand Master of Ontario, Bro. J. M. Parker of Niagara Falls, honored the local brethren by his presence. It was the occasion also of the official visit by District Deputy Grand Master, Bro. H. Frost of Peterborough to the Havelock Lodge. This is the first time a Grand Master of Ontario has ever paid a visit to the local lodge.

The biggest event among Oddfellow circles in this district for many years, the lodge rooms were crowded with both local and visiting brethren. The attendance, well over the hundred mark, was beyond the expected number and required a second serving in the banquet hall. Visitors were present from Smith Falls, Kingston, Campbellford, Peterborough, Tweed, Madoc, Stirling, Cornwall and Springbrook.

Bros. D. A. Forde and D. F. Miller of Havelock, received and introduced to the other brethren the Grand Master, Bro. J. M. Parker and the Grand Messenger, W. J. Constable of Peterborough, both of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, and the D.D.G.M., Bro. H. Frost.

Second Degree Conferred

During the evening the second degree was conferred upon four candidates from Madoc and one from Peterborough, by the local degree team. Noble Grand H. Ferguson as degree master was assisted by Bros. E. J. Leeson, G. Rutherford, R. Jack, B. Harvett, D. A. Forde, D. F. Miller, W. Dafoe, C. Scott, C. Taylor, J. Cartwright, C. McFall, C. Coon, W. Harris, T. McQuigge, A. McLaughlin, J. Little, E. W. Seeney and H. Bannon.

Following this demonstration of lodge work, the brethren resumed to the dining-room where a sumptuous banquet was served under the direction of Bros. Cartwright, Coon, and Jack, assisted by several other of the lodge members. Musical entertainment was provided by a visiting brother, J. Hodson of Peterborough, who accompanied the community singing.

The Grand Master's address was given immediately following a banquet, when everyone had returned to the lodge room. Dealing mostly with problems relating to Grand Lodge work, Bro. Parker's talk was listened to with great interest. At the conclusion he replied to several questions which the brethren brought up. On behalf of the officers and members of Havelock Royal Lodge No. 286, the Grand Master was presented with a handsome gift by Noble Grand Harry Ferguson.

Addresses were also given by the Grand Messenger, Bro. W. J. Constable and by D.D.G.M. Bro. H. Frost.

Among the visiting brethren were:

Alex N. Sage, S. J. Rowe, J. Hodson, J. H. Price, J. Howson, Percy Bullied, G. H. Dunford, of Peterborough; J. A. Miller, A. McCoy, Jas. Gordon, C. John Smith, G. Quackenbush, C. R. Holmes, R. A. Woods, G. C. Moon, W. Hawthorne, Thomas Hawthorne, R. F. Bristol and J. R. Bristol, of Madoc; W. R. Phillips, J. J. Poulton, Ernest Haig, Harry Bennett, Earl Craighead, C. Nichols, J. J. Fox, W. Nazis Demand Right To "Protect" Entire Danube

Accusing Britain of a supposed plot to dynamite the Danube's "iron gate," where the famous river cuts through the Carpathian Mountains, thus blocking the Nazi supply line from the Balkans, Germany is reported to have demanded that Yugoslavia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania accept Nazi river police along the entire length of the Danube. If the Balkan countries accede to the Nazis' demands Germany will have a vital supply route safeguarded.

Campbellford Council Sets Tax Rate At 46½ Mills

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12 — (ENS). — This town's tax rate will remain at 46½ milles it was announced at a special meeting of the Council when the 1940 rate was struck.

Decision to hold the rate unchanged was largely the result of the energetic efforts of Mayor Long who led the drive that culminated in the Water and Light Commissions decision to postpone their plan to scale down their annual grant to the corporation.

The belief current a couple of weeks ago that the tax rate would have to be jumped at least three mills was completely scuttled with the announcement by Reeve Calver, chairman of the Finance Committee that he had gone into the matter with his committee and could safely recommend the adoption of a 46½ mill rate. In referring to the decision taken by the Finance Committee the Reeve said that all expenditures had been boiled down, but in order to be assured of a balance at the end of the year every committee would have to keep safe as much as possible.

It was revealed the School Board's requisition had jumped $1,000 from last year and in furthering his economy drive the Reeve recommended the requisition sheet sent in by the Board be returned with the request that it be placed at the 1939 figure $20,370. Council agreed with the action of the Reeve when he announced the extra $61,000 asked by the Board had not been taken into consideration in establishing the rate and endorsed the recommendation that it should be returned leaving the next move up to the Board.

Estimated Expenditure.

Estimated expenditures for the year were practically unchanged and included $2,500 for street oiling. Other estimates were: Relief, $3,000; salaries, $4,000; roads and bridges, $4,800; relief, $800; High School, $7,268; Public School, $11,500; Separate School, $1,600; fire protection, $3,000; office, $450; rents $200; printing, $225; interest, $250; legal $300; hospitalization, $500; county rate, $9,000; grants, $310; street lighting, $4,500; town property, $200; miscellaneous, $300; library, $1,550; Board of Health, $750; police, $2,400; garbage collection, $610; discount on tax payments, $900; election, $100; tax sale, $100; debenture payments, $30,549.66; uncollected taxes, $6,200.

Following the actual passage of the by-law setting the rate the suggestion was made that the Finance Committee should meet with the Board of Education in an effort to readjust their requisition. The Separate School rate as recommended by that Board was placed at 9.4 mills, unchanged from last year.

Proposed Fire Siren.

Deputy-Reeve Harvey Donald reported he had been in contact with the manager of the Utilities, P. C. Denyes, relevant to the purchase of a fire siren which the Commission had previously intimated they would bear half the cost of. According to the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee the siren recommended by the manager would cost in the neighborhood of $600 and could be used in connection with the present signal system on the streets. Though the feeling existing among members of the Council was that the cost was too high in view of th present economy drive the matter was left for further consideration, as it was not on the agenda.

Another item not slated for discussion was the corner lot at Booth and Centre Streets which Council set aside a year ago with a view to landscaping and planting with shrubbery. Drawing the matter to Council's attention, Councillor MacMillan recommended that work would have to be started before the next regular meeting, especially if it was the intention to put in any fill. He also said that he had taken the matter of shrubbery up with W. A. Hogle, local nurseryman, who, it was suggested, should be invited to the next meeting to go into the matter with Council.

Mayor Long indicated that another special meeting would be called next week to pass the new junkyard by-law which was at present in the processof being redrafted.

The friends of Mrs. Irene Woods will be pleased to hear that she is making a rapid recovery after undergoing an operation at the Western Hospital, Toronto, on Friday last.

Reckless Driver Is Fined $43.50 In Tweed Court

TWEED, April 12—(ENS).—As a result of reckless driving on Tuesday night, Joseph Chapelle appeared before Magistrate Lloyd in local police court on Thursday afternoon, and was found guilty and fined $43.50 with the alternative of one month in the county gaol.

The charge arose out of a collision at Chapman's Corners, when Chapelle's car collided head on with another vehicle driven by Mrs. Milton Burtt, which resulted in injuries to five persons.

Messrs. William Masterson, M. Spafford and A. Lucien, all of Belleville, appeared in local police court charged with purchasing maple syrup in this district under false pretences. The three accused had obtained the syrup from Mrs. Harold Morton. Masterson and A. Lucien forced Spafford to get the syrup. Spafford and Masterson paid for it.

Lucien, however, was held by the Magistrate in county gaol. He is known as the master mind of the plot. His two companions besides making restiution, were given three months' suspended sentence.

Appearing before Magistrate Lloyd on Thureday afternoon, Patrick Leveck was found not guilty of assaulting Fred Way, due to lack of evidence.

Mr. A. B. Stewart reports the birth of twin calves at his premises near Bridgewater this week. The calves are unusually healthy and the owner expects they will survive.

Ice which left the Moira River this week, jammed, and damaged the pipe leading from the upper pump of the municipal waterworks system. The pipe which lies on the river-bed, cannot be reached until the water in the river is at a low level. However, no inconveniences will be experienced as there is sufficient water supplies at the other two pumping stations to supply the village.

The bride looked lovely in a powder blue dress and hat with gray accessories. They left for a trip to Oshawa and United States' points.

With The Girl Guides

1st Company gave up its meeting to the candidates for the needlewoman's badge. There were twelve guides entered for the examination, with ten achieving success. Cook's badge will be held at the end of the month, and remember this—like the needlewoman's, it is a first class badge.

2nd Company has resumed meetings at its old meeting place, the Lyceum, with Zita Spencer and Peggy Houghton as leaders. No news has come in from 3rd Company for several weeks—what has happened to their scribe?

4th S.A.G. Guides held an enjoyable open meeting last Friday, with mothers as guests. A musical program was a pleasant feature. Prizes weer presented by Mrs. Norman Buckley, and service stars by Mrs. R. Whalon. These open meetings will be held the last Friday in every month, with each patrol taking complete charge, in turn, mothers are cordially invited from all companies.

Classes for 1st Class Study will start tonight, 7.15, at the Army Temple. It is important to attend every class if you expect to be successful—this applies to Guides of all companies. Mrs. Whalon will be the lecturer.—"The Scribe."

FASHIONS

Spring is the time of year when a bolero dress is very essential. This style is crisp and smart and at the same time will be useful and becoming. Grey flannel is one of the leading fabrics for this new season, and when combined with yellow crepe or pique, is the loveliest combination you can imagine. Navy blue crepe is chic and practical, too, and combined with snowy white is fresh as the first spring flower. The separate blouse is softly draped at the waistline to give the effect of a sash.

Style No. 3209 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material for long sleeved bolero and skirt; 1½ yards for blouse.

Art of Letter-Writing Must Never Be Allowed to Die Out. On the Contrary, People Should Seek to Improve a Custom Which Brings Happiness.

The art of letter-writing, we are told, is becoming a lost art because an effete generation telegraphs or telephones or radios its communications to others rather than take the trouble to write them out laboriously in longhand.

If it is true that the writing of letters is passing away with so many other pleasant old customs, it is to be deplored on one hand, but it is a matter of congratulation on the other hand, because there is no disputing that if a letter was often a white-winged messenger of joy, it was not infrequently a boomerang that annihilated its sender.

One could rejoice, for instance, if the "it's not smart to write letters any more"—which is he only code that the modern girl subscribes to—stopped foolish little flappers from slopping over pages of good white paper with passionate expressions of devotion to their boy friends and incriminating reminiscences of their last petting party, which the lads exhibit to other lads as proof of their prowess as lady-killers.

Also, although it would take away some of the gayety of life and make our newspapers dull reading, one could be glad of a custom that would cramp the style of rich old men who write lovey-dovey letters that they sign "Your Baby Boy" to violet-eyed gold diggers, and who have to redeem these sentimental missives at a great price.

But, on the contrary, if writing letters is one of the most dangerous sports in which any one can indulge, receiving letters is a pleasure that never palls. The postman's whistle gives us a thrill, no matter how many thousand times we have heard it before, because every envelope incloses a mystery that gives us a moment of suspense and wonder at what may be within it, even if it does turn out to be only a bill, or a request for a contribution to a Home for Disabled Cats.

And letters are the cement that holds families together when children leave home and brothers and sisters scatter to the ends of the earth. No matter how far they are separated, they are still together in spirit as long as the weekly letters come telling about how Mary's baby has cut his first tooth in Shanghai, and that Bob's boss in Ypsilanti has given him a raise. Nor is any friendship ever lost as long as the parties to it think it worth a 3-cent stamp.

Letters of love, how they set the sun in our skies! Letters of friendship, what old ties they strengthen! Business letters, how they juggle fortunes! Letters of sympathy, how like they are to a healing hand laid on our hurt hearts! Letters written in anger, how they wound and what enemies they make! Each letter with its mission, good or bad, but it seems to me that there are two types of letters that we utterly neglect and that would be the answer to many of our problems.

One of these is the anonymous letter. Not the scurrilous attack of the coward who stabs you in the back, with the cloak of anonymity drawn over his face, but a letter written by one who loves you and desires to help you correct some little fault or peculiarity that you do not know that you possess, yet who doesn't want you to know that he even criticizes you.

You can't tell Sally that she is getting too fat, or that the way she dresses makes her look like an old sheep masquerading as a Spring lamb, but she would lay off the mayonnaise and her next frock would be her age if she had got a tip from an anonymous correspondent. And how it would puncture the balloons of the blow-hard men makes one weep to think.

Another of the letters that should be written—and isn't—is the one in which husbands and wives, parents and children, might settle their disputes by mail instead of by word of mouth. The trouble with family arguments is that they never can be kept to the theme of discussion. They wander off of the matter under debate into old grievances, and the issue is lost.

A husband starts out to tell his wife she is spending too much and asks her to cut down on the grocery bill, but before he knows it he is knocking her cooking and complaining about the way she is raising the children and blaming her for the marks they get at school and dragging her mother in by the hair of the head. She demands to know why he always picks out a bathing beauty for a stenographer nags him about the money he lent to an old friend who never paid him back reminds him of all of his family's shortcomings. And so on and on, until the original question has been buried under tons of vilification and abuse.

But if either the husband or wife would make a simple clear statement of his or her case in a kindly letter to the other, the party of the other part could consider it dispassionately, understand it clearly, and they could arrive at an amicable agreement, with no bones broken and no feelings hurt.

DOROTHY DIX

P.S. Personally, I don't believe that the art of letter writing is dying out. At any rate, every day in the year hundreds of people sit down and take pen in hand and write me of their troubles and perplexities.

Readers writing Dorothy Dix are asked to enclose a self-addressed envelope and also a three-cent stamp.

If any of your rubber hot water bottles have perished, slit them open and use as a mat in the washing-up bowl or the sink. They'll save a number of breakages, chips and cracks.

Do You Know?

Wash spinach in slightly warm water. This method is easy on the hands and the grit seems to loosen more easily than when washed in cold water.

To remove meats whole from Brazil nuts, heat them in a moderate oven until warmed through. Then crack the shells lightly. The nuts should easily be removed without breaking.

About Town with FLORA

Boxes from Toronto and Montreal and I arrived about the same time at the Darling Ladies' Wear, Ltd., George St., and I had the fun yesterday of standing by while a group of original frocks were lifted from their tissue wrappings, and the even greater fun of slipping over an excited head several little frocks that are exuberant with gaiety and charm. You know, it may be foolish to be so clothes crazy, but how can one help it when this shop's windows offer such tantalizing bait, and when you find out, as I just have, that the manager arrives with a new collection every single wee...—and believe me, I MEAN new! The spring suits and coats are just as stirring in their tailored or dressmaker styles that are somehow "different" from what I've been seeing—and it's mighty helpful to know that suits may be made to measure—I can recommend them quite happily, because I've seen the expertly finished results, and I know they'll amaze even you!

Thanks to the subtle magic called spring, having fun in April is a push-over, so try taking a fling at the town. If you're fairly famished after a round of shopping, go to the new BILTMORE RESTAURANT—although formerly the Elite Grill, it is a far cry from the old days—now you can eat your whole dinner through and never recognized the setting! I've been caroling about the new food, the new service, and the new atmosphere for, days, and now I feel the management deserves a vote of thanks for the latest innovation, a quiet clubroom several steps down from the main floor—it's called the Biltmore Gardens—where you can entertain happily from a family party, bridge or merely the "gang" to the most formal of wedding groups. It's wisdom to make your plans early, tho', because already the place is in popular demand.

I almost got out a special edition to tell you of this news, folks—Olga Haskill (she has the chic millinery shop at 312 George St., you know) was just taking off her hat after a trip to Toronto when I dropped in, so she showed me what she had brought back with her—a thrilling collection of those exquisite halos of pearls or orange blossoms from which your wedding veil will flow—bandeaux and adorable ornaments that will add up to the final bridal glory. Describing them in words only makes me feel the inadequacy of the English language—they must be seen if their delicate beauty is to be appreciated. However, what I'm in such a haste to tell you is that she combed the wholesale houses to find them—it seems that it is impossible to import them now with European conditions as they are, and once they are gone there won't be any more unless something unforeseen turns up. I saw beautiful embroidered nets and plain materials fashioned into cloud-like wedding veils, too, and pastel bands and flowers for bridal hats that are as dainty as the April bride herself! 'Phone 3177 if you'd like to know more.

If you're looking for a breath of Spring exhilaration you needn't go far to find it—merely to Muriel's, that perfect little Specialty Shoppe at 202 Charlotte Street, where the enchanting colors and ideas of this new season are the "letter perfect" jackets and skirts, the smartly feminine accessories which are chosen with an eye to adding zest to your Springtime wardrobe. Muriel has a gift for selecting the style you like yet do not expect to see in every window. She, like all the best stylists across the border, has great faith in the future of the separate jacket and skirt combination, and has stocked up with clever accessories to build interest around tailored ensembles. It is here, with such a choice of blouses, skirts, jackets, sweaters, housecoats, costume accessories—jewelery, handbags, belts, gloves, boutonnieres—all in a veritable glory of color, that you will decide its sheer fun to be fashionable!

Streamline your figure—that's the spring theme song, and well it might be, for after all, who can look smart in any ensemble, no matter how chic, if there are bumps and bulges to interrupt what should be suave symmetry? That's why I'm bubbling with enthusiasm over my latest "scoop," that of Madame Merriam's new Roaler Massage chair, in which you can relax while electrically operated magic exercises your excess poundage away. You can reduce, in any place you desire, without the effort that might tax your heart, and no longer need you sigh for metropolitan centres where such assistance has been at hand for years—now you can put yourself into Madame Merriam's skilful hands and reduce your figure in the modern manner of Spring, 1940. The address is 181 Charlotte Street, and the 'phone number 4852.

Inquiries have been pouring in since I told you about the Mineral Fume Bath at 220 Brock Street, so for your information I'm glad to report special rates for a series of these health-restoring treatments. An exhilarating tonic for poison-laden systems, they will do even more than a new bonnet to raise your weary spirits. The relaxing yet stimulating effects of the massage after the bath improves the general circulation, and helps set you up after you've been growing tired of this stubbornly persistent winter. Even if you are not afflicted with rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica, etc., for which the treatments are amazingly beneficial, your cold will disappear like magic after even the first treatment. Although the medicinal vapors are absorbed through your pores during the gentle steam circulation, you may walk right out into the night air with no fear of a chill—and I'll wager you'll feel you're on a delightful new planet for days after! WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Confidence Is Required In Making Of Pies

By MARY MOORE

Pie is such a favorite I would like to think all devotees of this page make them with confidence.

To make a crumbly crust do not chill the shortening, and cut it into the flour very finely, then add cold but not ice water.

To make a flaky crust, chill the shortening before using, cut it into flour coarsely, and add ice cold water.

Pasty Ingredients: Two cups cake or soft wheat flour (although pastry flour handled by an expert is just as good), 2-3 cup shortening (all lard or shortening of mostly lard and a little butter is best—all butter is not recommended), ¾ teaspoon salt, 6 or 8 tablespoons water. Using pastry blender cut the shortening into the sifted flour and salt, until the mixture looks granular (you must make your own decision whether your pastry is to be flaky or crumbly and cut the shortening in accordingly, coarse or fine). Then add just enough cold or ice water to make ingredients cling together. Roll out half this mixture for 1 crust to ⅛-inch thickness on lightly floured board. Cover pie plate, trim edges and chill. Top crust may be rolled, slashed and folded twice and chilled too. Prepare filling while crust is chilling, have oven at 475 deg. Fahr., and when pastry is cold, quickly pour in filling, put on top, pinch edges which have been moistened, glaze top with a little evaporated milk mixed with 1 teaspoon sugar and bake at 475 for 10 minutes, reducing heat to 350 deg. Fahr. to finish baking—about 35 or 40 minutes.

Apple Pie

Use sour apples. Pare core and slice 6 large sour apples. Place apples in chilled pastry lined pie plate (cheese pastry is good for apple pie—see note below). Sprinkle with ¾ or ⅞ cup sugar mixed with 2 tablespons flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg. Dot with bits of butter. Cover with top crust and bake as directed above under pastry recipe—if apples are hard bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 50 minutes after temperature is lowered.

Cherry Pie

You may use either 4 cups fresh cherries (sour) when in season or 1 can of cherries and juice or 2 cans of drained cherries. Using 1 No. 2 can of cherries and juice add three tablespoons minute tapioca and ¾ cup sugar to them, mix well and let stand 1 hour while pastry is chilling. Brush bottom crust of pie with white of egg, place in oven for 5 minutes at 475 deg. Fahr., then remove from oven and add cherry filling, put on gashed upper crust and bake as described under pastry recipe.

Raisin Pie

For perfection use seeded Valencias or Lexias—for economy use seedless sultanas. Add 1 cup boiling water to 2 cups seeded Lexia or Valencia raisins, and simmer together for 5 minutes, then add ¾ cup light brown sugar mixed with either 4 tablespoons flour or 2 tablespoons minute tapioca, and stir until thick if flour—if tapioca let stand 15 minutes. Add ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon either vinegar or lemon juice and ½ teaspoon vanilla. If poured into pie crust hot, crust must be pre-glazed as in cherry pie. If chilled before putting in pie, start baking pie on lowest shelf in oven, move up after 5 minutes.

Deep Dish Rhubarb Pie

Cut 2 pounds pink rhubarb into ¾-inch pieces, after washing, but do not peel. Mix with 1 1-3 cups sugar, 3 tablespoons minute tapioca or 1-3 cup flour and let stand while pastry is chilling or being made. Make the recipe as described under pastry using only 1½ cups flour, ½ cup shortening, ½ teaspoon salt, and 4 or 6 tablespoons water for the large one-crust pie. Pour sweetened rhubarb into deep glass casserole, cover with chilled rich crust, making long gashes in top, and bake at 475 deg. Fahr.—when nearly done brush top with evaporated milk mixed with a little sugar or when done sprinkle top with powdered sugar to serve and pass cream. For those who recognize good food when they read about it this is sure-fire.

Cheese Pastry

To above recipe for pastry add ½ or 1 cup of grated cheese, which has been allowed to stand on wax paper to dry out for a few hours—add cheese after shortening has been worked into flour and before water is added.

Cheese pastry is good for apple, mince and raisin pies, or banbury tarts.

Pineapricot Tart

Line glass pie plate or shallow glass baking dish with pie crust, chill, then fill with: 1¼ cups stewed strained apricots, 1 cup drained canned pineapple and 2-3 cup sugar, stewed together for 5 minutes. Roll second half of dough into an oblong and cut into long ¼-inch strips. Place these lattice fashion on top of filling, wetting rim where end of strip is fastened. Bake at 450 for 20 minutes, sprinkling with 2 tablespoons sugar just before removing from oven. Serve cut in diamonds or squares.

"MUST" FOR SPRING

By ALICE ALDEN.

LARGE and dressy felts of the season take real jewels as decor; casuals like the one shown get by beautifully with distinctive grosgrain bands, and take the weather instead. All of us need such a hat for spring and summer showers as well as for clear days in the country if not in town. The rose petal finish used for the felt pictured actually does resist even a persistent downpour...we saw one which survived without a spot. Note that this hat is more than a mere headpiece. Its lines are definite and its crown fits the head. Completely handmade yet not expensive, it comes in Dublin green, black, bonnie blue and bright red, contrasting the band crossed by soutache braid. The lapel ornament is a shell of silver with blob of gold.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

(By Mary Moore)

SUNDAY (Guests)
Chilled Grapefruit Cup
Roast Leg of Veal (preferably stuffed)
Buttermilk Waffles (see note)
Veal Gravy
Chopped Spinach with Hard Cooked Egg Garnish
Rhubarb Tapioca (note) Coffee

NOTE: The above menu intrigued me because it is a little unusual. The waffles serve the same purpose as Yorkshire Pudding would with beef, but I think were more attractive in appearance when cut in quarters and placed attractively around the roast—plenty of good gravy is essential with them though. (I have a new waffle iron too—that's why the waffle situation is being gone over so thoroughly.) To make Buttermilk Waffles sift together 2 cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar. Beat together 2 eggs yolks and add them to 1¾ cups buttermilk (or sour milk) and add them to the dry mixture, beating until smooth and light. Add ¼ cup melted butter or salad oil, then add the beaten whites of 2 eggs. Bake on hot waffle iron, keeping waffles in hot warming oven until enough are ready to serve, then cut into quarters to embellish platter containing roast veal.

To make rhubarb tapioca put 1-3 cup minute tapioca in top of double boiler containing 1½ cups boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt and cook 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add 3 cups washed and cut up (but not peeled) rhubarb and 1¼ cups sugar and cook stirring for first 2 minutes and then not at all until rhubarb is tender (thus rhubarb retains its shape.) Pour into serving glasses and chill and serve topped with a little whipped cream—a very quick and cheap dessert.

MONDAY
Curry of Veal (see note) Rice
Buttered Peas with Diced Carrots
Sliced Orange and Banana Nut Individual Salads
Crackers and Cheese Coffee

NOTE: To make Veal Curry heat sliced veal in steamer—to gravy add 1 teaspoon of fresh curry powder and if gravy needs to be extended add more water and a beef cube. Arrange hot fluffy rice in border on hot platter, and place sliced veal in centre—pour over curried gravy and sprinkle rice with curry.

TUESDAY (Vegetarian)
Corn Pudding (Individual or Large)
Glazed Carrots (see note)
Asparagus on Toast with Drawn Butter
Tomato and Cabbage Slaw
Raisin Pie Cheese Coffee

NOTE: To glaze carrots melt two tablespoons sugar with 3 of butter in frying pan, and then turn the carrots in this (after they are ¾ cooked and drained), until the cooking is completed and every carrot is shiny all over.

WEDNESDAY
Baked Stuffed Spareribs
Baked Potatoes
Boiled Spanish Onions with Cream Sauce
Strawberry Bavarian Cream Coffee

THURSDAY

Cream of Tomato Soup (using Evap. milk and unstrained tomatoes)
Broiled Minced Lamb Cakes Wrapped in Bacon
Duchess Potatoes
Canned Green eBans in their own Liquor thickened and flavored with Lemon
Moulded Cabbage Salad (see note)
Canned Cherry Pie Coffee

NOTE: If carefully moulded the Cabbage Salad will have that attractive appearnce of those expensive little moulds seen at the delicatessen counters. One tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, ¼ cup mild vinegar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup thinly sliced radishes, 1 cup very finely shredded green cabbage, 1 tablespoon chopped green onions, boiled salad dressing. Soak gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes, add the boiling water, vinegar, lemon juice, sugar and salt and stir until dissolved. Place in refrigerator until partially set, then fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into a mould or pan of electric refrigerator and chill, but do not freeze. Fine Feathers One Fine Birds Thrill Gotham

NEW YORK, April 12 — (CP). — Debutantes are returning to feathers this Spring, adapting gay plumage to their personalities.

At a recent beauty-fashion show by the Tuesday Deb Club, the canary, bluebird, robin, ostrich, pheasant and peacock were inspirations for showly ornamentation. And the debutantes chose makeup to correspond with the exotic headdress. A bluebird coiffure, for instance, was enhanced by a harmonizing orchid makeup.

To feather your hair the 1940 way, you will need lacquer and wire. And says Josef, who has designed some of the new hair-dos, you should keep your hair-do fairly simple, the better to show up bright feathers.

To simulate a canary, one girl swept her golden blonde hair up on the sides into a swirling pompadour on top, using the yellow canary feathers to hug the back of her head and swoop around her shoulders so a tip touched her lips.

Blue On Blonde

The bluebird coiffure worn by another debutante placed her dark blonde hair in a topknot in front and combed the rest back from her face to fall forward over her shoulder. Wire and barette held the hair so brilliant blue feathers could be laced into it.

Another striking headdress was the black cock arrangements for Miss Patricia Suydam, a brunette with white skin. From a French roll at the back, her hair swept high op top with aid of wiring and lacquer. The startling effect of her coiffure came from the way the black cock feathers marched straight up the back of her head.

Perhaps the strangest sight was pheasant feathers shooting in two upward directions from a V-shaped roll at the back of the younger Mrs. Haley Fiske. Her hair was parted in the centre and carried high from the sides. The pheasant feathers seemed at least two feet tall. A tawny color makeup enhanced her olive beauty.

Hastings

Wilfred Buck of Donegal and his bride, formerly Myrtle Pulfer, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pulfer of Hastings, were tendered a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening in the Norwood Town Hall.

The event was one of the most enjoyable and largest to be held in the hall. Approximately 300 guests were present, including friends from Norwood, Hastings, Westwood, Warsaw, Roseneath, and Campbellford. Dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by Hutchinson's Orchestra of Havelock. Following the service of luncheon at midnight the bridal couple were called to a prominent place, and the groom on behalf of his bride thanked everyone for the lovely numerous gifts which included silverware, crystal, linen, and articles for the home.

IN DAY'S WORK

SCARBOROUGH, England—(CP)—Skippers of east coast fishing vessels are hardy. When William Pashby, 25, master of the "Courage" came ashore after being bombed by a German Heinkel, he merely 'phoned his wife he was safe, then put to sea again.

Chest Wheezing Means Bronchitis

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a dry, harsh, hacking cough accompanied with a rapid wheezing and feeling of tightness across the chest.

There is a rising of phlegm, especially in the morning. This phlegm is at first of a light color, but as the disease progresses becomes yellowish or greenish, and is sometimes streaked with blood.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucus, and help nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Paradise Is Here

realized with chagrin that she and Brent were still holding hands. Myra's eyes narrowed.

"Well!" Her little mouth hardened and curled sarcastically. "You two must have spent the night together to be getting in so early."

Romany felt Brent stiffen beside her. She was too surprised to find her tongue. Nelson measured his fiancee with cold blue eyes, then took Romany's arm.

"Come along, dear. I'll talk with her later."

Blind with fury, Myra followed them into the studio. She stumbled in and sat down, fighting her anger. Romany was a little pale when Brent took her into the control room to meet Trotter. None of the rest of the cast had arrived. Trotter looked up from the script he was reading, and rose quickly when he saw Romany. She observed that the famous radio director was small and dapper and dark, with a little black mustache. He smiled warmly, holding out his hand.

"You must be Brent's great discovery."

"This is Romany Haile, in person," Brent grinned. "Miss Haile, may I present Mr. Trotter, the best director in radio."

Romany found it hard to smile, after her encounter with Myra. But she managed to hide her emotions. Hal told Nelson:

"Myra is cast into the show today. New lead the author decided to throw in for confusion. Oh, I see Myra's in the studio, I'll—"

"Never mind calling her just yet," Brent spoke up quickly. "She and I have just had one of our little tiffs."

The director pursed his lips.

"Oh, I get it," he grinned. "Well, I'll have to admit she wouldn't be human if she could stand this competition without a struggle."

Romany's sun - tanned cheeks colored, but she maintained a dignified silence.

"You guessed it," Brent said shortly. "But she's going a little too far. Tripping over her tongue.

Hal Trotter decided it was best to say no more. Obviously, Miss Haile was embarrassed, and too much of a lady to comment. He handed Romany a script.

"Have you ever read a commercial?" he asked then.

"A—commercial announcement?" Romany's face fell. "N-no, I haven't."

Nelson, sensing her disappointment and shock, smiled encouragement.

"Good way to cut your eye teeth. Eighteen bucks for about fifty words. Not bad."

"I—I'll try to do it." Romany tried to hide her confusion.

But glancing at the announcement she felt a sinking sensation in the pit of her stomach. A hard working scribe in the continuity department had written passionately of his product. Romany read slowly, under her breath:

"When I found Mrs. Laurel's Soap Flakes, it was like pennies from heaven. Believe you me, when my clothes hang on the line over the cool wet grass I'm proud as a peacock. I always hope the neighbors are looking at my snow white pillow slips, sheets and towels. Mrs. Laurel's Soap Flakes make washday the most pleasant day of the week. I look forward to it. Mrs. Laurel's suds are such fun!"

Trotter, sensing her feelings in the matter, grinned.

"Makes you feel like getting a job writing commercials, rather than reading them, doesn't it? But that's sweet music to the sponsor who pays the bills."

"I suppose so," Romany sighed. "But I wonder what the women think about it."

Trotter laughed.

"Oh, they eat it up. They're not looking for art in their wash tubs. Most of 'em don't know the difference."

Romany disagreed with him, but kept silent.

"If you'll go into the studio, we'll try it," Trotter told Nelson and Romany. "Start from your announcement, Brent, and work with Miss Haile."

"Okay. Come along, dramatic actress," Brent grinned.

Outside the hall in the little hall he squeezed her hand.

"Keep the chin up, darling." He smiled encouragement. "Don't let Myra have the satisfaction of seeing she can embarrass or hurt your feelings. If you do, she'll never let up. Just act superior. That's one thing she can't stand—dignity. Because poise and dignity are what she knows she doesn't possess."

"All right." Romany squared her shoulders. "I'm deaf, and too indifferent to answer her back."

"That'll burn her to a crisp," Brent smiled, patting her on the shoulder. "Heads up now, beautiful."

Neither Myra nor Trotter was unaware of the long pause in the corridor. Brent opened the door and Romany, her head high and looking as regal as a princess in Aunt Cissie's close-fitting gray silk suit, sailed to the mike.

"When Trotter raises his hand after my announcement, begin yours," Brent instructed Romany.

Brent was saying:

"And now we bring you Mrs. James Brown of Duville, Illinois, an enthusiastic user of Mrs. Laurel's Soap Flakes. She says:

Trotter signaled and Romany began in her most beautifully modulated voice. After a few words, the director broke in from the control room:

"Just a minute, Miss Haile. Can you make your voice sounr as if you WERE Mrs. Brown? Just another little housewife looking forward to wash day and those lovely soap flakes. Try, won't you?"

Romany felt weak in the knees. All the rest of the cast had arrived, and Myra was looking up from her script, smiling triumphantly.

Outwardly cool, but inwardly feeling as though her blood had turned to water, Romany struggled with her few words for fifteen minutes before she read them as Trotter thought they should be read. Finally she grinned:

'Okay, kitchen wench. That does it."

Myra was next. At the microphone she said furiously:

"Do I have to sit here all morning while amateurs learn to read lines? This is going to be just too ducky."

Trotter was small, and the best-natured director at Interstate, but he would not stand for impertinence. He answered her coldly:

"Perhaps we should have switched parts. I'm sure Miss Haile would have no difficulty reading yours. You've been in radio long enough to know that it's harder to read commercials than anything else. Now, let's proceed, and if anyone has any complaints to make about the way I run things they had better not make them aloud."

Myra paled. Her hands trembled, holding the script. Brent smiled to himself, and Romany felt much better. The rest of the cast had abandoned the study of their own scripts to watch the drama. There wasn't a person in the room who wasn't in sympathy with Romany, and delighted that for once Myra had been put in her place. And they were all curious as to who the lovely newcomer might be.

During the broadcast Romany read the announcement as she had been directed. She looked up at the end, and Trotter nodded encouragement. Later, when she apologized for her slowness during rehearsals, he smiled, shaking hands:

"Think nothing of it. I'll throw as many commercials your way as I can until I find a part or two you can do."

Wishing openly to punish Myra for her childishness, Brent took Romany downstairs to breakfast.

SHEWARD.—At Nicholls Hospital, on Friday, March 29, to Mr. and Mrs. John Sheward (nee Viola Sanders), Lundy's Lane, a son (John Barry).

DIED

Funeral on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street; Rev. F. C. Craik of St. James' United Church officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

ROBERTSON, Mrs. Mark.—In New Toronto, April 12, Louise Francis Simmons, beloved wife of the late Mark Robertson. Funeral announcements later.

IN MEMORIAM

GRAHAM. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Elizabeth Graham, who fell asleep in Jesus six years ago today, April 12, 1934.
O, my darling mother, how we miss you
Only God alone can tell,
But we know that thou are happy
In that heavenly home to dwell.
Oh, the days are long and lonely,
And it's such a weary wait,
But you will be there to meet us,
Standing at the golden gate.
Dear is the grave where mother is laid,
Sweet is the memory that never will fade;
Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die,
If some forget you, never will we.
—Sadly missed by her two daughters, Hazel and Viola, and sons-in-law, Robert and Royden, and grandchildren.

SHURETY.—In loving memory of a dear mother and wife, Nellie, who passed away April 12, 1939.
The dearest mother, wife and friend,
One of the best whom God could lend,
Loving, thoughtful, gentle and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.
—Her loving Husband and Daughters.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 13.

The very interesting chain of planetary activities makes this an important and eventful day, despite the menace of conflicting or adverse aspects. While there is sign of high promise and achievement, with expansive opportunities and enduring fulfilments, these excellent auguries are attended by possibilities of pitfalls, snares, delusion, and confusion. Things of subtlety, duplicity, and treachery call for extreme discrimination and sagacity, especially in the handling of letters, writings, and documents. Read and sign paper cautiously. The mentality and the intuitions should assist in exposing trickery.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an unusually expansive and productive year, with things moving in important channels for lucrative results and long-enduring benefits. Yet, this also has the menace of many-sided openings for fraud, trickery, schemes and much underhanded and sly activities, particularly where writings, documents or contracts are involved. Read and sign papers with extra wariness and all may be well. The mind will be keyed to vigilance and cleverness, and the intuitions ar also to be relied upon.

A child born on this day may have much versatility, quick perception, and keen insight into subtle and obscure predicaments, and while profound, studious, and sagacious it may incline to expediency rather than principle.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

AS CLOSE AS CAN BE

BIDDING is no clear-cut exact science. In many situations there is no doubt at all about the best thing to do, but in others the question is as close as a question can be. Whatever a player decides at such a time, he has a feeling that maybe he is wrong, maybe he is right. But, if he is honest with himself, he will admit that he really has done nothing but make the best guess he could, after failing to think out exactly what course he should have taken.

South was very much upset with North for passing 3-Clubs, after he found that either 5-Clubs or 3-No Trumps could be made, in view of the location of the club K. North said it looked so close, he decided to pass, since South's last bid indicated weakness.

"If you had properly bid the diamonds first, then the clubs, and over my 2-No Trumps had rebid your clubs to show a five-five division, I would have bid 3-No Trumps," he said.

South replied: "Don't you know that my bidding diamonds second showed a stronger hand, because it constituted a reverse?"

"Yes," answered North. "But then, when you took out my 2-No Trumps into 3-Clubs, it was a weakness bid, since it gave me no new information; you had already indicated five clubs and four diamonds. But if you bid diamonds first, clubs next, your rebid of clubs would be giving new information, that the suits were both longer than four, and therefore would not discourage me into thinking you had shaded your first bid."

2,500 C.A.S.F. Studying French In Night Linguaphone Classes

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 12. —(CP).—When the Canadian Active Service Force moves to France the men will know an "oeuf" is French for "egg" and not just the sound a fellow makes when a packmule hoofs him in the stomach.

More than 2,500 members of the First Division are taking a simplified course in conversational French and no doubt others will follow. They are being taught after training hours by fellow soldiers and a little machine called a "linguaphone."

The night classes were inaugurated with the warm approval of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the division. They are under the direction of Hugues L. de Martigny of Montreal, associate director of educational services for Canada's forces overseas. The educational services were organized by the Canadian Legion War Services in conjunction with the Canadian Association For Adult Education.

The Linguaphone Institute helped get the scheme going by donating 100 of its miniature gramaphones.

Walking around the training grounds of the Canadians at night and in barrack halls you hear the little machines playing French-language records explaining, object by object, a poster hanging from the wall. The poster may show a family at home reading, writing, playing games; a barber shop in operation or the inside of a theatre.

Grouped around the sketch will be a group of soldier-pupils. And by the poster, pointer in hand, will stand a group leader calling attention to the various objects as the recorded voice on the linguaphone identifies them in French.

The course, in 15 lessons and embracing 3,000 words, is teaching the men French through the association of objects with sound. It is the way a child first learns to talk.

Germans Seize Shipping In Norwegian Harbors Report Troop, Gun Reinforcements Reach Oslo, Trondheim—Hold Narvik Road

BERLIN, April 13—(AP).—Germany today took over Norwegian ships in Norwegian harbors occupied by German forces and German crews were placed aboard the vessels, the German news agency announced.

German sources claimed that the German positions in Norway were being strengthened "by the hour," with reinforcements reaching Oslo "in large numbers" and with heavy artillery reaching Trondheim to strengthen the coast defences.

German troops east of Narvik, far northern Norwegian ore port, have taken possession of the rail line to the Swedish border, the agency claimed.

PARIS, April 13—(AP-Havas).—Military dispatches received here today indicated the emergency of a comparatively well-defined battle-line around Oslo, with the Norwegians checking the German invaders and in some areas even putting them to rout.

West of Oslo, according to latest reports, the defending forces held the banks of the Hallingsdalen River between Lake Tyri and the Drammen Fjord. It was clear that the Germans had not managed to cross the Drammen.

Northward, the German columns were checked at Eidsvoldbakke, on the Vormen River. Eidsvold is considerably south of Hamar and Elverum, scene of combats Thursday and Friday.

It appeared that in this region Norwegian detachments had not only halted but driven back the motorized column which pushed against Hamar.

East of Oslo, the Nazis have not crossed the gorge of the Clommen River or the Narrow, twisting fjord through which it enters the sea a few miles from the Swedish frontier. The Norwegians still held Frederikstad, at the mouth of the fjord. They seemed to be pivoting their defence on Moss, a port between Frederikstad and Oslo on the Oslo Fjord.

On the southern coast no new developments came to light. The Germans have occupied several ports there, in-

Swedes Shape Forces For Battle

Cabs Pack Airfields To Bar Landing Of Invading Fliers

STOCKHOLM, April 13—(AP).—Sweden made urgent preparations today to fight, if necessary, in defence of her neutrality while German troops and warplanes strengthened the Nazi hold on Norway.

Along the southern Swedish coast, airfields were packed with parked taxicabs and other automobiles to prevent airplanes from landing.

Throughout the country, bomb shelters hastily are being constructed and vehicles are being converted for burning charcoal in order to save precious gasoline.

The "man-in-the-street," having heard Premier Pehr Albin Hansson's broadcast warning last night of Sweden's precarious position, apparently is resolved to back up his declaration that the country will maintain its neutrality, no matter at what sacrifice.

No Demands—Yet.

Hansson said there had been no demand on Sweden for use of her territory "by any belligerent nation" but that "if such a demand should ever be made, Sweden would have to refuse to comply with it."

"Since war now has been brought to Sweden's door, she must even intensify her military preparations," he declared. "This explains why the Swedish Government during the past days has taken certain additional measures."

In Norway, meanwhile, a German force broke through Norwegian defences between Moss, 35 miles south of Oslo, and Holen, 10 miles closer to the capital. Since the Germans were advancing toward Oslo they were presumed to be newly-landed

Italian Fleet Gathers For "Spring Training" As Press Hails Nazi Victory In Norway; Navy Bombers Blow Up Bergen Shell Dump

ROME, April 13.—(AP).—Amid unusual secrecy because of war-time conditions, the Italian fleet gathered to-day to embark Monday on manoeuvres which naval officials described as the regular spring training.

While concentration points were not disclosed, there were indications that naval preparations were being made at the southern seaport of Taranto.

It was assumed that naval reservists had been called up for their usual training period.

Meanwhile the Italian press speculated on the possibility of the war spreading to new fields in the wake of fighting in Scandinavia, which most Fascist commentators called a first round victory for Germany.

STOCKHOLM, April 13.—(AP)—The correspondent of the Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter said the Norwegians still held the ruins of Elverum, where about 50 persons were killed and 100 injured by German bombers.

Three hundred Germans were reported en route to Elverum, however, by bus and automobile. Other German troops were said to have reached Skarnes, 10 miles south of Kongsvinger, where Norwegian volunteers returning from the Finnish war were opposing the advance.

Almost every highway in Southern Norway was reported blocked at bridges blasted to stop the German troops.

PARIS, April 13.— (CP-Havas.) — Rowing quietly across the Rhine in the 2 a.m. darkness, German troops attempted a surprise attack against a French casemate on a small island 2 miles from the Swiss border, but were driven off easily by machine-gun and rifle fire.

The communique also told of the first infantry activity in weeks on the banks of the Rhine around Strasbourg and east of Mulhouse.

LONDON, April 13.—(CP).—The Exchange Telegraph to-day quoted the Swedish radio as reporting that the Norwegians had blown up a bridge at Askim, south of Oslow, while German troops were crossing it, killing a great number.

LONDON, pril 13.—(CP). — The Admiralty announced to-day that aircraft of the naval air arm blew up a munitions warehouse at Bergen, Norway, yesterday and bombed German warships, A motor torpedo boat was machine-gunned and transport and supply ships were bombed, it said. Bergen is one of the Norwegian ports occupied by the Germans in their invasion.

An Admiralty statement said:

"Operations against the enemy in Norwegian waters continue.

"Yesterday attacks were carried out by the fleet air arm against enemy warships, transports and supply ships at Bergen.

"Three large transports or supply ships were bombed.

"A warehouse containing munitions was blown up and a motor torpedo boat was machine-gunned.

"Weather conditions were most unfavorable.

"One of our machines made a forced landing in the sea close to an island. The crew of two were observed to leave the aircraft.

"The remaining aircraft returned to their base in safety."

LONDON, April 13.—(CP).— Three German ships, captured by the British navy off the Norwegian coast, were brought into northern ports to-day manned by British prize crews.

The ships were all trawlers, the 393-ton Nordland, the 344-ton Blankenburg and the 247-ton Friesland.

Rumania Ends Supplies To Germany

Halt In Car Loadings Follows Reich Curb On Exports

BUCHAREST, April 13.—(AP)—Fears that German- Rumanian trade relations are rapidly nearing a crisis were expressed here today as Rumania suspended the loading of fresh cars for the Reich preliminary to imposing an embargo on export of commodities needed for domestic use.

The suspension of car loading followed Germany' action in banning export of a long list of articles to Rumania—among them metallurgical coke, vital to the Rumanian ore industry.

Loading of Danube river oil barges was suspended for several days, but Rumanian authorities said that high water at Giugiu was responsible. German trade quarters called this explanation a "pretext."

Official sources said that the economic council of the Rumanian cabinet was drafting a list of raw materials which would be embargoed on the ground they are needed for internal consumption.

It was expected generally this action would be followed by stiff demands from Germany—perhaps insisting that Rumania cut her trade with the Allies and direct her exports almost wholly to the Reich.

Sources close to the government, however, said that any such demands would be rejected.

An apparent indication of the serious view which the government takes of the general situation was an urgent meeting which Premier Gheorghe Tatarescu held last night with the Rumanian general staff.

Reports have been current here that Germany has warned Balkan trade circles that any commercial favors accorded the Allies at the expense of the Reich would be regarded as "unneutral" and might have serious consequences.

British Navy Playing Cat And Mouse Game With Germans Holding Norse Ports As Fjords Make Surprise Landings Difficult

LONDON, April 13—(CP).—The naval war in the complicated seas off the Norwegian coasts turned today to a deadly conflict between British and German warplanes.

German warships which escaped destruction after having covered the landing of German expeditionary forces in Norway, apparently were attempting to hurry back to their protected home ports while the British harried them from overhead with bomb and gunfire.

The Air Ministry announced loss of eight aircraft in strong bomber attacks on the fleeing German ships Friday, and said that two other planes came down at sea on the way home.

Four German Messerschmitt fighters were shot down, the Air Ministry reported, adding that two more were believed to have been destroyed and others were damaged.

The heaviest British plane losses were suffered in attacking German warships in Kristiansand Fjord on the Skaggerak, where the Ministry said they encountered "strong opposition."

Another bomber formation, flying northward toward Stavanger, battled a large force of German pursuit planes which apparently were assigned to protect the retreating naval vessels.

(DNB, German news agency, said British bombers also raided Narvik, German-held port in the Arctic, but did no damage yesterday).

With the sealing of the Baltic Sea by a gigantic mine field planted in its North Sea approaches, including the Skagerrak and the Kattegat, the Allies navies counted on bottling up the remaining German fleet and thus simplifying the job of cutting the life-line between Germany and the Nazi forces in Norway.

Reports from Stockholm, Sweden, that the Norwegians were offering hot resistance against the invaders strengthened British belief that the Germans soon would be in an untenable position.

Wintry Flareup Kills Seven Through States

NEW YORK, April 13 — (AP).—Winter paid a belated visit to virtually all of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains to-day, carrying temperatures below freezing almost to the Gulf of Mexico as a premature heat wave brought 100-degree weather to the Southern Pacific slope.

At least seven deaths were charged to the wintry flareback that spread from one to five inches of snow from Indiana to North Carolina.

Farm experts feared young cotton plants and fruit trees suffered extensive damage, but they will be unable to determine extent of the loss for several days. Grain crops likewise were damaged in many areas.

Meantime, warmer weather in the north-west indicated normal spring temperatures were on the way back and weather forecaster J. R. Lloyd at Kansas City predicted they would

Nazi Norse Coup Temporary Whip on Balkans

LONDON, April 13—(CP).—The London Press held today that Adolf Hitler had no expectation of holding Norway more than perhaps three months—and that to dislodge him immediately, in the words of The Times, would impress the Balkans more "than a ton of pamphlets or a legion of lectures."

The Times said hesitation marking the attitude of southeastern European nations is "chiefly the reflection of their fears and doubts."

The Reich, it continued, may be expected to "take advantage of any fales move on the part of the Allies to tighten its grip on the Danubian countries by promises, by threats and ultimately by naked aggression.

COPENHAGEN, April 13.—(AP)—The British, French and Polish ministers and their staffs departed today for the neutral Netherlands, leaving behind hundreds of their nationals still seeking means of getting out of German- occupied Denmark.

Among those seeking help were scores of business men and their families, university students, Polish refugees and German Jews who were caught unprepared by the swiftnessof the Nazi invasion.

The train bearing the departing ministers—Howard Smith of Britain, Jean Bonnefoy-Sibour of France and Jan Starzetewski of Poland — was scheduled to reach the Netherlands frontier Sunday.

Firemen Virgil Carr and Bunny Osborne almost met the same fate at 11:30 today noon as Norman Meehan whose body they were searching for, when their punt capsized under the Lock Works bridge and dumped them into over four feet of swiftly rushing flood waters of the Jackson Park creek. The two men were carried under the mouth of the bridge for about fifteen or twenty feet before the pair managed to grab some of the stringers. A willing rescue crew got busy immediately on the planking covering the creek and sawed a hole from which the two men were eventually pulled from a chilly footing in their sunken craft sluggishly trying to tug them downstream.

Russia And Germany Plot A Revolution In Mexico, To Set Up Puppet State

By JOSEPH H. SHORT
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Representative Martin Dies (Dem.-Texas) said today he had information that Russia and Germany were plotting to bring on a revolution in Mexico and set up a puppet government on the doorstep of the United States.

The chairman of the committee probing unAmerican activity told newsmen that Communist Russia was keeping alive, for use in a Mexican upheaval, "the same organizations" which functioned in the Spanish civil war.

Questioning Actions

This information, the Texan declared, constituted one of the reasons why his committee was questioning veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, an organization of United States citizens who fought for the Barcelona government in Spain.

Dies said that 5,000 to 6,0000 Americans were recruited by Communists for the brigade and that a military force of similar strength "might turn the decision," in Mexico. He was informed, he added, that Communist organizations, in the United States were prepared to begin a new recruiting drive for a Mexican coup.

The committee head said that his informants included "elective officials" in Mexico and "one or two United States senators," all of whose names he withheld. Among the things they told him, he declared, was that 10,000 Communists already had moved into Mexico from Spain and France.

Information Authentic

Dies said he "certainly" regarded the information as authentic.

"The same crowd is perfecting plans to do in Mexico the same thing they did in Spain," he added.

Their strategy, he continued, was to seek victory in Mexico's national election next July and, that failing, to resort to force.

"I know," Dies said, "that German agents and Communist agents are active in Mexico now. I think we'll be able to develop this fully."

Pending heartenings on this subject before his committee, which was in recess today, Dies called on the justice department to "be prepared to deter any attempts to recruit for this Mexican campaign."

Go After Veterans

He expressed the opinion that the department should institute proceedings against those who recruited for the Spanish war and also any Spanish war veterans who falsified their passport applications in order to reach Spain.

Anthony Demaio of Hartford, Conn., a former officer in the Lincoln Brigade, refused at the committee's hearing yesterday to tell anything about the passport he used.

Another witness, Milton Wolff of Brooklyn, said he "might have told the State Department he wished to visit an uncle in Johannesburg, South Africa, when he left for Spain, but did not recall whether he swore to that statement.

Men Killed in Cafe

Other witnesses told of executions and brutality against Americans in the brigade. William C. McCuistion of Frederick, Md., said he saw "Demaoi kill two men" in a Barcelona cafe.

McCuistion later amended this statement, saying one of the two men died on the spot and the other was moved to a hospital, where he presumed he died.

The man who died instantly, McCuistion said, was an American named Mathews and the other was a Canadian named Moran. Both were "stragglers" from the army, he added, and Demaio was engaged in rounding up deserters.

"Farmer" Spy Ordered Off Routs Princess Pats With Stink Bombs

ALDERSHOT, England, April 13.—(CP)— The entrenched soldiers facing each other across "No man's Land in this morning's dawn were not "playing for keeps" or a farmer who pushed his wheelbarrow over the rolling acres between them must have found a short cut to heaven.

The trenches had been held throughout the night by men of Princess Patricia's Light Infantry. They were opposing each other in a training exercise, each stealthily reconnoitring the other's position and seeking prisoners. As dawn brought a lull along the front, a farmer came over the hill and plodded straight across Hell's Kitchen within 10 yards of the trench.

A company sergeant major "head" him over, told him he was on No Man's Land, and said "scram."

"I've farmed hereabouts for 20 years," the farmer retorted with with a broad English accent, "and no bloomin' soldier can put me off an Aldershot field."

The sergeant major was considering strong arm methods when the farmer reached into his pocket, as though for a handkerchief. Instead he came out with three bombs and tossed them into the trench. They were stench bombs and, as the Pats fled up the trench, the farmer raced for the other lines.

Back at the barracks later, the sergeant major complained that the opposing team had been using civilians. His face took on hues of the sunrise when he was told the farmer

With neighboring Norway in the throes of a bloody conflict with Nazi Germany, Sweden is rushing her defence preparations in fear that she may be the next neutral to feel the sword of the Nazis at her throat. Island Paradise Has Mosquitoes

MIAMI, Fla., April 13 — (AP).— Two of nineteen Californians who planned to create an "ideal existence" on a lonely isle in the British West Indies, returned yesterday with word that more than half of the colonists had given up the idea.

E. A. Lawrence, a former San Francisco haberdashery salesman, and his wife declared ten of the colonists, including the leader, R. C. Irvine, had deserted East Caicos, 700 miles south-east of here, after several weeks' stay.

Lawrence declined to discuss in detail the difficulties encountered on the island, overrun by jackasses and infested with mosquitoes.

"I'll never go back," said Mrs. Lawrence. "I've had enough."

Irvine, his wife and four children, left in a native fishing boat, as did the others, Lawrence said, the leader explaining that mosquitoes and over-exposure to the sun were affecting his family's health.

King On Holiday In Virginia

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King left Ottawa Friday on a long-promised holiday in Virginia. He is expected to be absent about two weeks unless some development necessitates an earlier return.

Mr. King will stop at Washington on his way back from the Virginia resort where he will spend the next week, and is expected to call on President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, both old personal friends. He will also call on the British Ambassador, Lord Lothian, and Loring Christie, Canadian Minister.

Although he has been engaged long hours every day on the preparation and prosecution of Canada's war effort since last September, and just passed through the trying experience of a general election, the prime minister seemed well and in fine spirits when he said goodbye to associates.

cluding Ekersund, Kristiansand and Arendal. On the Atlantic at Bergen, Stavanger, Trondheim and Narvik the German troops apparently were tightly bottled between the British Navy and the Norwegian detachments in the mountains behind the cities.

Stockholm and Helsinki advices said the Germans had seized Halden, on the east bank of the Oslo Fjord south of Frederickstad. Refugees from there reached Uddevalla, Sweden, this morning. More than 1,300 automobile-loads in all were said to be at the Swedish frontier.

Turning on Swedes

BERLIN, April 13 (AP)—Criticism of alleged Swedish efforts to arouse opposition to German occupation of Norway was voiced in Berlin today, but authorized sources said the Swedish government had given assurances it was not responsible for any such agitation.

"The fact is," the authorized sources said, "that the German occupation of Norway is proceeding without hitch and without the slightest opposition from a large majority of the Norwegian people.

"If the Swedish press and radio persist in arousing a spirit of opposition in Norway, no favor is being done to the Norwegian people.

"Resistance, which fortunately is not being met by the German expeditionary force, would merely mean that Norway would suffer the fate of Poland."

Authorized commentators said they were not greatly impressed by British reports that new mine fields had cut Germany off completely from the North Sea.

"The British Navy cannot lay mines in spots which its ships cannot reach," they said.

"Moreover, the technical difficulties of laying a mine barrier across the deep waters of the Skagerrak present a problem which cannot be solved in a few days."

The Germans said they were awaiting some British action against the German positions in Norway.

"It is inconceivable," they said, "that such a great sea power like England would permit such a challenge to its prestige to go unanswered."

8 British Bombers Downed

BERLIN, April 13.—(AP)—The German high command reported today that eight British bombers had been shot down at Bergen in a battle in which, it acknowledged, Germany lost two planes.

(This, presumably, was the same engagement in which DENB, German News Agency, reported yesterday, eight British bombers were downed by German Messerschmitts.)

The German communique said: "Conditions in Norway further improved during the course of April 12 after the arrival on schedule of additional reinforcements. German troops in the region of Narvik kept busy expanding the occupied territories and protecting militarily important points in the neighborhood.

"The British made no attempt to land anywhere. An air raid the afternoon of April 12 on Narvik port was unsuccessful. One British plane was shot down. Conditions were unchanged and quiet in the Trondheim region. Consolidation of coast defences progressed.

"The British attempted an air raid with strong forces on Bergen during the afternoon of April 12. Timely defence by the German air force, according to present information, resulted in the shooting down of eight enemy planes, including one by anti-aircraft fire.

"Similiarly unsuccessful was an ari raid on Stavanger, carried out in numerous waves late in the afternoon. One enemy plane was shot down.

"In the Oslo region the day passed without noteworthy conflicts. Scheduled movements there were carried out without a hitch. Nowhere at sea was there noteworthy fighting yesterday.

"In the west the day passed without special developments. The air force carried out several reconnaissance flights over northern and eastern France and over Paris."

Merchant Ships Left Alone

(By the Canadian Press.)

Naval warfare attending Germany's invasion of Norway kept the bulk of Nazi seapower at work in the actual theatre of war, with the result that few merchant ships became the victims of German raiders in the week ending April 12.

Numerous transports were sunk in the Skagerrak and other northern waters, but, although normally merchant ships, these vessels are classed as ships of war when carrying troops.

No Allied vessel was sunk during the week. The Allies snared one German merchantman, the 7,129-ton Amasis. A Norwegian vessel was sunk before Norway joined the Allies against Germany, while one Swedish sinking and a Greek loss completed the week's casualties.

Father Drowns Imbecile Son

HOUGHTON, Mich., April 13 — (AP). — A father's "mercy killing" of his deaf, dumb and blind son—by drowning him in a wash boiler—was disclosed here last night.

Sheriff John G. Salmi announced that Abraham White, 53-year-old railroad section hand, had confessed killing his son Frederick, 15, at the family home to-day while the mother was shopping. Frederick's head had been held under water until he drowned, Salmi said.

The boy, Sheriff Salmi said, was mentally incompetent and suffered frequent convulsions. He was the couple's only child.

Upon her return home Mrs. White found the body and a note to her saying:

"Dear Mandy:

"Frederick had a hard convulsion after you left. I am not going to see him suffer any longer. We have prayed to the Lord to take him away, but it hasn't happened, so I am going to do away with him. I know it will be a terrible shock to you, but I hope you can stand it."

White was arrested last night at the funeral home where his son's body was taken. The sheriff said he would be charged with murder.

ZURICH, Switzerland, April 13.—(CP-Havas).— On the personal order of Adolf Hitler a German officer was shot last Wednesday for saying that the Nazi attack on Scandinavia was equivalent to a self-blockade of the Reich, a well-informed source reported to-day.

The officer, identified as Col. Felix Von Eichhorn, on the General Staff of the Seventh Department of the War Ministry, was arrested and thrown into Moabit prison the day before his execution.

PARIS, April 12.—(AP).—Regarding activities at sea, connected with the fighting in the north, naval authorities here revealed that about 20 French warships are cooperating closely with the British fleet and Polish units. All these vessels are under the command of Admiral Sir Charles Forbes, the British commander-in-chief.

It was officially denied that the French cruiser Emile Bertin had been sunk, as claimed in a German broadcast to-day.

LONDIN, April 13.—(CP). —The crew of a Royal Air Force coastal command plane which yesterday scouted German troops and ships along 50 miles of southwestern Norway's shore, told this tale of their adventure to-day:

A burst of shots form a German ground battery ripped into the plane and struck the pilot in the head.

Dripping blood, he climbed into a cloud bank, only to be warned by the rear gunner that the starboard engine was losing oil. The engine quit at 4,000 feet, but the wounded pilot brought the plane limping home on the port engine, although the wings and tail were a mass of LONDON, April 13.—(CP). — A Royal Air Force plane damaged a German Dornier flying boat and raked a German destroyer with hundreds of rounds of machine-gun fire in a battle in the North Sea, it was announced to-day.

Diving through a snowstorm, the pilot of a coastal command bomber opened fire at 1,500 feet and swept the decks of the destroyer until he was only 500 feet above her.

The plane attacked the flying boat immediately afterward and reported it lost height with both engines afire and with only a bare chance of reaching land.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins By Rev. E. R. James

A DREAM COMES TRUE

Jacob dreamed a dream and, behold, a ladder was set up on on earth and the top of it reached to heaven, and, behold, the angels of God ascending and descending on it. Gen. 28: 12.

Do you ever dream? This dream is one of the most famous and familiar in the Old Testament Scriptures. Multitudes of Jews throughout the centuries before its fulfillment heard the story and wondered when it would be fulfilled.

It is a thrilling word picture developed by master story tellers of those ancient days. It is more than forty centuries since that tired young man laid his head upon a stone for a pillow. He had left his father's home and fled from the wrath of his brother Esau whom he had again deceived. Truly he was a supplanter.

This is the age for the scientific study of the mind. Modern scholars can give you reasons why you dream along certain lines. Just put yourself in the place of Jacob. He is lonely. He has not the shelter and hospitality of his father's home. Yet that is not all. Jehovah is his father's God. Can Jehovah be near him in the days of his exile and loneliness in a far country. This is the tremendous and most important thought in his mind. Many centuries had to pass before the Jew realized that Jehovah was more than a family, or tribal, or even a national God—that He is indeed the One Living God.

But the thought that night uppermost in Jacob's mind is:—"Does Jehovah, my father's God, care for me? Can He be near me?" Then he made the great discovery that Jehovah was in that place. It was a new revelation to a man, whose character was far from perfect or honorable. Yet there was in his heart a spiritual faculty, a religious sense, which would grow and develop as the years went by. It is very important to remember that Jacob, the supplanter, had this spiritual faculty; he is the true son of Abraham, the father of the faithful. He had faith to believe in a spiritual power greater than himself. It is this spiritual gift which has been developed in the Jews and enabled God through them to reveal to the world that He is indeed the one, living God and the creator of the universe.

This knowledge of Jehovah was a progressive revelation, here a little, there a little, line upon line, precept upon precept according as they were able to bear it.

Then in the fulness of time by the operation of the Holy Spirit Christ was born of the Virgin Mary and became man. God crossed the gulf and touched man in Christ Jesus our Lord Jesus Christ is the ladder set up on earth and reaching up to heaven because He is both God and man. Years of quiet growth followed. As a mature man of thirty He begins His ministry. He meets Nathaniel, an Israelite without guile and to him he develops the ancient dream and its interpretation. "Verily, verily, I say unto you, hereafter ye shall see the heaven open and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man." He speaks of His ascension and return to the Father. But before that He must as man pass through all the experiences of man and die a shameful and painful death upon the Cross.

He died. He rose from the dead because He is both God and man. In Him was fulfilled the ancient plan of God:—"Let us make man in Our image." Jesus Christ is the New Man and Head of a new race. By His ascension to heaven He was exalted mankind. It is possible by the power of the Holy Spirit for every man of every race and tongue to become like Christ and be a son of God. This is the mystery of the gospel. This makes Christianity an universal religion and breaks down barriers of race and tongue. "Ye are all one man in Christ Jesus." That is why as Christians we offer our prayers to the heavenly Father through Jesus Christ our Lord.

BEHOLD, THE MAN.

Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 14 is Hosea 6, 11, 14, the Golden Text being I John 1:19, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.")

About fifteen years after Amos had been prophesying to the Hebrews, came Hosea, whose name means "help," derived from a Hebrew word meaning "to save." It is suggested that the name may be a contraction of a larger form which might have signified "God is help." Hosea is the same as Hoshea.

While Amos threatened the people with dire disasters if they did not give up their evil ways and followed Jehovah, Hosea emphasized the love and forgiveness of God in all his preaching. "Come, and let us return unto Jehovah; for He hath torn, and He will heal us; He hath smitten, and He will bind us up," is the subject of his message.

Hosea's ministry was in the northern kingdom, in Israel. We know nothing of him except that he is said to be the son of Beeri, of whom we know nothing further. It is stated that his labors were carried on "in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, the son of Joash, king of Israel." It is though that his ministry started a short time before the death of Jeroboam, which took place in 745 B.C. It is also thought that Hosea's ministry terminated about 725 B.C.

Conditions Bad

The conditions in Israel were terrible at the time of Hosea. Jeroboam was succeeded by his son, Zechariah, who was executed by Shallum after six months. Shallum was only able to keep the throne one month, when he was attacked and killed by Menahem. This man was crafty, and kept the throne by appealing to Pul, king of Assyria, to whom he pair 1,000 talents of silver "that his hand might be with him to confirm the kingdom in his hand." With this help he was able to keep his position for some years.

Under Jeroboam there had been much material prosperity, as we saw in our last lesson, but morals were indeed at a low ebb. False swearing, murder, stealing, unfaithfulness and one deed of blood after another marked the time.

Part of the time Hosea talks to the people as a prohphet, pleading with them to return to the Lord. Then he talks as Jehovah, reproving them, always gently, for the wrongs they have done and the brevity of their repentance and right doing

"O Ephraim (Hosea's name for Israel), what shall I do unto thee? O Judah, what shall I do unto thee? For your goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the dew that goeth early away."

Again He says: "For I desired goodness, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt-offerings.

"But they like Adam have transgressed the covenant; there have they dealt treacherously against me."

Made Rich and Powerful

Jehovah, through Hosea, reminds the Israelites how He has brought them out of the land of Egypt and given them every good thing—made them rich and powerful. In beautiful, poetic language Hosea quotes Jehovah as saying:

"When Israel was a child, then I loved him and called my son out of Egypt.

"As they called them, so they went from them; they sacrificed unto Baalim, and burned incense to graven images.

"I taught Ephraim also to go, taking them by their arms; but they knew not that I healed them.

"I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love; and I was to them as they that take off the yoke on their jaws, and I laid meat unto them.

"He shall not return into the land of Egypt, but the Assyrian shall be his king, because they refused to return.

"And the sword shall abide on his cities, and shall consume his branches, and devour them, because of their own counsels.

"And my people are bent to backsliding from me; though they called them to the most High none at all would exalt Him.

"How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? how shall I deliver thee, Israel?' This is a cry of anguish from a loved child who has strayed from the home and will not return, of a loving father who yearns to forgive and make all right. Doesn't it remind you of Jesus weeping over Jerusalem?

HOSEA

If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.—I John 1:9.

Pictures Explain Bible

Great pictures are in some cases interpreters of Scripture. Few modern paintings have attracted as much attention as "Desting and Humanity," by Jef Lumfracis. It has been exhibited in most Europen capitals, and attracted supreme attention at the St. Louis Exhibition in 1904, at which it was awarded a special gold medal. Other titles for the picture are "The Inspiration of the Unattainable," and "The Hands." This last is its best known title.

In the centre of the picture two red gloved hands hold aloft the crucifix and the sceptre of state, these represent the church and the state two institutions by which men work out their desires. Around these are grouped all kinds of uplifted hands reaching out for something which they desire and have not. There are the weather beaten hands of the toiler, and the delicately-shaped hands of refined women. On the left are pictures of Buddha, Vishnu, and the imaged gods of Europe with smoke and incense an instance of man's devout aspiration. On the picture's right are the hands which represent the destructive forces of human society.

The artist has represented Fate, or Destiny, or God by a mysterious face which looks out of the picture, as from the centre of a sun, a face burdened with man's burden; inscrutable, hard and tender at the same time. This Destiny answers never a word to the passionate pleadings designated by the human hands.

This picture will be first of a series of sermons on "Pictures—Interpreters of Scripture" in St. Andrew's Church on next Sunday night.

Miss Schaeffer W M S Hostess

SPRINGVILLE, April 13—(ENS) Miss J. Schaeffer was hostess on Wednesday for the W.M.S. meeting. The president, Mrs. S. S. Staples, presided, and twenty-three ladies responded to the roll-call. It was decided to hold a thankoffering service at the last of April or first part of May. The president is to secure a speaker. Mrs. P. Neals offered her home for the Mothers' Day meeting when Mrs. J. Grandy will be in charge of the program. A letter was read from Mrs. G. Baird expressing appreciation of the remembrance sent to her sister, Mrs. Clarke, who is still ill in Nicholls Hospital.

Mrs. Staples chose the topic, "Friendship" for the worship period. She read the Scripture lesson and this was followed by prayer. She concluded her talk with the poem "Old Friends and New." This was followed by a reading "Gift of Friendship" by Mrs. Lloyd Whittington.

Miss Schaeffer spoke briefly on "A Friend." Mrs. J. Grandy, the Stewardship secretary, brought some helpful thoughts. Miss Esma Johnston had charge of the remainder of the program. Miss Helen Staples gave a reading 'Living in India."

Miss Johnston then conducted a quiz on India, in which all the members participated. This was most instructive and gave a much clearer view of life on one of the United Church mission fields. Mrs. Rowan gave a reading "If Christ Should Come To-night."

After the closing hymn the Mizpah benediction was repeated.

W. A. Meets.

A short meting of the W.A. was then held. The ladies were delighted with the new carpet for the church which Joseph Madill generously donated. Although it had been needed for some time, the buying of it was made possible at this time only by the generosity of Mr. Madill.

Mrs. Staples moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. H. Cathcart and Mrs. O. Murray for the selection of the carpet and the arrangements in connection with it.

A letter of appreciation was read from Miss Helen Staples thanking the society for the remembrance sent her.

At the close of the meetings lunch was served and an enjoyable social time spent.

The Golden Text

Hosea Tells of God's Love — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Hosea 6, 11, 14

Hosea, the prophet, whose name means "help," pleaded with the children of Israel to quit their wickedness and "return to the Lord."

If they will but return unto the Lord, Hosea tells Israel, "His branches shall spread and his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon."

"They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine; the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon."

Israel shall say, "What have I to do more with idols? . . . for the ways of the Lord are right." (GOLDEN TEXT—I John 1:9)

Quick Action

Canadians may at times feel critical of the attitude of United States regarding the war; they may consider the republic has as much at stake in the outcome as the Allies, and we believe that contention is as sound as can be.

But Canadians could hardly have failed to notice some of the recent events. Within 24 hours of the Nazi invasion of Norway and Denmark Washington had taken some decisive steps which were not far removed from being radical. The way was cleared for delivery to the Allies of the latest model fighting planes, varieties which had not before been exported.

The next move was an executive order from President Roosevelt by which he shut the gate on the withdrawal of any money or wealth in United States owned by citizens of Norway or Denmark. Germany seized all the gold and international assets when she invaded Austria, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia. Norwegian and Danish assets in United States are placed at $30,000,000. Since the beginning of the year Norway has shipped $33,000,000 in gold to the States, and German custom would be to seize the capital of the country and then lay hands on the assets no matter where located. President Roosevelt on his own initiative has given notice to Hitler that the plundering is not going to proceed as far as his nation is concerned. We consider those moves as being highly significant.

Enemies They Remain

German prisoners at Petawawa, Ont., and Kananaskis, Alberta, are not trustworthy. We learn they require a deal of watching. They are well housed and well fed, and given a reasonable amount of work to do, but they are plotters.

Those who have charge of them say it is necessary to watch their correspondence closely at all times. Many of them are well schooled in using various substances as invisible ink—lemon juice which can be revealed under ultra violet lamps; potato juice, starch and water and so on which becomes revealed when baked.

Parcels which they received cannot be handed out without the closest expert examination. There is that ever-present attempt to send out or receive information. The manner in which they are used in the Canadian camps compared to the life of prisoners in German concentration centres, makes no appeal to them. They have been put under detention as enemies, and enemies they remain. One does not need to stretch the imagination to perceive how much information these people had been forwarding to Germany when they had their freedom.

Should Stop This

An article has been released by the Press Association in London for use in papers there, and it deals with something which is not pleasing to Canadians now in the Old Land on military service. It has to do with the way in which a certain element of the population in London has been looking upon Canadian soldiers as strangers and therefore as fair game for a form of extortion.

Canadians are now and then lost in the blackout in London and the safest way to reach their destination is to call a taxi. One soldier wanted to go from Piccadilly Circus to the Y.M.C.A. in Tottenham Court Road. The taxi driver took a long way to get there and the bill was $3.80. Any one who knows London would say the fare should have been about "1 and 6" or about 35 cents in our money.

It is reported too that shopkeepers in some cases, knowing that a stranger can readily become confused in counting English money, have short-changed Canadians. The average soldier when on leave is apt to spend his money, but it is mighty poor spirit and sportsmanship when people in London get down to the old game of "rooking" a soldier who has gone there to see active service on behalf of the Empire.

We Are Responsible

Lloyd Bell is 17 years old and unemployed. Possibly that is an early age for applying that familiar tag, but such is the method of recording adopted in a despatch which tells of what happened to him.

His home was in Minnedosa, Man., but at the moment he is in hospital in Toronto and in critical conditian as he fell under a train and both legs were severed.

He had been working a few months on a farm near Orillia and had started on the way home. Now he's a cripple for life if he lives, and the question comes again—how about these young fellows who count themselves as being unemployed at 17 years of age.

In our country people do pretty much as they please. After a youth passes what we call "school age" we bother little enough with what is taking place. We consider that is a problem to be worked out by themselves or at home. But too often it is not worked out at all. The boy may make the rounds and find there is nothing at which he can work and decides then the thing is useless and he drifts. After that he's bumming rides on the train and then it's hard to bring him back.

If we had not admitted responsibility to the youth of 17 when he was able bodied, we feel that in some way now without legs he will become what is known as a charge upon the state. It is not too much to state that we, collectively, did nothing about it when he was roaming. We had nothing better to which to point, and there remains a wide-open field in which we have so far done very little.

Thank You, Sir

Wallace R. Campbell, general manager of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada, has resigned from the War Supply Board, and one sufficient reason would be that the Board no longer exists. Its work has been taken over by the new Department of Munitions and Supply, under Hon. C. D. Howe. Mr. Campbell will continue in the capacity of consultant for one day a week or for longer if needed.

Mr. Campbell was responsible to a great extent in guiding the formation of organization for the placing of war orders. He handled about $150,000,000 of expenditure and brought to that task an intelligent training in the business of buying properly and to advantage. He was in a true sense a "$1 a year man" as he drew nothing from the government.

When Prime Minister King expressed his thanks for Mr. Campbell's services he was speaking for the Canadian people in general. Words of thanks and appreciation are too seldom used in public service and those directed toward Mr. Campbell are well placed.

A Chance To Give

If explanation were needed as to why the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough is asking for $15,000, then such explanation has been given. And adequately given. The work in the city calls for $8,000 and $7,000 is needed as this city's share for the services which the Y.M.C.A. renders overseas.

There is nothing unsual about a Y.M.C.A. asking for support. We never heard of one which could pay its own way because the Y is not operated on that basis. One can figure that out readily. The average cost for giving all services to a member is $17 per year, and there are 241 young men who pay from $7 to $11 per year, and 378 boys whose fees are from $2 to $5. It is the essence of Y.M.C.A. work that the boys and the young men be looked after, and it would be folly to have it so arranged that because a boy could not pay his way in its entirety he would have to stay away. If that were done the Y.M.C.A. would become nothing more than a club house for people who could afford to pay for what they received.

The Red Triangle of the Y.M. follows the soldiers wherever they go. The workers who organize this campaign and carry it through to completion are not paid. They receive not a dollar in any way, so in that way your dollar goes full value into the treasury.

As It Was On The Tenth

At a meeting of a guild of organists and choir-directors in New York there was discussion on the singing of hymns. One musician spoke thus:

"There are some glorious musical themes from the old schools which are not today used. Our people regard them as too difficult for the congregations to learn, and I admit some of them would need transposing to bring them down to the range of the average congregational singing."

So that idea of getting the hymns down to the place where the average person can sing them without shedding a button is still to the front. It was so even on the Tenth Concession.

For a long time there was no organ in the church at the corner of the Tenth and the Broken Front Road. They had hymn books and there were notes and words therein, but we always doubted whether many of the folk knew exactly what the notes had to do with the singing of the hymn.

Elder Miller attended to the starting of the hymns. Possibly he should have been called always by the title of precentor, but most times he was referred to as Tuning-fork Miller. Grandfather never approved of that loose manner of speech, neither did he raise serious objection.

Elder Miller sat in the front seat at the end of the pew. When it came time to sing the minister generally read over the first verse, but that seemed unnecessary as people knew the words. They kept singing the same hymns year after year and if a strange hymn had been brought out like as not the person who made the selection would have been looked upon with suspicion.

The Elder went into his right-hand hip pocket for the tuning fork and he always rose before the rest of the people. He tapped that fork on the end of the pew, then held it close to his ear. If you happened to be sitting near you could hear the thing hum. Then with that particular note as the basis on which to operate the Elder began a one-man searching party for the elusive note which he would finally select as the proper one to pass on to the congregation. It did not always come willingly. Possibly it was something like searching for the lost chord, but the Elder hummed up a little and then he hummed down a trifle, and when he decided he was close enough to the mark he turned and faced the congregation and the majestic business of praise in song was on.

The trouble was that when the Elder's voice was being put together in the first place it was strung up rather high. He talked that way and he drove his team in the same key, and when he was shoving a cow over before putting down his three-legged stool he never departed from it. So he generally got the hymns pitched up too high. He could reach the top notes himself without gasping for breath or turning red in the face but the rest of the folk found the going hard. Grandfather never was much at singing but he was a wise man and knew when he was defeated. He would just quit trying until the thing came down to where he could handle a few words of praise within reach, but when Elder Miller started leading up the hill again grandfather remained in the valley of song.

It was something that used to get talked about on Sunday at the dinner table on Lot Four. The hired man used to sit in the back seat and he played a mouth organ and wasn't bad with the cracker bones, so he could tell pretty close how high up the Elder had gone with the morning hymns. Folk used to say something should be done about it, but nothing ever was. The professionals in New York were dealing with something the same, so we take it the problem is still waiting for settlement or decision.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It's no use going out looking for happiness. If it's not within you then for you it does not not exist.

And where, might we ask, would the Empire be were it not for the British navy?

Begins to look as though we would have to hang up the baby's stocking again.

Yes, it's a little confusing this time of year when a man does not know whether he's going to get a chance to use the rake or the snow shovel.

Soldier at London, Ont., drew 60 days C.B. for being drunk while on duty, so he won't even have a chance at the 24th of May firecrackers.

It has been claimed this is the ideal time for Italy to enter the war, but a streak of caution in the nature of the Brantford Expositor leads it to suggest it is also a good time to stay out.

John Fletcher, who lives near Merlin, Ont., celebrated his 95th birthday, and the one extra to his diet for the day was a second dish of porridge. And that would hardly come under the heading of over-indulgence.

DIFFICULT

(By A.R.K.)

¶ When war keeps spreading out its hate, I try to keep right up to date, identify each place; but now that things are changing fast, I've most concluded now at last, it is a hopeless chase.

¶ For knowledge I had quite a thirst, I learned the names in Poland first, and tried to master them; I knew where all the places were, where life was saddened to a blur, I'd spot them quick again.

¶ And when the Finnish war began, more maps I got so I could scan, and learn the names anew; but most of them they puzzled me, for they were long you will agree, and most three inches through.

¶ And when I got familiarized, the little Finnish ship capsized, and war was on no more; and then more news from Balkan state, where there was chanted hymns of hate, names I'd not heard before.

¶ And then came Norway with its names, I racked again my weary brains, I tried to understand; the names of towns and cities there, where battles raged from sea and air, where troops began to land.

¶ So I get woozy in the head, so many maps I've seen and read, my tongue gets twisted too; I long to see reports begin, about them marching on Berlin—for then we'll be near through.

A "POPULAR" WAR

IN SPITE of some exceptions, the historian will have some cause to single out the behavior of the British public during the winter of 1939-40 as one of the most remarkable manifestations of the strength which can inhere in a democracy. If ever there was popular war, not in the sense of our entry into it provoking mass hysteria in the capitals of all the belligerent countries, but in the sense of its being the outcome of a policy which was grounded in the popular will, it is the present war. Yet the popular determination to oust the Nazis from the government of Germany and to break the spirit of German aggressiveness has been accompanied by great realism and an extraordinary patience in waiting for the results which the public is unswervingly determined to see achieved.—Glasgow Herald.

Letters To The Editor

HE SAT WITH DISRAELI

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Mention in a recent letter to The Examiner of the enthusiastic welcome given by the British people to Disraeli and the Marquis of Salisbury when they returned from the Berlin convention of 1878 bringing "Peace with Honor" elicited from Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., a very interesting story about the lately deceased veteran lawyer, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, K.C.

At that time Mr Hall was in England and approached the Albert Hall in London where a crowded mass meeting was being extended to the statesmen.

Mr. Hall thought he would like to go in but had no ticket or pass, so approached a policeman on the subject. The officer of the law said he was sorry but there was nothing doing. "But," said Mr. Hall, "I am a member of the Colonial Press." He was asked what paper he represented and told the policeman it was The Review of Peterborough in Canada.

The official made enquiries and returned saying that he was sorry the press table was crowded but would the gentleman mind taking a seat on the platform. Of course the gentleman did not, and was escorted thereto by an usher and was actually given a seat within touching distance of the great Disraeli.

Incidentally when the picture Disraeli" was shown here, Mr. Hall went to see it and remarked that the representation of Disraeli in the picture was so life-like that it brought back vividly to his memory this platform appearance in the Albert Hall sixty years ago. This was a great compliement to George Arliss, the actor who played the title role.

CAVAN COUNCIL

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—It is indeed very funny our country has gone the way it has, especially our country roads, which have cost the people so much in paying out good money in taxes and for the upkeep of our roads. Some are like a teetering board with a fat man on one end and held it down, because he could slide over the road with his neighbor's car, looking after (his) business instead of looking after his well-paid road job. Why is the Cavan Council so slack to let such a things go on year after year? This 12th Concession has cost so much money. Our road was not kept open for neither mail man or other human being. We have not been getting our mail regularly at all due to the condition of the roads, after spending considerable money for snow fences and the road still not kept open.

What has our Cavan Council chamber got? Chesterfields! Do they never go out, that a body can say a few words to them or see the condition of the roads? The man either does not like work or wish to look after the interest of the road, but believe opening it up in the centre of the road by making a canal, washing the gravel into the south ditch. If the ditch on the north side and the culverts had have been looked after in the proper time the road would not have been in such a condition.

I am a taxpayer and so are my neighbors and there are not many of us share like a man on a road job.

Wake up, Mr. Reeve, we are also paying for the big snow plows on the gravel road, and it happens to run out of gas when it comes to the 12th Concession, making us go eight or ten mile out of our road and not giving us all a square deal and a chance to see Peterborough.

INFORMATION, PLEASE

Editor Examiner:

Sir;—In my home farm magazine, I see the following interesting statement credited to Allan C. Fraser of Peterborough, secretary-manager of the National Dairy Council of Canada: "On living expenses and machinery, tools, farm wages and other production necessities, Canadian farmers spend $670,000,000 a year."

Frankly, this rural reader cannot understand the above declaration, and I think that Mr. Fraser could (if he would) furnish a bright explanatory breakdown of the above figure?

As you know, Canada's 700,000 farmers are the nearest and best customers for Canadian factories, and I am all in favor of getting adequate purchasing-power into those rural hands. I presume, however, that the general term "other production necessities" would cover a lot of ground? I am wondering if it takes care of the $60,000,000 farm payment as interest on farm debt annually? Does the term cover the farm cheque for freight to Canadian railways every year amounting to more than $65,000,000?

Premier John Bracken (Manitoba) reminded us the other day that: "One-third of the population of Canada is directly associated with agriculture — but receives only one-twelfth of the national income." Does Mr. Fraser consider that the sum indicated, i.e. $670,000,000, is agriculture's share of that income?

CURIOUS.

WORK NEEDED

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The other day I heard the father of eight children say he would have to enlist again to support his family. This man gave two years of service in the last war overseas, and he has been out of work nearly all winter. The work he did few years ago was always given to veterans, and now we see childless married men with nothing to prevent them from enlisting doing this work. They were in their cradles when this man was doing his bit in the last war. It hardly seems fair.

WORLD COURT AND POLICE FORCE AS WAR AIM

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—An editorial pointed once to the selfishness of nationalism and man's inability to discern the signs of the times, which the Lord Christ stated. This article commended collective security guaranteed by Britain, France and United States, but adjudged this unlikely on account of America's position of isolationism. It was suggested enduring peace could be established only if based on ideological grounds and not territorial expansion, which obviously is the totalitarian powers' chief objective.

Millions have signed agreements as objectors to war, but totalitarian diplomacy and war frightfulness soon terminated that, but the circumstances show democratic people still want peace and reject war as a necessary racial purifier, the view held by Nazi glorifiers of war.

The Christian view of war was vividly stated by Gen. Sherman of the American civil war and is too widely accepted to require restatement. The totalitarian concept of glorification of the state is contrary to the Christian view of the sovereignty of the individual, the state being the machinery to produce that result. Science and invention have transformed the world and will also destroy it unless spiritually controlled. Spiritual leaders are more responsible than are statesmen to make certain that not blind retrogression, but a new age is born worthy of this suffering and bloodshed, an age of justice and liberty for all.

Competitive armament makes of peace a crushing burden. Multitudes pray that swords be turned into plowshares. Prayer and service must go hand in hand. Every advance in civilization was opposed as impossible and time was when a red flag bearer preceded the first locomotive. When the carrying of arms was made illegal many said it was a curtailment of liberty. Abolish national armament and nations can abolish war. Replace this by a world court and police so that the gangster nations shall be held in check. House and consolidate world opinion now. "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."

Soldiers are no longer a novel sight on Peterborough streets, with leaves bringing scores of them home each week-end, most of them from the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment. Four of the men seen here are from that regiment, while the other four are all members of the Lindsay Battery. They are the only Peterborough men in that entire unit, and have been on active service probably longer than nearly any other Peterborough men, joining only a week or so after war had been declared.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:

ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.

CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.

BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer, who falls in love with Romany.

DOVER HAYWORTH, wealthy scion, who is growing fond of Cholly.

MYRA NOYES, famous radio star, who thought she was in love with Brent.

TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for liquor.

BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.

YESTERDAY: Myra is much annoyed at the progress Romany is making.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

BRENT AND Romany were having their orange juice when Marvin Yanning, head of the artists' bureau at Interstate, stopped at their table.

He smiled down at Romany.

"Don't tell me you were on the air this morning!"

"I was," Romany nodded happily. "I'm afraid I've lost my amateur standing."

"Swell!" Yanning ran his hand over his bald head in a nervous gesture. "You're certainly coming along. When are you going to drop in to see me? I'd like to talk business."

"I'll run in perhaps this afternoon." Romany was flattered that he wanted to talk with her.

"Could you make it two o'clock?" Yanning asked. "That would suit me better than any other hour."

"I'll be there," Romany promised.

When Yanning walked away, Brent shook his head.

"Papa doesn't approve," he said frowning. "I don't like to see you getting mixed up with Yanning and the artists' bureau."

"Oh, did I make a mistake?" Romany looked up from her coffee.

"I think so." Brent nodded. "Wait awhile before you sign up with anybody. My advice is to call Yanning back and tell him you can't make the appointment today."

"All right," Romany said, trusting his judgment blindly. "You know best, of course."

"Yanning's a lightweight," Brent expressed his opinion vehemently. "Lord knows why they sent him on here from New York to run the artists' bureau. Must have a drag, I guess. You'll tie yourself up and have ten per cent going out of your salary, and if you get a real break, you're tied up for five years or so. Suppose you get a movie offer?"

Romany nodded, understanding. Brent went on:

"Yanning plays favorites, too If he gets a grudge he'll hold you back and push his friends. And he thinks he's quite a ladies' man.

"You like him, don't you?" Romany smiled.

"Oh, nobody likes him." Brent shrugged. "There's nothing personal in my feeling. I've always free lanced and that's what I'd advise you to do. Interstate isn't the only broadcasting system in town. You'll want to go around to the others too.

"I'm the luckiest girl in the world," Romany sighed then, "to have met you at the station, Brent. It probably would have taken me months to get where I am now on my own. You've been so thoughtful."

"I guess you know having you for a protege is about the nicest thing that ever happened to me," Brent said seriously. "If I can really help you get somewhere in radio, Romany, I'll be just as happy as you about it."

They ate for a time in silence, then Brent brought up the subject that was on both their minds.

"I'm terribly sorry about what Myra said to you this morning." He looked down at his plate unhappily. "I don't know what to say to you."

"You must forget it," Romany said swiftly. "That's just what I intend to do."

"I guess you know," Brent looked up then, "this finishes our engagement as far as I'm concerned."

"Oh, I'm sorry." Romany's eyes clouded. "I feel as though I'm to blame."

"You mustn't feel that way." Brent touched her hand fleetingly. "It never would have been a go. Myra certainly is not the sort of woman I would want for my wife."

Romany sighed unhappily.

"I suppose not. But women are not themselves when they're jealous. Maybe she is suffering deeply."

"Not Myra." Brent shook his head. "I'm afraid she must have a stone where her heart ought to be."

"This," Romany stirred uneasily, "is probably going to cause a little gossip around Interstate. Your breaking your engagement and being seen with me so much."

"Do you mind very much?" Brent studied her face anxiously. "Because if you do, I'll try to string Myra along awhile."

"That," Romany shook her head, "wouldn't be the right thing to do. If you really don't love her the only honest thing to do is to get it over with. It—it's just that I feel as though people may think I deliberately came between you. You see, I've never been mixed up in a triangle before. It makes me feel like the Other Woman."

"Most women sort of like that, don't they?" Brent half smiled. "Makes them feel like sirens. But you wouldn't, of course. I'd forgotten there were girls like you, Romany. You sort of make me believe in old-fashioned love and marriage again. Grandma's brand."

He smiled, but his eyes were serious.

"Am I going to be your steady now? May I see you every Wednesday and Saturday?"

"We'll see." She dropped her eyes, evading the issue, but her heart beat a little faster. "I'll have to speak to Mama about it" She forced lightness into her tones.

"This," Brent smiled boyishly, has all happened to me so suddenly, I think I'd like to run home and talk it over with my Mom. You'd love Mom. She's little and round and always laughing. Nothing ever gets her down."

"That's nice." Romany liked him even better than she had before she learned how he felt about his mother. "My mother is little, too. Father is tall and dark like me. And Aunt Cissie. Aunt Cecelia is his sister."

"My father passed away last year," Brent said. "I'm all mother has. I want her to come to Chicago and live with me, but she doesn't want to leave the farm."

"It's home." Romany understood. "My family and mother wouldn't leave Leeville, either. And it's a dreadful little dump, really. I'm an only child, too."

A little later Brent asked:

"Did you notice some life-size picture of some of the girl stars in the lobby?"

Romany nodded.

"Yes, they're lovely."

"They're the beauties who have enrolled in the race for Miss Television," Brent told her then. "I want you to sign up. The contest is by fan voting around the holidays."

"Oh, no." Romany shook her head swiftly. "I wouldn't have a chance. "No one has ever heard of me."

"I know," Brent agreed, "they haven't yet. But the publicity will do you good. And there's certainly no harm in it. Trotter meant what he said about throwing something your way. He always keeps his word. I think you should take a crack at the television title."

"Well," Romany submitted to his judgment, "if you think so. But I'll probably come in last. Er—Myra Noyes is in the race, isn't she?"

"She's the favorite white hope of Interstate," Brent nodded.

After breakfast Romany enrolled at the information desk on the fourth floor. From there Brent took her to the press department and introduced her to Joe Telling, in charge of Special Events publicity.

"What's the idea?" He cornered Brent later in the hall. "Nobody's ever heard of that dame before. Even if she is something to look at, she hasn't a chance to even get up among the winners."

Nelson explained that he felt it would be good publicity for her.

"The boss won't put out any money for pictures of a gal who has just read her first commercial." Joe urged. "What do you think this is, the United States mint?"

Brent took out his checkbook and wrote a check.

"I'll kill you," he warned, "if Romany Halle, or anybody else, finds out I put up the money for her pictures, and to pay for her publicity. She'll think the press department did it."

"Say!" Telling whistled. "What is this? Well, that's different."

"And wipe that dirty grin off your face." Brent stepped toward Joe.

"Sure!" Joe backed up. "No offense. What are you so touchy about? I was just wondering where Myra came into the picture."

"She's out of the picture," Nelson admitted, feeling certain the grapevine had sent the news along to the press department about the feud at the Laurel Soap Flakes broadcast.

"Can I put it in writing?" Joe grinned. "Make it official?"

"Go as far as you like," Brent snapped. "Call Winchell for all I care."

"It's practically on the wire." Joe rushed away to his office.

At the telegraph desk, Brent decided to wire Myra. He wrote on the blank bitterly:

"Goodby and good luck. Am sure you will agree this must be the end. Brent."

He had no desire for a parting scene with his ex-fiancee. He had seen quite enough of her hysterics.

Veneranda's Master Craft Shoe Repairing

THE shoes you see in the picture are the original pair of shoes that we rebuilt for a customer. They have been rebuilt by us twice and you can see they have not lost their shape. The reason for this is they have been rebuilt in the master way. We indicate by number, many points, in the operation to rebuild shoes.

No. 1—Showing our trade mark which says, "Rebuilt by M. Veneranda, Peterborough.

No. 2—Replace lining the same as new.

No. 3—Indicates all creases removed and shows vamp of the shoe renewed as natural as in new shoe.

No. 4—Showing old stitches removed from the welt, replaced by new ones which preserves the welt of the shoe.

The welt of the shoe is the foundation. If these old stitches were not removed, it would spoil the welt and give it a bad appearance.

No. 5—Showing full middle sole right back to the heel.

No. 6—Showing outside full sole which is the one that gives you wear and quality.

We do this particular job and it can't be improved by any shoe rebuilder. If you have not had your shoes repaired by us, try us and see for yourself—high quality—quick service, and prices to suit every make of shoe.

SHOWN at the right is an engraved copy of the letter we received with this pair of shoes. As you read the letter you will note the amount of confidence this man (who lives in Quebec) places in our work.

The confidence he has shown is not let down, (a close inspection of the picture of the shoes will prove this point).

A person sending their shoes from Quebec to have them rebuilt signifies the quality of work we do in our shop.

DETROIT TEAM DEFEATS BALTIMORE FOR U. S. AMATEUR CROWN

Vitarelli Scores Only Goal For Baltimore

DETROIT, April 13 — (CP). — Detroit Holzbaugh-Fords of the Michigan-Ontario League last night won the United States' amateur hockey championship by defeating Baltimore Orioles of the Eastern United States League, 2-1, in the fourth game of the best-of-five series.

Two secondperiod goals by Jimmy Baudino on a rebound shot into open net and by Bill Jennings on a lone dash, settled the battle although the Orioles, finishing an exhausting schedule, managed a last-period rally for a counter by Ned Vitarelli.

The Detroiters defeated the favored Orioles twice in Baltimore and lost here on Thursday night in overtime. Holzbaugh has yet to complete a post-season playoff series with London, M.-O. League rival.

The Orioles suffered their first defensive lapse after less than two minutes of play in the second period. Goalie Omer Kelly left his post stop a sharp drive by Wiljanen, and Baudina calmly pushed the loose puck into the unprotected net.

Make It 2-0.

Three minutes later Jennings made it 2-0 on a dash alone through the Orioles. In a furious exchange that followed a flying puck hit a spectator on the jaw and knocked him unconscious.

Baltimore's dangerous combination of Vitarelli and Norm Calladine brought in the Orioles' score at 9.16 of the final period. Calladine started the play from a face-off inside the Detroit blue line and Vitarelli finished it.

With both teams too tired for finished performances, it was largely a battle of goalies. Joe Turner of Detroit fended off a barrage of Oriole shots to take a big share in the victory.

Baltimore — Goal, Kelly; defence, Tuten and Archambault; centre, Erickson; wings, Ripley and Boll; subs., Riley, Hunt, Grigor, Moe, Calladine, Vitarelli, Dyte and Roach.

Detroit — Goal, Turner; defence, Lampsa and Zunich; centre, Baudino; wings, Wiljanen and Geishel; subs., Taylor, Trotter, Jamieson, Raney, Smith, Jennings, Ruelle and McCaig.

McEwen To Play For Maxville Team

MAXVILLE, Ont., April 13 (CP) —Coach Clark Hoople of Maxville Millionaires said last night Forward Johnny McEwen expected to play in Ottawa Saturday against Peterborough for the Eastern Canada intermediate hockey championship.

McEwen missed the series in Glace Bay, N.S., when the Ottawa and District titleholders defeated Glace Bay Xides in a semi-final match because of examinations he was taking at the Guelph Agricultural College.

Hoople said the team would leave for Ottawa this afternoon with several hundred fans. Second game of the series also will be played in Ottawa and the remaining games in the best-of-five series in Toronto.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Local Orfuns have a girls' basketball playoff tonight at 6.30 in the Y.W.C.A., tangling with St. Paul's of Toronto in L.O.B.A. intermediate "B" finals. It's the first of their two-game series, points counting, and should be a swell struggle between two powerful cage clubs. The Orfuns have a potent point-manufacturing attack and a strong guard, whilst the Saints are said to be better than the St. Kitt's crew — which lost to the local lasses in provincial semi-finals a week ago. This tussle should pack in a big crowd of fans in the fine big Y.W. gym this evening.

* * * * * *

Another basketball final is slated for tonight at eight bells in the Y.M.C.A. here, our St. Paul's men's cagers clashing with the Centenary Nomads of Hamilton in a return match of their O.C. B.A. intermediate "A" final series. St. Paul's have an 11-point edge to work on and it looks like they may come through to repeat their 1939 Ontario championship. And then challenge for the Eastern Canada honors against Montreal. This will be a stream-lined sizzler from start to finish as the Nomads go all the way out in an effort to chop down the Saints' lead, and it rates a big flock of fans. (Two Ontario hoop titles, on top of the Petes' puck success, would be sweet, huh?)

* * * * * *

It Won't Be Long

Men's City Softball League may hold its annual re-organization meeting about the middle of next week, we hear. They were holding back waiting for the hockey to finish up, but the pucksters may be going till swimming commences at Inverlea! Officers last year—and 'twas the best softball season ever in this city—were: President, Fred Scates; vice-prexy, Norm Lewis; secretary-treasurer, Max Glover; executive, Dave Leether, Max Board and Bob Simmons. Teams in were Little Harlem, Omemee, Play-Mors and Motorists, with the Harlemites winning out.

* * * * * *

Various writers and former residents of this burg have been sending in congrats to the Petes the past several days for winning the O.H.A. title. And Bunny Morganson of the Toronto Telegram sends this via his column: "Peterborough won the O.H.A. intermediate 'A' title after a lengthy and successful round-robin and playoff series with Kitchener. Cec. Perdue will kindly pass around the congratulations to Coach Frank Buckland and the boys on behalf of this corner." Thanks, Bunjamin, we'll do that for you.

* * * * * *

Bon Voyage, Gang

The Petes were slated to leave by C.P.R. train at 11.40 this morning, arriving in Ottawa in plenty of time to rest up and head for the Auditorium. Maxville Millionaires will be awaiting 'em for games tonight and Monday evening, the clubs then concluding their three-in-five final Eastern Canada serial in Toronto late next week. Dunno what date or dates are available yet at the Gardens. The Petes will stay at the Chateau Laurier—yep, the C.A.H.A. and the O.H.A. will foot the bill, begorrah!—and return after Monday night's tilt. Getting home early Tuesday morn. Period scores will be wired back by your travel-stained scribe, if he doesn't get lost in the wilds of Hull!

* * * * * *

About the only thing we know of yet concerning the local Lacrosse Club re-organization for the summer is the list of officers and how the Petes will be grouped. The local gutted-stick squad is in again with Oshawa, Brooklin and East York, a swell compact four-club loop, and fans can bank on some dandy duels under the arcs. All teams intend importing to some extent and in recent years the victor of this circuit wins the Ontario senior "B" crown—so ya know it's good lacrosse. We've got a lively bunch of officials, and expect a strong team ready for workouts shortly after daylight saving starts late this month.

* * * * * *

Lakeshore Ball Loop met not long ago and decided to enlarge this year. Bowmanville (1939 winner), Cobourg and Port Hope were in last year, with Sunderland going along on its own hook. Now they've extended invitations for their next meeting to delegates of the four already mentioned and likewise Grafton, Newcastle, Oshawa and Peterborough. As Scribe Gordon of the Cobourg World puts it: "In regard to these other teams, all have been members in years past, and the Peterborough situation is said to be ready for an intermediate team again." The league, though runty last semester, enjoyed a good season and has a talance on hand of $67. We don't know what the ball moguls here are planning yet, but they're likely hoping for a senior berth again.

* * * * * *

Orioles Shot Down

Coach Pick Hines and his Orioles of Baltimore are finished for the season, losing out to Detroit Holzbaughs in U.S. amachoor (?) finals. Dropped last night's joust 2-1, giving the Detroiters the series three out of four. Once again the Peterborough pair, Ned Vitarelli and Bill Calladine, scored the only Baltimore tally, the former counting. An a.m. account of it says: "Baltimore's dangerous combination of Vitarelli and Norm Calladine brought in the Orioles' score at 9.16 of the final period. Calladine started the play from a faceoff inside the Detroit blue line and Vitarelli finished it." So we'll be seeing the boys any day now strolling up and down George St. wearing their Oriole windbreakers.

* * * * * *

In the Ottawa Journal, Jack Maunder writes: "The contenders in this Eastern Canada intermediate final are travelled teams indeed for intermediates. Peterborough kept a record of its mileage and figures 5,000 miles for the season. Maxville didn't get near that figure in the schedule but that trip to Glace Bay comes pretty close to going as far east as you can get. The boys should get together and compare the travel stickers on their bags, or their hotel trophies. Reports from Peterborough indicate there may be some of the Petes up Saturday. The town is hot after a long lean time on titles, their last being the Ontario senior championship in 1926 by a really good team. Maxville will send up 1,000 fans at least."

Carpetball Notes

It has happened, and what a gallery will be there to watch the Little World series in operation.

The attic walls will be shaking with activity when those world-famed Scabs meet their Brother Hose-holders in the climax of the year.

Who will win the President's Cup? You can bet it will go to the Fire Hall somehow.

Will we be able to hold those Fire Eaters down; three teams entered; all three in the first six and two of them fighting it out for the President's Cup. No wonder that Red Head is burning up these days.

Maybe he will hold out next year for more money; big league stuff.

Of course, as is already established the CNR Freighter got up steam and made off with the Hope Cup.

The Fire Hall Hot Stuff caught up with the Bleasdell Shield—but we must wait until Tuesday for the President's Cup.

Curtis' Brickyard gang will be able to get hold of the Elsie Bennett Trophy; with a few half bricks to spare.

The Big League Baby made good running in the President Cup games but lost a hard one in the third by the score of 6-5. Better luck next year.

The banquet will be held at St. Luke's this season. Tough picking for the committee, and Harry Beal was called on to pick the winner from the hat.

Tickets will be issued shortly. So let's make this 11th annual affair a bumper crowd.

King Billy and his Orange Squeezers got whitewashed by the East City Decorators in their final tussle but went next day and put the pressure on the Quaker Oats gang to break even on the week's games.

No. 14 have two games to report, "Are you sleeping?"

How about the three Hold Outs. Are they coming over before the final day?

Insubordination Expected From Dean, Bought That Also Phil Wrigley Declares

CHICAGO, April 13.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, the greatest one-man show on earth, hasn't done anything that a few mound victories won't cure.

But can he produce those victories? That's what Manager Gabby Hartnett, Owner Phil Wrigley of Chicago Cubs, his teammates and lots of Cub partisans would like to know.

"We're interested chiefly in whether Dean can pitch and win," explained Wrigley. "If he can do that we can put up with a lot of departures from orthodox conduct, I suppose."

The Cub owner added he expected insubordination from Dizzy.

"We bought that when we bought him. But he'll be fined by Hartnett whenever his conduct merits it," Wrigley said.

Dizzy stepped out of bounds last Tuesday in Wichita, Kans., getting on the train almost an hour after curfew. Hartnett slapped a $100 fine on the ecentric pitcher. Dizzy said he wouldn't pay, but his wife, Patricia, soon, changed his tune. Mrs. Dean said Dizzy had been a bad boy, that Hartnett was right and that her hubby would plank down the $100.

WASHINGTON, April 13— (AP). —The Senators are hoping history repeats. A few years ago Brooklyn Dodgers turned loose Dutch Leonard, who came to Washington and became the team's best pitcher—a 20-game winner. Now the Nats have acquired Al Hollingsworth, another hurler the Dodgers couldn't see.

Southpaw Ken Heintzelman, he said, will be farmed out.

CINCINNATI. — Irked by the many cancellations Detroit Tigers have suffered because of the weather en route north, Owner Walter Briggs is considering having the team remain at Lakeland, Fla., next spring until a few days before the season opens. Boston Red Sox Highly Rated With Yankees

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Those Yankees can't be so good. They haven't convinced 11 baseball experts they are any better than a second-place club. Of course the other 66 writers taking part in the Associated Press poll on the order of finish in the 1940 American Baseball League race selected New York to finish first, but at least it wasn't unanimous.

It is pretty well agreed among the voters that the champions and Boston Red Sox will finish 1-2, meaning Red Sox will be No. 2. Nine of the dissenters placed the Red Sox first, another likes Cleveland Indians for the top spot, and still another is putting a load on Jimmy Dykes by naming his White Sox as the pennant winner.

The Yanks piled up 605 points in the poll, based on eight points for first place, seven for second, etc. The Red Sox rolled up 536, 98 more than the third place Cleveland Indians. Detroit had a margin of only 13 points over the White Sox in the race for fourth place, but Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis won their sixth, seventh and eighth spots without much competition.

KENORA THISTLES ONE GAME UP IN WESTERN JUNIOR FINALS

Two Boys Score Pair Of Goals In Seven Seconds

WINNIPEG, April 13.—(CP)—Two childhood buddies from East Kildonan, Winnipeg suburb, Dick Milford and Eddie Dartnell, centre and right winger respectively on Kenora Thistles first string, were the main topic of conversation as Winnipeg hockey fans discussed tonight's fifth and perhaps decisive game in the western junior hockey final.

Both were dominating factors as they buzzed around and around the Edmonton Athletic Club powerhouse here last night to help Thistles go a game up in the best-of-five series with a 6-5 victory.

After Milford, from Dartnell, opened the scoring and added another marker by himself in the second, Dartnell, on assists from Milford, used seven seconds of the final period to score two goals and win the game.

Milford and Dartnell began their hockey careers on East Kildonan teams when they were 12 years old and have been together ever since. They are finishing their second season with Kenora.

Edmonton, who have stars of their own in Ken Reardon and Elmer Kreller, saw a one-goal lead taken from them four times during the closely-fought game.

First Game A Tie

The first game ended 2-2 and Athletics gained the initial advantage with a 7-1 victory in Edmonton. Thistle won the first game 3-1.

If Edmonton squares the series tonight the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has announced an extra 10-minute session will be played next week on neutral ice.

Last night's match was a duplicate of the previous games in the hectic roughthouse series and 23 penalties were handed out. Edmonton drew 12 and Kenora 11.

The advantage in man-power resulting from penalties was evident in the scoring columns with eight of the 11 goals coming with players in the cooler. Pug Young, Edmonton defenceman, was serving time when Dartnell scored his winning goals.

Montreal Seeks Allan Cup Game

MONTREAL, April 13 — (CP). — Hints that Canada's amateur hockey leaders might have other than a quiet session came from different sources today as delegates gathered for the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting, with the Quebec Branch the host body for the first time in a decade.

"It is possible that the entire meeting might be run off smoothly, and on the other hand it is also possible that questions might be brought up which will cause quite a bit of controversy," said one delegate last night.

Cecil Duncan of Ottawa, immediate past president of the C.A.H.A., said that the Ottawa City and District Hockey League would attempt to have a change made in the association's constitution whereby the association would be known as the "governing body of hockey in Canada in accordance with the Ligue Internationale de Hockey sur Glace."

"The constitution now reads that the association is the governing body of amateur hockey in Canada," said Duncan. "We want the word 'amateur' dropped from this article, although we believe that the association should still be known as the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. After all, there still are a good many clubs that are amateur in every sense of the word."

Quebec officials announced that should Kirkland Lake Blue Devils win the Eastern Canadian Senior hockey crown, efforts would be made to have "at least one of the Allan Cup games" played in Montreal. The Blue Devils, playing Montreal Royals this afternoon in Toronto, now hold a 2-0 lead in games over Royals in the best-of-five series.

Patrick Hopeful Of Taking Cup Home On Sunday

TORONTO, April 13—(CP)—Manager Lester Patrick weighed his words carefully and all the followers of New York Rangers gave intent ear.

"There is just a possibility," Prof. Patrick said, straightening his tie, "that the Rangers will win the Stanley Cup Saturday night."

The audience sighed.

"In that case the club's train will leave Toronto with the Cup at eight o'clock Sunday morning and arrive in New York Sunday night. There is no reason why all you celebrants shouldn't finish celebrating in time to catch that train."

The Rangers meet Toronto Leafs tonight in the sixth game of the best-of-seven finals for hockey's world championship. Patrick predicted before the series started that his team, which went 19 straight games without defeat at one stage in the National League schedule, would dust off the Leafs in six games.

Shibicky To Play

Alex Shibicky is expected to join the New York team again with a sprained ankle that left him in terrific pain at the finish of Thursday's fifth encounter. Phil Watson, the forward manager Conny Smythe of the Leafs fears most, will start despite a three-stitch ankle cut he suffered Thursday.

Coach Dick Irvin and Smythe have not decided definitely upon whether to revert to the lineup that took the third and fourth contests. On Thursday they injected four fresh players —Billy Taylor, Don Metz, Reg Hamilton and Bucko McDonald—and the strategy fell just short of being one of the most brilliant moves in Stanley Cup history, for the Rangers needed 31 minutes of overtime to win.

If the Maple Leafs should win, the seventh and deciding match will be played Tuesday.

Canadian Senior Basketball Playdown Series Announced

(By the Canadian Press.)

A new Canadian senior basketball champion will be crowned on the floor of the Eastern winner when the Dominion finals roll around early next month.

Five provincial titlists await interprovincial playdowns, but Victoria Dominces, Canadian champions last season, are not among them. The British Columbians were barred from league competition this year after engaging in exhibition games with United States teams not approved by their Provincial Association.

Vancouver Maple Leafs will ride the playdown trail on behalf of the coast province this year. They took the honors by defeating Port Alberni in a two-game series last week which was featured by the outstanding work of big Joe Ross, who scored 29 points in the final game. He also scored 15 points in the first tilt.

The Leafs now move to Magrath, Alta., for a clash with the Alberta titlists, Magrath Lions. The two-game, total-point series will be played on April 15 and 17.

Play Manitoba Champions.

Victor of that round travels to Winnipeg to engage the Manitoba champions, Winnipeg St. Andrew's, in a best-of-five series for the Western crown. The games will be played on April 20, 22, 23, and, if necessary, April 25 and 26.

Since Saskatchewan and the Maritimes did not enter the provincial playdowns this year, the winner of the series in Winnipeg journey to the floor of the Eastern champion for the Dominion championship series. The Eastern winner will be either Montreal Young Men's Hebrew Association or Windsor Alumni.

From a city whose teams have had the Ontario title 13 times in the past 14 years, the Alumni Club engage the Montrealers in a best-of-three series which opens tonight. A Windsor team lost to Dominoes in a thrilling coast series for the Canadian title last season and Alumni will rule as slight favorites to take the Eastern crown despite the fact that all games will be played in Montreal.

Second game of the series will be played on Monday and a third, if necessary, on Tuesday.

Windsor took the Ontario title by defeating Toronto Simpson Grads. Main cogs in the Alumni machine during that series were Doug Blair and Red Wiseman.

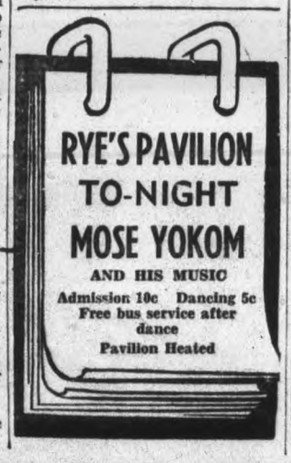
Montreal Royals Face Elimination

TORONTO, April 13—(CP).—It's today or never for this year's Montreal Royals. Already whipped twice —by the flying Kirkland Lake Blue Devils, the Royals face a survival test today as they meet the Miners in the third of the five-game Eastern Canada senior hockey finals.

Coach Frank Carlin thinks his Royals will rise to the occasion. "We have a 50-50 chance anyway," he said last night, then went on to explain that his team had lacked stiff competition as they breezed to the finals.

Blue Devils will enter today's crucial joust with the same lineup which produced a 3-1 victory in each of the two previous meetings with Royals.

Jimmy Haggerty, former Port Arthur star, will be added to the Royals lineup. He'll take the place of Ronnie Perowne, who was badly gashed over the right eye in the second game; eight stitches were required.



Red Wings Lost Key Players 1939 Champions

By AL. C. WEBER
(Sports Writer of Rochester Times-Union.)

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 13 — (CP).—Rochester's Red Wings, defenders of the International League Governors' Cup, will go just as far in the 1940 race as several rookie players will carry them. At least that's the only logical conclusion that can be reached after Spring training observation.

Billy Southworth's club, which lost the Little World Series to Louisville, has lost severay key players through sales, the draft and promotion to the parent St. Louis Cardinals. The Phillies drafted Si Johnson; Dusty Cooke and Roy Henshaw were sold to Jersey City; Sam Narron to Houston; Ken Raffensberger to Chicago Cubs; Cardin Gillenwater, Jim Asbell and Pat Ankenman to New Orleans, while the Cardinals took Infielders Jack Sturyd and Marty Marion and Pitcher Elwyn (Preacher) Roe. This leaves 11 men to be replaced.

The Wings approach the season set in only four positions. Harry Davis will be at first base, George Fallon at second, George Kurowski at third, and Estel Crabtree in centre field.

Adept to Doubles

Fallon is a newcomer from Elmira of the Eastern League and he is a fine fielder, particularly adept at making double plays. Frank Crespi seems to have an inside track for the shortstop job, which he has been sharing with Dain Clay. The latter also plays the outfield, and along with Augie Bergamo, Harry Walker and Linlcoln Blakely has been bidding for an outfield berth.

All will probably be carried until opening day, or until an outfielder is available from the Cardinals. Buster Adams was turned over to Rochester by Branch Rickey, but developed a stomach ailment that sent him to St. Louis, where treatments will keep him indefinitely.

The only catcher with previous "AA" experience is Floyd Beal, who caught much of last season. Bob Scheffing, a good-looking catcher at Houston a couple of years ago whose arm went bad, is trying a comeback.

In the pitching department, Southworth's biggest job will be to find someone able to fill the shoes of Si Johnson, the veteran right-hander who won 23 games and was taken by the Phillies. Another tough replacement will be for Ken Raffensberger, who won 15.

Prices Of Hogs In United States $3.75 Per Cwt. Below Ontario

A review of the Canadian bacon industry, presenting trends in exports and imports, storage and also price factors is set forth in bulletin No. 3 issued at Ottawa by the Canadian Bacon Board.

The wide spread in hog prices in the markets of the United States and also of this country has already become a commonplace fact that seems to be accepted as a matter of course. Incidentally, a glance over the prices reported in the press several days ago show that while Chicago was paying from $5 to $5.30 for hogs, the comparable price in Toronto was $8.75 with one dollar a hog extra for selects.

Apparently, also, the Bacon Board and the Canadian packing industry have been having their worries about the handling and storage of the greatly increased production of hogs, and also about the highly important and hazardous detail of shipping bacon to Great Britain.

Heavy Corn Crop

Federal subsidy and a tremendous corn crop account considerably for the huge volume of hogs that has been flowing to American markets, with a consequent reduction in price while the Canadian market has been stabilized by contract with Great Britain.

On February 22nd last, quotations on hogs at four leading markets on both sides of the border were: Toronto, $9; Chicago, $5.46; Winnipeg, $8.60, and St. Paul, $5.14. In other words, the British people with all the cost and stress of war has been paying approximately four dollars more a hundredweight for Canadian bacon than the general price in the United States where there is a big surplus. And those Canadian prices mentioned above do not include the premium of $1 a hog for selects.

Another fact which has been observed indicates that farmers in western Canada have been attracted by the favorable prices and have been assuming a decidedly large place in the Canadian production field.

Imports From U.S.A.

The Bulletin sketches first the extent and effect of fresh and frozen pork importations from the United States:

"When the Bacon Board began functioning on December 22, 1939, it was realized that the importation of pork products from the United States would be an exceedingly complicated factor to deal with. The importations for 1939 and up to February 13, 1940 are shown in the following table:

Table 1—Imports of fresh and frozen pork from the United States:

1939	Pounds
January	425,891
February	310,112
March	762,912
April	334,484
May	1,238,800
June	3,771,586
July	3,951,006
August	2,117,086
September	1,729,047
October	1,126,913
November	1,544,460
December	4,614,293
Total	21,926,590
1940	Pounds
January	8,466,247
February, 2 weeks	6,840,793

When the January figures for importations became available it was at once apparent that a critical situation was developing, and that action would have to be taken to stem the flow of imports. In the light of comparative Canadian and United States hog prices, the reason for the heavy importations is not difficult to understand (see Table 2), and the problem was how to remedy the situation.

Table 2 gives comparative hog prices per 100 pounds at Canadian and United States markets. Prices quoted for Canadian hogs are on bacon grade, and on United States choice and good, 180-200 pounds."

The following are some of the monthly prices in four markets, Toronto, Chicago, Winnipeg and St. Paul.

1939—Month	Tor.	Chi.	Win.	St. P.
January	$9.22	$7.70	$8.54	$7.47
April	8.66	7.19	8.37	6.94
June	9.10	6.79	8.78	6.62
August	7.85	6.43	7.77	6.18
October	8.57	6.97	8.16	6.71
December	8.94	5.86	8.49	5.44

Note—Canadian markets pay $1 a hog extra on selects.

1940—Week	Tor.	Chi.	Win.	St. P.
January 18	$9.10	$5.72	$8.60	$5.47
February 8	9.00	5.46	8.60	5.21
February 22	9.00	5.46	8.60	5.14

Consideration had to be given to maintaining the spirit of the United States-Canada Trade Agreement which provides the main outlet for our surplus Canadian cattle Although this United States product could not be exported to the United Kingdom. It was creating a surplus of Canadian bacon which complicated our position in regard to the Bacon Agreement, and action became imperative. On February 23, 1940, Order in Council P.C. 768 was passed, which provides that imports of pork "shall, for the term of the current Bacon Agreement with the United Kingdom, viz., until October 31, 1940, be restricted so that the imports in any calendar month shall not exceed a quantity equivalent to the average monthly imports during the period January 1 to September 30, 1939; this restriction to be effected on and after February 26, 1940 by means of a prohibition of the importation of fresh or frozen pork except under licence issued according to regulations to be prescribed by the Minister of National Revenue."

War condition have made it necessary to make some changes in the method of handling bacon in Great Britain. The fact that ships arrive at ports not used to any extent under peace conditions for the handling of Canadian Bacon, the necessity of transporting it from port of arrival to point to consumption, the problem of distribution under a rationing system and the necessity for having stocks to care of exigencies, appears to make it necessary to store bacon on its arrival in England. The storing of cured bacon has always been considered a questionable practice, but the exigencies of war appear to have made it necessary.

On January 15, 1940, the British Ministry advised that they were, for the time being, confronted with a serious shortage space in the United Kingdom and they sought the cooperation of the Bacon Board in temporarily holding back shipments by storing cured bacon in Canada, preferably at seaboard.

The Board undertook to limit shipments to the end of February to the amount of actual ocean space booked at a time; and to store the balance of the product actually cured or in cure to the account of the Ministry who assumed the storage charges plus allowance for a reasonable shrink. The excess of product over and above current shipments had to be stored as fresh frozen product which will come out to be cured and shipped later on when hog runs are lighter in order that a reasonably uniform export performance may be maintained. This procedure with fresh product, of course conforms to standard approved practice.

In view of these arrangements, it is of interest to review the position as regards exports, storage to account of the British Ministry, and storage of fresh frozen product in Canada at the present time.

The Board started to operate with shipments leaving seaboard on the week ending January 20, 1940. Thus on March 2nd, 1940, when seven weeks had elapsed, the total bacon exported amounted to 32,928,000 lb. or an average weekly shipment of 4,704,000 lb. Canada was entitled in the seven weeks to ship 5,600,000 lb. per week or a total of 39,200,000 lb. but we actually exported 6,272,000 lb, less than our allotment.

Storage In Britain

During this period cured bacon stored to the British Ministry account accumulated in Canada to the extent of 3,800,000 lb. Under date of March 4th, 1940, the Ministry of Food agreed, following representations made by the Board, that the deficiency in shipments during the first seven weeks of operation could be made up as ocean space became available. Thus it is the Board's intention to ship the full weekly quota of 5,600,000 pounds and in addition 6,272,000 lb. extra, spread over a period of weeks. The amount of bacon in store to the British Ministry will be liquidated as part of this amount, and already tentative arrangements have been made which will clear all except about 1,000,000 lb. of this product by April 6, 1940.

While this was going on, fresh product was being accumulated in storages all over Canada and at March 8th amounted to 19,294,594 lb. The rate of accumulation was somewhat faster than that originally intended by the Board. However when the quantity of product imported from the United States in January and February is considered, one can understand how storage stocks increased so rapidly. Now that imports have been restricted, stocks will not accumulte at the same rate.

Weekly Hog Marketings

During ten weeks in the fall of 1939, hog marketings average over 108,000 per week. These were much the heaviest marketings that have occurred over any extended period in the history of Canada. The sows which produced these pigs were bred long before war had any influence on breeding. The same is true of the breedings which have produced our present hog runs and this will continue to be true of the marketings until next July or August. The factors which brought about these increases in hog production were the cumulative effect of good grain crops in 1938 and 1939, combined with good hog prices in relation to prices of other farm products over a period of time.

The following table shows the weekly marketings since the beginning of the year together with the increase both in number and in per cent over the similar week in 1939:

Table 3.—Weekly Hog marketings at yards and plants in Canada, 1940:

Week Ending	1940 No.	1939 No.
January 11	94,361	72,857
January 18	82,006	53,697
January 25	80,964	62,192
February 1	98,332	67,752
February 8	92,026	70,154
February 15	92,111	48,825
February 22	94,015	65,594
February 29	93,866	70,586
March 7	93,940	62,148
Total—9 weeks	821,621	574,165

Increase 1940	No.	P.C.
January 11	21,404	29.4
January 18	28,309	52.7
January 25	18,772	28.4
February 1	30,580	45.1
February 8	21,152	30.5
February 15	43,286	88.6
February 22	28,421	43.3
February 29	23,280	33.0
March 7	31,792	51.2
Total—9 weeks	247,456	43.1

The contract quantity of 5,600,000 lb. of export bacon per week takes up about 48,000 hogs per week. Hog marketings per week since the beginning of the year have averaged 91,000 hogs, constituting an increase over the corresponding nine weeks of 1939 of 247,000 head equal to more than 28,405,000 lb. export product. Experience indicates that domestic absorption of commercial hog marketings is approximately 40,000 hogs per week, which leaves an excess over and above combined export and domestic needs of about 3,000 hogs per week.

Iceland May Be Claimed By Nazis

With the capitulation of Denmark before the onslaught of Chancellor Hitler's legions, speculation has arisen as to the ultimate fate of Iceland, which pays homage to King Christian of Denmark. Reyjavik, capital of Iceland, is shown in this phonephoto. Should the Nazis ever succeed in seizing Iceland their bombing planes would be within range of Canada.

6 of 8 Nazi Cruisers Believed Lost Since Start Of War Last September

(By the Canadian Press.)

Two factors make it virtually impossible to give an accurate comparison of the vastly superior Royal Navy with the German fleet following the continuing naval actions off Norway.

One is the uncertainty as to how many enemy ships have gone to the bottom; the other is the fact that many units laid down before the start of the war—may have been secretly commissioned since.

"In November 'Jane's Fighting Ships,' authoritative word on world navies, gave the following figures for principal classifications:

Capital ships—Great Britain, 15, Germany 5.

Cruisers (heavy and other) — Great Britain 58, Germany 8.

Destroyers—Great Britain 179, Germany 22.

Submarines — Great Britain 56, Germany 66.

Prior to this week's fighting, Great Britain had lost one capital ship, the Royal Oak, and Germany one, the Graf Spee. Great Britain had lost no cruisers, Germany two. British destroyers losses were placed at six. Germany, so far as is known had her original complement. The Royal Navy has lost four submarines, whose replacement is impossible to estimate, the apparent comparison then was:

Capital ships: Great Britain, 14; Germany, 4.

Cruisers: Great Britain, 173; Germany, 22.

Great Britain's apparent losses in the present fighting amount to four destroyers; Germany's, apart from many transports and supply ships, to four cruisers and two destroyers. Assuming that the Nazi battleship Scharnhorst was able to get back to port after her fight with the British battle cruiser Renown, the present comparison would be:

Capital ships: Great Britain, 14; Germany, 4.

Cruisers: Great Britain, 58; Germany, 2.

Destroyers: Great Britain, 169; Germany, 20.

France's naval strength at the war's start included 7 capital ships, 19 cruisers and 59 destroyers. She had 30 large submarines and about 50 others of various types. Her losses so far have been announced as two ships, a cruiser and a cruiser-minelayer. Apparently she has had no naval losses in the Scandinavian fighting.

Look At That Horatio

LONDON, April 13—(CP)—The Daily Mail yesterday epitomized Britain's confidence in the navy with a cartoon of Nelson and Churchill.

Against a background labelled "Skagerrak Battle," Winston Churchill in a navy greatcoat with a cigar clenched in a bulldog jaw holds a telescope to the eye of the ghost of Lord Nelson, commenting: "Just take a look at that, Horatio."

(Neson forced his way through the Skagerrak and Kattegat in 1801 to fight and win the battle of Copenhagen.)

Huge Timbers Taken Out Of Old House

A copy of the Daily Witness, dated April 11th, 1883 and published at Montreal was found by workmen employed by the Peterborough Metal and Waste Company engaged in wrecking the house at the southwest corner of Burnham and Hunter streets.

The house was originally the home of the Ellsworth sisters and was later occupied for many years by the late (Big) Dave Conroy. It is being razed to make way for a modern service station. Huge pine timbers, 12" by 10" and 40 feet long have been taken out of the house. These are presumably part of the original building and two of these now lying on the lawn of the property are badly charred by fire. In 1923 there was a mean fire in the interior of this house which did considerable damage, and gave firemen plenty of trouble, because the house was grouted with sawdust and the smoke was dense.

The old newspaper printed 57 years ago Thursday followed the old style of putting advertisements on the front page. One shows a cut of a high wheel bicycle with the one tiny wheel behind and the prices were $30 and up. An Apache war was raging in the southwest, and England was bothered by dynamite plotters. A news article stated that soldiers guarding Millbank Prison had been supplied with ball cartridges to shoot any suspicious loiterers. At Dublin, the trial of a man named Brady on the charge of murdering Lord F. Cavendish and Mr. Burke had just begun. Another cable notice from England reported that Sir Charles Dike, president of the local Government Board had informed a deputation that the Board would not oppose the emigration of pauper children to Canada as the government of that country had undertaken to provide for their inspection. Fourteen men had been either killed or wounded in Rochester because a so called skyscraper had fallen after being completed a week.

Italy has allied herself with Austria and Germany according to an editorial which goes on to relate—Thisis, we suppose in the interests of peace in Europe. It is therefore on the principle that if you have peace you must prepare for war, that Italy has just ordered the construction of an immense transport ship and the increase of her army by several corps. The editorial warns that Italians are now overtaxed and the alliance with the dominant powers of Europe might prove costly.

Another editorial warns against the evils of smoking cigarettes and tobacco in any form.

OLICE COURT BLANK.

The usual audience gathered for the Police Court proceedings this morning, but drew a blank. There was not a case of any kind on the docket, and as a result the customers had to file out into the cool April breezes again.

BITTEN BY DOG.

Plans for canning of raspberries in their newly acquired plant on Albion Street are under consideration by Canada Packers Limited, W. J. Forbes, manager, said to-day. Machinery for the preserving of tomatoes and tomato juice is being installed in readiness for the current season.

CHEQUE TO SOCIETY.

A cheque for $28.41 was received by the Children's Aid Society from the Charlotte Dickson estate this week. The accompanying letter from J. F. Strickland, K.C., explained that the executors had got in $10,000 capital and were prorating it among specific legatees. It is understood the original bequest was $300, of which $150 had been paid.

NEW KIWANIANS

Two new members were introduced to the Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon meeting Friday. They were Ralph Standish of the law firm of Carley and Standish, and Robert Harle, choir leader and organist at St. Andrew's United Church.

URGED SUPPORT OF Y.M.C.A.

The case of the Y.M.C.A. was ably put before the Kiwanis Club on Friday by Past President W. A. Richardson, who urged support of the organization's drive for funds now going on. Twenty per cent. of the membership of the Kiwanis Club are included in the drive workers, he said.

THINK OF BIRDS.

Bird fanciers point out that the present month has been one of the hardest on record on our bird friends. Many of the new arrivals depend upon insects for their food and this source of supply has been cut off by the unusual weather conditions. It is suggested that currants and raisins, in addition to bread crumbs should be scattered around to save the birds from starvation.

SYRUP AT $2

A large quantity of maple syrup was offered on the farmers' market this morning at an average selling price of two dollars a gallon, a drop of from 50 to 60 cents a gallon from last week.

GORDON FRASER TO PRESIDE

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P.-elect, will preside at the Salvation Army's lecture, "Is the Criminal Worth Saving?" to be given by Envoy Stanley Sheppard on Monday night.

Envoy Sheppard has been associated with army prison work for the past thirty years and is a recognized authority on prisoners and their problems.

ANNUAL APPEAL

The annual appeal of the Grenfell Mission is now being made and contributions will be gratefully received by the treasurer, Mrs. G. R. Langley, 299 Burnham street, or may be left at the Examiner office. At this time, when we are all giving to the Red Cross all we can spare of money and work, it is interesting to know that the women of Labrador, so hard-working and so poor, have formed local branches of the Red Cross and are doing their bit to the best of their ability. People like these are surely worth helping, and this year they need our help as never before with so many of the bread-winners fighting overseas.

Tribe In India Pledged To Criminal Life

"The Seven Fragrant Blossoms" is the title of an Indian tribe of ten million people, Richard Bingram of Toronto, who was a civil servant in India for a quarter of a century, told the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting Friday. But the tribe is far from being as fragrant as its name would imply, for it is composed entirely of men pledged to criminality from the time of their birth to the time of their death. This was an interesting phase of his address, "Ten Million Beggars," in the course of which he scourged Indian students for their alleged seditious statements in this country.

"The Seven Fragrant Blossoms" are all outcasts, untouchables, and are divided into seven groups, each begging its living by a set routine according to strict "trade union" rules. None may leave his group to enter the group of the next. Nor can any man born into the Blossoms rise to a higher station in life, but he is pledged for all his years to a criminal life.

Beggar With a Bowl.

The first group is that of the "beggar with a bowl," who takes up his stand in public thoroughfares. There are none among them who are lame, or blind, or deformed, he said, but on the contrary nearly every man is strong and virile. Chief attribute of a beggar with a bowl is a pair of leather lungs and a ready vocabulary with which he assaults the passer-by. All he seeks is a coin that has the value of 1-144th part of a Canadian cent, "so you'd hardly think it was worth his trouble," the speaker said, "but woe betide the man who passes by without dropping the coin in his bowl."

Next comes the beggars who carry a dog or monkey—"the daddy of all circuses." They put on a little show in villages, then beg money from children, "and indulge in a little kidnapping on the side, as well as some bigamy." Then there is the snake charmer, whose race was once the ruling class of all India, and whose members will now be found charming snakes all over the world."

Best Of All.

But the best of all are the "beggars with the bulls." These men come to a village—"a large-sized man with a large-sized bull, the man lending dignity to the bull and the bull lending dignity to the man"—and enact a few tricks before begging all the old cloth in the village as reward. Then, leading his bull back into the country, the beggar of this type will fashion clothes from them, for he is a most accomplished tailor, and return to the village to sell them back to the villagers for trifling amounts. At the end of the week such a beggar will take his earnings to the government liquor store to buy a liquor that the speaker called 'the dentist's delight.' One drink, he said, will remove all the fillings from a man's teeth. Half the bottle goes to the bull, half to the beggar, and both spend a drunken week-end before returning to work, if they are able.

The Gypsy beggar is the firth type, the Crooner the sixth. Last of all, and lowest, is the Night Beggar, who inhabits the burial grounds. He is the outcast of outcasts, so untouchable that men of any caste have to place twenty-eight feet between themselves and him—double the ordinary distance.

As these beggars go about the country they must ring bells to warn caste people of their approach so that they may keep the fourteen feet distance required by holy law.

With Peterborough Boys

Ralph K. M. Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Tully, Port Hope Highway, is one of the youngest soldiers to enlist from Peterborough. He was seventeen when he joined up and is now with the Royal Canadian Regiment at Aldershot. He was formerly with the Prince of Wales Rangers, but enlisted at London, Ontario.

Pte. Dave McCullough, Toronto Scottish Regiment, now stationed at Toronto. Dave is well known for his activities in baseball, and hockey. He enlisted two months ago and makes the fourth man from this city to join the regiment, which is one of the most difficult to get into.

(Parks Studio Photo.)

Peterborough has a father and son combination in the same regimnet. William Youdell, Water Street North, a veteran of the last war in the King's Own Royal Lancashires, an Imperial unit, has enlisted with the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment, and is a military police at Picton. His son, Joe Youdell, enlisted in the same regiment about a month ago and is now stationed at Quebec.

Twelve young men have enlisted with the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment from Lakefield Village, and this does not include Ken Junkin who is overseas with a Toronto regiment. Five of the twelve are Earl Smith, a brother of the Jack Smith who lost his life on a canoe trip to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Harry Baldwin, Fred Hudson, Walter Sherman, and Charley Birch. The Examiner would be pleased to have the names of the others. Address letters to Soldiers' Column.

Robert Young of the Cameron Highlanders, Ottawa, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Wilbert Armstrong, 322 Mark street, this week.

Some person dropped a small card into the Examiner letter box with the following information on it—"C 4503 Pte. P. V. Fitzpatrick, No. 4 platoon, H.Q. Company, Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment, C.A.S.F." It is the address of a soldier, presumably a local man, but no person in The Examiner knows anything about him, and some further information from the sender would be appreciated. Address, Soldiers' Column.

Ralph Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Tully, Port Hope Highway, now with the Royal Canadian Regiment at Aldershot, sends his regards to his former schoolmates at P.C.I. in a letter to his parents. Ralph is just seventeen years of age and was a member of the Collegiate bugle band a short time ago. He enlisted last fall.

In the letter he writes, "Our meals are much better now than at first. To-day's was especially good because we were celebrating some great battle with the R.C.R.'s fought in the Boer War. The menu consisted of stewed chicken, cauliflower, potatoes, mince pie, coffee and oranges. One unit received high praise from the Brigadier following inspection.

"The weather here is just like it would be in April or May at home. The barracks is not as good as the Canadian barracks, but it is one of the best English baracks.

He concludes with best wishes to his buddies in the Prince of Wales Rangers and the Cadet Corps. Any of his pals at P.C.I. may obtain his address by telephoning his mother, Mrs. V. Tully, Port Hope Highway.

Fifteen recruits from Peterborough in the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment are home on leave. A few who have not been mentioned before are John O'Leary, Mark street; Ernest Thompson, Western avenue, who has a brother in the same unit, now in Aldershot and another brother Gordon in Quebec also training with the Hastings-Prince Edward. All three brothers enlisted within the past three months. Bun Junkin, McDonnel street; Ernest Detlor, Lafayette avenue; Harry (Scotty) Keith, and Keith Jarvis, Bethune street, are among the fifteen home on leave.

Old Peterborough Boy Designed Soldiers' Beaver Club In London

Peterborough people have heard a lot about the Beaver Club, the new Canadian Leave Centre in London, operated by the Y.M.C.A. and providing a home-away-from-home for the Maple Leaf troops on holiday in the Empire's capital.

They probably do not know, however, that the designer of the famous Club is a Peterborough native son, a man who has become one of the best known architects in the British Isles and who in addition to designing the leave centre has also been the archiect for a Canadian hospital unit in England.

He is Harvey Alexander Dawson who was born in Peterborough and spent the early years of his life here.

His father, the late George Dawson, died last September. The famous architect studied in Montreal in his chosen field and afterward in France and England. He saw service in the first great war and was decorated and afterward took up residence in England where he has carried on his profession ever since.

Presented To Their Majesties

His services have been called in by the Dominion government in connection with the Canadian war effort in England and the designing of the Beaver Club and of a big Canadian hospital have been among his activities. When the King and Queen visited the Beaver Club a short time ago Mr. Dawson was a guest and the former Peterborough man was presented to their Majesties.

Mr. Dawson is a nephew of Miss Fanny Dixon, 538 Harvey Street.

The Beaver Club, the operating expenses and the program of which has been undertaken by the Canadian Y.M.C.A. was named after the famous Beaver Hut so successfully operated by the Y.M.C.A. in London during World War I.

In the absence of Reeve Shearer at the meeting of Harvey Township Council Saturday, April 6, Councillor Irwin was appointed to preside. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: H. A. Shearer, supplies, $9.46; H. A. Shearer, one cord of wood, $6; Clayton Kerr, for moving a family to Lindsay, $3.50; Department of Health, insulin, 35 cents; M. B. Hall, salary, $15; Dr. E. E. Willis, medicine, $4; Russell McIntosh, rebate on taxes, $14.

Wages to be paid this year were set at 25c an hour and also 25c an hour for a team, on motion of Councillors Elliott and Brock. A motion by Councillors Haines and Brock instructed the clerk to write Mr. Givens in regard to his road account that the work was not approved by the council nor authorized by the road superintendent. The council declared that it was not liable for this account.

The tax collector's time was extended until the next meeting. W. R. Thompson's voucher No. 3 was passed. Three by-laws to close parts of roads were given their first and second readings. These roads were defined as follows: Northerly 66 feet of the most westerly 1,110 feet, Lot 8, Con. 11, and authorize the sale and conveyance to W. J. Stockdale, and divert this part of the highway "over part of said Lot 8, Con. 11."

To stop up part of the road between Gannon's Narrows and Lakehurst through Lot A in the 16th Concession and sell it to Mrs. J. Chase and divert it over part of Lot A.

British Policy In India Ably Defended

Ninety-nine per cent of the so-called news and information coming out of India, that professes to portray the facts and the attitude of the Indian people, is 'so much drivel —the shoutings and foamings of a small clique"— who have not their country, but themselves, uppermost in their minds. Such was the claim made to Kiwanis Friday by Richard Bingham of Toronto a Civil Service worker in India for a quartet of a century.

Chaos such as India has never known in her entire warring history, would result if that country were given her independence now, he asserted, claiming that only a loud minority really want to break Britain's rule.

The All-India Congress, he declared, does not represent the true feelings of the Indian people as a whole, and its demands are not the demands of the common people of the country, millions of whom are unalterably opposed to that body.

Mr. Bingham said that in his quarter century of service to India he had been in touch with every phase of life there from the Maharajahs to the outcasts, that he spoke three native tongues more fluently than he did his own. "I have had my pulse on the life on India," he asserted as a basis for his statements.

Policy Defended.

Scheduled to speak on the subject "Ten Million Beggars," he prefaced his remarks by a 15-minute defence of Great Britains policy in India, a preface he said was occasioned by remarks made to him following an address he made in Hamilton two night ago. On that occasion a number of his listeners surrounded him after his address and accused him of falsification, charging that a young Indian student now in Toronto on scholarship had given them an entirely different picture.

Breach Of Etiquette.

"I know the set-up in India far better than these noisy boys you hear," he charged. He said this particular student had never been outside his own province and that he spoke only his own native tongue. He, on the other hand, had a greater experience and his opposite picture was the true one, he asserted.

He charged that the statements of young Indians on British scholarships in Canada were at least a breach of etiquette, if not actual sedition, and that "something should be dropped on them from a great height in this country that prides itself on its loyalty to the British Empire."

There appears to be a strange readiness among the people of this Western hemisphere to give all kinds of credence to the reports derogatory to Britain's Indian policy, that are being circulated by people who are enemies of the Empire, he charged. Contrary to that claimed misrule, he saw the British civil servants as a body of keen, highly trained men eager to serve India's best interests. Too few voices, he said, are raised against the "mouthings" of young men who are on government scholarship in this country.

Noisy Extremists.

"Propaganda of a most violent type and emanating from a claque of noisy extremeists in India and elsewhere is filling the magazines and newspapers of this continent," he said. "They express the Indian case no more than do Sir Oswald Mosley's mouthings express the English case."

He said he realized there are economic ills in India that must be overcome, but said such could be done only by gradual steps. "To overthrow the tolerant, benevolent rule of Britain in India, and to replace it by a government of the 'two and seventy warring sects' would spell absolute chaos for India," he asserted.

"Pax Britannica," he said, "has given India peace for more more than 300 years, a peace and security such as she has not known since the dawn of history. And under that peace, these garrulous children are able to rave and rant and to bite the hand that feeds them. We are asked to give up this Pax Britannica and place India in the hands of a lot of noisy boys."

That, he said, will not be done. "India is growing up, but she has not yet finally grown to manhood."

FIELD MEETING HELD

A business meeting of the Ontario field representatives of the Manufacturers' Life Assurance Company was held in Peterborough on Friday. E. L. Sackville, branch manager presided and Frank Nicholson, the Canadian superintendent of the company was the guest speaker. Contributions were also made to the program by Frank J. Hughes, C. H. Foster, W. H. Barker, branch secretary of the Peterborough office and J. L. Doherty of Hastings.

The Rambling REPORTERS

SLEPT ON THE MESSAGE.

This happened a day or so ago, but it's still worth the telling. Mother and one of the boys had driven to Toronto, and upon leaving the intention had been to drive home the same evening. Father was out that evening attending a dinner and meeting, and he drove home with a friend about 11.30. He didn't turn in, but considered it would be a proper thing to sit up and wait for the late arrivals. He did so and started to read, and the clock kept on going as it generally does. It went to 12, then started on the other side, and when it reached about 2.30 the head of the house decided he should do something. There was another lad in the family, and he was informed of the crisis in the household. When he was fully awake, he remarkeded: "Say, I clean forgot to leave a note or tell you that mother 'phoned from Toronto about 11 o'clock saying the weather was so rought that they had decided to stay over and come up in the morning."—K.

Boy Befriended Steals Bicycle From Benefactor

A fifteen-year-old boy, former inmate of the Bowmanville Boys' School, was arrested on Friday at Millbrook by Constable Richards on a charge of having stolen a bicycle from a North Monaghan man who had befriended the lad and given him food and shelter for several days.

The boy was brought into Peterborough on Friday night by Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan and this morning was turned over to an official from the Bowmanville School, Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., having decided that such a course would be preferable to laying a theft charge against the lad.

The boy originally was committed to Bowmanville from Alliston after he had got into trouble there for stealing a bicycle. Recently he was placed out on probation with a farmer in the Uxbridge district.

"I couldn't get along with the farmer's wife, so I ran away and came down here," the boy said. "I did not want to go back to the school, so I took the bicycle to escape on."

DOWSERS OKAYED

LONDON—(CP). — "Dowsers" — operators of divining rods which find water and oil beneath the surface—have received the blessing of two scientists of the Royal Society of Arts, J. Cecil Maby and T. Bedford Franklin, after 10 years of study, have proclaimed the "seeds of genuine science" in divining.

Summer Resort Prices To Remain Same

No increase in prices, is the slogan of resort owners in the Kawartha district according to a partial survey of the lake country made this week.

The slogan was prompted by numerous enquiries from Americans, many of them regular clients who seemed to have a fixed idea that the war would force resort owners to raise their prices. Their fears are groundless as the resort men claim slight increases in food stuffs are negligible and these can be readily absorbed by the Canadians, without any resort rates being raised.

Percy Farr of Rice Lake Inn, Robert Hancock also of Bewdley and Henry Scriver who operates a large resort at Hastings reported that enquiries for reservations received so far, tops last years figures by a large margin.

"Last year was a good year, but this season promises to set new record in tourist traffic," said Henry Scriver of Hastings.

George Robertson, local barber who owns summer cottages at Hiawatha says he has one letter from a party of four men in Florida which sets forth that the party usually spent the summers in Europe and this year are coming to Canada for the first time. Robertson also reports that letters indicate more tourists than ever before along Rice Lake.

Six Drivers Fined In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13. — (ENS).—Six faced charges in traffic court here Friday as the result of their failure to produce their driver's license when called upon to do so by Provincial Constable D. M. Carruthers and Chief Constable George Hardy. Mr. K. Hoecke of town entered a plea of guilty on his own behalf and was assessed $4 and $3 costs with the option of seven days. When he told Magistrate Langley that he didn't have enough money to get both vehicle and driver's license at the same time it had little effect other than to give the accused 14 days to raise money to pay the fine. Fred Bailey of town, Joseph Smith of Seymour and Alfred Willis of town each contributed $4 and $3 costs, while Earl Skinkle, Seymour, paid $4 and $3.20 and Jack Macoun, pleading guilty to the same offence, $4 and $3.75 costs.

Canadian Wins Against Fears Of Old London

Written for The Canadian Press
By MARY GOLDIE

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—Miss Olive Todd, dress designer and owner of a business in the heart of Mayfair, and well known in Canada where she carried on a similar business in Toronto, has just held her first wartime fashion show.

Last year, in times of so-called peace, her salon was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. This year, in time of war, the flowers were there again, making the room a place of cheer for eyes wearied by a long winter. The war has not closed Covent Garden flower market nor kept Miss Todd from making her early morning pilgrimage there to buy quantities of lovely blossoms.

The doors of Miss Todd's shop did not close on Monday morning, Sept. 4, 1939, as did so many others. She made a decision—and she has stuck to it. So many other, perhaps more famous, shops closed on the fateful morning and have remained closed since. Some closed from fear, and some because, during those first days and months of war, there was a decided falling-off in buying of clothes.

With the coming of war, came the first reaction: "We must save our money. We must not buy new clothes. We are in uniform, therefore we don't need that kind of costume any more!" Miss Todd's decision was a tremendous one to make, with adjacent doors closing one by one. After all, it was her profession, her career, her art—her very life. And as such, it was worth a fight to keep alive.

Business Return

One partner gone off to do A.R.P. service, another on the calling-up list, a decrease in business, an increase in the price of materials, a large rental to pay—none of these things deterred her. Also, she had a conscience which said to her: "Keep on as many of your staff as you can. They need the money to live."

While all this was going on, customers came slowly back and work piled up. London began to come to life again with the coming of spring. After the first fear, women began to think again of clothes and new hats. Prices of materials were also rising so steadily there was a strong feeling some of them would shortly be unprocurable, and many women though best to accumulate a supply in advance.

As time went on models for the show were designed and put under way. It was to be done in a small way, but with a smarter collection and the two loveliest mannequins obtainable. So the show went on—and the people who watched it may or may not have looked beyond the beauty of line of suit and dress and seen the fascinating story that lies behind—of woman's courage, bravery and will-power.

'Y' KEEPS SPIRITS HIGH, AT HOME AND ABROAD

Sunday afternoon tea at a Toronto branch of the Y.M.C.A. is a happy occasion, when girls volunteer to serve refreshments.

Despite the heavy demands made by soldiers in training in Canada and overseas, the "Y" does not neglect its peace time job as witness these happy faces.

Says physical directors know just how much sun the boys should have when they are out at camp.

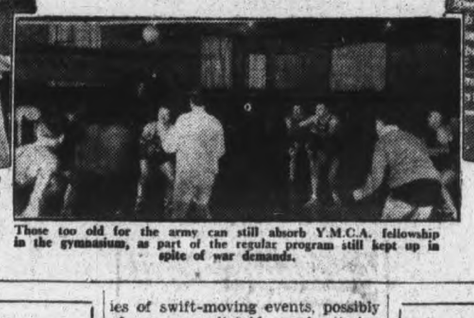
Soldiers at Barriefield Camp, near Kingston, are happy in possession of spacious new Y.M.C.A. quarters, dedicated to their spiritual welfare by Col. the Rev. T. A. Kidd.

It's nice to be able to leave barracks behind and step into the Y.M.C.A. Centre in Montreal, where are all the comforts of home and a girl opponent at Chinese Checkers.

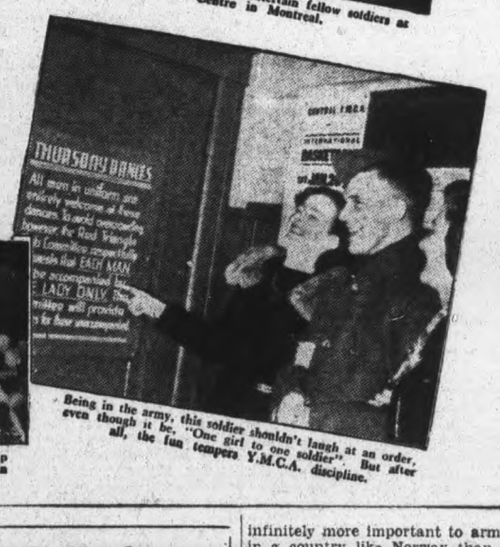
Youthful piper and dancer entertain fellow soldiers at "Y" Centre in Montreal.

For those who like the modern dance and the companionship of wholesome girls, the "Y" arranges a dance night at Montreal.

"Never reach!" their mothers taught them when they were young. But they're in the army now and the Y.M.C.A. workers are treating.



These too old for the army can still absorb Y.M.C.A. fellowship in the gymnasium, as part of the regular program still kept up in spite of war demands.



Being in the army, this soldier shouldn't laugh at an order, even though it be, "One girl to one soldier". But after all, the fun tempers Y.M.C.A. discipline.

Eglington Hunt Club Ready To Train Canadian Fliers

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP). — A one-time centre of Toronto's social whirl, the Eglinton Hunt Club has been transformed into a school to give young airmen their first instruction in the grim business of fighting in the clouds.

The once-swank club in the northern residential district is being prepared as the initial training school of No. 1 Training Command where the first batch of pilots, air gunners and air observers will start work under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

Several hundred recruits will don the Air Force blue uniforms next April 29 and move into the school, under Wing Commander G. S. O'Brian, officer commanding, who previously was in charge of ground instruction at Trenton air station.

In four weeks at the school they will receive instruction in basic Air Force duties, lectures in elementary aeronautics and plane construction, drill and Air Force discipline. None of the new Empire skybirds will fly until they move on to more advanced schools.

A Talent Test

During the initial training period they will be selected for duties as pilots, air gunners or observers and in future courses will specialize in the branches of the service for which they were chosen. Even those called up as air gunners might wind up as pilots if they show particular talent.

Wing Commander O'Brian arrived here last night from Trenton and after an inspection of the school—called an "air station" now by the airmen—said: "The place needs a lot of fixing up but we're going to have a lot of enthusiasm about the school and we're out to do our part in winning the war."

Workmen are rushing renovation of the sprawling buildings, scattered over seven acres, as they alter it from a club to barracks.

The huge riding ring has been turned into an indoor parade ground and the grandstand, where for many years wealthy Toronto horse lovers watched brilliant horse shows, now is a large dormitory. Rooms for link training machines, in which the airmen will receive their first practical knowledge of planes, also are located in the old grandstand space.

The stables have been switched to dormitories and long lines of doubledeck bunks take the place of the stalls. A tack room is a shower bath and practically the whole interior of the school is painted in the red, white and blue air force colors.

The airmen's dining hall, which seats about 400, is located in the badminton court and the officers mess is in the main clubhouse. But officers take second place to the recruits, who all enlisted in the ranks.

Officials at the school said every effort is being made to cater to the airmen's welfare first, before consideration is given officers assigned to the training centre. With this in mind, the airmen will have first call on the swimming pool and bowling alleys, which came wth the club.

The school will receive a preliminary inauguration Monday when a group of Royal Canadian Air Force provisional pilot officers have completed their elementary flying training will arrive for a two-week course in drill and book work. They are the last of those trained under the regular R.C.A.F. training plan.

The British Commonwealth class on April 29 really will launch the training centre and all future air force students will follow in their footsteps.

No Surrendering For Norway

LONDON, April 13—(CP). — Carl Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament, said in a statement issued today through the British ministry of information that "Nowhere does one see signs of Norway's surrendering (to Germany)."

Hambro left Norway shortly after the German invasion began and is now at Stockholm. His statement was to have been delivered over the Swedish radio yesterday but the arrangements were cancelled.

Asserting all parties were consolidated in making a "United People," Hambro said that "through the Norwegian legation in Finland offers have come from Danish, English and French ambulance corps to proceed to Norway, where their services may be of the greatest importance.

"A report too has come through from military chiefs in Norway telling of the determination which fills both them and their troops. Despite all the immense difficulties—and they should in no way be underestimated—mobilization is proceeding.

Strength Grows

"With every hour greater strength and co-ordination is attained by the leaders of the country and throughout the Norwegian legations there is ceaseless activity.

"Nowhere does one see any signs of surrendering the country."

"Until the government succeeds in re-establishing the nation-wide broadcasting system, news from Norway and statements by authorities will, so far as possible, be sent out in Norwegian and English by the British wireless.

"All posible help will be given to our country and is already being organized on all fronts. Streams of volunteers are rushing to report at many Norwegian legations, especially in Finland where the young veterans of the heroic Finnish defence are willing to fight once more for the liberty of peoples and national independence.

French lessons were broadcast to British soldiers in France.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 14.

Sunday's astrological forecast is for a fairly active and enterprising day in the personal life as well as in any business incident to the Sabbath. It is to the advantage to plan and work out new ideas of a progressive, practical and constructive nature for future development. Perhaps the social or romantic engagements may claim major attention, but be wary of strangers.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a rather enccuraging year, with new matters developing along definitely productive lines. The creative abilities and initiative are under good planetary vibrations. Do not neglect to demonstrate these because of high pressure in pursuit of pleasure or emotional excitement. Be wary of strangers or untried proposals.

A child born on this day may be practical, enterprising and constructive, not only in workaday problems but in artistic, literary or musical creation. It may also have an engaging social nature, and be pleasure-loving and indulgent.

For Monday, April 15.

Monday's horoscope holds auguries of swift-moving events, possibly of an unpredictable and stirring nature. It may be a day of thrills, drama and adventure, with surprising turns to affairs which may be singular, baffling, and intriguing. And while the faculties and emotions may be jumping at high tempo a modicum of repression and vigilance might prevent loss, through litigation or extravagant indulgence and may placate opposition from superiors.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of large opportunity, with many adventures, changes, and dramatic events. These, unless cleverly managed and controlled, may result in loss through litigation, unwise outlay or over-indulgence or enthusiasm. Restraint, moderation and calm judgment may avert trouble and break down hostility of superiors or those in authority.

A child born on this day may be versatile, brilliant, original and independent, but rather indulgent and easy-going, unless stirred early to ambition.

Daily War Survey

(By The Canadian Press)

Norway's geographic position and mountainous terrain will make for a different type of warfare than any fought in Europe in recent times. It will be open warfare quite different from the fighting on the Western Front in the First Great War. It will present new problems to commanders and the skilled and daring strategist who can adapt his methods to local conditions probably will win rich rewards in results.

In the last war the Italian front stretched through a mountainous country but it was a short front. The limited area and the size of the forces involved resulted in closely held lines.

Heavy fighting on land is likely only if considerable German forces are landed from the south and appreciable Allied troops land on the west coast and attempt to drive them out.

In that event, however, there may be no settled front. When the naval situation is cleared up it is probable the Allies will have a choice of many points at which to effect landings. They probably will move to attack German garrisons wherever the enemy is established and a reasonable prospect of success is in evidence.

Roads, railways and bridges are infinitely more important to armies in a country like Norway than on the level plains of north France and Belgium. And roads, railways and bridges can be destroyed easily.

Court In The Red

DES MOINES, Ia., April 13— (AP). — The Federal Bankruptcy Court here is having its own "bankruptcy" troubles — it's in the red. The deficit for the last six months of 1939, according to a report filed in Federal District Court, was $137.95. It's because the number of persons going bankrupt are too few to support it, Referee Ray C. Fountain said.

Mrs. B. Armstrong Is W.A. Hostess

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church, Zion, held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Bert Armstrong. After the opening hymn, the president, Mrs. G. W. Robinson, led in prayer. The bible reading was read by Mrs. N. Watkins. Delegates and their substitutes were decided upon for the W.A. annual meeting to be held in Toronto shortly. The secretary was asked to write a letter of thanks to Miss Graystock of Peterborough for the linen purificators so neatly made to add to the Communion linen.

Interesting items from the monthly bulletin were read by the president. Two short readings were given, one by Miss Jennie Pickel entitled "Little Things" and another, "A Prayer" by Mrs. Ernie Robinson. The president reported that since the last meeting several of the Little Helpers had been enrolled as members of the Junior Auxiliary, and that very soon new members would be added to the Little Helpers. The March board report of the W.A. in Toronto was read. Two chapters of the study book were explained by Mrs. T. H. Floyd.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing. The meeting closed with prayer by the rector, Rev. T. H. Floyd. A social half-hour was spent, when tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Alma Robinson. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Howard Smithson on the 8th day of May.

History Of Spode Dinnerware Is Outlined

The making of dinnerware, which, he pointed out, is quite young when compared with many other commodities in use today, was described by Mr. Ian Davey Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Lyceum Club Women's Art Association in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room. The history of Spode, first produced by Josiah Spode, an English porcelain maker, was outlined by the speaker. Spode's formula, that of combining bone ash with clay to produce whiteness, translucency and durability, has come into general use among Staffordshire potters.

Spode ware, one of the best English porcelain wares, is noted because patterns are never discontinued, there being already one hundred thousand different patterns, since none have been destroyed; because of its durability, and because it is possible to replace any part that is broken without buying the entire piece, such as the top of a teapot, or the saucer of a cup.

Of much interest were the moving pictures of the Spode factory at Stoke-on-Trent, England, established in the year 1770, which is being run exactly as it was in the beginning except that donkey engines now replace the donkey animals originally used to turn the wheels.

Explaining why some Spode patterns are more expensive than others, Mr. Davey said that colors must be applied one at a time by hand, thus the more colorful the pattern, the more costly the dinner set becomes.

An exhibition of Spode ware, displaying exquisite pieces and patterns, was on view in the library following Mr. Davey's lecture.

Mrs. C. S. Thompson, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Fred E. Hooper, introduced the speaker.

Banquet Is Held For Mothers And Daughters

The fine relationship existing between mother and daughter was evidence Friday night when St. James' W.M.S. Auxiliary held its annual mother and daughter banquet.

One hundred and fifty covers were laid in the Sunday School primary department, where tables were lovely with spring flowers, the tastefully arranged mauve and yellow streamers harmonizing with the profusion of daffodils in silver baskets and bud vases, and matching tapers.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. W. H. Buckler and Mrs. E. L. Woodley, who ushered them into Wesley Hall. At the appointed hour the mothers, daughters and friends gathered in the banquet hall, where grace was sung, and the delightful dinner served by a bevy of pretty girls of the church.

Acting as chairman and toastmistress, the W.M.S. president, Mrs. Wesley Rose, welcomed the guests who included Mrs. W. H. Morton, Presbyterial president, Miss Rachel Young, the guest speaker, and the representatives of the Church Board and Sunday School.

Greetings were brought to the assembly by Mrs. Morton on behalf of the Presbyterial, who stressed the importance of stewardship this year, not only of money but of talent.

As Mission Circle secretary for the Presbyterial, Miss Connie Wagar extended their best wishes to the mother society and to the girls of the local Mission Circle.

The toast list began with that to the King and Queen, proposed by Mrs. Rose and responded to with the National Anthem.

In proposing the toast to the church, Mr. A. E. Prest, secretary of the Church Board, referred to it as a voice calling us to higher life and service to which Rev. F. W. Craik graciously replied, likening the church to a safety valve, where people may find help for their problems.

Fine tribute was paid to the mothers by Miss Jean Hammond in her toast, to which Mrs. George H. Rowe responded on the part of the mothers.

Mrs. E. R. Frost spoke of the increasing responsibility on the part of mothers as she toasted the daughters and in reply Miss Dorothy Drysdale assured them of the continued love and devotion of daughters who tried to carry out the ideals set them. Interspersing the toasts was a piano solo beautifully played by Miss Elva Scott, representing the Mission Band. The trio, "Lift Up Thine Eyes," was sung in fine harmony by Mrs. E. Kitney and Mrs. H. F. Doig of the Auxiliary and Mrs. R. C. Searles of the Mission Circle with Mrs. George Wallace at the piano.

The reciprocal rights of mothers and daughters were stressed in the splendid and pertinent address by the guest speaker, Miss Rachel Young, who punctuated her address with practical illustrations, drawn from a fund of experience.

She also listed the various necessities which a daughter has a right to expect: A home that is decent and clean, parents who are mentally and physically fit and educated to present-day needs, money enough to provide for them, accessibility to church school and doctors education for themselves, an opportunity to earn their own living, and lastly, but most important, a good example. On the other hand, mothers should expect from her daughter, physical care of herself, honesty in thought, word and deed, discipline, respect for self and others, and, as a result of this, good character. In closing Miss Young urged both mothers and daughters to express their religion in every-day living.

On behalf of the W.M.S. Mrs. A. Rosborough voiced their appreciation to Miss Young and to all who assisted on the program, as well as to the president, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Wagar, Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. Sloane, Mrs. Woodley and Mrs. English as conveners of the different committees, with all their helpers.

The banquet was a splendid success in every respect, both financially and spiritually and concluded with the benediction. Mrs. Doig presided as accompanish throughout; Miss M. Deyell and Mrs. English were the treasurers.

Madden entertained at a dinner party at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club; Miss Helen Buchanan at 145 Benson avenue gave a tea, and teas were also given by Miss Madeline Whaley, at the Kawartha Club, and Mrs. Justin M. O'Brien, 409 Aylmer street. Miss Alma and Miss Caroline Beavis entertained at a cocktail party, and Miss Gladys Costello of 557 Aylmer street was hostess at a tea.

This afternoon Miss Geraldine Collins of 437 Stewart street will give a tea for Miss Duffus, Miss Vera Hiland of 557 Homewood will entertain at a supper party on Sunday. Monday, Miss Louise and Miss Eva Leteillier, 215 Crescent street, will give a cocktail party. A luncheon is to be held at Hooper's Palm Rooms on Tuesday by Mrs. John F. F. Roach and Mrs. Fred Hickey, and Tuesday Mrs. Ronald J. McGrath of 358 Brock street will entertain at a tea.

W.M.S. Tea Is Well Attended

A well attended tea was held at St. Andrew's Manse Friday afternoon by members of the W.M.S. Mrs. Allen Pilling received with the hostess, Mrs. E. W. Young. Tea conveners were Mrs. W. Henry and Mrs. F. Johnston, and Miss F. Dixon was treasurer.

Presiding at the tea table, which was attractive with a lace cloth, a silver basket of pink snapdragon, and lighted ivory tapers in silver holders, were Mrs. A. Porteous, Mrs. R. Hartstone and Mrs. C. M. Scott. Tea assistants were Mrs. D. Hillier Mrs. F. Dudney and Mrs. R. Hardy, and guests were shown to the team room by Mrs. E. Humpage. A table of homecooking was supervised by Mrs. J. Johnston and Mrs. R. Harle.

Soft piano music was played during the tea hour by Mrs. A. H. Radford.

Branch Notes

ST. GEORGE'S BRANCH

"Some Common Sense Reasons Why" was the subject of the book taken up for the worship program on Thursday evening. This book deals with the customs of the Anglican church and why they are used. It is divided into five parts which were read alternately by Mr. and Mrs. Heap.

A voluntary committee was formed to make arrangements for the tennis club this year.

The special speaker for the Literary program next week will be Mr. Pierce and it is hoped that a large number of members will be in attendance.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH.

St. Luke's regular meeting took the form of a social evening. Art Sayers' group was in charge, and the game of 'Treasure Trail' started the ball rolling. An old-fashioned reel was the next number, and then modern dancing occupied the remainder of the evening.

About 35 members partook of the delicious refreshments served. Music was supplied by Mrs. Foster and George Northcott.

We Noticed

...That all red ensembles, consisting of woollen suits, with flared skirts and tailored jackets, matching felt hats and one-strap shoes, are being worn by Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose. This is a departure from the usual type of costume worn by the Princesses, the Queen having heretofore favored pastel shades for her daughters.

...That it's a 1940 idea to spice up your costume with a strong dash of color. Shops are showing wide suede belts with matching gloves in such shades as Kelly green, sulphur yellow, paprika red and henna brown. Still sparkling is the scintillating sequin, as featured by a spring dance frock of emerald green net with wide skirt trimmed with scattered nosegays in sequins, and sequin shoulder straps.

FASHIONS

Be smartly and comfortably dressed at home in this very attractive frock. The sleeves are cut in one with the bodice and are so easy to make. The cute turn back collar is pretty and flattering and wide waistband gives you the popular tiny waist look. Light frills trim a dark dotted cotton that you will be proud to wear at the breakfast table as well as while you are doing your chores. The instructions included in the pattern are a great help to the beginner as well as the accomplished sewer.

Style No. 3396 is designed for sizes 16, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with 1¾ yards of ruffling.

Program By Piano Pupils Of Isobel M. Brain Is Enjoyed

Attractive standards of pianoforte playing were reached by the pupils of Isobel M. Brain, A.C.A.M., when they were heard in recital Friday evening in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., assisted by Douglas Ferguson, violin pupil of Roy Rome.

It was interesting to note that among the large number of young students, thirteen were boys, and boys who performed with an easy skill that made the young ladies sit up and take notice. Nothing more delightful could be imagined than the graceful little boys which preceded and followed each number, and the obvious and very pardonable pride each pupil felt in his or her accomplishment. A number had appeared in recital before, but in all the young artists' work was noticed the same neatness of touch, rhythm and accuracy, evidence of careful training and able study.

Two advanced pupils, Ruth Gaskell and Mary Lillow, received generous applause, Mary Lillow for "Toccato" (Paradies), and Ruth Gaskell for Bach's Two Part Invention and Mozart's "Fantasia." The latter composition in particular was played with assurance and excellent finger technique, but all three numbers were cleverly done in a way that indicates a promising musical future for the two young artists.

Douglas Ferguson, who was accompanied by Marguerite Rome, gave a fine violin rendering of Borowski's "Adoration" and "The Beautiful Dreamer" by Collins Foster.

Dr. J. J. Craig was chairman for the girls' program, which commenced at seven o'clock, and following a brief intermission, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe presided for numbers presented by the boys. He voiced the appreciation of parents to Mrs. Brain, whose painstaking efforts during the past year had made such a happy musical occasion possible.

IN MEMORIAM

DICKSON.—In loving memory of a dear mother and wife who passed away April 14, 1937.
But God has called our mother
Away from a world of strife
To shine among the angels
In a fairer, brighter life.
Safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe from all grief and sin
Forever and forever,
Where all is pure within.
Our hearts are full of sorrow
And tears have dimmed our eyes,
But we shall meet her once again
In the home beyond the skies.
—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.

MAHOOD.—In fond and loving remembrance of our darling baby, Helen, who departed this life April 14, 1937.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of our Baby gone to rest;
In Memories' frame we shall keep it
Because she was one of the best.
Our lips cannot speak how we miss her,
Our hearts do not know what to say,
God alone knows how we miss her
In our hearts that are lonesome today.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by Mamma, Daddy, Junie and Wilma.

CARD OF THANKS

SALLY'S SALLIES

Two heads are better than one if they're on the same shoulders.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ALL ROADS MISS ROME

EVEN IF everybody learned the same bidding system, you would still find plenty of variation in the way it was used, because of two factors. People themselves are different, and so interpret the same thing differently at any one time. Furthermore, any one person varies from time to time. With a certain hand and in a certain situation, he will make one bid one day and a different one the next. His mood, his physical condition, his mental processes, his temperament, are not exactly alike any two times.

	♠ A J 10 6 4 ♥ None ♦ J 6 3 ♣ A Q 10 7 4
♠ 9 7 2 ♥ 10 8 7 6 2 ♦ 9 7 4 2 ♣ J	N W E S	♠ 5 ♥ A K 6 ♦ K Q 10 8 5 ♣ 8 6 3 2
	♠ K Q 8 3 ♥ Q J 9 5 3 ♦ A ♣ K 9 5

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

Everybody bid this hand differently at all tables of a duplicate game, all but two pairs reaching 6-Spades, but all of them missing the grand slam which is in the cards. Instead of all roads leading to Rome, as per the old prescription, all of them missed Rome.

Here are some of the variations:

1—
East	South	West	North
1 ♠	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♠	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	6 ♠
2—
East	South	West	North
1 ♠	Dbl	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	6 ♠
3—
East	South	West	North
1 ♠	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	6 ♠

Perhaps we might as well admit it is pretty hard to get to a grand slam after an opponent has opened the bidding, especially if he holds an ace-king in addition to a good suit. Even the Blackwood convention could not help much on this hand. Several of the pairs were using it, but none tried it on this deal.

Your Week-End Lesson

If you are using the Blackwood slam convention, and the bidding has started with your 1-Spade and your partner's 3-Spades, what do you bid next with each of these hands:

1. ♠ A K 6 4 ♥ A 8 5 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ 7 4 2
2. ♠ A K 6 5 4 ♥ K 8 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ 7 4 3
3. ♠ A K 6 5 4 ♥ K 7 ♦ Q J 10 6 3 ♣ 6
4. ♠ A K Q 5 4 ♥ K 7 ♦ K Q J 8 6 ♣ 6
5. ♠ A K Q 5 4 ♥ None ♦ Q J 10 6 2 ♣ 8 7 4
6. ♠ A K J 5 4 ♥ None ♦ Q J 10 6 2 ♣ A 7 4

Quilting In May To Feature Millbrook WMS

MILLBROOK, April 13—(ENS)—The April meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's church was held on Wednesday at 3 p.m., at the church, with the president, Mrs. Al. Sisco, in the chair, and the theme of "Prayer" emphasized throughout.

Announcement was made that Mrs. C. Scott, of Peterborough, will be the guest speaker for the annual thankoffering service on Sunday, April 21, with the mission band and circle joining for the occasion. The Easter thankoffering will be received at this service by the three societies.

Announcement of the sale of a quilt for $4.00 was made by the president, and also of an offer for the Auxiliary to complete two quilts for a member, thus adding to the funds. This will be undertaken at the annual May quilting, when those for the bale will also be done. Mrs. J. Spence gave the list of articles required for the bale this year, which has to be ready for June 1, gifts for children, new and used clothing, remnants of print, linen, etc. and used curtains and remnants of wool, being among the things mentioned.

Mrs. J. McKnight brought an inspiring message on the "Stewardship of Prayer," Mrs. J. Rowland on "Easter Thoughts," and Mrs. J. H. George excerpts from an address of "Peace," by our late Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir. Miss E. L. Hetherington introduced the matter of daily use of the prayer cards, the printed prayers thereon to be used at 9 a.m. and at 12 noon, if at all possible, the idea being united intercession of the women allover Canada for the peace of the world, and the establishment of God's Kingdom. Group leaders will see that every member has one of these cards, and the shut-ins of the community will also be given a supply.

Mrs. Irwin Hatherly brought an account of work proceeding in China, and the effect upon it of the war with Japan, the item of particular interest being the earnest endeavor of the native Christians to forgive their enemies, even when their place of worship had been destroyed with bombs, and a beloved pastor killed in the explosion following a service in the East Gate church, at Chentu.

Two members were asked to write to missionaries, one on the home field, and the other in China, and the meeting closed with the W.M.S. Watchword in unison.

troops pushed up the shore of Oslo Fjord to join the invaders' expeditionary army.

Norwegians Surprised

Advices reaching here said the German advance caught the Norwegians by surprise and they had no time to meet it.

Defence troops, holding positions along the narrow fjord, had established a semi-circular line from Moss to Holen, east to Myren, northward, east of the River Glommen and Lake Oieren to Romerike, thence southward to Tyri Fjord and Vikesund, which is about 30 miles west of Oslo.

Fortifications were being thrown up in the valleys to the northwest to bolster the ring.

The German advance from Moss was said to have been accomplished in commandered buses and automobiles and to have been impeded, at least briefly, when a bridge was dynamited as the first bus crossed a stream.

Refugees from the Holen region reached Stockholm by automobile today and said they had been ordered by Norwegian police to speed for the Swedish frontier to keep their motorcade from falling into the hands of the advancing Germans.

The Germans, however, were reported harassed within Oslo when Norwegians blew up a large dam at nearby Solbergsfors and cut off the city's electricity.

Norwegian sources said telephone and telegraph lines linking Oslo and Berlin also had been put out of commission.

Nazis Pursue King Haakon.

The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet said German warplanes still were pursuing King Haakon and Crown Prince Olav from hiding place to hiding place. Wherever they stop, it said, air alarms soon follow.

The present whereabouts of the 64-year-old monarch was not disclosed, but the newspaper said he had been forced close to the Norwegian-Swedish border.

The newspaper's correspondent said the King told him in a highway meeting, "I have not been out of my boots and I have hardly had a wink" since leaving Oslo Tuesday.

He reported, however, that King Haakon still was in good spirits and determined to stay in his country "as long as one inch remains Norwegian."

One of the ministers accompanying the King told of a close escape yesterday when, he said, four German planes, apparently skimming the treetops, aimed machine-gun fire so close they seemed to have recognized the King.

Ports Still In Nazi Hands

Elsewhere there were no reports of changes in the Norwegian situation with the Germans admittedly holding the ports of Kristiansand, Stavanger, Bergen and Narvik. The situation at Trondheim remained obscured by military secrecy.

An unconfirmed report to the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said that all German warships at Narvik, including four destroyers, had been sunk by Norwegian forces.

A search by Norwegians for five German warships reported off Trondheim was said to have been fruitless, but two British destroyers were seen at Namsos, to the north.

According to the Stockholm newspaper Allehanda, British fighting strength in that area also included two British battleships, four cruisers and two other destroyers together with large number of aircraft.

(The British Broadcasting Corporation said last night that a Norwegian high command communique had claimed control of the whole country except for the occupied ports.

("Mobilization is proceeding," it quoted the communique. "The influx of conscripts is overwhelming.")

Some observers predicted that if the Norwegian adventure went badly for Germany, Adolf Hitler might try a stab in another direction—possibly into Sweden, Belgium, or the Netherlands.

Military observers contended that the Nazis had bitten off more than they could chew when they sank their teeth into Norway.

That country's deep ravines and scanty transportation systems favor defenders in a guerrilla warfare, making impracticable the lightning action of mechanized forces such as subdued Poland in less than a month and moved into Denmark almost without opposition.

Geography, however, also offered serious tactical difficulties to the Allies in any attempt to land forces to aid the Norwegians.

The broken coasts with deep, narrow fjords are readily defended. Unless troops are landed by stealth and surprise, as the Germans were Tuesday, they could be chopped down by a few machine-gunners, these observers said.

Cat And Mouse Game

The Norwegian coastal contours also were forcing the mighty British fleet to play a cat-and-mouse game with the remaining German ships. In the opinion of naval experts, even submarines would be daring destruction if they ventured into the confined fjords to attack.

One sample of this problem was the British destroyer raid on Narvik, Wednesday, in which two destroyers were lost and others damaged.

Forty or 50 survivors of the destroyer Hardy, which was wrecked and run aground in Narvik, were believed to be carrying on a stealthy warfare ashore. They last were seen scrambling ashore from lifeboats, carrying rifles and supplies. No word since has been heard from them.

In view of the geographical difficulties, the turn to heavy reliance of planes was seen as a logical step following the open sea warfare of the previous days.

The British said there was no major naval engagement in the Kattegat Friday, despite Swedish reports of explosions heard in that region. The noise may have been from German depth bombs, exploring for British submarines, one naval official suggested.

Must Fly Allied Flag

Another authoritative British source said that the merchant ships of German-occupied Denmark now were technically "of enemy character," and would be permitted to continue trade only under an Allied flag.

Masters and crews, he said, would be "welcomed and invited" to serve under British or French flags, and compensation for owners would be arranged "in due course."

If they do not come into the Allied fold, they will be subject to seizure as war prizes, he said.

Danish officials abroad have directed Danish captains to go to, or remain in, neutral ports.

(One Danish official in New York said the Allies "want to take our ships and we are trying to talk them out of it.")

Reported similar Allied plans for Norway's nearly 2,000 merchantmen were delayed, pending clarification of the military situation in Norway.

The German invasion of Norway already has cut off NoNrwegian cargoes of newsprint to Britain.

Smaller Papers

The News Chronicle announced that it and other papers would be reduced to 10 pages Monday with further reductions expected in the near future.

Newsprint prices already are nearly double the pre-war rate, and a further advance is expected Monday.

British official sources disclosed that systematic search of United States-bound mails on neutral ships had begun with removal of mails of German origin from the S.S. Manhattan at Gibraltar.

Eastbound mails previously have been removed from American ships at Gibraltar, Britain rejecting American protests.

The new searches of westbound mails were said to be intended to catch exports of small mailable articles, which the British said had increased greatly in volume.

world still was prohibited and there was no indication when normal transportation facilities would be restored.

Thus far authorities have not announced what steps would be taken with reference to the citizens of belligerent nations now in Denmark. United States citizens expected, however, that they would have no trouble in leaving the country when transportation is available.

For most of the Americans here the situation is merely an inconvenience. Because of passport restrictions against travel in vessels of belligerent countries, the only way they can return home is to travel through Germany to reach Italian ports.

Norwegians here find themselves facing a strange problem. Although Germany has announced that she does not consider herself at war with Norway, fighting is going on between Norwegian and German troops and Norwegians in Denmark are doubtful of their status.

They gained some reassurance from the fact that the Norwegian ministry in Copenhagen is operating as usual, and they expected to be treated as neutrals, despite the fighting in their homeland.

Meanwhile, a German trade commission began negotiations with the Danish government in an effort to reorganize Denmark's economy.

Civilian life appeared on the surface to be continuing much as usual but a mounting list of regulations hinted at changes to come. The latest police proclamation last night prohibited all public meetings.

Battles Rage In Scandinavian War Zone

Staging a fierce aerial attack on Stavanger (2), the Royal Air Force is reported to have destroyed German planes and gasoline stores, while British and Norse forces are reported to have established contact at Bergen (1). Grimly determined to prevent the Germans from transporting any more troops to Norway, the British Navy has mined the Skagerrak and Kattegat (3) and (4). Smashing up Oslo Fjord (5), British warships are reported nearing the captured city with aid for the Norwegians. Hamar (6), at which the Norwegian government set up temporary headquarters was reported in flames as the result of ruthless Nazi bombing. Mr. Charles Fisher had the misfortune to have his hip hurt on Saturday when he was hit by a car while walking across the street in Peterborough.

Battle of Norway Seen Key Of War

NEW YORK, April 13 (CP)—New York's morning newspapers, dealing editorially with what was termed "The Battle of Norway," were of the opinion today that the outcome of the war and the fate of the British Empire depends on the battles now raging over the invaded Scandinavian kingdom.

The Times commended Britain's counter-attack which it said "has been begun with courage, dash and a full realization of the importance of the issue."

To the News, it was a battle between the battleship and the airplane. Saying that if the plane blasts the battleship the future of the Empire "will be anybody's guess," the News added: "We hope the battleship will prove master of the airplane."

The Herald Tribune concluded that if Hitler "makes good his hold on Norway, Mussolini cannot hesitate much longer."

Off-duty programmes maintain the morale that will Win the War

Y.M.C.A. Needs Your Help in Gigantic Task

NOT with guns alone will the war be won. It is the man behind the gun who wins the battle. And that man, though now a soldier, is still a man. He must have, even more than in peace, some form of comfort and recreation... some semblance of home life . . . fellowship to lighten his spirit, entertainment to divert his mind, games to strengthen his body during those few precious moments of relaxation.

The boys of our fighting services face long hours of off-duty freedom when the tension must relax. Will this be a freedom for boredom and discontent? . . . or a freedom for wholesome entertainment, good companionship, organized games and refreshing recreation that will make them better soldiers and better men. You can help make the choice for them.

The Canadian Y.M.C.A. has undertaken a gigantic and important task in helping to maintain the morale of the troops by providing social and recreational facilities for their comfort, enjoyment and inspiration during off-duty hours. And on the generosity of the Canadian people, the Y.M.C.A. is totally dependent, for funds to carry on this important Christian work.

Already the 'Y' has swung into action . . . thrown open the facilities of its 44 buildings from coast to coast for the use of the boys in training...opened 25 Y.M.C.A. Centres in Camps, Barracks and cities throughout Canada . . . sent trained men abroad with the first Canadian contingent to study the needs and build the foundation for their work abroad . . . already 9 'Y' Huts are serving the Canadian boys at Aldershot and Canadian 'Y' Secretaries are ministering to their needs in the Beaver Club, London.

CANADIAN BOYS ATTEND INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINE CLASS at Seaford, England, 1917. One of practical courses given by the Khaki University, initiated and financed by the Y.M.C.A. in the last War at a cost of $434,000. RIGHT—A Sailor joins in the singing at a Sunday afternoon Bible class held at a Y.M.C.A. hut in Canada. In Christian training the 'Y' co-operates fully with the chaplain services at home and abroad.

But the work has only just begun. Permanent and Mobile Y.M.C.A. centres must be built or equipped in Canada and overseas. Sports equipment, games, books, stationery and other comforts must be provided . . . trained staffs must be sent to organize sports, motion picture shows, concerts, singsongs, informal education and inspirational meetings for the boys.

Your Help is now essential to assure this. To continue and extend this work the Y.M.C.A. now urgently needs $1,038,000 for minimum essentials. Those boys went willingly to fight for us . . . we dare not fail them in this. When you are called on,—give willingly . . . give generously . . . and GIVE NOW.

IMPORTANT—Protect the Home Front! Essential to this War work is the permanent Y.M.C.A. organization in Canada. Essential also is their normal work among youth now too young to serve. To assure this, support your local maintenance campaign as usual.

THE OFFICER'S LADY is the female impersonator of the "Maple Leaf" Concert Party, originally a Y.M.C.A. concert troupe—4th Division, France. The famous "Dumbells," and 19 other concert parties were all financed, trained and equipped by the Canadian Y.M.C.A., part of an entertainment service costing $681,041.00.

After the Armistice a Concert Party Training School was established by Y.M.C.A. at Mons and 28 additional parties were organized.

Dutch, Belgians Take Special Defence Moves But Attempt To Keep Business Normal; French President Pledges Haakon Aid

THE HAGUE, April 15—(AP).—The low countries, determined not to be taken unawares by any threatening moves of Europe's warring powers, maintained an alert watch on their frontiers today but official circles were outwardly calm and there were few signs of public anxiety over the future.

Special defence measures were taken in both the Netherlands and Belgium, but these were closely guarded as military secrets. Theatres and cafes in all the larger cities did a normal peacetime business.

Government circles expressed indignation over foreign reports there was imminent possibility of the war spreading to the lowlands. The rumors were termed ill-considered and malicious.

In Belgium, however, an organization of first Great War veterans suggested creation of a large auxiliary police force recruited from their ranks and designation of concentration camp sites where undesirable foreigners might be detained.

"It is logical to conceive of a surprise attack executed on our ministries, our barracks, our public stations, our banks and public institutions," the veterans said.

A British reconnaissance plane, attacked and outnumbered by Nazi airmen on the German side of the frontier yesterday, crashed just inside Dutch territory near the village of Babberik in the northeastern province of Gelderland.

The British plane was believed to have carried a crew of three. Two bodies were found in the wreckage. Thousands witnessed the air battle.

British, French and Polish Ministers to Copenhagen arrived in Brussels by train with their staffs yesterday afternoon.

LeBrun Promises Aid

PARIS, April 15—(CP-Havas).—President Albert LeBrun assured King Haakon of Norway of French aid against the German invasion, in the following telegram, text of which was released today:—

"Norway is the target of an aggression by Germany that arouses the unanimous indignation of all free nations.

"I want in my own name and in the name of the French people, who are strongly moved by the magificent courage which raised up your whole people against the invader in a single surge, to convey to Your Majesty our sentiments of sympathy and admiration.

"Norway may be assured that France, in full accord with its Allies, will in all domains and by all means in its power afford the most complete and effective aid to assure, through the triumph of justice, a respect for the independence of a people attached to its liberty.

German Drive Nears Swede Border

King Haakon Pleads For Troops To Hang On, Aid Near

STOCKHOLM, April 15 (AP) — British forces were reported today to have landed in Narvik under the protection of naval shellfire which drove the Germans from the northern Norwegian ore port into the mountaineous interior, while in the southeast the German forces were nearing the Swedish border.

The British warships which raided Narvik Saturday were said to have the town under control of their guns.

This report, from the Norwegian radio at the port of Bodo, south of Narvik, followed a Norwegian army communique reporting that Norwegian troops north and west of Narvik were ready to attack the Germans.

The Norwegian commander said the German forces had retreated hastily and were believed to be incapable of strong resistance to the Norwegians who, he said, are now full mobilized in the north.

These sources said that all German warships in Narvik had been sunk.

(The British Admiralty announced seven German destroyers were sent to the bottom in Saturday's raid.)

According to the Norwegian version, the British battleship Warspite, screened by a flotilla of destroyers, forced the mouth of Rombak's fjord, which controls the port.

Norwegians said that there had not been any heavy British bombardment before landing forces were sent ashore but that Narvik's biggest building, the new hotel Royal had been destroyed.

Haakon Calls To War

The Norwegians, meanwhile, were urged to greater efforts by their aging sovereign, King Haakon VII, who last night broadcast an appeal to his people to fight on for "freedom and independence."

The King, who has been relentlessly hounded from town to town by pursuing German bombers since he abandoned Oslo with his government last week, spoke from an unidentified station somewhere in the interior.

Despite the heartening effect which the King's appeal was expected to have on Norwegian morale, the country's defenders appeared to be fighting a losing battle on

Nazi Envoys Burning Papers In Amsterdam, British Raiders Get 2 Troopships Damage 4 Others In Skagerrak Swoop

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP).—William C. Kerker, National Broadcasting Company correspondent in Berlin, broadcast at 8 a.m. EST to-day that officials of the German Embassy in Amsterdam had started to burn all political documents.

NEW YORK, April 15.—A shortwave London broadcast, picked up by the Columbia Broadcasting System, said to-day that British and Freich aid to Norway is "assuming great proportion."

The London broadcaster said the information was contained in a Norwegian communique.

LONDON, April 15. — (CP.) — A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Stockholm said a "state of preparedness" against aerial attack was proclaimed to-day in parts of Southern and Western Sweden, effective at noon ,6 a.m. EST) to-morrow.

STOCKHOLM, April 15.—(AP).—A three-motored German Junkers plane made a forced landing to-day at Mariestad, 90 miles from the Swedish coast.

It was returning to Germany after dropping leaflets in Norway when it lost its way and exhausted its gasoline. It carried a crew of five. Swedish policy is to intern both the plane and fliers.

Three German fliers were interned yesterday when a Junkers plane made a forced landing near Grebbstad on the Swedish west coast and another, which flew over the Uddevall military barracks, was shot down in flames by Swedish anti-aircraft fire.

BERLIN, April 15.—(AP). — German spokesmen claimed to-day that no British troops had landed at Norwegian ports occupied by German forces but may have effected landings elsewhere.

Their statement was made in comment on the British announcement that British forces had landed at several points in Norway.

Britons may be somewhere along Norway's jagged coast of nearly 1,000 miles, spokesmen said.

HELSINKI, April 15—(AP).—Finnish naval officials issued notice Saturday that they had mined the waters of the far northern Petsamo region, which Soviet Russia handed back to Finland under terms of their peace treaty.

The newspaper Helsingin Sanomat declared, meanwhile, that Finland regards herself as "comparatively outside the area of hostilities" in Scandinavia.

LONDON, April 15.—(CP). — The Admiralty announced to-day that two German troop transports were sunk and that four torpedo hits had been scored on a convoy of transports attacked in the Skagerrak.

The announcement added that a transport had been set afire at Bergen and that a small supply ship had been sunk by the combined action of naval and air forces. One plane failed to return from this raid, the Admiralty said.

The text of the communique:

"Further reports from our submarines indicate that another two German transports have been sunk and that besides this a convoy of enemy transports was attacked in the Skagerrak when four torpedoes found their mark.

"Another attack on transports and aircraft in Bergen was carried out by 15 aircraft of the fleet arm yesterday, when several hits were obtained. One transport was set afire, a small storeship was sunk and one large flying boat was machine-gunned and burst into flames. One of our aircraft failed to return."

LONDON, April 15.—(CP).—British planes again last night bombed Stavanger, strategic port on the southwestern Norwegian coast, it was officially announced today.

Incendiary and heavy explosive bombs were dropped on the Stavanger airdrome, it was said. The raiders also machine-gunned German land defences.

Berlin Admits Narvik Blockaded

Say 7 U.K. Subs Sunk, Report Norse Crushed About Oslo

BERLIN, April 15 (CP)—Germany today admitted British air raiders had sunk a German merchantman at Bergen, but claimed as counter-measures the sinking of two Allied submarines in the Skagerrak and capture of a Norwegian torpedo boat.

Establishment of a strong British naval blockade of Narvik, important northern Norwegian ore port, also was acknowledged by the Germans who claimed their southern forces had "crushed" Norway's attempt to mobilize in the Oslo region.

The high command, in a communique, declared the two new submarines raised to seven the losses of Allied undersea craft in recent days.

Two British air raiders who sank a German merchantship at Bergen subsequently were shot down, the communique said.

Shedding only scant light on Germany's land operations in Norway, the communique reported capture of Honfoss in the Oslo area and claimed Norwegian efforts to mobilize had been "crushed" in that region.

The captured Norwegian torpedoboat Hval will be put into service with a German crew, the announcement stated, reporting quiet on the western front but maintaining two British planes were shot down.

The course of the northern struggle between British and German air and sea forces is obscure from this

Britain Promises Sweden Aid If Attacked Warspite Leads Raid Taking Narvik Navy Mines Baltic From Kiel To Lithuania

LONDON, April 15—(CP).—Great Britain announced today she has landed forces at several points in Norway to press the war against the German invaders while her navy and air force hurled new bolts at the Nazis in widespread sections in and around Scandinavia.

(Norwegian reports to Stockholm said British forces had landed at Narvik, Northern Norway).

While official information was lacking on the number of men and the points where the British force landed, Norwegian sources here said Britain had occupied Narvik in the far north. Other points considered among the most likely landing places are Namsos, about 100 miles north of German-held Trondheim and Andalsnes, about 100 miles south of Trondheim.

Prime Minister Chamberlain conferred today with Clement Attlee and Arthur Greenwood, Opposition leaders.

It was reliably stated that he informed them he would make a full statement tomorrow in the House of Commons on the British landings in Norway.

Britain indicated an expeditionary force was on its way to Norway and promised Sweden help if she suffers the same fate as her Scandinavian neighbors, Norway and Denmark, which Germany invaded last Tuesday to "protect" their neutrality.

While the British Isles rang with cheers for the Royal Navy's exploits, Britain kept a watchful eye on the tense Lowland countries and the Balkans, against the possibility Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway might foreshadow extension of the conflict to other neutrals.

The Admiralty announcement concerning the Admiral Scheer, sistership of the hunted Admiral Graf Spee which was scuttled after a naval battle off South America last December, said she had been "successfully attacked" Thursday by the submarine Spearfish.

No mention was made whether the 10,000-ton battleship was sunk, but the announcement said she probably had been hit by "more than one torpedo."

For the Spearfish it was revenge. Last October the submarine hid for hours on the ocean floor while German naval units dropped depth charges in an effort to wreck her.

Biggest Mine Coup In History

Britain's brief announcement of new mine-laying forays described only in outline the creation of a barricade across the entire German Baltic coast from Kiel to Lithuania. The Admiralty kept secret how its ships had been able to penetrate those waters past German-occupied Denmark, but Naval observers said the new minefields meant that a total of 100,000 square miles of sea were loaded with explosives, probably the largest naval operation of this kind in history.

The barrier was designed to bottle up any German warships now in

German Contact With Haakon Is Broken Off

Although these sources declined to say so, this became evident when a proclamation of General Nikolaus Falkenhorst, German army commander in Norway, demanded Norwegian submission under threat of death, and when a proclamation of King Haakon declared Norway's will to fight.

Still, however, Germany does not consider herself at war with Norway although authorized sources pointed out that Germans were seizing Norwegian men-o'-war and arms wherever they were found.

Japan Worried Over Fate Of Dutch Indies

TOKYO, April 15—(CP-Havas).—After summoning a Netherlands minister, General J. C. Pabst, to the Foreign Office and reportedly asking him to transmit to The Hague an outline of Japan's intentions, Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita today issued a statement expressing deep concern lest the Netherlands East Indies become involved in Europe's war.

"The Japanese Government cannot but be deeply concerned over any development accompanying aggravation of the war in Europe that may affect the status quo of the Netherlands East Indies," Arita said.

He failed, however, to go as far as Japanese papers, which have declared that Japan would not permit any change in the islands' status quo. A further strong editorial to this effect was printed today in the authoritative Japan Times and Mail.

Following is Arita's statement in part as issued here in an official English translation:—

"Should the hostilities in Europe be extended to the Netherlands and produce repercussions in the Netherlands East Indies, it would not only interfere with the maintenance and furtherance of the above-mentioned relations of economic interdependence and co-existence and co-prosperity, but also give rise to an undesirable situation from the standpoint of the peace and stability of East Asia.

Claims Are Disputed On Scuttled Vessels

LONDON, April 15—(CP Cable).—Lloyd's underwriters are preparing a blanket test case designed to settle the question of insurance liability on valuable cargoes lost in scuttled German ships.

Owners of cargoes now on the bottom of the sea have filed claims totalling hundreds of thousand of pounds sterling against London underwriters. Most claims concern British and neutral cargoes insured here before the war and carried in German vessels which later scuttled themselves at the approach of British warships.

The underwriters' case will be based on the contention that the losses were "war risk" rather than marine risk, under which they were carried.

20 Algerian Sharpshooters Trap Nazi Patrol Of 50, Take 7 In Fight

WITH THE FRENCH FORCES ON THE WESTERN FRONT, April 15.—(CP-Reuters)—More than 50 German troops were routed and seven made prisoner by some 20 Algerian sharpshooters composing a "group franc"—flying squad—after a bitter village battle in No Man's Land.

The patience of the Algerian platoon, which lay out in the fields and the deserted village streets in an attempt to kidnap the marauding German patrols was rewarded at the end of five nights vigil.

Three sections of Algerians had gone out to lay an ambush, armed with bombs, daggers and light machine guns. On the last night it was decided that in order to give the men more rest the sections on duty would be halved.

Just at that time the Germans sent out a big patrol, which entered one of the villages. A battle ensued

2 Battleships, 3 Cruisers, 17 Destroyers Of Nazi Navy, Hiding Or Hit, Still At Sea

LONDON, April 15.—(CP Cable)—The flashing guns of Allied warships, the silent, deadly torpedoes of submarines, and the high flying bombers of the Royal Air Force in the past week have reduced the German navy to a mere fraction of its pre-war strength.

Today, with the list of casualties still incomplete, Admiral Erich Raeder has under his command a navy stripped of its big gun effectiveness. Hitler's navy, a week after his Scandinavian adventure was launched, can no longer be considered as a battle unit.

As nearly as can be established, Germany has only one battleship left afloat, the 26,000-ton Scharnhorst, which was damaged by the Renown's gunfire and is now lurking wounded and unable to find a port for repairs. Two battleships, the Bismarck and the Tirpitz, each of 35,000 tons, were launched more than a year ago and probably nearing completion.

Germany started the war with three pocket battleships, the Deutschland, the Admiral Graf Spee, and the Admiral Scheer. The Spee was sunk off Uruguay. The Scheer was hit by at least one, and possibly three torpedoes by the British submarine Spearfish early Thursday morning and if she did not go to the bottom will certainly need months in drydock. The Deutschland, which was renamed the Luetzow, has been shrouded in mystery for weeks—ever since Germany suddenly announced a new name for her.

Of Germany's cruiser strength, only two or possibly three remain at sea. At least one third of her destroyer fleet has been sunk.

It is now clear the Gneisnau, sistership of the Scharnhorst completed two years ago, was sunk by Norwegian coast batteries. These ships, with the pocket battleships, were Germany's strongest naval unit at the start of the war. Of the five, two have been sunk, two seriously damaged, and one remains mysteriously in hiding.

Which of Germany's cruisers remains afloat is not definitely known. It is probable she has two of the new Hipper class of powerful 10,000-ton ships, mounting eight-inch guns and carrying three aircraft, and possibly a light cruiser of 6,000 tons. The 10,000-ton Bluecher and the 6,000-ton Karlsruhe are admitted by the Germans to have been sunk.

A week ago Germany probably had about 30 destroyers but at least 12 or 13 have been sunk. Even the few heavy ships left under Admiral Raeder's destroyer escort and the loss of these small terriers of the sea is a double blow to the naval strength of the Reich.

Sub Attacks Ship 300 Miles S.E. Of Halifax

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP)—A submarine attack on the British freighter Craig approximately 800 miles northeast of New York was indicated today in two fragmentary wireless messages.

The first message picked up by Mackay Radio here at 4:55 a.m. EST said:

"SSS—SSS, 40.43N., 57.24 W., Craig. Sub coming close."

An hour and fifteen minutes later at 6:10 a.m. Mackay said the Canadian government station at Camperdown, N.S., reported receiving a second call from the Craig, a 3,683-ton vessel.

This gave an "SOS" distress call which the Canadian station interpreted as "indicating attack but no further details."

The position given would have placed the vessel, registered from Cardiff, Wales, and owned by the Craig Shipping Comany of London, about 300 miles southeast of Halifax, N.S.

Marine mesasge operators at Mackay expressed belief the "SSS" signal meant "submarine sighted," although they added that in some instances vessels reporting submarines

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Terming wars abroad "more horrible and destructive than ever," President Roosevelt said today the 21st American republics could keep open the way to eventual peace "only if we are prepared to meet force with force if challenge is ever made."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke before the governing board of the Pan American Union on the observance of the organization's 50th anniversary and proclaimed a determination of the eastern hemisphere "to live in peace and make that peace secure."

The President designated no belligerent by name when he used these words apparently directed at recent European developments:—

Strike Holds Up Opening Of Navigation

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — Sailors picketed Canada's Great Lake ports today as a strike called by the Canadian Seamen's Union halted navigation opening along the great inland waterway.

In a dozen ports union members walked off ships at midnight last night. So far, only about a score of boats were ready to start the season's operations, but union officials said all these would be unable to sail. They added that the work of fitting out the most of Canada's 285 lake boats has stopped as well.

The strike, which has been labelled illegal by Canada's Deputy Minister of Labor, W. M. Dickson, coincided with official navigation opening, when insurance rates go into effect.

Union officials said they called the strike because owners of the big ship companies refused to negotiate for new contracts. The union in January informed the shipping com-the southern front.

Swedish authorities announced that 3,000 Norwegians, seemingly hard-pressed, had fled across the frontier near Halden at the southernmost tip of Norway and had been disarmed and interned. The Germans were said to have driven several miles beyond Halden to Kornsjo, a border station on the railway between Oslo and Goeteborg, only to retire later.

There were reports, however, that despite determined German efforts to clear out all resistance between Oslo and the Swedish border 30 miles away, Norwegian troops were clinging to positions between Mysen and Kongsvinger. Mysen is about 15 miles southeast of Oslo and Kongsvinger about 35 miles northeast of the capital, not far from the Swedish border.

A recapitulation of reports indicated that the Germans had occupied most of the municipalities within a 50 or 60-mile radius to the south, west and north of Oslo.

6 Centres In Nazi Hands

Frederikstad, Sarpsborg, Holmestrand, Kongberg, Dranmen and Hokksund, all south or west of the capital, were reported in Nazi hands. North of the city the Germans were said to be holding all the area to Lake Mjosen, including the towns of Jevnaker, Lillestrom, Romerike, Honesfoss and Eidsvold.

German troops also were reported to have occupied Elverum, which is about 35 miles from Oslo and north and slightly to the east of Lake Mjosen. This village, where the government stopped temporarily after abandoning Oslo, was said to be in ruins, with scarcely a wall standing.

The villages of Hamar and Gjovik on the north shores of Lake Mjosen were bombed intermittently by German warplanes, and the area was virtually abandoned by its civilian population.

Swedish correspondents reported there had been heavy fighting last night near Skarnes, about 40 miles northeast of Oslo and 20 miles from the Swedish frontier. Norwegian troops in this sector were said to have been reinforced by volunteers recently returned from Finland, who were described as showing "first rate" fighting qualities.

Sweden's Fears Ease

Sweden remained quiet and fears of involvement in the struggle appeared to be easing. That the nation's armed forces are on the alert, however, was emphasized yesterday when Swedish anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on a three-motored German plane which flew over the Uddevalla military barracks, and brought it down in flames after it had disregarded a warning shot.

An unknown number of the crew was killed. One of the airmen was taken to a hospital.

Several hours earlier a German Junkers plane had made a forced landing near Grebbestad on Sweden's west coast. The crew of three was interned.

(British source reported that anti-aircraft guns at Goetborg, Swedish southcoast port, had gone into action late last night and driven off several planes of undetermined nationality which flew over the city. Air raid alarms sent residents hurrying to cover.)

From the Swedish border town of Riksgransen in the far north came persistent reports that heavy clouds of smoke had been observed in the direction of Narvik and that German troops occupying that port in Arctic Norway had been driven into the hills by the guns of Britain's navy.

The British were reported in complete command of the water approach to the part and were expected to land troops today.

Well Planned Coup.

Swedish correspondents said there was evidence of long range preparation for the German invasion in the Narvik area. Practically the entire Nazi landing party there was said to have been composed of men who had visited Narvik in German ore ships and were familiar with the area around the port.

Reports of treachery which aided the German invaders to gain a foothold on Norway's northern coast continued to trickle into Sweden. One story said that when the Germans arrived they found many Norwegian military cars parked nearby without a guard and used them to facilitate their movements.

One German lieutenant, it was said, was recognized as a member of a hiking club who had spent several months in Narvik.

The appeal broadcast to the Norwegian nation by King Haakon described the German invasion as "the worst visitation my people have experienced in more than 100 years."

"I direct an urgent appeal to all Norwegian men and women," the King said, 'to do everything they can to save the freedom and independence of our dear fatherland."

His Majesty declared his country had been attacked "by a mighty adversary which did not shrink from bombing a peaceful people," and asserted that women and children had been subjected to "barbarous sufferings" during the invasion.

He described "violent" German air raids on towns in which he and his household had sought refuge after fleeing from Oslo.

"Explosive and incendiary bombs and machine guns were turned against us and civilians in the most reckless and brutal way," the King declared. "The assailants could have had only one motive—to crash immediately all of us assembled to decide questions for Norway's best."

He asked the people to "stand with me and the government and fight for Norway's independence and freedom."

Meanwhile proclamations signed by General von Falkenhorst, Nazi military commander, were posted in all German-occupied areas announcing establishment of martial law.

The proclamations urged the Norwegians to lay down their arms, and said that all who resisted by arms would be sentenced to death "without mercy."

Vatican Laughs

Rome, April 15.

PRELATES at the Holy See have a great burden of work and anxiety these days, but they have not forgotten how to laugh. There is one joke going the rounds now which has caused great amusement in the Secretariat of State, and from there has gone into Roman diplomatic circles. It is told thus:

Chancellor Hitler was dissatisfied with the results of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop's visit to the Vatican, so he sent Field Marshal Herman Goering down. A few days later he got the following telegram from his field marshal:

"Have placed Holy See under German protection. All prelates in concentration camp. Pope has fled. Vatican in flames. Cardinal's robe suits me beautifully. Signed, Goering."

ROME, April 15.—(AP).—Belief that Italy and other nations would be drawn into the war soon was freely expressed to-day in Rome.

Giovanni Ansaldo, a newspaper writer who often speaks for Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, told Italian troops yesterday in a broadcast that the spread of war to Scandinavia showed "no people in Europe can isolate itself from the conflict."

He said Italy was preparing for "the moment which will be most opportune," a moment he described as "much nearer than is believed."

report to the League of Nations council published today.

The Swiss league official made public the details of his interview with Hitler for the first time in his lengthy report on Danzig, which Germany absorbed last fall after the outbreak of war.

Burckhardt declared that Hitler said "he would not conduct the war as did the Germany of William II, who had always had scruples about making full use of every weapon, and he would fight without mercy up to the extreme limit."

Burckhardt said Hitler "was sure he could rely on Italian and Japanese alliances."

Strategy For Poland

"He asserted that, with 60 divisions and the western fortifications, he could hold the western front while he threw the rest of his army on the Poles, who would be beaten in three weeks.

"He said that the general tendency was to try to impress him with the rearmament figures of the foreign air forces, but added, 'I am a specialist on rearmament, not the others.'

"'Their air forces may be summed up as follows: England has 135,000 men in her air force and France has 75,000. But I have 600,000 in time of peace and 1,000,000 in time of war.

"'My air raid protection is the best in the world, as it was proved to be in Spain.'

"He also spoke of Russia," Burckhardt wrote, "and said that Germany knew them better than the others and that hundreds of his officers have served in the Russian army and knew the latter had no offensive power."

Burckhardt said he went to see Hitler on the question of arbitrating the Danzig problem. Instead, he listened for 2½ hours.

It appeared that the Nazis had been discouraged by the death of their officer, who fell victim to the first shot fired.

In the morning the Algerians went into the village, and some of them gathered around the body of the officer, which had been abandoned. Suddenly down the steps of a nearby loft a German came with arms uplifted.

One by one the seven Germans came down, leaving their weapons in the loft. Abandoned by their colleagues, they preferred to give in rather than resist the North African fighters.

French troops took the initiative on the Alsace wing of the Western front last night, sending a detachment far inside the German lines, and repulsed a fresh German thrust against the French positions farther west.

West of the Vosges mountains German detachments tried to infiltrate through barbed wire barricades protecting French advanced posts. They were repulsed.

At one point in this sector the Germans attempted a fairly large-scale raid after artillery preparation. The attackers were thrown back, leaving numerous dead.

during the weekend.

Many have been interned for the duration while others who have been able to satisfy the authorities about their bona fides but rendered destitute by orders to move, are being cared for by refugee committees.

Control of small vessels arriving at the London docks is being tightened to prevent Nazi agents being smuggled ashore. Passes into the restricted zones were withdrawn yesterday and new identity cards issued to essential workers and those authorized to move within the areas.

Meanwhile agitation is growing in the United Kingdom Press demanding more rigid enforcement of orders requiring the public generally to carry personal identification cards.

The Sketch suggests that henceforth a photograph of the holder should be attached to the card and that failure to produce on proper demand should be punishable by a substantial penalty.

"By checking on our identity cards we can quickly rake out those aliens who are still pursuing their task of undermining public confidence, destroying the National good will, and sowing the doctrines of communism and fear," says the Graphic.

Sure Of Peace

"We did not stamp out nations, capture governments, or uproot innocent people from the homes they had built. We did not invent doctrines of race supremacy, or claim dictatorship through universal revolution.

Paved By Good Will

"The inter-American order was not built by hatred and terror. It has been paved by the endless and effective work of women of good will."

Mr. Roosevelt said "Universal and stable peace remains a dream" and told his listeners to "have no illusions" at a time when "old dreams of universal empire are again rampant."

"It was for this very reason that we have adopted procedures that enable us to meet any eventuality.

"I pray to God that we shall not have to do more than that; but should it be necessary, I am convinced that we should be wholly successful. The inner strength of a group of free people is irresistible when they are prepared to act."

While expressing a determination that peace should prevail on this side of the Atlantic, the President did not set forth any proposals that might be termed a bid to end hostilities in Europe.

German Contact

is being offered, however, Germany, "to avert the possibility of great bloodshed" must—it is argued here—nip this resistance in the bud.

From the standpoint of international law, it is stated emphatically, no change occurred over the week-end in German-Norwegian relations. The Norwegian legation in Berlin has not turned over its affairs to a third power nor have the minister and legation staff left, it was said.

The opinion of authorized sources is that Norway herself is confused over the situation. The king, urging resistance, addressed the nation from an undisclosed place, it was pointed out, while Major Vidkun, self-named head of a Nazi puppet regime in Oslo, was urging quiet acceptance of the German occupation.

Admit Baltic Mined

Regarding the military situation, inquiries were referred to the high command's communiques, beyond which nothing could be said, they asserted.

Mining of the Baltic by Britain was admitted in part in that these sources said evasively, "there's considerable fantasy connected with that story."

Another authorized commentator said it was possible that now and then some British submarine might get through and plant "a couple of mines."

So far as the civilian observer can judge, Germany's chief efforts are directed at converting Trondheim and Bergen into points from which to attack Britain in the near future.

It virtually is conceded that ore cannot reach Germany from Narvik but Sweden seems to have given assurances that these cargoes could be transported by rail and later, after the Gulf of Bothnia is ice-free, shipped from Lulea by water. (British mining operations on the scale announced in London however would imperil this route.)

Some responsible German quarters dwelled on foreign rumors about impending trouble in southeast Europe and on rumors that Italy would soon join Germany actively, possibly by seizing Greece and "protecting" her against the western powers.

Township Gains Only Nine In 90 Years

ROSENEATH, April 15.—(ENS).—A roll call "How to make your head save your heals," bringing out many useful housecleaning hints, a paper on historical research, and a demonstration on home economics, featured the regular meeting of the W.I. The regular meeting was held on Thursday afternoon in the town hall. Mrs. A. and Mrs. W. Halstead were the hostesses and Mrs B. Thackery, president, was in the chair.

The paper on historical research given by Mrs. C. Sandercock, convener of this committee, had Alnwick township as its subject from the time of survey in 1850. The township contains 20,400 acres and at time of survey the white population numbered 691, at present it is approximately 700.

In connection with this story, a short history of the Alnwick branch of the W.I. was included. The branch was organized in March 1907. There have been fourteen presidents at its head, with fourteen secretaries. It has raised $5.-454.70. In 1932 the 25t hanniversary was marked with a banquet to which all previous members were invited in addition to members of that date.

A home economics demonstration was given by Mrs. Frank Brown. Mrs, Brown demonstrated how to cut twenty-four yards of bias binding from one yard of broadcloth costing 13 cents. The proper method of folding and applying the binding were demonstrated also.

During the business session it was decided to apply for a short course in rug braiding, the course to run in November if possible.

It was decided to make a donation of $5 to the Alnwick branch Red Cross fund.

An announcement of a meeting of conveners of standing committees was made to be held on Saturday night, April 27.

The minutes of the previous meeting revealed that 10 pairs of socks had been presented by the society to the soldiers enlisted from the township.

A bank book with a one dollar deposit is to be presented to Nancy Rose Carew, daughter of Mrs. Edgar Carew, as is the custom to new Institute babies.

The secretary-treasurer announced receipt of $13.45 for the month previous.

Community singing and a quiz arranged by the president, were included in the program.

Following the opening exercises and the Lord's prayer, silent prayer was offered for Mrs. Alfred Shewin, who is seriously ill.

The singing of the National Anthem closed the meeting, and the hostesses served refreshments

Weekend Traffic Toll Kills Five

TORONTO, April 10—(CP)—Five deaths were added to the year's Ontario highway traffic toll at the week-end. Two were killed in separate accidents in Toronto, two in a collision near Fort Erie and one near Leamington when a car got out of control.

A hit-and-run automobile thief was responsible for the killing of Capt. George Adkins, 51, Saturday night in Toronto as he was walking along a sidewalk with a companion. Police say the reward for the miscreant's arrest will approximate the $1,200 reward offered in the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Grace Ashton in February, $200 being offered by the Toronto Police Commissioners and $1,000 by the Province of Ontario.

When the car struck down Capt. Adkins, it swerved to the other side of the street, dragging his friend, John Doherty, 73, who was seriously injured. The car, which had been stolen from a parking lot, stalled there. The two thieves jumped out and escaped.

About the same time Louis B. C. Morse was killed in North Toronto when his car collided head on with a street car.

West of Fort Eerie, whne two cars collided head on, Edward Schooley, 55, Ridgeway contractor, and Mrs. Stella Croft, 36, were injured fatally, both dying shortly after in hospital. They were passengers in the two cars.

Mrs. Adelaide Alexander, 55, of Detroit, was killed near Leamington when her car skidded into a ditch and stopped at a telephone pole. Two women companions were only slightly hurt.

Mrs. S. Hatherley is spending a week with friends in Bowmanville.

Mr. R. Comstock will return to Alberta this week after spending the winter with his brother at Westwood and with his sister, Mrs. Gordon Fox of Hastings.

Mrs. J. E. Sykes of Lansing, Michigan, is spending several weeks at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. McGee.

Provincial Slot Machine Checkup Shows Only 8 Centres Levying Taxes

TORONTO, April 15.—(CP)—Ontario municipalities are divided on the question of licensing of automatic amusement devices, a concensus showed, and in several corporations by-laws to license such machines were under consideration.

Long a problem to municipal officials, slot machines, pinball games, music or "juke" boxes, and other contrivances are not licensed in such centres as London, Chatham, St. Thomas, Owen Sound, Galt, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Brockville, Peterborough, Timmins, and Sault Ste. Marie and in North Bay district. Most municipalities do not license the music machines.

At other points, including Welland, Brantford, Woodstock, Kitchener, Niagara Falls, Guelph and throughout Wellington County, Kingston and Belleville, licence fees of the various machines vary.

North Bay city council has struggled for three weeks with the problem of controlling the pinball and music machines through licences. The coin-in-the slot devices operate without charge in surrounding townships and almost every tourist resort between North Bay and the village of Callander, home of the Dionne quintuplets, has its quota of pin-balls and jukes.

Favors Licensing

At Hamilton, Mayor William Morrison advocated licensing although he says he believes such action would be illegal. Where the games are known to "pay off" in money or merchandise, police seize them and prosecute the operators under the criminal code.

Timmins, where machines are unlicensed, is considering a by-law to charge a flat rate of $15 for each machine.

A prohibitive licence fee of $2,000 has eliminated slot machine and pin board games in Guelph. Most Wellington county municipalities have followed the example but no restrictions are imposed on music boxes.

At Cornwall, a by-law which became effective the first of this month, provides for immediate cancellation of such city licenses as those governing tobacco sales, public halls, restaurants, lunchrooms and other establishments if police find slot machines, punch boards or similar devices on the premises.

Charges of keeping common gaming houses are preferred against proprietors of establishments in St. Thomas who are found to be using the machines for gambling purposes.

A by-law, under which a heavy annual fee was to be assessed against proprietors of every establishment containing the machines, cannot be enforced in St. Thomas, authorities said, because of a court ruling that such licensing would be tantamount to condoning gambling.

Music Boxes Taxed.

Only automatic device licensed in London is the music box. A by-law charges $5 for the first machine and 50 cents for each subsequent machine owned by distributors who pay the fee.

Among other municipalities which receive license fees are:

Kitchener—$500 yearly for first machine and $10 for each subsequent one. No license required for music boxes.

Belleville—$200 for each machine, except music boxes on which no fee is paid.

Brantford—$15 for each machine. The city has collected a total of $1,645 from operators this years. No fee for music boxes.

Niagara Falls—$50 each for slot machines; $25 each for pin-ball game. No fee for music boxes.

Kingston—$20 for the first machine and $10 for each subsequent machine. No fee for music boxes.

Stratford—$100 for the first machine and $25 for others. No fee for music mboxes.

Woodstock—$50 each for slot machines; $5 each for juke boxes. The municipality has taken in nearly $1,000 in license fees this year.

Stove Pipe Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 — (ENS).—When firemen arrived at the residence of Ed. Collins, Ranney Street, late Saturday afternoon he had already tossed stove pipes out on the lawn. A passer-by saw smoke issuing from the door and turned in the alarm which brought Fire Chief C. B. Williams and his men and they assisted in bringing the blaze which was still raging-in-pipes inside under control. Apart from smoke, damage was slight.

The Pack.—Jim Rose was invested as a tenderpad and started along the jungle path as he took his Cub promise. Ken Lawson received his first star.

Four new chums were accepted into the pack: David and Jim Robertson, Jack Tate and Billy Harrison.

The Troop.—Twenty-five members were present including three leaders. A knot relay game was won by the patrol under Fred Lawson. Several tests were passed and during the evening Jim Curtis, Ray Harrison, Ken Hopkins and Ken Gynane were invested into the great brotherhood of scouting.

Interpatrol handball was won by the senior patrol, with the Seagulls running a close second.

St. Andrew's

Nearly every boy was in full uniform at the troop meeting. Assistant Commissioner E. Wolfe instructed the Bulldog patrol in first aid, while other scouts took up first-class signalling.

C.M. Frank Pammett and Rev. Dr. E. W. Young were also visitors to the troop. At a court of honor the 24th May jamboree was discussed.

Mark Street

Don Smith and Bruce Shear were invested into the troop. Don joined the great brotherhood of scouts, while Bruce renewed his promise as a member of Mark street, having been attached to another group previously. The paper collection is going along fine. Two events are looked forward to: the scout craft show and the 24th of May Jamboree.

On Friday, May 3, the group are holding a parents' night at which Mr. Kay will be guest speaker and will award Bird Books to the winners of a Quizz game.

The group charter will be presented and Miss Ruth Murray will be invested as assistant cub leader. A good program has been drawn up under the auspices of the group committee.

A silver collection will help expenses. The St. Luke's cubs and scouts will be special guests at the meeting. William C. English of the local association and A.S.M. Lew Grant will be among the guests.

Murray Street

The Pack.—A short meeting was held before play practice. Ronald Beals has added his name to the long list of world scouts, when he became a full member of the pack through the medium of the investiture ceremony. Ron's father was present during the ceremony.

Ron closed the meeting with the Grand Howl.

A strenuous rehearsal of the play followed.

The group concert will be held on Friday, April 19, at 8.15 p.m. in Murray Street Sunday school. A small charge will be made. Why not support this young group in their first attempt at concert work.

They Show Their Teeth To Nazis Off Norway

British destroyers are shown, speeding through the North Sea during recent manoeuvres. Speedy craft, such as these were the first units of the powerful British navy to engage German naval units off the coast of Norway. They participated in an engagement in Narvik Fjord and were successful in forcing an entrance to the Fjord. One British destroyer was sunk in this engagement, another run aground and another damaged. One German destroyer was sunk, three seriously damaged and seven Nazi supply boats were sunk.

Lakefield W.A. Presents Play

LAKEFIELD, April 15—(ENS).—"Listen, Ladies," a two-act play presented by Group D of the Women's Association of the Lakefield United Church, was given before a capacity audience in the basement of the church on Friday evening. The plot was centered around a group of ladies, each of whom used her own name throughout, which determined to earn ten thousand dollars for a new library building under the enthused leadership of the president, Mrs. S. E. Richardson.

The first act showed the ladies gathering for an afternoon of sewing aprons, by which method they had been accustomed to raising funds. An item is read by the president from the Lakefield News, saying that a hermit had died in a distant part of the country and had left a sum of $5,000 buried in a cave near his former hideout near Lakefield. The energetic president visited five local business men, who promie to give dollar for dollar if the five thousand is found, but they also hide their cheques near the hermit's cabin.

The second scene showed the ladies arriving. The inside of the old cabin required much cleaning. As the ladies arrived, one with a gun, another with an axe and saw (who was bound to cut the wood for no man was wanted), the climax came, however, when still another lady came with her flock of chickens, all neatly boxed in an orange crate, and almost led a cow into the cabin.

The finding of the map and deciphering the directions from German to English, caused much excitement.

Oldtime costumes were worn, except Julia, who appeared in the "terrible" overalls. Those taking part were: Mesdames S. E. Richardson, Douglas Davis, S. Grylls, J. H. Payne, Charles Hunter, V. Deck, Elwood Pearson, E. Kemp and Bruce Garbutt.

The program was opened with the singing of "O Canada," followed by a minuet presented by four small boys and four small girls, who with their quaint costumes and shy glances, won the hearts of all and brought forth an encore. Those taking part were Alta Bullock, Barbara Hamlin, Frances Erskine, Elinore Deck, Ross Calberry, Billie Geraldi, Clayton Hutt, George Kelly. Miss Aileen Young, who trained the children, was their accompanist. A dialogue, "The News Bearers," was presented by Misses Winnifred Murphy and Maryalice Renwick.

Miss Mary Milburn contributed a solo, "No, Sir, No," accompanied by Miss M. Milburn.

Miss Freda Webster's reading was the tale of an Irish girl seeking employment in Canadian homes and her encore, "The Grindstone."

Miss Cora Charlton's vocal numbers were "The Meaning of the Rose" and "Here in the Quiet Hills," accompanied by Mrs. H. E. Moore.

Chairman for the program was Rev. G. F. Kelly.

Skipper Groombridge called on several to tell them of the forthcoming scoucraft show.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT COMMISSIONS Y.M.C.A. To Gigantic War Task

Your Help now urgently needed

The "RED TRIANGLE" is a welcome sight to men in uniform both in Canada and Overseas. It assures some home comforts, companionship, relaxation and inspiration wherever they may be.

FROM the Canadian Government the Y.M.C.A. has again accepted a gigantic and vital responsibility . . . to help in maintaining the morale of Canadian Troops, both at home and overseas, by providing facilities for their comfort, enjoyment and inspiration during off-duty hours and on leave.

Already the 'Y' has swung into ACTION! Since the declaration of war the facilities of 44 Y.M.C.A. Buildings from coast to coast have been made available without charge to Troops in training, for baths, swimming, physical training and social activities. 25 Y.M.C.A. Centres have been opened in Camps and Barracks . . . Red Triangle Clubs have been equipped and opened in many cities . . . Stationery, Games, Books, Concerts, Motion Picture Shows, Dances have been provided without charge . . . in Halifax a hostel with sleeping accommodation for 500 men is now being operated by the 'Y' . . . trained 'Y' Secretaries went over with the first Canadian contingent to lay the foundation of this great undertaking in England and in France . . . already the 'Y' is operating 9 Huts at Aldershot . . . where hundreds of dollars of sports equipment and games have been distributed free to the boys. The operations of the new "Beaver Club" in London are now being entirely financed by the Canadian Y.M.C.A. and all programmes are being conducted by an executive staff of trained 'Y' Secretaries.

All this has been done—on faith and borrowed money. The next move is YOURS.

$1,038,000 is urgently needed—NOW—if this vital work is to be continued and extended. This is the minimum requirement based upon a comprehensive study and estimate of the needs, in Canada and Overseas.

As vitally important as military and first aid equipment is the morale of the troops. In Y.M.C.A. files is a letter from the late Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, reading in part: "I have often contended that it is hard to estimate the real value of good morale, and it has been in helping to keep up the morale of our forces that you have won your right to be acknowledged forever a factor in winning the victories."

More eloquent testimony is contained in hundreds of letters from men who were in the ranks. On Mother's day, May 12th, 1918, Private G. W. G. wrote his Mother from France as follows: "As you will see by the heading of this, we have not forgotten the Day even away over here in France, thanks to the thoughtfulness of the Y.M.C.A. They certainly are doing a wonderful work and we would be lost without them."

Today thousands of Canadian boys in the Army, Navy and Air Force are depending on the 'Y' for this service. Your generosity can assure that they will not look in vain!

A WARM CUP OF TEA. Maj.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton; at Aldershot, enjoys a cup of tea at the new Y.M.C.A. Mobile Unit. In the last war the Y.M.C.A. spent $431,750.00 on FREE tea, coffee, biscuits and cigarettes served to men in the battle area.

CANADIANS PLAY BALL—somewhere in France. One of the many games organized and played under 'Y' supervision during the last war when the 'Y' purchased and distributed $431,310.00 of FREE Athletic equipment to Canadian Troops overseas.

From his camping experiences in Canada a Y.M.C.A. OFFICER INTRODUCED THE TUMP-LINE to the Canadian army during the Great War. It lightened many an awkward load, just as 'Y' programmes lightened many a heavy heart.

Y.M.C.A. The Boys depend on the 'Y' ... the 'Y' depends on YOU

PROMINENT CANADIANS Endorse this Appeal

The Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King writes:

Ottawa, Jan. 8th, 1940

"The government was well aware of the magnificent work done by the Y.M.C.A. between 1914 and 1918 and gladly accepted the services offered by the Association at the outbreak of the present war. I should like, on behalf of the government, to commend the work of the Y.M.C.A. in ministering to the comfort of the men on active service in Canada's armed Forces. The contribution of the Y.M.C.A. to the spiritual and material well-being of those who will ever be numbered among the defenders of our Christian civilization, is much appreciated by my colleagues and myself."

Insult And Danger

Mrs. Florence Jaffray Harriman is 70 years of age, and she is United States Minister to Norway. There is complete confidence in her ability and good sense to handle the situation. Mrs. Harriman was on the outskirts of Elverum when the German raiders opened the bombing which announced their arrival, and she had gone there with the Norwegian government. Getting a short distance out of town she spent the night in a farmhouse, and the following morning in company with her secretary and chauffeur managed to reach Holjes. The entire town of Elverum was destroyed and fifty civilians were killed.

The hotel where the Norwegian king and his government were in conference was bombed and then destroyed a short time after they left. Escape for them was made possible by getting out into the woods where they might hide. Mrs. Harriman reports she does not know where they are now.

So that is the manner of what the Germans call invasion for the protection of Norway; invasion to keep the country from falling into the hands of the Allies. They make no formal declaration of war; gave the people no chance to escape from the places which were marked for bombing; they killed fifty of them in their tracks. They gave no consideration to the King or the Government; the Nazi bombers would have killed them if they knew where to strike.

The usual courtesy and rights extended to diplomats of neutral countries were ignored. The United States representative, a lady of 70 years, had to run for her life and hide in the woods, and when Germany insults and endangers the diplomat of United States then that insult and the danger become the property of the people whom Mrs. Harriman represents.

Looks Like a Blunder

Admittedly landlubbers do not know much about naval matters and few of them have ever seen a battleship of any kind. But it is easy to understand the reports which are coming from the scene of the naval warfare in the region of the North Sea, and not at all difficult to know that the tale of the might of the British navy has not been idle boasting.

There have been a good many opinions given as to why Hitler staged his conquest of Norway, and it appears to have been a movement carried out on large scale. We read it was to secure a place from which to strike at Britain; that it was to secure control of Norwegian oil tankers. And so on.

Well-informed people say the move was wrong, that is was poor judgment and worse tactics, and that view seems reasonable. German troops and supplies were landed on the coast of Norway. It would be necessary to keep on bringing in more supplies and more troops and equipment, and each time the German vessels would be subject to attack by a superior sea force.

It has been stated that Ribbentrop had been urging the Norwegian move since November, and the German admiral opposed it. Ribbentrop may have had his way with Hitler, but Ribbentrop is a schemer and a smooth man. But not a naval strategist. Hitler's own knowledge of naval matters is small, and it would be difficult for him to take the advice of his experts. He is too self-centred and impulsive to listen to a matter being reasoned out and then abide by the decision. To revert to the common language of the day it does look as though Adolf Hitler had stuck his chin out and asked for it when he exposed his flank to that rather formidable agency known as the British navy.

Be Seated, Sir

Here is one request lodged in court which is going to have a tough time meeting with success. William Griffin, publisher of the New York Evening Enquirer, is bringing suit for an even million dollars which he desires to collect from Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty.

The present desire is to have an examination of Mr. Churchill before trial. It appears that Mr. Griffin wrote something about a conversation which he claims he had with Mr. Churchill in London on the 11th of August in 1936, in which Mr. Churchill is alleged to have stated United States had been foolish to enter the last war. Griffin's suit is based on Churchill's repudiation of published statements attributed to him by Griffin.

But how are they going to get hold of Mr. Churchill at the moment? Last reports tell of him being in the chart room of the Admiralty office for thirty-six hours at a stretch before taking time out to make a statement in the House of Commons. The man's got a war on his hands and on his back, and with the fate of almost everything worth while at stake he will probably be not even remotely interested in answering questions regarding a bit of London conversation which is said to have taken place more than three and a-half years ago.

William Griffin, we think, might just as well twiddle his thumbs for a season. Perhaps for two seasons. It is one of those cases where one could quite properly address him and ask: "So what now, little man?"

In Jail For Debt

A committee of the Ontario Legislature is considering what to do with people who do not pay their debts, and the suggestion was made by the president of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Canada that such people should be imprisoned. He would eliminate the default summons which gives a debtor who has failed to pay in accordance with a court order a chance to explain his reasons for such default. The imprisonment, according to this suggestion, would become automatic.

A case which is not necessarily suppositious was submitted as an example: A Division Court award orders a man to pay off a debt at $5 a week for six weeks. He pays for five weeks and still owes $5, so he would be automatically sent to jail.

We are in favor of people paying their bills but this country is not prepared to turn back to the days of Dickens and shove people in jail for debt. If a debtor refuses to carry out the order of the court regarding payment his case is actually called for review and reason, and if he can convince the judge that he cannot pay then he is not at all likely to face a sentence for contempt of court. If the judge is satisfied that payment can be made, then the debtor is quite liable to find himself in the position of going to jail for contempt of court. He does not actually go to jail for debt but because he has refused to obey the order of the court. And that's about as far as we want to go in this country in the direction of putting people in jail for non-payment of debts.

Our Wheat Sales

The present war is not going to help the Canadian wheat business. Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium have been buyers of Canadian wheat. In the seven months, August to February, the sales were:

Norway (bushels)	5,149,080
Sweden	3,637,693
Denmark	2,218,957
Holland	9,103,515
Belgium	5,552,479
Total	25,641,724

Holland and Belgium are mentioned in this list because there is doubt regarding where they may stand presently as potential purchasers. At the moment the British market is the one outlet.

For years the fear of war has hurt our chances of selling wheat just as certainly as actual war and the fate of little nations is affecting it now. Germany and Italy and France used to buy Canadian wheat, but the fear of war and being cut off from supplies caused these countries to restrict imports by tariffs to the point of virtually no purchases at all. They started growing their own. Our ability to produce wheat is remarkable. Our chances for selling it are less than that.

Leave The Money Out

James H. R. Cromwell, U.S. Minister to Canada, went by plane from Ottawa to Detroit and then was driven to Kingsville to visit Jack Miner's bird sanctuary. He made no disguise of the reason why he made the trip. Mr. Cromwell said that when a boy he had heard much about Jack Miner and his birds, and when he was appointed to the Canadian post he made a note of it at once that he would visit Kingsville and meet Jack Miner.

It was all natural and wholesome, but some writer went and spoiled the story. It was related that Mr. Cromwell "was unaccompanied by his wife, Doris A. Duke Cromwell, who is reported to be the world's wealthiest woman."

So once again that thing has to stick up like a sore thumb. The man can't go down for a friendly visit with Jack Miner without having that trailed along. What had his wife to do with the trip any way? Nothing at all. Mr. Cromwell didn't go to Kingsville to visit Jack Miner's place because he had married the world's richest woman. He went down there because he wanted to and had had that desire with him for years. If his wife remained at Ottawa why couldn't the reporter have left her there and her money as well?

Now a One-Paper Town

The Northern Advance, a weekly paper published in Barrie, has been taken over by the other paper in town, the Examiner. Whether the Examiner with a monopoly in its field, can attend to the business of turning out a good paper more effectively seems doubtful. It has been doing that for a long time.

But Barrie is a good-sized town, not far removed from 8,000 population, and the Northern Advance has been in existence for 93 years—not far short of a century. When other kinds of business have been in existence that long it is generally accepted they will remain.

And yet it was apparently found a town the size of Barrie could not support two papers. We know well enough if the Advance had been making money it would not have sold out or closed its doors or amalgamated or anything else. It would have continued publication and the earning of a living for those who conducted it.

Recent years have been tough on newspapers, and the story has been the same all through—increasing costs of publication and insufficient revenue to care for these added costs.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Moscow papers carried stories of Germany's invasion of Norway and Denmark, but made no comment. The civilized part of the world attended to that.

Since November 48 bookmaking and gaming houses have been closed in Toronto. It is better to wait until the race tracks open and then gamble safely.

The census taker at Atlanta, Ga., called to take a count at the jail, and then found there were two guests missing, so it's fortunate the census time came in 1940.

Captain of a lake vessel was presented with his third silk hat when entering the harbor at Hamilton. A silk hat is about as good as anything else when cat needs a place to park her kittens.

Man appearing before a tribunal in England said he loved Hitler, and the Brockville Recorder and Times believes he should be in a lunatic asylum. But people in such places have considerable to contend with as it is.

Man in Niagara Falls called at the house of the chief of police to sell a calendar. It was the reverse of where a salesman has to pursue a customer because the chief happened to recognize the salesman.

Married woman at Camden, N.J., secured a divorce because her husband made her sleep in a pup tent and pulled her nose when she had a boil on it. Possibly the lady did not understand her husband in his playful moments.

Assessor in London, Ont., found three sets of twins in one block. So there may be something after all in that old saying about the idea of causing two blades of grass to grow where before there had been but one.

An armed burglar entered a grocery store in London, Ont., but a girl of 12 years let fly with a pop bottle and conked him on the head. In these days of warfare it should be recorded that victory was hers following a direct hit.

Case failed in Toronto where suit was brought for alienation of a wife's affection, and the amount asked was $100,000. Without knowing much about the case we would take it there had been a tremendous amount of alienation to account for that staggering claim.

Farmer in Haliburton tells of waving a lantern to chase away five wolves. When the highly-organized and well-photographed Peterborough Wolf Club took to the bush some time ago they couldn't see a track or hear a wolf yip out of him.

UNCLE JED

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My Uncle Jed was in today, he says the roads are pretty good, and he brought in some oats to chop, likewise a little jag of wood.

¶ When he was waiting for his oats he asked me to walk out with him, he likes to look at windows too and see the new things coming in.

¶ He's keen on nearly everything no matter if he's going to buy, and there's not much around I know that misses his observing eye.

¶ Jed bought some oil to grease his shoes, he said he'd need it in the spring, there was some special kind he liked, he said it was the very thing.

¶ And then we stopped in front a store where neckties blazed their colors gay, the man who ran the place, I guess, was holding then a bargain day.

¶ When Christmas was around this year I bought my Uncle Jed a tie, it cost me one good dollar bill—the price was neither low nor high.

¶ Right looking straight at me there was the tie I bought for Uncle Jed, it was the same thing stitch for stitch, the color done in black and red.

¶ Today for forty-seven cents I could have took the thing away, I don't know if my uncle saw because I hustled him away.

ROME, April 13.—In August, when Hitler's march into Poland was a signal for the opening of the European war, Mussolini was not prepared, politically, militarily, economically or psychologically, to take part in the war. In particular Italy was not psychologically prepared to take part in the war on the side of Germany.

Dorothy Thompson

In this column I will deal with the psychological and political forces inside Italy.

Nothing whatever can be reported in Italy which does not lead back eventually to the person of Mussolini himself.

Those who have seen him recently report that he is vigorous, still rides and still boasts that he can beat his "pro" at tennis. He appears in public less and less. The magnetic power of the popular mass leader is still there, but it is not being exploited to the extent that it once was.

On the other hand his regime is intact. To be sure, there is more anti-Fascist feeling in Italy than one would guess from the outside—and by this I mean more articulate anti-Fascist feeling. Perhaps it would be better to describe it as nee-Fascist feeling; impatience with restriction and impatience with the suppression of all criticism. Interestingly enough, this is discernible among the intelligent and educated youth, the very youth that has lived its entire life under the present regime.

A part of this youth, which would deny that it is anti-Fascist, nevertheless feels that the Fascist regime has passed the revolutionary stage and can now afford more liberalism.

The thesis of a student in one of the universities was recently on Benedette Crece, Italy's leading critic, an incorrigible liberal who has remained in Italy quietly, but distinctly under a cloud. The thesis, which dealt candidly and sympathetically with the Crocean ideas, was permitted by the university, which, like every other institution in Italy, is under the watch of the government.

I am told that the heroes of this section of the youth are the great leaders of the Italian Risorgimento, particularly Mazzini, who represents the flower of Italian liberalism. This part of the youth is also anti-imperialist, socialistically inclined, but anti-Communist, and finds support in the more liberal branches of the church. The church, as everybody knows, is anti-Nazi, pro-Polish and for the rights of small nations. Indeed, the official Vatican newspaper, "L'Osservatore Romano," takes a quite different tone and attitude from the predominant Fascist press.

THE ARMY NOT HAPPY

Furthermore, there was at the outbreak of the war a considerable, though unpublicized conflict going on inside the Fascist party. The Fascist militia had a force of over 700,000 men. As the army of the party they enjoyed privileges not possessed by the regular army. They were, indeed, the pampered children of the regime. Their pay, for instance, was many times that of the army's. The common Italian soldier was paid 60 centesimi a day. The official value of the lira is roughly 5 cents. Its purchasing power is above that, but nevertheless the common soldier was getting the equivalent of 3 or 4 cents a day. The Fascist militia, on the other hand, were paid from 10 to 15 lira a day, or from 50 to 75 cents, or above that in purchasing power. The army, quite naturally, did not like this, and a tension developed between the army and the militia which, in a far less acute degree, resembled the tension of 1934 between Capt. Reehm's Storm Troopers and the German army.

The accusations of the army against the militia were also similar. They insisted that the militia was arrogant and that it had not acquitted itself with superior redoubtability in Abyssinia or Spain.

There was also popular hostility to the role that very young men played in the regular police, the Carabinieri, whose actions were considered irresponsible. The Secretary of State for War and the Chief of Staff were combined in one office under Gen. Pariani, and both he and the Secretary General of the party, Starace, were unpopular.

HATED RUSSIAN PACT

The German-Russian pact was also deeply unpopular in Italy and not only offenced the religious feeling of the Italian people but the turn about face of Germany could not easily be followed by Mussolini because of the Spanish war. It must be remembered that Hitler's participation in the Spanish war was largely by means of material. Very few Germans went to Spain. But Italy really fought in Spain under the banner of freeing Spain of Communism. Many Italian men died in Spain, and their mothers, sisters and wives are walking around Italy in mourning today.

Furthermore, Germany is not traditionally popular in Italy. The German-speaking people of Austria—and that now means Germans—are traditional enemies of Italy. Italian cemeteries and Italian churches are full of memories to Italian men who died in wars against Germany through the whole course of the history of the modern Italian state.

The great friends of the Italian Risorgimento were English and French and Polish. I passed a house the other day which was the home of the great Polish poet Micklewicz, who, the inscription told me, fought for Italy, and a fresh wreath had been hung over the plate. The greatest English poet since Shakespeare, John Keats, is buried in Rome, as one is daily reminded as one passes the Piazza di Spagna. Shelley and Byron championed the Italian cause, and it was an Englishman, Robert Browning, who wrote "Open my heart, and you shall see graved inside of it, 'Italy.'" German poets do not live or die for anything but Germany. Nor has Berlin ever offered a haven to exiled patriots as London offered a haven to Mazzini. These are imponderable things that nevertheless play a role in a country as continually conscious of its history as Italy is.

Get him to express himself and you will find that the average Italian considers the Germany barbarian—descendants of the warriors of the Teuteburger Wald, described by Tacitus, who dispersed Roman legions and with them civilization—in the Italian concept of civilization.

An Italian may be an ardent Fascist, but certainly does not consider himself a Nazi. Nazism in his mind is a second-rate and crude imitation of the Italian invention, combined with a large piece of barbarous Bolshevism. Any one who doubts the feelings of the Italian people about the Germans only needs to try talking German on Italian trains.

Finally, there is a genuine fear of a triumphant, more powerful Germany.

There are political and psychological factors with which Mussolini has had to deal since last August in maintaining his alliance with Germany. But he is dealing with them

AXIS PRESS LINES UP

The Fascist party has been reorganized. The office of the Chief of Staff and of the Secretary for War has been divided. General Pariani has been replaced by Soddu as Under Secretary for War, and by General Graziani as Chief of Staff. The Secretary General of the party, Starace, has been replaced by Muti. These changes are popular.

The Fascist militia has been incorporated with the army, one battalion to every two regiments. And the pay of the militia and of the army has been equalized at one lira a day. The Carabinieri—the regular police—has been "purged" of most of the youth under the age of twenty-two. All this increases the strength, popularity and prestige of the regime.

The German-Russian pact is being played down. If, as gossip has it, Hitler wanted to be able to announce a Rome-Berlin-Moscow axis, he has been disappointed. But it is quite in the cards that some commercial agreement will be concluded between Italy and Moscow, for there will be notning new about this. Italy was one of the first countries to recognize Moscow and had far-reaching commercial agreements with her as far back as 1926.

The press is conducting a pro-German and anti-British and anti-French campaign of unremitting consistency and zeal. Furthermore, if Germany is unpopular with the masses, so is Great Britain. Sanctions are more recent history than the Austro-German oppressions of pre-1914. The Italian press and the German press play hand in hand. Stories like that of the Polish documents and like that of the map in Mr. Reynaud's office shown in the photograph of Mr. Reynaud and Sumner Welles are played up simultaneously and almost in the same words in the Italian and the German press. The co-ordination of propaganda is complete.

• Another Famous Speech Recalled

MR. CONANT'S amazing indiscretion may prove a blessing in disguise both to the United States and to Canada. It seems definitely to have killed such chances as the St. Lawrence treaty may have had of ratification at the present session of Congress—and that is a good thing for both countries.

If Canadians want to point to an historic precedent on our own side of the border for Mr. Conant's "boner," they may find it in the records of the reciprocity controversy of three decades ago, when William Howard Taft was President of the United States and Sir Wilfrid Laurier was prime minister of the Dominion. The late Champ Clark, Sr., then speaker of the House of Representatives, and a Democratic Presidential aspirant, made a speech wherein he announced his support of the Taft Administration's proposed reciprocity treaty with Canada because, Mr. Clark said, it would prove the first step toward American annexation of the Dominion. In the Canadian general election wherein Laurier was seeking a voter's mandate in favor of reciprocity, the Conservatives made the Clark speech their most effective campaign argument. The Laurier government suffered a defeat from which the Liberal party did not recover for years.

Naturally, Canadian Conservatives were deeply grateful to the late Mr. Clark for his oratorical indiscretion. American opponents of the chimerical St. Lawrence plan ought to be equally grateful to Mr. Conant. Incidentally, Senator Champ Clark, Jr., son of the man who made the reciprocity "annexation" speech, participated in the Senate flurry which followed the Conant outburst. It seems to us that Mr. Clark ought to feel a certain sympathy for the luckless Ontario orator. — Buffalo Courier-Express.

TO PIPE COAL

AS IF the railroads did not have troubles enough, an Ohio chemist has devised a new way of despoiling them of revenue.

A third or so of the freight tonnage hauled by the railroads is made up of coal.

And now a Standard Oil of Ohio consulting chemist proposes to pipe coal from the mines to the cities, as oil is already piped.

What is more, a patent has been issued to Standard of Ohio on his process.

The coal would be pulverized, suspended in water by an undisclosed chemical and then piped to its destination, where the water would be removed in "a matter of minutes."

The pipelines have already taken away much of the railroads' oil-hauling business.

And now if they were to lose the coal-hauling business they would indeed be in a bad way.

A number of rail executives are said to have shown an intense interest in the possibility that his is more than a pipe-dream.

The Standard of Ohio is saying nothing, though about its plans.

And coal men have an idea that it will be several years at least before the railroads need worry seriously over having their coal business piped away from them.—Detroit Free Press.

BLOW TO SALES

HALLET ABEND repored from Shanghai the other day that the Germans are shipping to Chungking a new kind of automotive Diesel engine which uses 88 per cent soya bean oil and only 12 per cent gasoline. Engineers know that peanut oil will drive a Diesel. "To make the oil flow, some light oil must be added. Hence the gasoline. Kerosene would be just as good and cheaper. It is not likely, however, that this German activity will deal a blow to American gasoline sales in China. There is no reason why we should not sell Diesel-driven trucks and also the gasoline or kerosene needed to "cut" the sticky oil. Why don't we drive our trucks with soya bean oil? Because it is too expensive.—New York Times.

RECOGNITION!

NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE, kind-hearted man as well as great novelist, while consul at Liverpool, was visited by a young Yankee boy who had crossed the sea to seek his fortune, and now, homesick, friendless and penniless wanted a passage home. The clerk doubted that he was an American, and believed he was trying to steal a passage, but upon the lad's insistence, told Mr. Hawthorne of the young visitor.

Hawthorne looked keenly at the eager, ruddy boy. "You want a passage to America?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you say you are an American?"

"Yes, sir."

"From what part of America?"

"United States, sir."

"What state?"

"New Hampshire, sir."

"What town?"

"Exeter, sir."

Hawthorne looked at him a full minute before asking finally, "Who sold the best apples in your town?"

"Skim-milk Folsom, sir," said the boy, his eyes glistening at the familiar recollection.

"It's all right," said Hawthorne to the clerk, give him a passage."—Wall Street Journal.

CHAPTER 15

THE NEXT afternoon Terry telephoned. Romany stiffened when she heard his voice. He did not sound sober, even in the few words it took for him to ask if Cholly was there. Romany told him coldly that Cholly was not. And she added:

"And you'll be doing a great favor if you don't call here again. I'm sure Cholly agrees with me. She doesn't want to see you now, or ever."

The singer muttered something under his breath, thickly, and hung up. For a long time afterward Romany could not shake her unpleasant feeling of worry. She tried to tell herself it was silly, and got up from her reading to wash out some of her lingerie because she wanted to keep busy.

Her chief fear was that Terry would come out and cause an unpleasant scene at the apartment. Of course they would not let him in. But he was perfectly capable of standing and ringing the bell till he was taken away by a patrol wagon, or of yelling at the top of his lungs. When Terry O'Rourke was in his cups, no one could predict what he was going to do or say.

Romany blamed herself later for not telling Terry that Cholly was on the beach, or at a movie. For Terry assumed if she were not with Romany, she was at work. A few minutes later he staggered, disheveled and red-eyed, into the Leo-Dane Music Store.

Cholly was alone. She gave a little choked cry when she went forward at the sound of the door opening and saw the drunken Terry weaving on his feet. He said thickly:

"Hello, swee'heart! Hello, hello, hello! Thish is your li'l ole Terry. Hi, baby!"

Cholly never had seen Terry in such a condition before. Her face grew very white, and in her eyes was the fear that she always felt when she saw anyone greatly intoxicated. She knew it would be foolish to let Terry know of her fright, so she said as evenly as she could:

"Hello, Terry. I—I'm pretty busy—"

He looked around through bleared eyes. Then he laughed thickly.

"Sure—oh, sure. Terr'ble busy. Cus-cust'mers all over place."

Then he laughed. It was an angry laugh that sent cold chills all over Cholly. He looked like a monster in his wrinkled clothes. She was sure he hadn't even been back to his room to change his shirt since they had quarreled. Suddenly Terry gave another laugh and lunged toward her.

She stepped behind the counter hurriedly.

"So!" he yelled then. "Romey was right. She tole me on the phone you didn't want to see me."

Cholly tried to soothe him.

"Terry," her voice trembled, "why don't you go to your room and take a nice shower and get dressed up. Then when I'm through work I'll come up and we'll go out and have dinner."

She was frantic enough to promise anything to try to get him out of the store before someone came in for music, or before Moe Leo returned. It was so seldom Cholly was alone in the store.

Terry stumbled toward the counter and Cholly backed away.

"Yeah," he sneered. "Yeah, you'll come to see me, sure! You're lyin'. I know. Romey was right. She's my frien'. She tells me the truth. I ought to shlap—to slap your lyin' face. You—"

"Go! Please go, Terry," Cholly begged, her knees shaking until she could hardly stand. "If Mr. Leo comes back and sees you, we'll both get fired."

The words were scarcely out of her mouth when Leo opened the door. Terry, turning, laughed drunkenly.

"My-my flan-flanshay here says you're gonna fire me. Jus' for comin' in to shee li'l swee'heart."

Cholly said desperately:

"Oh, Mr. Leo, I—I'm sorry! I've tried to get Terry to go home."

Leo was a little man, but he stepped forward menacingly:

"Get out of here, you drunken bum! Get out of my store! I won't have you ruinin' my business! Get out of here before I bust you one!"

Terry stepped back, doubling his big fists.

"Okay, smart guy! Wanna fight? C'mon fight!"

Moe started for the door.

"I wouldn't dirty my hands on you, you tramp!"

There was a policeman standing at the curb. Cholly almost fainted when Leo called to him. The officer, as big as Terry, came into the store. Cholly was sure Terry would put up a fight.

"Come along, buddy," the officer said soothingly. "Let's take a little walk. Let's go take a little ride and buy a little drink," he wheedled.

Terry looked uncertain. But officer O'Malley had a way with him when it came to handling tipsy Irishmen. He led Terry away without a particle of trouble. Knowing who the singer was, he called another policeman to take his post and took Terry to his room in a cab.

O'Malley helped him to bed, where he lay down mumbling drunkenly and passed into a stupor. The officer went out and, closing the door, left Terry to sleep it off.

Back at the store Cholly fought back the tears in her throat when Moe told her that Terry was through. And she knew he meant what he said when he threatened.

"And if that bum ever sets foot in this place again, I'll fire you, too. I ought to let you go now, but I ain't a hard enough guy."

There was nothing Cholly could do but swallow her pride and show Moe Leo she was grateful to him for the few dollars a week he paid her. Even that small amount was a God-send when she had her mother and brothers and sisters to think of.

Her first inclination was to become angry because Leo held her in the least to blame for Terry O'Rourke and his actions. But on second thought she knew she was being unfair. It wasn't as though she hadn't known Terry drank too much. However, she had never expected to see him looking as though he'd spent a week in the gutter.

It was the end, in so far as Cholly was concerned. She felt certain, down in her heart, she could neither forgive nor trust Terry again. The humiliation boosted her pride, and when Cholly's pride was aroused, there was little hope she would ever weaken in her resolution. Even her great love, which she was so certain would always belong to no one but Terry, would never allow her to be seen with him again.

Somehow, Cholly managed to get through the afternoon. Moe, after his opening thrust, said no more. Fortunately the store became very busy, and Cholly was at the piano most of the time.

When Cholly arrived home, Romany knew something had happened. But before she had time to tell what had happened, Romany said:

"You've seen Terry?"

"Yes." Cholly nodded wearily. "How did you know?"

Romany told her about the phone call.

"That must have been what Terry was raving about." Cholly sat down, her chin quivering. "Oh, Romey, it was awful. I'm through! I could never look at him again. He—he was like a tramp."

Romany blamed herself for the scene at the store. But Cholly refused to listen to her apology for not using her intelligence.

"It doesn't matter," Cholly said dully. "It's all for the best. It had to happen to make me see what a fool I've been."

Romany had a deep fear that later Cholly's reaction would be that she must save Terry from himself, and the gutter. But she gave not the slightest hint of this to her. Instead, she agreed with her absolutely that there could be no question as to breaking her engagement and never being seen with Terry again.

When the phone rang, Romany hoped that it would be someone calling to invite her out. She would, of course, take Cholly. But the call was for Cholly. It was Dover Hayworth. Without any hesitation Cholly nodded her little red head affirmatively when he asked her to join a yachting party that evening.

When she hung up she was pale, but determined. Romany was surprised and overjoyed at her good sense. A moment later Brent called and invited her to join the party.

Romany had just hung up from Brent's call when Bax phoned to invite her to dinner. She told him she was going yachting, but invited him to swim the next afternoon. They would read some more scrips, Bax said, although he was fast losing hope that Byrd-Cromwell would ever re-cut "Paradise Is Here."

That evening Dover called for Cholly with his boat, pulling up at the pier back of the apartment. Nelson had arrived in his car a few moments before and the three were waiting on the beach when the yacht came into view. From the sounds of gayety, it was obvious there was quite a crowd aboard.

Warspite Breaks Jinx At Narvik

LONDON, April 15—(CP). — The "jinx" that has pursued the battleship Warspite down the years apparently pursues it no longer. She was completed in 1915. Her steering gear was damaged in the battle of Jutland in so peculiar a fashion that she ran around in circles and was badly hit.

In 1928 she struck an uncharted obstruction in the Aegean Sea. Three compartments were flooded but her "bulge keel" saved her.

In 1931 she collided with H.M.S. Malaya, a sister ship, off Gibraltar but suffered no damage.

In 1934 she went into Portsmouth for a complete overhaul. She was then to all intents and purposes an obsolete battleship. More than three years later she emerged as one of the most modern battleships into the world.

But her troubles weren't over.

Three times she broke down on trials, owing to machanical defects. Eventually she left Portsmouth January, 1938, for the Mediterranean.

She cost £2,523,148 ($12,620,740) to build and her refitting cost more than £2,260,000. Originally a 27,000-ton vessel, her displacement was increased to 31,100 tons.

Saturday, leading the raid into Narvik, she disabled shore batteries and subsequently seven German destroyers were sunk.

2 Italians Get Threat Letters

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — The Globe and Mail to-day said that two Toronto Italian business men have received written demands for money, with threats that their places will be bombed unless the money is forthcoming.

The paper identified the two men as Charles Calarca, owner of a hotel at Centre and Elm Streets, and Louis Puccini, an Elm Street grocer. Calarca was ordered to pay $3,000 and Puccini $2,000.

It is the second time Puccini has been threatened in the last four years, the Globe and Mail continued. The last time he refused to pay and communicated with police.

(Puccini's store was bombed exactly one week ago, early on the morning of April 8, when the windows of his store were shattered. A month before, on March 7, another bomb exploded a few doors north of Puccini's store with minor damage.)

Mining activities in Ecuador are being increased.

How Jim Wilson's Wife got started in Business

JIM WILSON was hard hit by the depression. For several years, he had an uphill fight to support his wife and two children with meagre earnings from odd jobs. His savings disappeared, and he was finally obliged to seek relief.

Early in 1936, Jim secured steady work and promptly began to pay off his accumulated debts. But in less than a year's time, Jim Wilson took pneumonia and died.

Heart-broken, Jim's wife faced the discouraging task of caring for her family. The future was black. Imagine her surprise, therefore, when she learned that Jim had taken out a $5,000 life insurance policy.

She sat down and wrote cheques until she had wiped off every debt that Jim had piled up. With the balance she started a small business.

Did it work out? It most certainly did. Nearly three years have passed since Jim died, but Mrs. Wilson has been able to provide for her family ever since. And all because of Jim's life insurance.

Every working day, Life Insurance in Canada pays out more than $500,000 to care for families who have lost their breadwinners, or to bring financial security to those whose working days are over.

ST. PAUL'S ARE ONTARIO CHAMPIONS FOR SECOND YEAR IN ROW

Saints Winners By Default Over Hamilton

St. Paul's basketeers have brought Peterborough her second Ontario championship in a week.

Saturday the Saints grabbed off the Ontario Church Basketball Intermediate A title for the second year in succession when Centenary Nomads of Hamilton defaulted the second game of the final series.

St. Paul's invaded the Ambitious City on Thursday night and trimmed the Nomads by eleven points on their own floor. Apparently overcoming that lead on a foreign cushion looked like a hopeless task to the Hamilton quintette, and on Saturday they threw in the sponge and notified the Saints that they would not make the trip to Peterborough.

While the default was disappointing to many Peterborough fans who had been looking forward to the game they are delighted to see the Saints' fast, clever play rewarded by the second championship in two years.

Formidable Opposition.

To win out this season the St. Paul's team had to overcome formidable opposition, especially from the Toronto winners and they had the disadvantage of not having played together all through the season. A year ago the Saints entered their team as a whole in the City League and they had the benefit of being together throughout the campaign. This season they were divided up—McArthur and Thorburn playing with the Bees, Sedgewick and McIntyre with the Zephyrs, McPherson and Ward with the Quakers, Marsh with the Dominions, Gemmell with the C.G.E., and Pulkinghorn not playing City League at all.

Now the St. Paul's team will seek further honors and will endeavor to repeat their feat of last season and win the Eastern Canada championship. They are drawn against the Montreal winners and the later will play a two-game series here on Friday and Saturday nights in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, total points to count. The series should provide two nights of colorful and exciting basketball for the Montrealers are reported as stronger than last year, and they were plenty tough then. The games should furnish the basketball thrills of the year and attract a record crowd.

Local Orfuns Have Lead In Cage Final

Orfuns made a long stride down the last leg of their path to a provincial title in the first game of their total points final series with St. Paul's girls of Toronto in the intermediate series of the O.L.B.A.

Maintaining a steady margin throughout the game, Orfuns put on a good show of offensive basketball to steadily build up their lengthy lead. Led by the fine play of their powerful first line of Barb Blade, Ruth Thompson and Audrey Craig, the locals opened at a fast pace to lead 14-7 at the half and continued to carry the play in the final period to increase their margin. One of the largest crowds of the season saw Orfuns get the jump early and take the lead in the opening minutes, which they never relinquished despite Toronto's continually pressing attempts to haul them down.

Orfuns again featured the fast break in their attacks that carried them past Belleville and St. Catharines and with the forwards shooting well and the defensive play of their guards featuring were full value for their win. St. Paul's played fast, driving basketball but fell behind early and were never able to get back in the ball game. Their passing was fair but inaccurate shooting by their forwards in scoring position and Orfuns' strong defensive tactics stopped them from closing the gap. Where the visitors to cash in on a lot of their scoring chances Orfuns continually finished off their attacks with faultless shooting and therein lay their big advantage.

Orfuns sank their only free throw chance while Toronto made two of their six chances from the free-throw line.

B. Blade, R. Thompson and A. Craig who accounted for all the winner's markers and A. Livingstone and M. Ferguson on the defense were standouts for Orfuns with J. Craigie, M. Royfield and A. Ruddy the pick of St. Paul's. The teams:

Orfuns (37): B. Blade (14), A. Craig (16), M. Ferguson, A. Livingstone, R. Thompson (7), D. Ackford, M. Hawthorne, R. Ellis, M. Clarke.

St. Paul's (24): A. Ruddy (2), B. Gillanders, J. Craigie (8), E. Gillanders (1), J. Rayfield (2), M. Rayfield (9), F. Webbers, J. Petrie, I. Nollott.

Kirkland Lake To Represent Eastern Canada

By DICK SHERIDAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 15.— (CP) — They widened the niche the north country reserves for its famous hockey teams and made room today for Kirkland Lake Blue Devils—newly crowned Eastern Canada Senior champions. The brilliant Blue Devils beat Montreal Royals for the title here Saturday and accomplished what many claimed couldn't be done.

Few gave Kirkland Lake lightweights much of a chance against the rugged Royals and nobody even dared suggest the northerners could lick the Quebec champions in successive games. Blue Devils did it, however, outscoring their rivals 6-4 before 8,280 fans for their third straight victory of the best-of-five series.

Came From Behind

Lakeshores came from behind to win and brought back memories of those other great north country teams—Sault Ste Marie Greyhounds and Sudbury Wolves. And alongside of Bill Phillips, Bun Cook, Flat Walsh, Red and Shorty Green and giants of former years were tacked the names of Dynamite Dick Kowcinak, Blink Bellinger, Hal Cooper, Johnny Durnan, Johnny McCreedy and Jo Jo Graboski.

Kowcinak and his teammates, with their stickhandling wizardry and speed and Durnan with his great goaltending brought about the biggest upset in years in routing the Royals so handily.

And these same players will lead the drive against the Western champions—either Calgary Stampeders or Port Arthur Bear Cats—for the Allan Cup. The series, tentatively scheduled for Toronto, is expected to start late this week.

Winning Marksmen

Two of the winners' goals went to Kowcinak and the other were distributed among Bellinger, Cooper, McCreedy and Al Duff.

The Montreal marksmen were Ken McConnell, Johnny Acheson, Paul Raymond and Buddy O'Connor. McConnell drew assists on two other goals and was the ace in the Royals' offensive. Andy Goldie again held the Montrealers together with his great goal-keeping.

A knack of getting goals in pairs and getting them quickly helped Kirkland Lake to win. Royals held a two-goal edge at the start of the second period yet it was wiped out within three minutes, the first goal coming at 10 seconds.

The score wa stied at the eight-minute mark of the third when Skipper Bean, Montreal's huge defenceman, drew a penalty and Blue Devils whipped in another pair of quick tallies to break up the game. Bean was off when the first was scored and had barely stepped on the ice when Duff got the second.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

By courtesy of the Ottawa Journal sports office—and of Jack Maunder, former Lindsay scribe who is down here now—we are able to type this pillar off down Ottawa way on Sunday. Hardly a day of rest in the newspaper world. Fresh from a 4-3 overtime win for the Petes over the Maxville Millionaires in the Eastern Canada finals, the whole local contingent is quite happy this weekend. The Petes figure on wrapping up another victory on Monday here and taking the Millionaires quickly in Toronto for the title. And then hang up their skates. The series is three-in-five and the first Toronto tilt will likely be about Friday.

* * * * * *

The Saturday night fray was a honey of purest clover—or do you prefer the buckwheat brand? The Petes started off like an Elm St. kid on roller skates—just a-rollin'—but they ran into a load of bricks before the grade was finished. It was 3-0 in the first—a nice waltz to the Blue Danube — but the spring thaw caught up with the Buckaroos in the second, and before it was over, we were all sweating huge hunks of perspiration—no fooling! Or are we mixing the metaphors too much? After a 3-0 inning, it looked like a breeze, but the Millionaires fought back like real fighters to gain a 1-0 edge in the second. And then tied it up as 2,000 fans roared approval in the third. But the boys copped it in overtime.

* * * * * *

The clock was ticking off the seconds at a scandalous rate — they must be on fast time in the Ottawa Auditorium—when Honey Tompkins raced in a mile a minute and whammed the burnt biscuit by Goalie Dupuis. And that was that. A swell win on a game that at first appeared cinched and then looked to be tossed away. Not that the Petes were loitering too much—they were working hard—but the squad just didn't click as in some of their O.H.A. playoffs. Looked at times as they did in Oshawa when they lost to Kitchener. Could outskate their opponents handily and pressed most of the way but just couldn't seem to finish off their plays when in pay dirt.

* * * * * *

Ray Harding and Honey Tompkins were two of the gang who really played their best hockey. Both were brilliant, Ray in the cage and Honey on the attack. In fact, this pair is the most consistent duo on the club it seems in money tussles. The rest of the gang were spotty, always fast and always trying, but not clicking up to par all the way. Jim Ellis got a bad cut on the nose in the first and sat the second frame out—Ralph Clark and Jack Sinclair attending him in the dressing-room. The pick of the losers were Grant, L'Heureux and Dupuis, three swell puckists.

* * * * * *

About this Maxville bunch. This team comes from a small centre—some 850 souls—about 50 miles southeast of Ottawa, down toward Cornwall. The team sports the monicker "Millionaires" just as a sarcastic crack, being strictly on its own financially. The gang play fair intermediate "A" hockey, sparked by a couple of fine players, but can really fight back when down. They gamble everything on a steady power-play that might last two periods—as it practically did with the Petes—and they deserve much credit. We believe the Petes can beat 'em, maybe in three straight, but every fray will be a fight. The locals earned the win in the overtime, really pressing all the way, and Kingdon did some nice stalling once when the locals were short-handed.

* * * * * *

And that seems to cover the game. A nice victory to grab in such an important series—the furthest the Petes have ever gone in organized hockey. The crew were as tickled as kids at a slapstick comic show, and stayed up till all hours of the night in their fifth-floor stamping grounds in the snooty Chateau Laurier, close to the railway station. Today—this is Sunday as we knock this off—the bunch are taking it easy, some lying around talking or reading in the rooms and others out visiting the parliament buildings or rubbering up and down the principal streets. There are about two dozen on the party, including several of the executive. Only a few Peterborough puck fans are in town.

* * * * * *

However, quite a bunch of cash customers at the game were cheering for the Petes, there being a regular Liftlock City settlement in Ottawa—folks from home living here these days. Many on government jobs. We ran into Dick Cowan, Art Malone, V. Milburn, Mike English, Fitz Fitzgerald, Rollie O'Leary and half a dozen more around the rink. The arena has a sort of egg-shaped ice surface, fairly large, where the old Senators used to perform in N.H.L. competition, and will pack in close to 10,000 fans. Of the crowd of 2,000, some 500 were from Maxville on Saturday e'en. And now we'll send this chatter off and possibly Fred Craig or someone else in Ye Wuxaminer will add an item or two on the local cage activity. Be back Tuesday morn.

* * * * * *

Congratulations are in order to the St. Paul's basketball team for copping the second Ontario title for Peterborough in a week. Although the Saints took the final nod in the easy way when their Hamilton opposition defaulted at the last moment, they had already demonstrated a clean cut superiority over the Ambitious City Nomads by beating them eleven points on their own floor and they are, for the second time in two years, worthy intermediate "A" Church League champions of Ontario. Led by Jimmy Thorburn who keeps on pitching baskets no matter how tough the opposition, the Saints have played great basketball and their win over a very strong Toronto quintette was one of the highlights of the sporting season.

* * * * * *

Now the Saints will go gunning after another title and will try to land the Eastern Canada championship for the second year in a row. They are drawn against the Montreal winners and all the reports indicate that the team from the metropolis is really rolling and is stronger than the quintette St. Paul's managed to defeat a year ago. The championship will be settled right here in Peterborough — the two-game series being billed for the local Y.M.C.A. gym on Friday and Saturday nights of this week, total points to count. It will be a great round.

* * * * * *

Incidentally the fast-moving Orfuns, Peterborough's entry in the intermediate series of the Ontario Ladies' Basketball Association have a royal chance to give Peterborough her third provincial title. Here Saturday night the Orfuns took the first game of the final series from a strong Toronto team 37 to 24 and thus they have a thirteen-point lead for the second game in Toronto. The Peterborough girls with a high-scoring trio in Barb Blade, Audrey Craig and Ruth Thompson have been playing great ball all season and their admirers look to them to hold their own in Toronto and bring back an Ontario championship.

Baseball Clubs All Stronger Managers Say

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP)—Maybe you don't think so and maybe the standings won't show it after the season gets under way tomorrow, but every club in baseball's two major leagues is stronger this year.

No less authority than the word of the 16 managers can be accepted for that statement and you will have to admit that they ought to know. The only fault with the managers' survey is that if each club has improved as much as they say, no teams can catch the club ahead.

None of the managers is publicly picking his own club to win the pennant. Dr. J. Thompson, prothro of Philadelphia Phillies even goes so far as to say, "I don't think we will finish in the first division."

Just Strategy

This reluctance of the managers to commit themselves is just strategy. All the clubs are stronger.

Take a look:

American League:

Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox —"We'll have more power this year."

Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox—"If our pitching, which has looked good, stays that way, we're going to be a much improved ball club."

Joe McCarthy, New York Yankees —"The Yanks look as good as last year. My team is ready to meet any challenge."

Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics—"I'm quite satisfied the Athletics will be much stronger this season than last, although I can't predict where we'll finish."

Fred Haney, St. Louis Browns—"We have an improved ball club and hope to finish higher than last year."

Del Baker, Detroit Tigers—"I expect the Tigers to return to the First Division this year. This opinion is based on the assumption that Charley Gehringer will be able to play second base for us."

Bucky Harris, Washington Senators—"We have one of the fastest teams I have ever seen."

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland Indians — "At no time have I had the entire squad in shape to play at the same time. How can I make predictions about a team that, in a sense, I haven't seen?"

National League.

Gabby Hartnett, Chicago Cubs — "I'm convinced we have a better ball club than a year ago—how much better remains to be seen."

Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati Reds —"We are ready to start the season with a ball club stronger than the one we won the pennant with last year."

Ray Blades, St. Louis Cardinals—"We think we have a pretty good club, but as to just where we will finish I am unable to say."

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodgers —"It was hustle that gave the Dodgers third place last year and we'll be the same hustling club this year."

Bill Terry, New York Giants—"The Giants are going to be right in the fight. We have only average power, but great pitching, speed and a snappy defence."

Casey Stengel, Boston Bees — "If the pitching holds up we may be able to do a whole lot better than anyone expects us to."

Frank Frisch, Pittsburg Pirates—"I realize the Pirates present a lot of problems, but you can rest assured the players will have to step on it. I will demand smart, heads-up play."

Doc Prothro, Phillies—"This is a better club than I managed last season, and we should fare better. But I do know the other seven clubs in our league are stronger."

LAWN BOWLING

By HEEB MARTIN

We have deliberately refrained from commencing this lawn bowling column for the 1940 season, although we have been urged to do so by some of the officials of our club. We don't seem to be able to make ourselves believe that you can sell any summer sport to the general public when the thermometer is showing well below the freezing point and when they are still drawing thousands to witness hockey finals all over Canada, from coast to coast. However today is April 15 and as our season opens on May 24 we have been forced to change our views.

In order to open on the official date it is necessary to have everything ready and in good order, so just let us talk about organization.

In a few days a committee of men with J. T. Braund as chairman will be around and it will be their duty to try and interest the men of this city in lawn bowling. They will explain in detail to each and all just what this good old summer sport stands for. They will tell you about all the benefit derived from this game. They will claim that you get out of every game just what you put into it. They will show you that it is one of the cheapest sports there is. They will tell you that you can play at it all day and night if you wish. Rainy weather being the only obstacle.

The date for receiving the personnel of the rinks has been set at Saturday, May 4, so you can see how important it is that you join up at once and be attached to a rink.

Last season we had 225 members, ladies and men, and this year we are expecting a bigger club. We bowl every night out in the open air and the cost is not so much. The matter of securing bowls can be easily adjusted. So think it over and join up with the biggest and best lawn bowling club in the Province of Ontario.

Government railways of Germany have discontinued all motor truck transportation.

Fine Badminton Displayed In Peterboro Club Championships

Climaxing a most successful season the Peterborough Badminton Club settled its championships in the various divisions with an exciting tournament on the Market Hall courts Saturday night. The majority of the games were close and exciting and the quality of the play and the keenness of competition made the final competition one of the most interesting in the history of the club.

Maxine Troke and Grant Henry were crowned as the clubs individual champions as a result of the final games. Miss Troke triumphed over Mary Cathcart in a finely played match and Henry defeated Bob Baker in the men's finals after an interesting struggle. The consolation singles winners were Ethel Brownlie and Max Comstock.

Here are the results of the club championships and the consolation events:

Club Championships

Ladies' Singles—Maxine Troke won from Mary Cathcart.

Men's Singles—Grant Henry defeated Bob Baker.

Ladies' Doubles—Mrs. Pat Hall and Mary Cathcart were victorious over Mrs. Noel Rishor and Marg. Donoghue.

Men's Doubles—Dr. J. Wright and Grant Henry defeated Bill Brown and Jerry Bailey.

Mixed Doubles — Maxine Troke and Grant Henry won from Florence Adams and Bill Brown.

Consolation Events.

Ladies' Singles—Ethel Brownlee won from Mrs. B. Copping.

Men's Singles—Max Comstock defeated Leo Copp.

Ladies' Doubles — Maxine Troke and Ruth McKee won from Mrs. Clifton and Mrs. Leo Copp.

Men's Doubles—Leo Copp and Ed. Johnson won from Max Comstock and Bryan Copping.

Mixed Doubles—Doris Burgess and Ed. Johnson were victorious over Leone Comstock and Bob Maybee.

After the games the executive for next year were elected as follows: Florence Adams, Mary Cathcart, Max Comstock, Al. Drynan, Robt. Baker, G. Tollington and Leo Copp. Reports of the season's activities were presented by the officers and the affair wound up with refreshments.

1932-33 Hockey Series Repeated In Stanley Cup Game This Year

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 15.—(CP)—As though it were a ghost from hockey's past, history has repeated itself in Stanley Cup warfare. The latest chapter, duplicating one seven years ago to the day, again has brought glory to New York Rangers and disappointment to Toronto Maple Leafs.

When Bryan Hextall fired an overtime goal here Saturday night to give the Rangers a 3-2 victory over the Leafs and the Stanley Cup, a hero of the 1932-33 Ranger-Leaf Cup series—Butch Keeling—recalled a similar play which gave Rangers the world hockey title that season.

"It was April 13, 1933, right here in Toronto when we licked the Leafs in overtime to win the Cup and we haven't won it since up to now, said Keeling, now coach of the Kansas City team of the American Association. "When Hextall scored that goal, memories of that 1933 game flashed right back.

"I carried the puck and had a fair opening but I pasesd to Bill Cook because I knew he wouldn't miss. Bill blazed a shot and it went by Lorne Chabot who was in goal at the same end of the rink as Turk Broda was Saturday when Hextall beat him. About the only difference was that I passed from the blueline while Phil Watson passed to Hextall from the corner."

One of the greatest celebrations in National League history cleared away, most of the Rangers have headed for their homes or back to Manhattan. Special good wishes went with two of them—Clint Smith who is heading for the altar and Dutch Hiller who is heading for the operating table.

The tenth anniversary of civil aviation in the Far East was marked recently in Russia.

Kenora Captures Western Junior Crown

By HUGH C. CHADDERTON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

WINNIPEG, April 15 (CP)—Kenora Thistles are not representative of the free-wheeling, wide open western junior teams of the past few years but their systematic defensive play brought them another championship Saturday and the right to bid for the northwestern Ontario town's first major hockey title.

Putting into effect coach Bobby Benson's "scoreless" brand of hockey, Thistles wasted more than 40 minutes of the overtime game after overcoming a two-goal lead to gain a 2-2 tie and the western junior crown and the Abbott Memorial Cup from Edmonton Athletic Club.

Kenora entered the game with five points to Edmonton's three and the split decision preserved Thistles' margin in the best-of-five series based on the point system.

Meet Oshawa Generals

Thistles tangle with Oshawa Generals, defending Canadian titlists, in the first of a best-of-five series Tuesday.

In Saturday's fifth game, Edmonton carried most of the play but Kenora made certain the Athletics were kept a safe distance from the brilliant Charlie Rayner's goal.

Edmonton scored their two goals in 26 seconds of the first period while Lofvendahl served a charging penalty. Kenora tied the count half way through the second and played safe for the remainder.

Time and again Edmonton puck-carriers headed for Kenora territory only to be steered into the solid Kenora defence or forced to shoot from away out.

The game failed to provide referees Claude Smaile, Saskatoon, and Curley Wheatley, Trail, B.C. with a let-up from the previous hectic encounters of the series and 21 penalties were meted out, 11 to Kenora and 10 to Edmonton.

Two Goals in 26 Seconds

Bruce MacKay opened the scoring on a pass from Elmer Kreller two second after Lofvendahl went to the cooler. Kreller counted unassisted 26 seconds later.

A bit of strategy on the part of coach Benson, once a defenceman with Boston Bruins in the National League, resulted in the Kenora goals.

Thistles front line of Dick Milford, Eddie Dartnell and Roy White were sent on after a six and a half minute rest in the second during which the alternates had checked E.A.C.'s unmercifully.

The high-scoring trio opened up on the still-bewildered Athletics and within two minutes the score was tied and Thistles had reverted to their kitty-bar-the-door tactics.

White passed to Dartnell for the first goal and a little more than a minute had elapsed when he took Milford's almost identical relay for the tying marker.

PETES CAPTURE FIRST OF EASTERN CANADA HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

Tompkins Scores Winning Goal With Seven Seconds Left; Petes Took Lead Early In Game

By CEC PERDUE
(Sports Editor of Examiner.)

OTTAWA, April 15—Honey Tompkins' goal in overtime with seven seconds left to play gave the Petes a 4-3 win in Ottawa Saturday night over the Maxville Millionaires. It was the first game of the three-in-five Eastern Canada intermediate "A" finals, and 2,000 fans—some 500 from Maxville—viewed an exciting scrap.

The second tilt will be in Ottawa on Monday evening, and the two clubs will then shift to Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto later in the week to finish it up.

After a big first inning the Petes bogged down under a battling sustained Maxville attack and the issue was very much in doubt the rest of the route. The Petes racked up a 3-0 margin in the first period, but the Millionaires came back to tally the only counter of the second heat, and they tied it up in a hectic third stanza. The overtime session was practically over when Tompkins' counter pulled the fat out of the fire for the Buckland bunch.

Petes Looked Best Team

It was a sizzling encounter throughout with the Petes looking the better team but lucky enough to cop the nod. They waltzed through in the first frame and it looked like a walkaway, but the Maxville men rallied strongly the rest of the distance to make it an even and lively bout. Play was fast and clean all the way with the Petes drawing four of the five penalties.

Ray Harding and Honey Tompkins were the two Peterborough stars in this playoff contest, both turning in a whale of a game. The local goalie was brilliant the last half of the tilt and robbed his rivals repeatedly as they ganged up continuously. Tompkins was the best forward of the winners over the route. The rest of the gang worked hard and played good hockey in spots, but the whole crew did not play consistently fine hockey—the type of play of which they are capable. Grant and L'Hereux stood out for the losers, the former scoring all their goals and the latter aiding on two, while Dupuis in goal was also brilliant. The Maxville bunch proved to be a good club, slower than the Petes, but full of fight and with a dangerous power play when behind.

Offsides Missed

Two referees from Ottawa handled the game and let a lot of offsides go, but were fairly impartial. Several times, minor mishaps by the Petes were built up into penalties by the roar of a partisan crowd, though play was quite clean by both sides. The egg-shape ice surface bothered the Buckaroos for a time, though they went best in the first period, and the ice became chippy the last part of the fray.

Play started off fast but early the Petes began to dominate it on fast, passing rushes that tested Dupuis. Heal pulled a smart solo rush and later Pilion got in through defence but missed the cage completely. A Tompkins-Kingdon thrust was dangerous and both local lines were carrying the puck in close. Coughlin got the first counter at the halfway mark on a neat lone rush, tearing in fast from centre ice, sliding around the net and pushing the puck in off the goalie's skate. Pilion and Grant threatened and it was plenty hot. Harding came out to block Jamieson and Ellis got a bad cut on the nose, retiring till the third period. McCallum scored but it was after the whistle. Tompkins broke away as Maxville ganged up on a faceoff in the Petes' area and slapped it home, and two minutes later Kingdon scored from Tompkins and Heal on neat combination in close.

Petes Let Down

Going into the second heat with a 3-0 lead, the Petes suddenly let down in the face of a scrappy ganging attack by the game Millionaires. The Kingdon-Tompkins-Heal line pressed for a brief space and then Jamieson went right in on Harding but it was blocked. L'Heureux was gated for tripping F. Jopling and the Petes tried hard but couldn't click. A Tompkins-Kingdon try was close and later Heal got in a good thrust but all were back when Gardner got the finger for tripping, and then Crowe was chased for boarding, leaving the visitors two shy for over a minute. Some nifty checking, and Kingdon's stalling saved the day till all were back. Villeneuve missed the open net with Harding out and a Tompkins-F. Jopling try was close as the Millionaires ganged up. Grant scored in close on a rebound by L'Heureux with Crowe off for tripping after a good rush, and a Blewett-Gardner thrust also got it back at the finish of a hot, even inning.

It was hot, even and clean through the fast third frame. Lelande pulled a smart rush and the Petes' second line stabbed back dangerously. Then Grant sent the crowd into roars when he batted in the boot-heel in a close-in scramble, Jamieson and L'Heureux drawing assists. The Millionaires ganged up most of this period and had a definite edge except for danger of Peterborough breakaways. Ellis came close on a break and then Harding robbed Coleman. The local first line went good, but Pilion and MacCallum built up a try that almost tied it up, Harding nearly tangling with the latter. The homesters kept pressing and tied it up late in the chapter when Grant batted in a pass from Villeneuve inside defenec to send the place into an uproar. Heal pulled a neat try in the few steaming minutes left to play.

Local Pressed Hard

F. Jopling was gated early in the 10-minute overtime heat but the Petes threw up an effective defence till he returned. Then the Buckland outfit took the offensive and pressed all the way through, Harding having few shots to stop and Dupuis working overtime in the other net. A Gardner-Kingdon rush almost paid dividends and later Starr and J. Jopling got in on a fine thrust but were blockaded off. The Petes kept pouring in the rubber but time was almost up when Tompkins carried the puck in from centre ice, through the defence and whisked a waist-high shot into the short side of the cage as Dupuis moved a bit too slowly. The Maxville team was still dazed and the Petes uproarious when the gong sounded. The teams:

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Ellis and Gardner; centre, Kingdon; wings, Tompkins and Heal; alternates, F. Jopling, Crowe, Coughlin, Blewett, Starr and J. Jopling.

Maxville: Goal, Dupuis; defence, Gamble and L'Heureux; centre, Jamieson; wings, Grant and Coleman; alternates, MacCallum, Pilion, Lalonde, Villeneuve and McEwen.

Belleville Team Bowls 3,779 To Capture First In Tourney

Rolling the highest score of the week in the very last game at midnight, Deacons Sportswear team of Belleville, with 3,779 pins, won first place in the annual five-pin handicap tournament at Duffus Recreation Academy Saturday night.

Seventy-two teams took a crack at the prize money. The tournament opened April 5th with C.N.R. of Belleville dumping 3,698 pins. Their score survived the entire week's play until Saturday when it was beaten three times, first by Westclox Crickets 3,734 in the afternoon, next by Frankel Brothers of Peterborough 3,741, and finally by Deacons' winning score.

The alleys were packed with enthusiastic bowlers who crowded in for the finals. Dave Tobe led the Deacon outfit to their triumph with a smashing 890, including 359 and 370 singles. Rolling with him were Toots Holway, Art Whalen, "Stub" Barrett and Gar Anderson.

Thirty-eight pins behind the leaders, was the local team sponsored by Frankel Brothers, Fred Martin, Frank Wood, Tom Miller, Jack Playford and Bud Weese, who as the Gordon's Beverage entry were the city league champion this year. Their score of 3,741 pins without handicap was a smart effort to keep the big money in Peterborough for the first time since this tournament was started four years ago.

C.N.R. of Belleville landed in fourth place with 3,698, and the Raybestos-Nashual-Sealrights trailed them in the fifth spot with 3,674.

Len Anthony turned in the highest three-game total of the tournament, conting 921 of the 1,603 pins dumped by himself and his brother "Babe" in the men's doubles. Fred Martin and Bill Martin were second with 1,588; Gerry McDonald and Fred Willison third with 1,570; and two good Kingston pairs, G. McDonald and S. Arthuy, 1,562, and C. Batty and B. Tetro, 1,550, fourth and fifth.

In the singles competition, Fred Martin, with a score of 904, grabbed first place for the second year in a row. Johnny Barnes was second with 888; Cliff Rendell of Oshawa third, with 871; Alf Mattucci, fourth with 831; and Bill Burford, fifth, with 818.

Twenty-two teams of lady trundlers were on hand, and the Y.M.C.A. ladies of Peterborough finished in front with 3,266 pins, including a 226 handicap. Kingston ladies with only 74 handicap took second place with a count of 3,184. The Mercantile ladies of this city entered twice to take third and fourth place, while the Outboard Marine girls finished fifth.

There were only five entries in the ladies' doubles, but there was plenty of class to their scores. Gerry Payne and Marg Selkirk of Peterborough beat out Ruth Smith and E. North of Kingston by 1447 to 1428, Mrs. North chalking up 803. E. Bailey and F. Keele of Kingston were third with 1,328.

"Vi" Norris of Oshawa won the ladies' singles with 795, including 307 and 313 game. Flo Clarke of Peterborough and Kay Wells of Oshawa tied for second place with 686 each; Edith Bailey of Kingston was fourth with 667, and Anne Reece of Oshawa, fifth, with 655.

Rangers Capture Stanley Cup; Overcome Two-Goal Lead To Win In Overtime; Score 3-2

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — Everyone agreed when the Stanley Cup series ended that New York Rangers showed themselves to be worthy hockey champions of the world in their triumph over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

"The Rangers finished the season with the same 15 men who started the National League schedule," Manager Conny Smythe of Maple Leafs said in tribute. "I think that is one of the greatest accomplishments in modern hockey.

19 Games Without Loss.

"During the season they went 19 straight games without defeat, which is amazing any way you look at it. They beat us twice in the Cup finals on our own ice, where we had lost only three times during the schedule."

If there was a lingering doubt about the Rangers' greatness, it was dispelled on Saturday when the Broadway Blues came from far behind to defeat Toronto 3-2 in overtime and complet the best-of-seven finals in six contests. The New Yorkers won the first two games at home, lost the third and fourth in Toronto, and then took the fifth and sixth here.

Fires Winning Goal.

Bryan Hextall, 20-year-old native of Grenfell, Sask., fired the winning goal after two minutes and seven seconds of extra play, climaxing a brilliant rush to overcome the two-goal advantage Toronto set up in the first two periods.

Wilf Hiller and Phil Watson, Hextall's mates on the roughneck line, got the puck to him as the Rangers returned a Toronto attack. Gordon Drillon had collided with Jack Church at the Toronto blue line and, with the two Toronto players out of the way, it was simple for Hextall to whack his shot past Goalie Turk Broda from six feet.

Taken aback for a moment, the partisan fans in the crowd of 14,894 sat silent. Then they rose to shout the praises of a team that, despite illnesses and some injuries, had beaten the Leafs on their own ice by coming from behind.

Alex Shibicky was hobbling again on the bad ankle that kept him out of the fourth game of the series. Hiller is due for an immediate appendix removal, other players are to undergo tonsil operations, and Shibicky and oGalie Dave Kerr will have elbow injuries repaired in the hospital.

Leafs Early Took Lead.

Syl Apps sent Toronto to the front in less than seven minutes, taking a pass from Bob Davidson and shifting around Babe Pratt before shooting. Early in the second period Nick Metz flicked the puck past Kerr after an end-to-end dash by Sweeney Schriner.

Disaster in the third struck when Neil Colville was allowed to park unmolested before the Toronto goal. He flicked in Shibicky's pass with a backhand shot at 8.08.

Less than two minutes later, while Schriner and Mac Colville were serving penalties for slashing one another, Rookie Alf Pike tied the score on a pass from C'nt Smith.

As R.A.F. Bombed Bergen

Taken from one of the Royal Air Force bombers participating in the raid, this aerial view shows Nazi seaplanes moored in the harbor of Bergen as R.A.F. bombers roared over the Nazi-held Norwegian city. A German cruiser of the Koln class was believed to have been struck during the raid and sunk. A munitions warehouse was also blown up. This picture was flashed to New York by radio from London.

Maple Syrup Is Quoted At $2 Per Gallon

Maple syrup at $2 a gallon was fairly plentiful on the local market Saturday, a drop of 25 to 50 cents a gallon from the previous week. The ample supply flowed in from all parts of the county, and several producers from Cavan township added to the volume. Alf Elmhirst and Frank Lynch of Otonabee and Herb Doig with the first run from a bush in the northern section of the county were among those selling at 50 cents a quart. James Humphries of Asphodel was another of those who were offering a tempting quality of syrup. His father, Adam Humphries, said they might not be back next Saturday. They have a summer demand from tourists at a good price that provides a satisfactory outlet for quite a quantity of their maple product.

Eggs were spread out in baskets all along the counters upstairs with prices ranging at 11 o'clock from 18 cents to 25 cents. Butter was 28 to 30 cents and chickens 22 and 23 cents. Incidentally one woman reported that she had come to market by car for the first time since it was jacked up before winter set in. An Otonabee farmer expressed special concern for the recently arrived birds. He said he was not worrying about the fall crops, but he wondered how the robins and song sparrows would weather the unseasonable cold and snow.

Potatoes were firm at $1.10 to $1.25. Healey brothers of Westwood quoted $1.25 for both White Stars and Cobblers. E. M. Beer of Campbellcroft brought in small Dooleys which he said were suitable for seed, and tagged them at 75 cents. Clifford Sedgwick of Norwood asked $1 for Dooleys, and Lorne Cole of Hamilton township was selling Katahdins at $1.10.

Harry Gill's prices for fresh meat were: pork 13 and 15 cents, beef 12 and 14 cents, lamb 20 and 22 cents.

The apple men seem to have been saving some of their best Northern Spies until the last. Norman Moncrief had a lot of extra specials at 60 cents a peck or $2 a bushel; Roman Beauties at 40 cents and Starks at 35 cents.

James Johnston of Bailieboro had Spies at 45 cents, Delicious 40 cents, Talmans and Russets 40 cents and Starks 35 cents.

None of the big woods trucks from the northern belt was in, but there were odds and ends offered by other farmers.

Experiments are being made in making paper from reeds in English swamps.

Announces Secession

Hermann Jonasson, president of the council of Iceland, announced the decree of the Icelandic parliament which means virtual secession from Denmark. The official proclamation declared that the German invasion of Denmark had deprived King Christian X of exercise of his royal power over Iceland. In accordance with the constitution, full governmental powers will now be placed in the hands of the three-man Icelandic ministry. Premier Jonasson is also minister of justice and of agriculture.

'Eye-Bug' Oscar Splits Family

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 15 (AP)—A dispute over an "eye-bug," affectionately known as "Oscar," was settled amicably yesterday in the divorce trial of Clifford Hayes, Palo Alto lumberman.

Superior Judge R. R. Syer granted a divorce to Evelyn Orme Hayes and gave the "eye-bug" to Hayes.

Mrs. Hayes said her husband gave her the bug at their wedding in 1934. Hayes countered that he "attached great sentimental value to Oscar," because he had belonged to his grandfather.

Oscar is about the size of a pinhead and wears a white shell. Attorney Arnold Rumwell explained that the bug hibernates in a matchbox filled with sugar until he is awakened by several drops of vinegar.

Then, Rumwell said, Oscar is placed in a human eye, where he obligingly swims around and removes particles irritating the eye. That done, he is returned to his sugar and promptly goes back to sleep.

Rumwell offered to have Oscar demonstrated on Judge Syer. The judge demurred with the remark. "The court will assume you were sober when you saw Oscar perform."

Millbrook Hatchery Installs Incubators

MILLBROOK, April 15 — (ENS). —Interrupted in the peak of the season by the destruction of his incubator building by fire last Sunday night, M. McDowell is preparing to carry on by installing two large incubators in the former egg grading station on King Street, one having a capacity of fifteen thousand eggs and the other of eleven thousand.

Last season, at the McDowell poultry farm, ninety thousand eggs were handled in the time the incubators were in use from the middle of February until the early part of July. It had been expected to surpass this figure this season since a new incubator, known as the Humidaire, and of the most up-to-date type, with separate hatcher, and having a capacity of eight thousand eggs, had only recently been installed.

This, with the other two incubators which had a combined capacity of over twenty thousand eggs, were completely destroyed in the disastrous fire, which apparently came from an overheated stove. Some hundreds of little chicks, from a day old up to eight or ten days, being kept in brookers until shipped, were likewise burned.

Some insurance was carried on the building, but the loss runs into some thousands of dollars over the amount due from this source.

Fish Eats Rabbit

BUCKINGHAM, Va., April 15. — (AP)—James River catfish, with a reputation for truculence and size, have quit making news by spitting in fishermen's eyes. They've started chasing rabbits. That is the explanation given by sportsman John Wood for the discovery of a half-grown rabbit in the stomach of a 6½-pound catfish he pulled out of the river.

Favors Opening Fishing Season June 15

Should the pickerel season in this district open a month before the bass and lunge season?

Each year this question becomes a more keenly debated one, and opponents of the present two-date plan seem to be coming more to the fore. Fred Whalen, wel-known Keene sportsmen, is firm in the opinion that the season for all three game fish should be opened simultaneously about June 15. (As the low stood last year, and no change has been announced this year, pickerel fishing opened on the 15th of May, lunge and bass fishing on the first of July.)

Fred Whalen says he is supported by many of the Rice Lake sportsmen and guides, and named Harold Elmhirst of Keene and Madden Howard, Jr., of Hiawatha, as being among his supporters. Mr. Whalen, known as one of the most progressive tourist men in this area, believes that it should be closed for two important reasons. First, unprincipled fishermen try for lung on the pretext of going out for pickerel, and at a time when they can do irreparable harm to the lunge fishing in the Kawarthas because of spawning.

Many Bass Caught

Second, he believes that many bass are caught because of drifting boats, and consequently, moving lines, by men who are honestly trying to catch pickerel. Throwing these fish back into the water does not help matters, since most of them die, he said.

Mr. Whalen looks for one of the best tourist years in the history of the Kawartha district this summer, and he makes that prophecy not from idle hunch, but from the unequalled number of letters of enquiry he has already received from prospective tourists from the United States.

Apparently the lower expenses, because of exchange rates, is going to prove exceedingly attractive to holidaying Americans this summer he said, too, that the Examiner's Vacation Edition, is a great factor in attracting tourists to the district. He gives out, free, copies of the edition each year as a goodwill gesture. "I have certainly found it pays dividends," commented Mr. Whalen.

Gambling Raid Nets Court $274

As an aftermath of a raid by provincial and city police several weeks ago and a place situated on the Chemong road, Harry Dunn pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having allowed his premises to be operated as a common gaming house.

Dunn was fined $25 and $6 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

"I think the fine should be around $25," Crown Attorney McElderry had stated before sentence was imposed. "I hope it will put a stop to this kind of thing."

Eighteen young men found engaged in a crap game when they broke into Dunn's place had previously paid fines of $10 and $3.50 costs as found-ins, so that the raid netted a total in fines and costs of $274.

Temple Band Is Given Warm Praise

"No man can think an evil thought when he picks up a lily and looks into its heart," said Envoy S. J. Sheppard of New York at the Salvation Army band's annual spring musical festival concert in the Simcoe Street Temple Saturday night. And in the same category of influence that elevates and dignifies the spirit he emphasized the uplifting potency of good music, affirming, as an aside, that he had never met a first class musician in any prison in the more than a score of years of experience in that specialized service.

Envoy Sheppard alluded to himself as a reformed trumpet player in a sparkling address that was directed especially to the bandsmen, congratulating them on the fine program they had given and exhorting them to endeavor always to become more proficient, regarding their music as an art which they were dedicating to the worship of God.

"What's in a name" was the subject of Envoy Sheppard's address. "Make your name respected by making it respectable. Your name represents what you are in your community. I was taken for a motor trip around your city this afternoon and some one pointed out a big factory saying "that's the G.E. works." When those letters 'G.E.' were mentioned they immediately stood for something in my mind, for quality of product that is known everywhere you go. Your deeds are inseparable from your name, and a man's name, no matter who he is, should be something very precious to him, because it represents the hopes and aspirations not only of himself as he starts out in life and struggles along, but also of his family, his mother and his father, and of their parents for generations. A real man has a name that means something, and we should all remember that it is easier to lose a good name than a bad one."

Envoy Sheppard spoke eloquently of the ennobling power of good music, and said that a man who has a talent for music should not be content to "just a blower," those who were satisfied to play for jitterbugs, but should study his instrument and apply himself in an effort toward perfection. God had placed his seal on music in the song of the angels who had heralded the birth of Jesus. The Salvation Army allotted a prominent place to music in its services, and because of that association the name Salvationist musician meant more than the name of federation musician.

"Let me tell you by way of conclusion what I have discovered about youth and music. Whenever you go out to a party or to spend any evening socially who is it that is the centre of attraction or popularity and becomes the delight of the company? Why it is the musician who entertains while the rest of the wall flowers sit and listen and secretly envy them their talent. Who is it that always has so much that is interesting to talk about in the world of art? The Musician. Who is it that possesses the finer and more sensitive nature and loves the finer things of life? It is the real musician. Who is it that can bring 7,000 people to their feet cheering and clapping their hands in wild enthusiasm as I saw and heard it recently in Madison Square Garden? It was a musician playing one of the most beloved compositions of a humble Russian musician.

I have always noticed that the good young musician is always among the outstanding young people in any community. Music has so much of God in it that no man can touch it and not be a better man for it. It gives to you, the man, something that creates a background which gives to your name of Army Musician a deep and rich meaning. Their heritage is yours and as the youth of the Army of this present day, you can bless or curse the name, Army Musician, by your attitude toward your art."

Envoy Sheppard spoke at the musical hour Sunday afternoon on the subject "What Men Say That I Am," and also Sunday morning and evening. He concludes his visit to the Temple Band with a lecture tonight "Is the Criminal Worth Saving?" which he will discuss from his life work among the prisoners of Sing Sing and other prisons.

The Temple Band under the direction of R. G. Routly gave a splendid account of itself Saturday night. Its abilities are usually taken for granted in Peterborough, but they won a warm tribute from Envoy Sheppard who recalled briefly the time he was a trumpet player in Boston, remarking that in those days of his youth, and he still looks and is young, he thought he "was pretty good." The band is strongly instrumented in all its sections, its playing is clean cut with an abundant effect and color of shading, rich harmony, and spirited climaxes. The program included a trombone duet by Adjutant Norman Buckley and Bandsman A. Jones, cornet solo by Bandsman F. Robinson, euphonium solo by Bandsman A. Mills and brass quartette by Bandsman Robinson, Bolam, French and Boorman. Two concluding hymn tunes featured tubular chimes played by Bandsman H. Barton.

Envoy Sheppard Lauds Work Of YMCA

"The Y.M.C.A. is doing the grandest job in the world for the adolescent and young-men group," declared Envoy Stanley Sheppard, in charge of the prison work of the Salvation Army in New York, in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel to-day.

"Support it until it hurts," continued Envoy Sheppard. 'It is worthwhile and I mean every word of this from the depth of my soul. Put this drive over."

The Salvation Army official, guest speaker, to-day delivered a thought-provoking address on the subject, "Youth in Crime," based on his own experiences of 22 years as a prison officer, with Sing-Sing as his favorite stamping ground.

"One thousand ex-convicts a month pass through my office," said Envoy Sheppard, "and most of them are under 30 years of age."

Crime costs the United States every year some 14 billion dollars, one-quarter of the national income, and the speaker declared that most of the criminals were under 30 years old. The largest single crime item was robbery, he said, and the average age of the criminals involved in that crime was 19 years. The next largest crime item was burglary and the average age there was 18 years.

Youthful Murderers.

"Since the electric chair was placed in Sing-Sing prison 45 years ago, there have been over 400 executions, and most of those to die in the chair were between 21 and 25 years" Envoy Sheppard declared.

"The robbers, the burglars, the holdup men and the kidnappers of ten years from now are sitting in the class rooms of the public schools at the present time," he added.

Envoy Sheppard said, in explanation, that the tree-climbing, brook-fishing youth of a decade ago had disappeared and had been replaced by a generation artificially amused and to whom home was just a place to eat and sleep. Society, he charged, was responsible for the conditions that produced crime and the fact that the average age of the criminal class was steadily becoming younger was due to criminal negligence on the part of society.

The speaker urged that there should be earnest attention paid to the problem of removing the conditions that caused criminals, suggesting youth forums, hobby programs, removal of slums, more adequate supervised playgrounds, encouragement of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements, a greater use of school facilities after hours, and increased utilization of vocational schools.

Envoy Sheppard was introduced by Adjt. Buckley of the Salvation Army as one of the Army's most colorful personalities, and the vote of thanks was expressed by President E. L. Sackville.

It was announced that there would be no luncheon of the Peterborough Club next week, but that the club members would attend an inter-city meeting at Lindsay next Monday night.

Reeve Johnston Heads County Chamber

Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan was elected president of the Chamber of Agriculture at a meeting of its directors in the office of F. C. Paterson Saturday afternoon. Mr. Johnston succeeds Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore who was recently elected president of the Ontario Chamber.

The other officers for the coming year were chosen as follows: 1st vice-president, George Mullen; 2nd vice-president, Reeve W. A. Anderson; secretary-treasurer for the time being, Frank C. Paterson.

Directors — Ed Butler, Warden John McColl, Milton Clark, Gordon Hancock and James Gifford.

A special committee from which a deputation will be selected to attend a meeting of the Cream Patrons of Ontario in Toronto Friday night was appointed as follows: Reeve Allan B. Mann, Reeve M. H. Johnston, Reeve Anderson, M. Clark, Harry Blewett, James Gifford and Warden McColl.

Mr. Gifford gave an interesting review of the annual meeting of the Ontario Chamber in Toronto. The directors supported the recommendation to change the name from Chamber of Agriculture to Federation of Agriculture.

Considerable attention was given to the swine committee and its scope of usefulness. A resolution directed this committee to bring in an early report on the prospect of the development of this large group of producers, and to obtain membership of all those interested in bacon production.

The swine committee was advised to go even further than its own producing bounds and to consider how the enlisting of other branches of agriculture could be accomplished. The question of financing the new movement is also to be discussed.

Another resolution recommended that the directors hold monthly meetings. Peterborough is one of eight counties in which local branches of the Chamber of Agriculture are operating. It was the first in the field. The others who have followed its lead are Essex, Middlesex, Oxford, Kent, Wellington, Simcoe and Lincoln. Plans for organization are being under way in some other counties.

Eight Rover Cadets Are Ditched In Car

Opposite the home of R. T. Lillico drifted snow had frozen into a slippery spot on the pavement and when the automobile struck this patch it skidded out of control and shot off the road.

Not one of the occupants was injured and the car itself was not badly damaged.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure.

Empire Leaders Hold Y.M.C.A. In High Regard

The Y.M.C.A. lost one of its strongest supporters in the death of Lord Tweedsmuir, but when the new Governor-General, the Earl of Athline, arrives the organization will have gained just as staunch a believer in the things for which the Y stands.

For the Earl of Athlone is chairman of the British Y.M.C.A. War Services Committee and has promised to take an active part in the Canadian organization when he comes to this country. These facts were made known to Peterborough people on Thursday evening when H. M. Long, prominent Montreal business leader, spoke at the opening of the Y drive in this city.

Those two names, Lord Tweedsmuir and the Earl of Athlone, are evidence of the high regard in which the Y.M.C.A. is held by leading citizens all over the Empire. These men know the value of the work the great organization does in peace and in war.

Appreciate "Y" Services.

Competing in vigorous athletic games, enjoying concerts and motion pictures and the ample facilities for reading writing, many thousands of Canadians on active service in Canada and Great Britain are using and appreciating every day the service of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. They, like the leaders mentioned above, are aware of the value of the Y.M.C.A.

To their friends at home, it is a satisfaction to know that the men are enabled in this way to employ their spare time agreeably and usefully, and that they enjoy some of the old comforts.

Is Well Qualified.

From the nature of its work in peace time and from past experience, first in the South African war, then in a far more extensive way in the last world war, the Canadian Y is eminently qualified to provide this auxiliary war service now.

An excellent feature of the life of the First Division in England is the widespread activity in outdoor sports of all kinds. This is to the credit of the Y.M.C.A., whose officers went over with the First Division and took with them a vast quantity of athletic equipment.

In the last war, the Y rendered an exceedingly valuable service wherever Canadian troops were to be found, in spite of some criticism at the end of the war, due no doubt to misunderstanding or to minor defects. Its work in France and Belgium was valued and highly commended by General Alderson, and also by Sir Arthur Currie, who said that the auxiliary service of the Y.M.C.A. was indispensable.

The work which the Y has launched now that conflict has broken out again, is just as valuable as it was in 1914-1918. It is heartily approved by Major-General MacNaughton, commander of the First Division, and by Brigadier W. W. Foster, president of the Canadian Legion.

Favors Opening Fishing Season June 15

Should the pickerel season in this district open a month before the bass and lunge season?

Each year this question becomes a more keenly debated one, and opponents of the present two-date plan seem to be coming more to the fore. Fred Whalen, wel-known Keene sportsmen, is firm in the opinion that the season for all three game fish should be opened simultaneously about June 15. (As the low stood last year, and no change has been announced this year, pickerel fishing opened on the 15th of May, lunge and bass fishing on the first of July.)

Fred Whalen says he is supported by many of the Rice Lake sportsmen and guides, and named Harold Elmhirst of Keene and Madden Howard, Jr., of Hiawatha, as being among his supporters. Mr. Whalen, known as one of the most progressive tourist men in this area, believes that it should be closed for two important reasons. First, unprincipled fishermen try for lung on the pretext of going out for pickerel, and at a time when they can do irreparable harm to the lunge fishing in the Kawarthas because of spawning.

Many Bass Caught

Second, he believes that many bass are caught because of drifting boats, and consequently, moving lines, by men who are honestly trying to catch pickerel. Throwing these fish back into the water does not help matters, since most of them die, he said.

Mr. Whalen looks for one of the best tourist years in the history of the Kawartha district this summer, and he makes that prophecy not from idle hunch, but from the unequalled number of letters of enquiry he has already received from prospective tourists from the United States.

Apparently the lower expenses, because of exchange rates, is going to prove exceedingly attractive to holidaying Americans this summer he said. He said, too, that the Examiner's Vacation Edition, is a great factor in attracting tourists to the district. He gives out, free, copies of the edition each year as a goodwill gesture. "I have certainly found it pays dividends," commented Mr. Whalen.

Gambling Raid Nets Court $274

As an aftermath of a raid by provincial and city police several weeks ago and a place situated on the Chemong road, Harry Dunn pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having allowed his premises to be operated as a common gaming house.

Dunn was fined $25 and $6 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

"I think the fine should be around $35," Crown Attorney McElderry had stated before sentence was imposed. "I hope it will put a stop to this kind of thing."

Eighteen young men found engaged in a crap game when they broke into Dunn's place had previously paid fines of $10 and $3.50 costs as found-ins, so that the raid netted a total in fines and costs of $274.

Temple Band Is Given Warm Praise

"No man can think an evil thought when he picks up a lily and looks into its heart," said Envoy S. J. Sheppard of New York at the Salvation Army band's annual spring musical festival concert in the Simcoe Street Temple Saturday night. And in the same category of influence that elevates and dignifies the spirit he emphasized the uplifting potency of good music, affirming, as an aside, that he had never met a first class musician in any prison in the more than a score of years of experience in that specialized service.

Envoy Sheppard alluded to himself as a reformed trumpet player in a sparkling address that was directed especially to the bandsmen, congratulating them on the fine program they had given and exhorting them to endeavor always to become more proficient, regarding their music as an art which they were dedicating to the worship of God.

"What's in a name" was the subject of Envoy Sheppard's address. "Make your name respected by making it respectable. Your name represents what you are in your community. I was taken for a motor trip around your city this afternoon and some one pointed out a big factory saying "that's the G.E. works." When those letters 'G.E.' were mentioned they immediately stood for something in my mind, for quality of product that is known everywhere you go. Your deeds are inseparable from your name, and a man's name, no matter who he is, should be something very precious to him, because it represents the hopes and aspirations not only of himself as he starts out in life and struggles along, but also of his family, his mother and his father, and of their parents for generations. A real man has a name that means something, and we should all remember that it is easier to lose a good name than a bad one."

Envoy Sheppard spoke eloquently of the ennobling power of good music, and said that a man who has a talent for music should not be content to "just a blower," those who were satisfied to play for jitterbugs, but should study his instrument and apply himself in an effort toward perfection. God had placed his seal on music in the song of the angels who had heralded the birth of Jesus. The Salvation Army allotted a prominent place to music in its services, and because of that association the name Salvationist musician meant more than the name of federation musician.

"Let me tell you by way of conclusion what I have discovered about youth and music. Whenever you go out to a party or to spend any evening socially who is it that is the centre of attraction or popularity and becomes the delight of the company? Why it is the musician who entertains while the rest of the wall flowers sit and listen and secretly envy them their talent. Who is it that always has so much that is interesting to talk about in the world of art? The Musician. Who is it that possesses the finer and more sensitive nature and loves the finer things of life? It is the real musician. Who is it that can bring 7,000 people to their feet cheering and clapping their hands in wild enthusiasm as I saw and heard it recently in Madison Square Garden? It was a musician playing one of the most beloved compositions of a humble Russian musician.

I have always noticed that the good young musician is always among the outstanding young people in any community. Music has so much of God in it that no man can touch it and not be a better man for it. It gives to you, the man, something that creates a background which gives to your name of Army Musician a deep and rich meaning. Their heritage is yours and as the youth of the Army of this present day, you can bless or curse the name, Army Musician, by your attitude toward your art."

Envoy Sheppard spoke at the musical hour Sunday afternoon on the subject "What Men Say That I Am," and also Sunday morning and evening. He concludes his visit to the Temple Band with a lecture tonight "Is the Criminal Worth Saving?" which he will discuss from his life work among the prisoners of Sing Sing and other prisons.

The Temple Band under the direction of R. G. Routly gave a splendid account of itself Saturday night. Its abilities are usually taken for granted in Peterborough, but they won a warm tribute from Envoy Sheppard who recalled briefly the time he was a trumpet player in Boston, remarking that in those days of his youth, and he still looks and is young, he thought he "was pretty good." The band is strongly instrumented in all its sections, its playing is clean cut with an abundant effect and color of shading, rich harmony, and spirited climaxes. The program included a trombone duet by Adjutant Norman Buckley and Bandsman A. Jones, cornet solo by Bandsman F. Robinson, euphonium solo by Bandsman A. Mills and brass quartette by Bandsman Robinson, Bolam, French and Beerman. Two concluding hymn tunes featured tubular chimes played by Bandsman H. Barton.

Envoy Sheppard Lauds Work Of YMCA

"The Y.M.C.A. is doing the grandest job in the world for the adolescent and young-men group," declared Envoy Stanley Sheppard, in charge of the prison work of the Salvation Army in New York, in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel to-day.

"Support it until it hurts," continued Envoy Sheppard. "It is worthwhile and I mean every word of this from the depth of my soul. Put this drive over."

The Salvation Army official, guest speaker, to-day delivered a thought-provoking address on the subject, "Youth in Crime," based on his own experiences of 22 years as a prison officer, with Sing-Sing as his favorite stamping ground.

"One thousand ex-convicts a month pass through my office," said Envoy Sheppard, "and most of them are under 30 years of age."

Crime costs the United States every year some 14 billion dollars, one-quarter of the national income, and the speaker declared that most of the criminals were under 30 years old. The largest single crime item was robbery, he said, and the average age of the criminals involved in that crime was 19 years. The next largest crime item was burglary and the average age there was 18 years.

Youthful Murderers.

"Since the electric chair was placed in Sing-Sing prison 45 years ago, there have been over 400 executions, and most of those to die in the chair were between 21 and 25 years" Envoy Sheppard declared.

"The robbers, the burglars, the holdup men and the kidnappers of ten years from now are sitting in the class rooms of the public schools at the present time," he added.

Envoy Sheppard said, in explanation, that the tree-climbing, brook-fishing youth of a decade ago had disappeared and had been replaced by a generation artificially amused and to whom home was just a place to eat and sleep. Society, he charged, was responsible for the conditions that produced crime and the fact that the average age of the criminal class was steadily becoming younger was due to criminal negligence on the part of society.

The speaker urged that there should be earnest attention paid to the problem of removing the conditions that caused criminals, suggesting youth forums, hobby programs, removal of slums, more adequate supervised playgrounds, encouragement of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements, a greater use of school facilities after hours, and increased utilization of vocational schools.

Envoy Sheppard was introduced by Adjt. Buckley of the Salvation Army as one of the Army's most colorful personalities, and the vote of thanks was expressed by President E. L. Sackville.

It was announced that there would be no luncheon of the Peterborough Club next week, but that the club members would attend an inter-city meeting at Lindsay next Monday night.

Reeve Johnston Heads County Chamber

Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan was elected president of the Chamber of Agriculture at a meeting of its directors in the office of F. C. Paterson Saturday afternoon. Mr. Johnston succeeds Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore who was recently elected president of the Ontario Chamber.

The other officers for the coming year were chosen as follows: 1st vice-president, George Mullen; 2nd vice-president, Reeve W. A. Anderson; secretary-treasurer for the time being, Frank C. Paterson.

Directors — Ed Butler, Warden John McColl, Milton Clark, Gordon Hancock and James Gifford.

A special committee from which a deputation will be selected to attend a meeting of the Cream Patrons of Ontario in Toronto Friday night was appointed as follows: Reeve Allan B. Mann, Reeve M. H. Johnston, Reeve Anderson, M. Clark, Harry Blewett, James Gifford and Warden McColl.

Mr. Gifford gave an interesting review of the annual meeting of the Ontario Chamber in Toronto. The directors supported the recommendation to change the name from Chamber of Agriculture to Federation of Agriculture.

Considerable attention was given to the swine committee and its scope of usefulness. A resolution directed this committee to bring in an early report on the prospect of the development of this large group of producers, and to obtain membership of all those interested in bacon production.

The swine committee was advised to go even further than its own producing bounds and to consider how the enlisting of other branches of agriculture could be accomplished. The question of financing the new movement is also to be discussed.

Another resolution recommended that the directors hold monthly meetings. Peterborough is one of eight counties in which local branches of the Chamber of Agriculture are operating. It was the first in the field. The others who have followed its lead are Essex, Middlesex, Oxford, Kent, Wellington, Simcoe and Lincoln. Plans for organization are being under way in some other counties.

Eight Rover Cadets Are Ditched In Car

Eight Rover sea cadets from Port Hope had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday morning when their car left Highway 28 and went into the ditch as they were en route to Peterborough to attend service at All Saints' Church.

The car, owned by Fred C. Lingard of Port Hope, was driven by Lorne Baxter of the same town, and he had seven other sea cadets as his passengers.

Opposite the home of R. T. Lillico drifted snow had frozen into a slippery spot on the pavement and when the automobile struck this patch it skidded out of control and shot off the road.

Not one of the occupants was injured and the car itself was not badly damaged.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure.

3 Towns Flooded

DRUMHELLER, Alta., April 15—(CP).—Residents of three central Alberta towns, Wayne, Carbon and East Coulee, evacuated their homes last night as flood waters surged over banks of creeks off Red Deer River which is fed from the east slopes of the Rocky Mountains.

The Carbon flood, worst in 40 years, washed out a Canadian Pacific Railway Bridge.

Empire Leaders Hold Y.M.C.A. In High Regard

The Y.M.C.A. lost one of its strongest supporters in the death of Lord Tweedsmuir, but when the new Governor-General, the Earl of Athline, arrives the organization will have gained just as staunch a believer in the things for which the Y stands.

For the Earl of Athlone is chairman of the British Y.M.C.A. War Services Committee and has promised to take an active part in the Canadian organization when he comes to this country. These facts were made known to Peterborough people on Thursday evening when H. M. Long, prominent Montreal business leader, spoke at the opening of the Y drive in this city.

Those two names, Lord Tweedsmuir and the Earl of Athlone, are evidence of the high regard in which the Y.M.C.A. is held by leading citizens all over the Empire. These men know the value of the work the great organization does in peace and in war.

Appreciate "Y" Services.

Competing in vigorous athletic games, enjoying concerts and motion pictures and the ample facilities for reading writing, many thousands of Canadians on active service in Canada and Great Britain are using and appreciating every day the service of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. They, like the leaders mentioned above, are aware of the value of the Y.M.C.A.

To their friends at home, it is a satisfaction to know that the men are enabled in this way to employ their spare time agreeably and usefully, and that they enjoy some of the old comforts.

Is Well Qualified.

From the nature of its work in peace time and from past experience, first in the South African war, then in a far more etxensive way in the last world war, the Canadian Y is eminently qualified to provide this auxiliary war service now.

An excellent feature of the life of the First Division in England is the widespread activity in outdoor sports of all kinds. This is to the credit of the Y.M.C.A., whose officers went over with the First Division and took with them a vast quantity of athletic equipment.

In the last war, the Y rendered an exceedingly valuable service wherever Canadian troops were to be found, in spite of some criticism at the end of the war, due no doubt to misunderstanding or to minor defects. Its work in France and Belgium was valued and highly commended by General Alderson, and also by Sir Arthur Currie, who said that the auxiliary service of the Y.M.C.A. was indispensable.

The work which the Y has launched now that conflict has broken out again, is just as valuable as it was in 1914-1918. It is heartily approved by Major-General MacNaughton, commander of the First Division, and by Brigadier W. W. Foster, president of the Canadian Legion.

Y.M.C.A. Dance Has Many Special Features

The gaily decorated Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium was the scene of another successful party held Saturday night, with almost three hundred in attendance.

The Orfuns and Toronto St. Paul's ladies'-basketball teams, who played the first game of the Ontario Intermediate basketball finals earlier in the evening at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium, were guests of the club at the dance. Both teams were congratulated on having reached the Ontario finals, and the Orfuns received a round of applause for their win of the first game.

Miss Audrey Livingston, captain of the Orfuns' team, drew the lucky number for the door prize, which was won by Miss Isobel Brown and Mr. Ronald Kemp.

Regret was expressed for the disappointment experienced by the crowd when the Hamilton basketball team defaulted the final game of the Ontario Men's Intermediate basketball championship to Peterborough St. Paul's. The game was to have been played previous to the dance as a special feature. However, real excitement was promised for the fans this coming Friday and Saturday nights, when St. Paul's defend their title for the Eastern Canada championship crown against Montreal. It was announced that the regular dance will follow the final game on Saturday night, and "Saturday Nighters" are looking forward to a full evening of excitement and entertainment.

During the dance period scores of the Peterborough-Maxville hockey game were announced and the final score was received with rousing cheers. The lucky spot dance was won by Miss Grace Lundy and Mr. Douglas Young. The committee felt that the dance should have taken the form of a birthday party, as no fewer than four guests were celebrating anniversaries. Jimmie Duffus and the boys dedicated special numbers to Miss Irma Rosborough, Miss Ruth Ellis, star forward of the Orfuns' team; Miss Kay Tully and Mr. Earl Spencley, whose birthdays were on Saturday.

Bible Class Arranges Crokinole Party

Members of the Ever-Awake Bible Class of St. James' Church were guests of Mrs. E. M. Davis for their April meeting, which opened with a missionary hymn and the Scripture lesson repeated in unison. Mrs. E. Beavis, class teacher, led in prayer, and two seasonal poems were read by Mrs. R. Howarth and Mrs. J. Flynn.

After results of the Irish tea were heard, the main feature of business was the arrangement of a crokinole party, to be held on Monday evening, April 15, at the home of Mrs. B. Callan. The Entertainment Committee held a contest, which was followed by a sing-song. The hostess served dainty refreshments, assisted by members of the social committee. Mrs. N. Monk, president, voiced a vote of thanks to the hostess.

BREATH OF SPRING

By ALICE ALDEN

PITY the men when we face them in such darling bonnets as this one worn by winsome-looking Ruth Ford of the theatre. Those filmy streamers cross under the chin and are looped in back, the better to show off the actress' neckline corsage. It's one any of us might envy: fresh ivy leaves with a heart of diamond posies. Violet leaves or tulip leaves will do just as well—it's the diamond pin or clip which counts. There are always new ways of wearing jewels, and, incidentally, flowers. Have you thought of pinning yours on the sleeve of your fur jacket or to your hat? Many a sailor flourishes a real rose or gardenia . . . one smart girl we know pins a different flower on hers every day. It's one way to get a diamond on your finger—eventually.

these breath-taking new styles carry you away, however. It is wise to remember the rule of never wearing clothes that make you self-conscious. Don't say: "I'll take it" unless you are able to answer "No" to this question: "Will I feel like a one-woman fashion show in this?"

. . . That advice comes from a well-known fashion designer and stylist who knows how to dress women to suit their mode of living as well as their figures, ages and types. "There's only one thing worse than being so drably, unimaginatively dressed in such spectacular fashion that your clothes are noticed while you, as a person, are completely overlooked."

We Noticed

. . . With so many enchanting shades and styles in clothes this season it is a bit difficult for us to pick and choose wisely, the first impulse being, in many cases, to buy the first adorable little frock we see with nary a thought to our individual type and needs.

. . . Don't let the excitement of

FASHIONS

Princess lines and big pockets, both favorite Spring features, are combined to make the dress of the season. Soft shirring and dainty white collar add distinction to a dark printed cotton or silk. A matching or contrasting bolero is convenient to have and is a Spring essential and it can be worn over other dresses too. This versatile pattern is one that every woman should have because it makes a grand house frock as well as a smart town frock.

Style No. 3237 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material, with ¼ yard for collar, for short sleeved dress; 1⅛ yards for short sleeved bolero.

Formosa Pleasant Island On Which To Live

A missionary on furlough from Formost, Miss Ada Adams, was special speaker at the April thank-offering meeting of St. Paul's W.M.S. Friday evening, at which Mrs. T. J. Carley presided. A graduate of Columbia University, a kindergarten specialist, and well fitted for her work of training primary and kindergarten teachers, the speaker was introduced by Mrs. E. Howson.

Describing the island just north of the Philippines where she has worked for more than ten years, Miss Adams said that Formosa was a pleasant place in which to live. She told of its size, position, climate, vegetation, and its occupations, of which the cultivation of forms have been introduced, including better sanitary conditions, which have lessened malaria and small-pox, and better transportation, which makes it easier for the missionaries to reach their out-lying stations. Education is also improved, stated Miss Adams, and a strong effort is being made to have everyone speak Japanese, which would be a decided advantage. Japanese is taught in the schools, and there are language classes for the women in the afternoon and for the men in the evenings.

The home life of the people was also sketchedtheir small houses and large families, often two or three families living in one house with its primitive methods of lighting and laundry. Each home has a shelf where the gods are kept. The Formosans are a religious people, and go to their gods for help, but their minds are full of superstition and fear. The Christian Church has secured a firm hold in the island. Churches have a choir and a Sunday School, and some have a Women's Missionary Society, for they have found "As you give, you grow."

Miss Adams explained that missionaries get acquainted with parents through the children at the kindergartens, and through them the home are opened. Contact with the church takes away the people's fear and dread and superstition, and brings them new joy. In closing, the speaker said that Formosans speak of the home church in Canada as "the Mother Church," and do appreciate what is being done for them. She expressed the hope that there would be a still greater interest taken in future work in Formosa.

Two beautiful solos were also heard, "O Jesus, Thou Art Standing," by Miss Jean Cameron, and "I come to the Garden Alone," by Miss Jessie Pattison. Mrs. D. T. Diplock was accompanist.

The scripture lesson from John's Gospel, the account of the risen Christ appearing to His disciples, was read by Miss L. Esplen, and Miss Olive Cullen played for the hymns. The thanks of the meeting was expressed by Mrs. H. Morgan to the speaker, and others taking part in the program. After the hymn, "Zion's King shall reign Victorious," the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

Cromwell Acts Best Man As Jessel Weds

DETROIT, April 15—(AP).—Wedding bells rang for the third time Saturday for Comedian George Jessel.

With James H. R. Cromwell, United States Minister to Canada, as groomsman, the 42-year-old stage star and 16-year-old Lois Andrew, New York showgirl, were married in the bridegroom's 15th-floor suite at a downtown hotel.

Cromwell, who took the occasion to announce his intention to be a candidate for the United States Senate from New Jersey, was the unexpected development in a wedding that went off on press release schedule.

Attired in a checkered sports jacket and blue-grey slacks—in contrast to Jessel's formal dress—Cromwell appeared just before the ceremony, explaining an aeroplane in which he was a passenger was forced to land here because of a snowstorm.

Twice-divorced Jessel, once the husband of Norma Talmadge, spoke the marriage vows without any trace of nervousness, but Miss Andrew, gowned in white satin and Chantilly lace, stumbled over the words.

When the civil ceremony, performed by Judge Gerald Groat, was over, everyone started to make announcements.

Jessel said he and his bride would leave for New York, where he and Eddie Cantor are to team in a stage appearance.

Cromwell said he would "probably announce next Wednesday" his New Jersey Senatorial candidacy.

The bridesmaid, Betty Allen, made know the fact which every one knew, that she is appearing in a New York stage play.

Asked if she would return to the stage, Mrs. Jessel replied: "No, indeed. I'm a wife now and I'm going to work."

Cromwell, who left later for Ottawa, was questioned by reporters about his recent pro-Ally speech in Toronto. He replied he was "not allowed" to say anything on that subject, other than that the speech had been favorably received in Canada.

Arrive In City From Brantford

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Symonds, who, with their young son, Graydon, have arrived in the city from Brantford to take up residence at 294 Burnham Street, were the recipients of many tokens of good-will from a large circle of friends in Brantford prior to their departure. The Grace Badminton Club held a buffet supper party and an honor tournament, at which the Ven. Archdeacon A. L. G. Clarke, rector of Grace Anglican Church, expressed the desire of many friends that Mr. and Mrs. Symonds would have as successful a career in Peterborough as they had enjoyed in Brantford.

After supper, Mrs. Charles Miller, the club's president, presented Mrs. Symonds with a handsome cake plate as a reminder to them of the pleasant days that have passed.

Mrs. Symonds is well-known in tennis circles, having been a class A player of the Dufferin Club. Mr. Symonds was a member of the Brantford Board of Trade, interested in the Upper Canada Bible Society and did much work for the Red Cross drives. In badminton he was this season's team captain of the Grace Club. Recently, LeSueur Brodie, Brantford manager of the Bell Telephone Company, announced the transfer of Mr. Symonds to Peterborough, in charge of district sale. A farewell gathering was held by the office staff in Brantford, at which he was presented with a trilite lamp.

Mr. Symonds is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Symonds of St. Thomas, but is a native of Orillia, where he spent his boyhood days.

Grimly Carrying Out Vow To Sweep Nazis From Seas

All German warships in Norwegian waters are being hunted down by the British navy and mercilessly being swept from the sea as lean, gray British destroyers and huge battleships cut through the cold waters of Skagerrak and along the coastal water of Norway in pursuit of the Nazi ships. Living up to their highest traditions, the Royal Navy is reliably reported to have broken up all German naval concentrations and to have vowed that the entire German navy will be swept from the seas. British destroyers, the "tin-cans" of the navy, are shown. TOP, cutting through the waters of the North Sea as the huge guns of British battleships roar their challenge to the Nazis, BOTTOM.

Today's Girls Excel Mothers As Matrimonial Prospects. Modern Miss Far Better Equipped for Life, Yet Wonders Why She Cannot Find Husband.

The dean of one of our largest women's colleges says that getting husbands is a bigger worry to girls today than it was a generation ago This is no news to the girls. Getting married in mother's time was about the easiest thing a girl could do, and in grand-mother's day it took no more than a come-hither look in a maiden's eye to tole a youth to the altar. But now a girl has to be a go-getter, use diplomacy, cajoleries and pressure, and have luck, to boot, to get a wedding ring out of a man. The reluctance of men to enter the holy estate is strange, because never before have girls been more attractive nor more desirable as life companions than they are now. You would think that they would be simply trampling each other down at the Marriage License Bureau instead of walking high, wide and handsome around it, but such, alas, is not the case. Everywhere there is a slump in the matrimonial market, which is hard to account for, considering the blue-chip stocks that are offered. For, taking it by and large, the average of feminine pulchritude is at its peak. The modern girl is better-looking than her mother was because she is stronger and healthier, is better dressed and has learned how to supply for herself the colored hair, the peaches-and-cream complexion, the rosy lips and the willowy figure that nature failed to give her. Hence there is no trouble in any man acquiring a wife who will be easy on his eyes if what he craves in marriage is a living picture.

Then the modern girl is far better fitted to be a companian to her husband than the girl of the past was to her man. Grandma's activities and her range of interests were limited to strictly lady-like subjects. Her conversational repertoire didn't go much farther than Shakespeare and the musical classics. Her diversions were mainly confined to a stroll in the garden and a mild game of whist.

But Miss Up-to-Date has a college degree. She reads more than the boy friend. Can discuss any topic from the trend of stocks to the future of democracy. She can golf, play tennis, fly an airplane and drive a car and is in every way qualified to fill the bill for a man who wants a combined working partner and entertainer.

Another selling point as a wife that the modern girl has is that she doesn't even have to be supported as her predecessors did. Grandpa had to be Grandma's meal ticket, but granddaughter knows how to earn her own bread and butter and she is willing to keep on doing it after marriage rather than be an old maid.

Now all of these things would seem to make marriage a most alluring proposition so far as men are concerned, yet they fight shy of it, and one wonders why. Of course, many explanations may be offered for this state of affairs. The popular one being that men don't marry because they can't afford it. But I put little stress on this because men have always done what they wanted to do without counting the cost. The average youth of today earns just as much as his father did when he got married, but father invested his money in a wife, while son put his in an automobile.

Also, the modern wife is willing not only to fry the bacon but to help bring it home, and so that excuse for not ringing the wedding bells is out.

I think the reason that men are more loath to marry than they used to be is because women themselves have killed the goose that laid the golden egg. They have marked down their price tag and made themselves too cheap, and that has decreased their value in men's eyes. They have thrown away their seven veils of mystery and with that their allure. They chase men instead of making men chase them, and in the matrimonial race men outsprint them.

But, most of all, men don't marry as much as they used to because they don't have to. A man used to have to marry in order to get a comfortable home, somebody to sew on his buttons and darn his socks and nurse him if he got sick, but now he has only to punch a button in his bachelor apartment to get such expert service as no wife ever gave.

Formerly a man married for companionship, because the only way he could get a woman's society was by marrying her. And in particular was a wedding ring the price of her kisses and caresses. But nowadays when he works all day side by side with women in offices he gets all of the feminine company he desires, and when girls pay for being taken to the movies with a petting party, what inducement is there for a man to marry and assume the burden of a family? Gwendoline Brand Is Bride Of Private J. Raper

A quiet wedding ceremony took place this (Monday) afternoon in St. John's Anglican Church at four-thirty, when Miss Gwendoline Alexandra, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brand, 250 Carlisle avenue, and Private John Henry Raper, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Raper of Millbrook, was united in marriage by Rev. R. T. F. Brain.

The bride wore her travelling costume, a smart hat and dressmaker type coat of navy with touches of white over a frock of soft blue. Her corsage was of red roses and lily of the valley. Miss Lillian Raper, attended the bride, wore a beige coat, with hat and accessories of red brick, and a corsage of cream roses. Corporal Owen McCarthy of Millbrook, who is stationed with the Midland Regiment at Trenton, attended the groom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother receiving in an ensemble of navy with corsage of roses.

The bridal couple left by motor on a wedding trip to Carville, Ont. Following a short stay in Millbrook, Mrs. Raper will live in Trenton, where her husband is with the Midland Regiment.

Geo. Sorenson's Two Sisters Are In War Area

No one in Peterborough has followed the operations in Norway more closely or more anxiously during the past week than George Sorenson, Argyle street florist.

A native of Norway himself, Mr. Sorenson has two sisters and two brothers living in that country and worse than that their home is in the area overrun by the Nazi invaders. They live at Arandel, situated on a fjord on the southern coast of Norway and the despatches the other day stated that the town had been captured by the Germans.

Mr. Sorenson's two brothers are pilots and may possibly have been at sea when the German blow was struck, although the local man is without any recent information as to his relatives and is greatly concerned as to their safety.

He has made several attempts to cable a message to Arandel, but it is impossible to guarantee delivery of such messages and Mr. Sorenson can only wait and hope that all is well with his sisters and brothers.

In Nursing Family Ills Have Right Information

Save Needless Work and Worry

What a role you play when you are the home nurse! Your duties may range from common ailments to serious ills.

To make your role an easier one, to proceed more confidently, have right nursing advice.

There's the task of giving Junior his hated castor oil. Know this nurse's trick for disguising the taste. Pour half the juice of an orange into a glass, add castor oil, the rest of the juice. Just before the dose is taken, beat in a half teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda. The mixture foams up, tastes like orange soda.

Or perhaps you have a bed patient and wish to change the sheets without making it necessary for her to rise.

Have her lie on one side of the bed as you roll the soiled linen from the other side to the centre of the bed. Cover the unoccupied side with fresh linen as our sketch shows, then roll the patient over on the clean half and finish the bed.

IN MEMORIAM

SWISTELNIKOFF. — In loving memory of Kosma Swistelnikoff, who died three years ago today, April 15, 1937.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

—Ever remembered by his Wife and Family.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 16

The lunar aspects for this day may be said to accelerate activity in business and in private interests, with much stirring in new channels of endeavor and in connection with social, cultural, domestic or affectional relations. But while definite headway and some gratifications may be expected, there will be decided opposition from elders or other tenacious obstacles with which to cope. This may be best be done by patience, prudence, perseverance and tact.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of fairly progressive and productive influences, with new projects moving forward and affairs of a social, artistic, domestic and romantic nature gaining ground. But some hostility may come from elders and others who are ill-disposed. To meet this successfully, employ finesse and be prudent, patient and quietly persistent.

A child born on this day may be practical and constructive in substantial and commonplace ways, as well as in art, music, drama or other creative forms of expression. It may be studious, systematic and painstaking.

Turkey bought 34 American airplanes in a recent month.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

BLACKWOOD'S PURPOSE

ARTIFICIAL slam conventions are not, as many believe, primarily to help you bid slams which are in the cards. They are more valuable as saving you from bidding slams which cannot be made. That is especially true of the Blackwood convention devised by Easley Blackwood, of Cincinnati. When used properly, it protects you from plenty of unmakable slams. If abused, it can cost you plenty of points.

1. ♠ A K 6 4 ♥ A 8 5 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ 7 4 2
2. ♠ A K 6 5 4 ♥ K 8 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ 7 4 2
3. ♠ A K 6 5 4 ♥ K 7 ♦ Q J 10 6 3 ♣ 6
4. ♠ A K Q 5 4 ♥ K 7 ♦ K Q J 8 6 ♣ 6
5. ♠ A K Q 5 4 ♥ None ♦ Q J 10 6 2 ♣ 8 7 4
6. ♠ A K J 5 4 ♥ None ♦ Q J 10 6 2 ♣ A 7 4

If you are using the Blackwood convention, and started the bidding with 1-Spade, your partner responding with 3-Spades, what do you do with each of the above hands?

With either of the first two, you have not enough above a minimum opening bid to consider inviting a slam, so merely bid 4-Spades. If he invites slam with the Blackwood 4-No Trumps, you of course must give the conventional answers, 5-Clubs, showing no aces; 5-Diamonds, one; 5-Hearts, two; 5-Spades, three; 5-No Trumps, four. If he follows your reply with 5-No Trumps, you show no kings with 6-Clubs, one with 6-Diamonds, two with 6-Hearts, three with 6-Spades, four with 6-No Trumps.

With No. 3, after your partner's spade jump, bid 4-No Trumps. If his answer shows three aces, ask about kings with 5-No Trumps. If he shows two aces, bid 6-Spades if you feel confident, and sign off at 5-Spades if you don't. If he shows only one, sign off at 5-Spades. With No. 4, if he shows one ace, sign off at 5-Spades; if two, bid 6-Spades; if three, bid 7-No Trumps.

Don't use the Blackwood on hands like Nos. 5 or 6. With No. 5 hint at slam with 5-Spades, putting it up to him to do as he wishes. With No. 6, hint at slam with an ace-showing cue bid of 4-Clubs. If he bids 5-Diamonds, as a shower of that ace, bid 6-Spades; if 4-Hearts, sign off at 4-Spades; if 4-Spades, pass.

Nazi Trouble Shooter Hunts Trade In U.S.

NEW YORK, April 15 (CP).—The Herald Tribune says today that Dr. Gerhardt Alois Westrick, whom it says has been charged by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler with improving commercial ties between the United States and Germany, has established headquarters in New York.

The newspaper says the "economic trouble-shooter" for the Reich, who arrived from Berlin two weeks ago after a trip across Siberia in weather that at times reached a temperature of 80 degrees below zero, is conferring here with American firms having large holdings in Germany.

Dr. Westrick was quoted as saying:—

"My mission here is, quite frankly, to see that economic ties between the United States and the Reich are not broken by the war. I believe that the war will be won on the economic rather than on the political front. We in Germany are expecting a short war and we are looking forward to bettering trade relations with all nations during the coming peace."

China's shipments to the United States last year totaled $55,809,000.

port, disrupt Germany's Baltic trade —particularly Swedish iron ore shipments—and head off any German plan to invade Sweden.

(A British Broadcasting Corporation broadcast picked up in New York said the minefield already was claiming victims when Swedish sailors saw German transports sunk by the mines off Lysekil, Sweden).

Indication that an expeditionary force was on its way north came in a broadcast by British and Norwegian trade union leaders to Norway saying that "British soldiers are coming to assist the gallant Norwegian people in their resistance to the German invaders."

The broadcast urged Norwegians to give the British soldiers every aid—food, shelter and information—when they land.

There were continued reports that Narvik, arctic ore port where the royal navy yesterday was believed to have sunk seven German destroyers, had been recaptured from the Germans but no confirmation could be obtained.

Sweden Next?

Fear was expressed in Britain that Germany, her supply lines harassed by the British navy, might try to strike through Sweden. Authoritative quarters said this would bring quick Allied assistance to the Swedes.

British apprehension concerning the lowland nations was indicated by a warning sent British subjects in the Netherlands and Belgium to be ready to leave those countries.

On the admiralty's newest list of German sea casualties were 10 transport and supply ships sunk, four captured, two scuttled by their own crews and four others hit by torpedoes, not including the seven supply ships believed sunk at Narvik.

In addition the admiralty declared that the 6,000-ton cruiser Karlsruhe, which Germany acknowledges as lost, was sunk by the British submarine Truant instead of by Norwegian coastal batteries as the Germans announced.

The admiralty drew this picture of German losses:

Sunk—Poseidonia, 3,911-ton tanker; August Eldonhardt, 2,593 tons; Kreta, 2,359; Rio de Janeiro, 5,261; Ionia, 3,102; Andares, 2,593; Moorsund, 331; an unnamed German ship of about 4,000 tons, and two other unidentified vessels.

Captured—The 8,514-ton Alster and three trawlers, Friesland, Nordland and Blankenberg.

Scuttled—The Maine, 7,824 tons, and the Skagerrak, 6,044 tons.

Hit by Torpedoes—Four unidentified German ships.

Sub Losses Unlisted

Commenting on the fact no submarine losses were mentioned, the communique said "it would be incorrect to assume that positive results have not been attained" in this category. Naval observers said submarine reports were belated necessarily because their radios must be silent to avoid pursuit.

A further report on naval warfare and developments in Scandinavia is expected tomorrow in the House of Commons from Prime Minister Chamberlain or Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Stories of individual exploits filtering in from the scenes of northern warfare gave the British some new heroes and touched off numer- celebrations.

In Stoughton, Essex, villagers gathered at "The Coach and Horses tavern to drink the health of Vice-Admiral William J. Whitworth, their fellow townsman who commanded the battleship Warspit's foray into Narvik harbor Saturday.

Many home towns gave heroes' welcomes to the 177 survivors of the destroyer Gurkha which went down with her guns blazing after 4½-hour fight with German bombers.

The Gurkha's commander, Captain Anthony Buzzard, who was tossed into a lifeboat by crewman when he tried to stick with his ship, asked for a new destroyer to continue fighting the Germans.

A cat named Smut, mascot on the Gurkha, was among the survivors. She owed her life to an artillery officer who swam for 20 minutes with the cat on his shoulder until rescued by the cruiser Aurora.

Now Smut is the Aurora's mascot.

panies the agreements covering operations in 1939 were unsatisfactory. The union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, asked a $15 a month increase for all unlicensed seamen, three extra men on each boat, and a closed shop contract.

6,500 In Union.

The only expression of the viewpoint of the shipping companies came in an informal statement of officers of four companies, the Canada Steamship Lines, Limited, the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company, the Colonial Steamship Company and the Norman M. Paterson and Company.

If the strike is an effective one, it will affect far more than the 6,500 members the union claims.

About 285 ships likely will be affected, and each ship carries a captain, two mates and two or three engineers.

About 8,000 longshoremen and waterfront workers in Canada's inland ports might become involved through failure of the ships to move.

Outside Neutral Zone

The Craig's position indicated she was within 200 miles of the neutrality zone limits, but probably outside its reaches. The zone roughly follows the 60th parallel, while the Craig's position was given as 57.24 west.

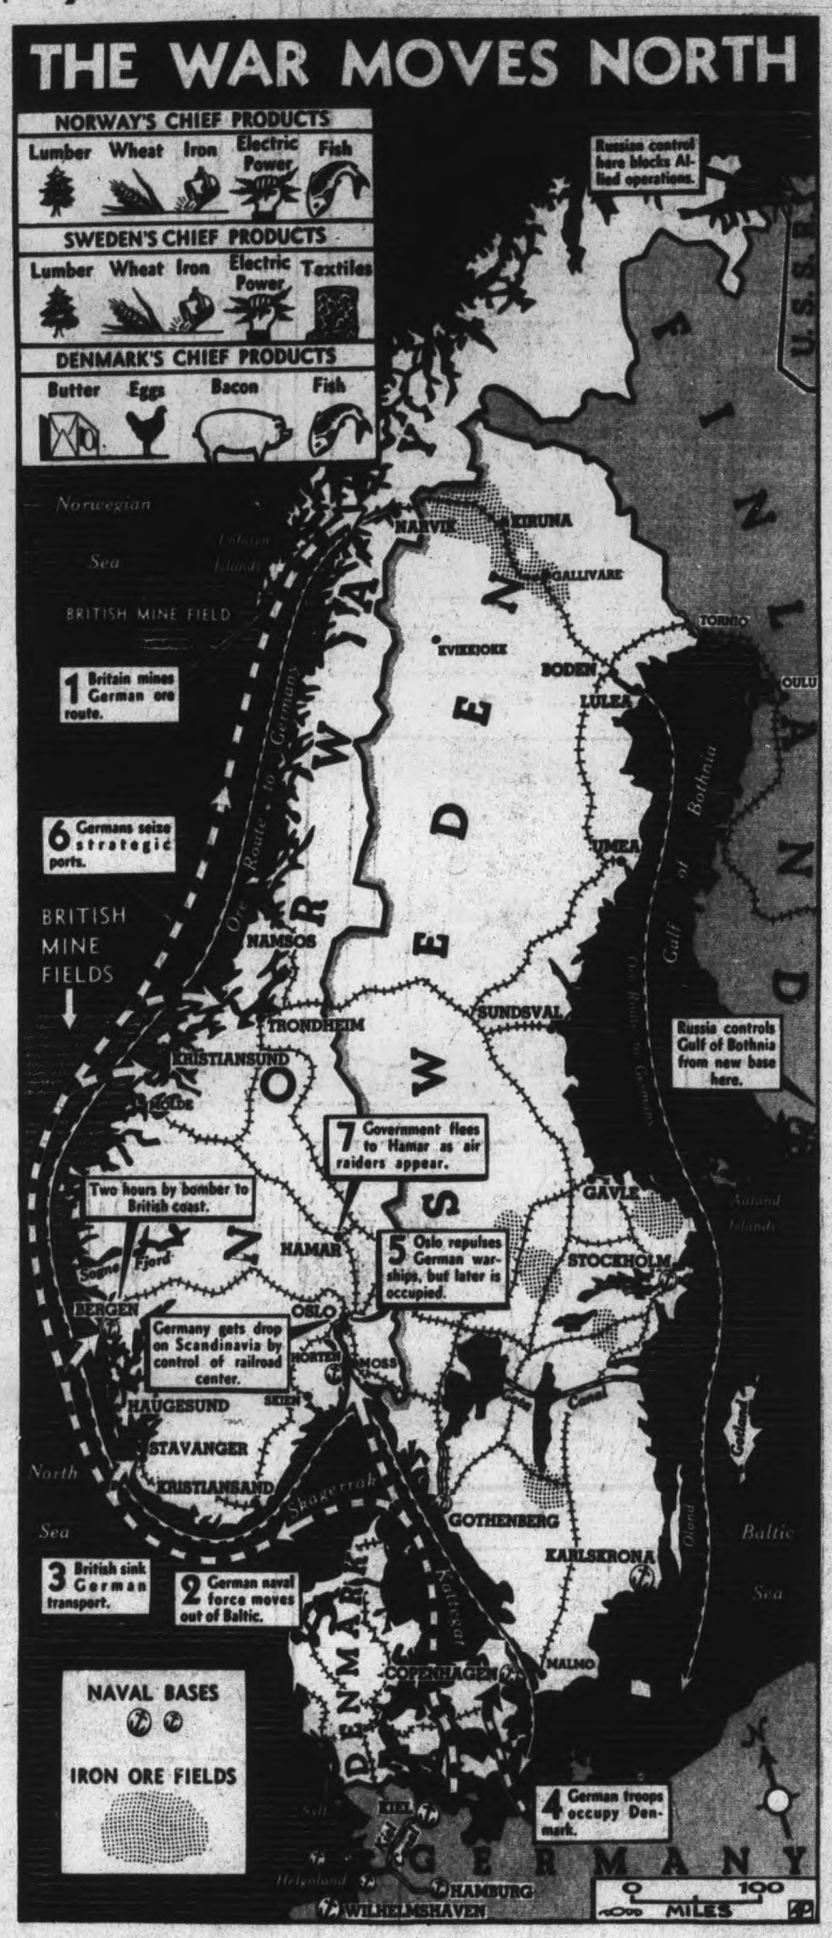
There have been a number of reports of submarines operating in waters of the western hemisphere.

On March 1 the British freighter Southgate reported she had been attacked by a submarine 130 miles northeast of Puerto Rico, but the nevt day a naval plane sighter her and found that she apparently was not in danger.

The British tanker El Ciervo was reported to have sent a signal saying she "was chased by a submarine" off Trinidad. When the vessel reached Halifax on April 1 her crewmen expressed belief they had sunk a German submarine after the tanker had fired 16 shots at a U-boat. The undersea craft disappeared, they said.

French girls were sent to Britain to teach French to the soldiers.

Germany Wins Bases and Bacon By Her Thrust Into Scandinavia



AP Feature Service

Numbered tabs show the sequence of events that began when Britain mined Norwegian waters Sunday night.

Britain's object was to stop shipments of Swedish iron ore down the Norwegian coast to Germany. Another ore route, via the Gulf of Bothnia, is usually ice-locked until late in May.

The events swept to a climax when Germany invaded Denmark and Norway in Tuesday's dawn. Whatever her object—she said it was to protect herself—the map shows that she won top place in Scandinavia, at least temporarily.

Her lightning thrust helps her protect her ore supplies, and of probably greater importance, it also enables her to establish new airplane and submarine bases against Britain. Points on Norway's west coast are only two hours away from Britain by bomber.

It also gives the Allies a chance to move against Germany from the north, but military men say the chances are against any great immediate success. That's partly because Germany now controls part of the peninsula's railroad system, and partly because it's difficult to land a large expeditionary force in the face of enemy guns. And the Allies must remember that Russia's victory over Finland puts her in excellent position to menace Sweden and to help Germany.

Nevertheless, the ports on Norway's west coast, and the ore-shipping town of Lulea, in Sweden, are considered susceptible to Allied attack by sea or air.

The Scandinavian countries themselves are no match for an invader. Sweden is the only one capable of resisting any length of time. Her army numbers 625,000 men, including reserves, and her air force 350 planes. Norway's total forces number only 135,000, and she entered the war with only 100 planes. But since some of the craggiest terrain in Europe lies in these two countries, it would be almost impossible to over-run them completely. Denmark, however, which offered no resistance to the Nazi blitzkriegers, is a flat, agricultural land. Her fighting force totals only 100,000.

Sweden, too, is the most populous—6,250,000 people as compared with 3,700,000 for Denmark and 2,884,000 for Norway.

The invasion's biggest blow to Britain may well prove to be economic. For German control of Scandinavian trade will force the English to go elsewhere for $300,000,000 worth of foodstuffs, metals and wood products normally imported from Denmark, Norway and Sweden each year. When Germany took over Denmark, it cut off $170,000,000 in food alone from Britain—chiefly bacon, butter, eggs and fish—and by the same token added to its own larder.

Berlin Admits

German vantage point.

Indications of cautious official disclosures are that the fight is still on, with each side striking heavy blows.

Just Minor Scraps

Germans insist that there has been no head-on clash of large naval forces, but rather that the week of Scandinavian war has been chiefly a series of comparatively minor engagements between segments of the fleets.

The separate actions, added together, present in Germany the spectacle of a hugh battle—a sort of positional warfare at sea—so vast that no spectator can follow accurately its many phases, scattered over hundreds of miles.

In Berlin it is difficult to bring the conflict into perspective. The story is but half-told. The caution of the Nazi high command's communiques bars sharp conclusions.

For example, yesterday's communique on the second battle of Narvik—the Royal Navy's Saturday attack on that far northern Norwegian ore port—commented:—

"It is impossible at this time to get a complete picture of the total loss of the enemy or our own forces."

The communique spoke of several British destroyers damaged and "in some instances destroyed" and said the British destroyer Cossack was hit, fired and forced aground.

(The British Admiralty reported on the night of the Narvik engagement—its second attempt to wrest the port from German control as a likely landing point for an Allied expeditionary force—that seven German destroyers had been sunk and German forces ashore routed.)

The Sunday German communique also claimed that a British cruiser of the Glasgow class had been torpedoed north of the Shetland Islands and three Allied submarines destroyed by pursuit planes in the Skagerrak.

The communique presented by a sketchy picture of land operations—the continuing campaign of occupation in Norway and fortification of important points on the Danish coast.

German defensive works were said to have been strengthened and extended in Norway at Trondheim, Bergen, Stavanger, and Kristiansand, while German troops in the Oslo region fanned out further to the north east and west, occupying Sarpsborg, Askim, and other unidentified towns.

One hundred Norwegian army officers and 1,500 men were alleged to have laid down their arms before the German advance at Heidstadtmon.

The high command admitted British air raids of Saturday on Narvik, Stavanger and Bergen, but claimed they 'failed to inflict damage on military objectives."

On the Western Front, the high command said, two detachments of storm troops penetrated "some kilometers" past the French border south-west of Merzig, entered a French position, defeated the forces manning it, destroyed four shelters and took prisoners."

Suppose You Never Marry

Let Imperial Life safeguard your future income

IN a small public school in rural Ontario there is a school teacher who has taken a practical view of life. Several years ago Miss F— invested in an Imperial Life plan so flexible in its terms that it provides for most of life's contingencies.

If she dies the plan pays either cash or an income to her father and mother. If she is ill for a long time, the plan carries on without any further investment on her part. If she marries it provides a nest-egg for herself, or the plan can be transferred to the life of her husband.

But, if she never marries, the plan will pay her $50 a month income commencing when she reaches age 60 and continuing as long as she lives. Practical? Yes! And so economical that teachers of even small outlying schools such as the one in which Miss F— is teaching find it well within their means.

Have done with worry about the future. Look forward to a full, care-free life. See an Imperial Life representative today.

Assure your future now with money you will never miss

To enjoy life without work at 60 or 65 is the right of every woman who through the years has earned her living. Assure yourself of the means to secure it now.

Through Imperial Life you can make sure of financial independence in the time to come—long years of comfort and happiness that you can provide for now with deposits you will never miss. It's so simple—so easy.
